

THE ARROW

OF PI BETA PHI

WINTER 1974

Season's Greetings

Dear Editor ...

So I wish you luck, and don't worry about your readership. You can't do anything about it.

Elinor Jacobs Green
Washington Alpha
Scottsdale, Ariz.

OOPS!

Having attended the University of Southern California for four years and dating a Pi Phi during that time, I had the opportunity to learn the spelling of Pi Beta Phi. Someone in your organization however never had the opportunity to familiarize themselves with my fraternity (one of the nation's strongest) Phi Gamma Delta.

I recently married the Pi Phi mentioned above and in reading her Summer 1974 issue of The ARROW under "Fraternity Sweethearts" noticed Anne Eginton—Ohio Beta—Figi Island Queen. The correct spelling is FIJI and is our recognized national nickname. I realize that Pi Phis and FIJIs aren't notoriously close at USC or nationally (just by looking at your sweetheart section) but please give us a little credit when we deserve it.

Russell D. Childrey
Fountain Valley, Calif.

→ Our apologies to FIJI Childrey and any other FIJIs who might have eagle-eyed our error. msf

At Least One Reader

In response to your question, I read The ARROW and like the nature of material presented. I think you have a good balance of material.

The Summer ARROW was especially interesting to me because of the article "SCAN Offers Help To Abusive Parents." A good friend is about to head up a new child abuse program and would like to contact Sharon Pallone. Incidentally, I happen to know Sharon, having been a Mississippi Alpha Pi Phi when she was our counselor. I was interested to learn where she went from there. Can you help me with her address? Thank you.

Nancy Ramsay Holderer
Mississippi Alpha
Gulfport, Miss.

→ We helped. You're welcome. msf

But We'll Keep Trying!

As the editor of the Arizona Cactus-Pine Girl Scout Council, and knowing (expletive deleted) that $\frac{3}{4}$ of the leaders of troops don't read, I recognize your plight. I confess I don't read much of it (The ARROW). I'm a Washington Alpha 1939 or '40, I don't remember.

I, for one, enjoy seeing the pretty or VERY SMART girls that get plaudits for Pi Phi . . . I do think the exceptional deeds about any of our actives (other than Beauty Queens) should be played up.

The magazine has always been dull, mainly because you have such a huge readership and you cannot cover everything. I'm just a middle-aged broad who is a budding free-lance writer (at age 55 yet!) but I write principally on cooking, which I do best.

→ Is this a bouquet or barb? We're not sure, but we thank Elinor for reading at least something in The ARROW. msf

They Love Francee

California Eta chapter would like to express our sincere gratitude to Francee Hoeltgen for the hard work and Pi Phi love she has given us. We are thankful for all she has taught us and the devotion for Pi Phi she has shown us. We can never express how much her love has meant to us. We are forever grateful.

Michaela Kelley
California Eta

→ Our graduate counselor program is one of the best, and those who work with new chapters find a challenge of utmost importance. They always meet that challenge with grace, humor, and love. A dip of our arrow to each of them. msf

Some Suggestions

I'd had a long day at work today and found it such a pleasure to relax with The ARROW. After reading it from cover to cover, I felt the urge to write to you of my thoughts.

As an active member of Pi Beta Phi, I gained many insights into myself through friendship and responsibility. Presently I am living in Florida and feel the loss of my close friendships so distant from me. I therefore enjoy reading the chapter notes, hoping to hear of my chapter's news.

The "voice" of Pi Beta Phi past, present, and future is found in these chapter notes. Notice of chapter cheerleaders, Homecoming Queens and the like are fine, but superfluous when one considers the impact ARROW correspondents could have.

I was particularly impressed with the article from New York Gamma (page 28, Summer, 1974). Here lies the "voice" of Pi Beta Phi. They stated a problem felt on many campuses and resolved it. How many other chapters must continually reaffirm their meaning and "raison d'etre"? Sharing solutions in this way is profitable.

I propose the following: let us use The ARROW as a sounding board for innovative ideas in meeting today's challenge to the fraternity system. ARROW correspondents, re-evaluate the responsibilities of your office. You are writing to Pi Phis young and old across the country. Perhaps there is a need for you to communicate something of a more meaningful nature.

Regardless of change, I will continue to look forward to reading my ARROW in the years to come.

Apathy—thy name is Pi Phi! In the spring issue of The ARROW (page 10), was a request for opinions, pro and con, concerning possible changes in the Pi Beta Phi ritual. Maurine Stuart Dulin, chairman of the Ritual and Ceremonies Revision Committee, says, "In spite of all the sound and fury at Convention about the need to revise our rituals, etc., only nine replies have come to me." So we try again—SEE PAGE 28—AND RESPOND!!!

And we have come to the conclusion that absolutely every Pi Phi loves everything about The ARROW, with only one or two exceptions. At least we've had very little response to our invitation to express your desires about your magazine. Either everyone loves it—or no one reads it—and we prefer the former!

By the time you receive this issue, Pi Beta Phi will have added another new chapter to the roster—Indiana Eta at Indiana University-Purdue, in Fort Wayne, Ind. As usually happens, the timing is such that we won't have the story until the spring issue, but we do have the information about the pledging this time. In the meantime, congratulations and welcome to Indiana Eta.

Lisa Grable, Virginia Gamma, has asked us to tell all her chapter alumnae that Virginia Gamma's Golden Anniversary celebration is coming up and that they want as many as possible to return for the fun. The date has been tentatively set for the weekend of March 8, 1975, and she suggests that alums send inquiries about definite plans to Pi Beta Phi House, Anniversary, Richmond Road, Williamsburg, VA 23185.

Our favorite photographic artist is in the news again. Imogen Cunningham, charter member of Washington Alpha and a world-famed photographer, has been given the University of Washington Alumni Association's highest honor—"Alumna Summa Laude Dignata." "I always wondered who the dickens thought of it," she said with her usual sharp wit when asked how it felt to be thus honored. Imogen lives in San Francisco, very much in the present, where most of her friends these days are between 18 and 20. And she still says, as she has for many years, that her greatest photograph is "the one I'm going to take tomorrow." The October 21 issue of Newsweek also featured our Imogen, on page 67, in a box entitled "Imogen Cunningham: The Queen." Among other flattering comments, the article calls her "more active and inventive than ever at 91," and "Museums and publishers cry for her work."

We're sure it will be of interest to some that Susan Shea Hinman, Illinois Beta-Delta, won a major bridge title in July. Susan, in partnership with Patricia Callahan of Monterey, Calif., won the Women's Pairs Championship at Bridge Week in Los Angeles by besting a field of 474 pairs in the two-day event. Now that's some kind of bridge playing!

If you read nothing else in this issue, and we certainly hope that isn't the case, we wish all collegiate Pi Phis would read the article on page 54 entitled "What's Wrong with 'Little Sister' Groups?"

From Pioneer Proverbs—"One who thinks he can live without others is mistaken; But he who thinks others cannot live without him is more mistaken."

Epsilon Province Welcomes Convention Delegates

Convention Travel and Registration Is Simplified

A new service is being used for registration, travel, and hotel reservations for the 1975 Pi Beta Phi Convention. Judy Dawson, Portland, Ore., has been appointed Convention Travel Coordinator. All Pi Phis desiring any type of reservation for the Convention to be held at the Doral Country Club and Hotel in Miami, Fla., must send their checks and registration forms to her. Ms. Dawson will make airline and hotel reservations for the registrant and return confirmation of same. She will send the forms and the registration checks on to the registration committee in Miami.

Registration has become an increasingly difficult task for Pi Phi conventions. Our new travel coordinator will work closely with the registration committee and should be able to help all wishing to attend by securing the best travel service available at the least possible cost.

Convention Committee Are Busy Pi Phis

Two Florida Betas, one D.C. Alpha, and one Wisconsin Alpha have combined forces to make up the local Convention committee for Pi Beta Phi's 50th Biennial Convention in Miami, Fla. The Convention, hosted by Epsilon Province, promises to be a spectacular one in many ways, and all Pi Phis are invited and urged to attend.

Elizabeth Larzelere Thorpe, Florida Beta, has been named local Convention chairman. Betty lives in Miami Shores, where she has been active in PTA work for many years, and on the Travelers Aid Board for 9 years. She is a past member of the Committee on Fraternity Study and Examination, and was Province President from 1937-1940. Alumnæ club offices include the chairmanship of several committees, treasurer, and president.

Betty's mother was a member of Pennsylvania Beta, and her sister, Helen Larzelere Whittle, is a North Carolina Beta member.

Married to a newspaper advertising executive who later built and managed a radio station for twenty years in Miami, Betty has two children. George, Jr., is a Kappa Sigma, and Lynne is a Kappa Kappa Gamma. Both are married and living in Florida. Two sons for each make Betty a proud grandmother.

Hospitality

Born in Webster Groves, Mo., Mabel Bennett Griley, Florida Beta, has lived in Miami since her senior year in high school. She is well qualified to serve as Convention hospitality chairman, since she has served as membership chairman of the alumnæ club for many years and she says it's her "favorite job of all." She did serve as club president on two separate occasions.

In 1952 Mabel was the first woman invited to membership in the Dade County Grand Jury Association, a group composed of former Grand Jurors. She is a past president of the Miami Junior Woman's Club, a member and President's Aide in the Miami Woman's Club, and a member of the Guild of the Museum of Science. Her attorney husband, Victor, is a Sigma Nu, while daughter, Madeline Griley Mahaffee, is a Kentucky Beta Pi Phi. They also have a married son who lives in Miami.

Registration

Serving as co-chairmen of registration for the Miami Convention are Celeste Dorney Singleton, D.C. Alpha, and Jayne Rapp Dunker, Wisconsin Alpha.

Celeste has been a Florida resident since 1948 and is doing a repeat of duties, since she helped with registration at the Miami Beach convention in 1954. She has been a delegate from the Miami Alumnæ Club to two other Conventions, which makes her eligible to attend the Old Timer's Luncheon next June. Celeste is married to a retired airline pilot and the Singletons have two daughters, Martha, living in Miami, and Patricia, a stewardess stationed in Atlanta.

Holding the office of recording secretary in two organizations is quite an undertaking, but Celeste does just that—in the Coco Plum Woman's Club and Miami City Panhellenic. In addition she manages a thrift shop for her church where many articles donated by Pi Phis are sold on consignment for the benefit of the alumnæ club.

Celeste is the daughter of a Golden Arrow Pi Phi, Edna Barnhill Dorney, Indiana Beta, and the sister of Joan Dorney Johnston, D.C. Alpha.

Jayne Dunker has traveled and lived around the world since her husband, now deceased, was an airline captain for 32 years. She's called Miami, New York, Hong Kong, San Francisco, Nominations are now being requested for Grand Council Officers, Directors, and Province Officers. Terms will begin June, 1975, with election at the Miami Convention.

All Fraternity officers are elected for a two year term. Incumbent officers must be renominated to be considered by the committee. It is your responsibility and this is your opportunity to help select the persons you feel can best serve the needs of the Fraternity. Volunteers are encouraged.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE PROCEDURES

1. Composition of Committee: three alumnæ members (former officers) and three undergraduate members. Alumnæ members appointed by Grand Council; undergraduate members are the alternate delegates from the three cup-winning chapters from preceding year.

2. For 1973-75 the alumnæ members are: Madeleine Lafon, Chairman; Shirley Mann and Pat John. (For full names and addresses check directory of The ARROW.) Undergraduate members are appointed in the spring of Convention year.

(Nominations from the floor are in order once the slate has been presented at Convention.)

- e. Slate of officers is prepared with the whole Committee involved; slate is read at appropriate time for both the regular and alumnæ sessions.
- f. Effectiveness of procedures is reviewed annually.

The Nominating Committee functions as an independent group, and it has since its inception in 1962. It assures itself that all information on all candidates for office is considered and carefully noted. The Committee has earned a reputation for maintaining the strictest confidence and for making objective decisions. It is a fact that the undergraduate members participate 100% in the Committee's work at Convention and are not excluded from any of the discussions.

THE OBJECTIVE OF THIS COMMITTEE IS TO PROVIDE THE BEST QUALIFIED OFFICER GROUP TO MANAGE THE FRATERNITY AND TO ENSURE ITS PROGRESS.

Jan Wilson, Oregon Gamma
National Chapter Service Award

Susan Smith, Texas Gamma
National ABO Award

1974 National Award Winners Named

Texas Gamma and Missouri Gamma chapters are "bustin' their buttons" these days, as they are the home chapters of Susan Smith, national Amy Burnham Onken Award winner, and Jan Wilson, national Chapter Service Award winner, for 1974. Both are selected as their province nominees for the awards, with the final selection being made by Grand Council at its annual meeting.

Susan Smith

Susan had the highest cumulative grade point average of any junior student at Texas Tech University. With a 4.0 average, she was chosen as one of the vice presidents of Phi Kappa Phi, an exceptionally high honor. She was also the winner of the Lubbock (Texas) Panhellenic Merit Scholarship, Pi Phi's Harriet Rutherford Johnstone Scholarship in 1973, and was voted the outstanding student in the French department for three semesters. She is a member of the national French honorary fraternity, Pi Delta Phi, winner of the first prize in advanced poetry writing, and the second prize in advanced essay writing (both in French), and was recognized at the University Convocation for three years as the highest ranking student on campus.

Susan's high achievements did not end with scholarship. She participated in virtually all Panhellenic activities and all-university events. As a Pi Phi, one felt that Susan had her sorority at the very top of her list of priorities. She served as current events chairman, rush chairman, and president. According to her nominating papers, "... while serving as rush chairman, Susan, concerned about finding new and better ways of rushing, and with a feeling of great personal responsibility toward presenting a truer image of sorority life, devised a method of 'conversation' that is fast becoming a classic on our campus, and within other Panhellenic groups."

As the presiding officer of her chapter, Susan found much to challenge her. "While holding strong opinions herself, and being perfectly capable of firm executive decision, Susan also exhibited the beautiful innate ability of seeing to it that all sides of an issue were scrupulously considered before any action was taken."

Susan's major field of study was Deaf Education, and she was an active volunteer working with deaf students, as well as with other voluntary organizations.

Her attributes are many, but above all is her ability to make life twice as much fun for all who know her. According to Pi Province President, Deanie Fulton Kepler, "Many lives are finer—characters strengthened, friendships extended, attitudes more caring and tolerant—thanks to the 24-hour example set by Susan Smith. We've all been touched by her warmth, her strict Christian code, her endless enthusiasm. Yes, Susan is pure of heart . . . we could ask for no finer representative of our ideals."

Jan Wilson

The second of Pi Beta Phi's two highest individual awards nationally is that given for chapter service.

Jan Wilson was chapter treasurer her junior year and president her senior year. As president she guided her chapter to the best year, in many ways, in the experience of the alumnae advisory committee. "Since Jan had always exemplified the ideals of Pi Beta Phi, she was most certainly a leader in promoting them as president."

On the Drury College campus, she was active in a number of organizations. She was a member of the Student Union Board of Governors for four years and served as vice president her senior year. She was president of Smith Residence Hall for upperclass women during her junior year and was vice president of the Interhalls Council the same year. She was a Drury Ambassador for two years and a member of the pom-pon squad. As an Ambassador, she was responsible for representing her college on many occasions and she did this in the gracious and unselfish way that was her custom. Drury President William E. Everheart notes that ". . . as an excellent student . . . and a young woman of exemplary character, (Jan) has added immeasurably to the life of the whole college."

One of Jan's innovations was to organize several work shops for training incoming officers, including those who served with her, as well as those who now hold office. She was a dependable officer who was honest and direct with her alumnae advisory committee. However, she never betrayed the confidence of the active members when fairness did not require such exposure.

Angie Busiek Bennett, former chairman of the Missouri Gamma AAC, says, "Jan is a girl with a strong religious faith which she maintained but never forced on others except by her own example. She promoted unity in the chapter by striving always to act on the decision of the majority in matters of chapter business. With a twinkle in her eye, Jan Wilson maintained her integrity and optimism and brought a new unity to Missouri Gamma. She exemplified the 'spirit' of Pi Beta Phi in the very best sense. We learned much from her beautiful example."

Is Named To Staff of Presidential Counsellor

Karen R. Keesling, Arizona Beta, has joined the staff of Presidential Counsellor Anne Armstrong, as Director of Women's Programs. In making the announcement, Counsellor Armstrong said, "I am particularly pleased that Karen brings to our office a combination of youth and an impressive record of accomplishment."

Patricia Sullivan Lindh, Special Assistant to the Counsellor for Women's Programs, expressed her delight in having the assistance of Karen Keesling. "Her experience in women's programs in government and in the academic world gives us a breadth of background that will greatly assist this office's efforts for the advancement of women."

Ms. Keesling has been executive secretary of the Secretary's Advisory Committee on the Rights and Responsibilities of Women at the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. She has represented the committee in dealing with HEW officials, state and local, other Federal government officials, and with non-governmental women's organizations. She has represented the committee at the Citizen's Advisory Council on the Status of Women and

Alum Scholarships To Be Presented

Wisconsin Alpha, one of the first sororities to locate on the University of Wisconsin-Madison campus, in 1894, closed its doors three years ago. At Convention, 1975, scholarships for alumnae will be presented for the first time, made possible by interest income following the sale of the chapter house.

A committee was chosen from the Madison Alumnae Club to determine how the interest money should be spent. Based on a survey of Wisconsin Alpha alumnae, it was the consensus that something permanent should be established on the Madison campus as a tribute to Wisconsin Alpha's 80 years as a leader in the Greek system on the campus.

At the end of the first year of the Wisconsin Alpha Trust, June, 1974, 20% of the net income was given to Arrowmont, and 80% was donated to Elvehjem Art Center on the UW campus at Madison. The latter donation is being used to enrich the permanent art collection of the Center, the third largest campus art museum in the United States. An appropriate donor plate will be attached to the art object in recognition of Wisconsin Alpha's contribution.

At the end of the second year, June 1975, 80% of the income will be contributed to Arrowmont and 20% used for the Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarship. An alumnae committee has been established to administer the scholarship. Aileen Aylesworth Welgan, former Omicron Alumnae Province President, is chairman of the committee. Serving with her are Pauline Hackett Burns and Lindsey Farnham Siegfried.

There are many reasons why a mature woman wishes to return to school, but such a return may often create or compound a hardship. For this reason, the scholarship funding will be made available to deserving Pi Phi alumnae.

Selection of recipients will be based on a number of criteria. These criteria are listed in the official announcement of the scholarships, found elsewhere in this issue of THE ARROW.

According to a letter sent by the scholarship committee to alumnae club presidents, "Since our founding in 1867, the sisters of Pi Beta Phi have discovered many new frontiers. As alumnae we face many new frontiers, and the new committee has been created to help conquer exciting new challenges."

Applications for the scholarship should be requested from Mrs. Welgan (see address in ARROW directory) and must be returned to her by March 15, 1975.

Pledges Present Creative Gifts

by LISA GRABLE, Virginia Gamma

Gifts for pledge supervisors are always a subject of special concern to pledge classes. The last two spring Pi Phi pledge classes at the College of Williams and Mary came up with creative ideas that were related in one way—they both used embroidery as the main ingredient.

Pi Phi was the subject of a quilt designed by the spring '73 pledge class. Each of the 25 pledges created a square of the quilt depicting a Pi Phi theme. Designs included an angel in the center of a heart formed of 25 darts, a square with each pledge's name, and a picture of the pledge "trainer" and her boyfriend with her pledge little sister hovering overhead dressed as an angel.

Spring '74's pledge supervisor was known for the embroidered work shirts she gave as gifts. The pledges decided it was her turn to own one. They each worked on pieces of the detail on the cuffs, collar, and front.

Both of these gifts were met with much surprise and joy from the pledge supervisors.

Florida Beta Earns Balfour Cup Again

For the second year in a row, Florida Beta headed all other Pi Beta Phi chapters, and is once again displaying the coveted Balfour Cup, presented to the chapter which best meets its responsibilities to its college, the Fraternity, and its own internal affairs.

This large silver loving cup was presented to the Fraternity in 1921 by Mr. Lloyd G. Balfour in memory of his wife, Ruth DeHass Balfour, Indiana Gamma. Three chapters have won the Cup permanently, for winning three consecutive years: Texas Alpha in 1944, Arkansas Alpha in 1947, and Kansas Alpha in 1956.

In the chapter publication, "Heaven-Sent," Florida Beta expressed its thrill after winning the cup at the Hot Springs Convention in 1973. "For years, our pledges have learned about the Balfour Cup, but have never really known its true significance. That is, until this past summer when the chapter was presented with this outstanding award. The beautiful cup, brilliantly shining, was placed in the house so that all could see it.

"The Balfour Cup has meant so much to each girl, but the burning excitement it has put in everyone's heart to do even better and win the Cup again has been the beautiful result of its belonging to us . . . Truly the chapter is unique in its enthusiasm because the source of this quality has come from within—a love for the heritage we stem from and the dream that the meaning of Pi Phi will continue. The proof is shown in the silver cup, a cup we've had for a year and hope to have for another."

Have it for another, they do! But this isn't the first national award won by Florida Beta. In 1970, the chapter's treasurers earned the Olivia Smith Moore Silver Slipper Award, and the chapter won the Vera Moss Bowl for making the greatest improvement in chapter achievement. The Philadelphia Bowl, presented to the third best Pi Beta Phi chapter was earned in 1972.

What makes Florida Beta so outstanding? There are many specific reasons, of course, but perhaps Doris Brown Fawcett, Epsilon Province President, summed it up best when she wrote, "I believe it is the fact that this chapter always tries to do something extra, or tries to improve, or find a better way that makes them so outstanding. They are never standing still . . . The feeling of sisterhood, of love, and of caring and sharing just cannot be surpassed!"

and should return the completed form by March 15, 1975.

New Director Is Named By Grand Council

She's been an English teacher, a statistician, a city Panhellenic president, president of her local Pi Phi alumnae club, a volunteer at a children's TB clinic and the Cleveland Psychiatric Hospital. She is a golfer, a baseball and football fan, a collector of antique silver, specializing in tiny salt spoons and salt and peppers, and the immediate past Alumnae Province President of Eta Province. And she is the new Director of Membership for Pi Beta Phi.

She is Barbara Sands Olsen of Bay Village, Ohio. Her appointment to the membership office was made by Grand Council following the resignation of Myra DePalma Reimer in the summer.

Barb attended the University of Illinois where she was a member of Illinois Zeta, and earned a B.S. in education. She taught English and pioneered individual studies in combined English-Social Studies in Decatur, Ill. It was in Decatur that she met her husband, James, who was attending Milliken at the time. Barbara's interest in the theater now consists only of occupying the same seat at Hanna for 15 years of theater seasons. She does claim to being an actress, however, until the age of 15, when she says she discovered other things. Her abiding interest in golf, shared by her husband, means that they take frequent trips to other clubs just for the fun of it. But she is also the holder of about six silver bowls, attesting to her golfing prowess.

If she didn't live so far away, Barbara's sister might be of some help in the new position, but Shirley Sands Haworth, Illinois Eta, lives in Houston, Tex., so must just give moral support from afar. The new director's immediate family consists of her husband, a manufacturers' rep in the electronics field, and two boys, Michael, working in South America, and Jim, who returned to Ohio State this fall following his return from England.

Barb says she is fascinated by her new job, particularly because it is so foreign to what one does as an alumnae province president. However, having been so active in the Alumnae Department, she knows whereof she speaks when she says, "Belonging to Pi Beta Phi is more than just membership in an organization. It is a promise of lifelong friendship; it is a promise of an association with women dedicated to honorable, just, and loving service. By our capacity to change, we can make membership beneficial to all, offering what one can find in no other quarter."

Cynthia Ann Corso, Illinois Beta-Delta, has been awarded the James and Helen Huntington Johnston Prize Award by Knox College. The award honors "a sophomore girl cited for character and scholarship during the freshman year." Cynthia was a straight A student during her first year. This year she is serving as an observer on the Knox Board of Trustees and she will hold this position her senior year also.

Louisiana Alpha's chapter house, purchased through the foresight of the "Triple Ms."

New Scholarship Fund Honors Trio

A new annual scholarship has been awarded for the first time for the 1974-75 school year. It is called the Louisiana Alpha Triple M Scholarship, and the first recipient is Pamela Musso, Louisiana Beta. Pi Beta Phi is reaping the benefits of the foresight of a few dedicated men and women who assisted the Louisiana Alpha chapter in obtaining housing long before the present house corporation was established.

Louisiana Alpha was chartered in 1891 with seven members. Sororities at "Old Newcomb" met in rooms on the campus. It was not until 1918, when Newcomb College moved to a new site on Broadway, much closer to its affiliate, Tulane, that the sororities established off-campus headquarters. There was no place provided for them on the new campus.

In 1930, Louise Westfeldt McIlhenny, realizing the advantages of establishing a permanent residence for the chapter, located a house at 7014 Zimple Street, adjacent to the campus. May Logan Monroe and her husband, J. Blanc Monroe, helped make all the business transactions and formed the Zimple Realty Corporation under the state laws of Louisiana. Mr. Monroe handled all legal matters until the time of his death when his son, Malcolm, took over the role. The Zimple Realty Corporation rented the three front rooms, porch, and yard to Pi Phi, and other rooms were rented to other sororities, to provide additional income. Louisiana Alpha paid $25 a month rent.

Minutes of the company show certain names occurring over and over as officers and directors. Helen Dymond Chamberlain served as treasurer for 31 years and at one point negotiated a loan to remodel and refurnish the property. Another time she personally loaned money when a fund drive didn't provide enough. Other officers included Adele Jahncke Dotson, Flora Hardie Fenner, Jane Hayward French, Nellie May Bartlett Kelleher, Betty Keenan, Margaret Henriques Jahncke, Marjorie Logan, Lynne Hecht Farwell, Barbara Eskrigge Young, Mary Campbell Leverich, Alice Varin Westfeldt, Jeannette Pardonner Mason-Smith, Ruth Harper Kuhn, Fannie Magee Costley, Stella Hayward Vieth, Dorothy Juden Sarpy, Miss Marie Roussel, Winifred Eskrigge Hertzberg, Gladys Bloom Van Horn, Caroline Choate Rees, Helen Meyers Grance, Coco Jahncke Seemann, Jr., Joan Gillis Ellis, Mary Porter Nolan, Jane Dart Maunsell, and Elinette Shands Leake.

As the years passed and the chapter grew, all of the house was needed. In 1959, under the direction of Stella Hayward Vieth, many alterations were made to the property, resulting in today's charming chapter house, a haven in the center of a bustling campus.

Since 1964 the officers of Zimple Realty have been Coco Jahncke Seeman, Jr., president; Dorothy Juden Sarpy, vice president; Helen Dymond Chamberlain, treasurer; and Gladys Bloom Van Horn and Elinette Shands Leake, secretaries. Last year the Zimple Realty Company began to phase out its involvement, turning the administration of the housing over to the newly formed Louisiana Alpha House Corporation. At that time the Louisiana Alpha Triple M Scholarship Fund was established, honoring the ones who had been instrumental in providing the beginnings of the present desirable housing situation. Only the interest will be used, so the scholarship is self-perpetuating.

It is available to any Pi Beta Phi who applies for the national scholarships—not necessarily to a Louisiana Pi Phi, though they are to be given preference if all other bases of the award are equal. The one application blank and materials sent to the Grand Recording Secretary by February 1st each year qualify the applicant for consideration for all of the national

Another Chapter Added To Pi Phi Roll

Nineteen girls from local Kappa Delta Theta at Indiana University-Purdue, Fort Wayne, Ind., were pledged to Pi Beta Phi on Sunday morning, April 28, 1974, forming the nucleus of Pi Beta Phi's 111th chapter. Mary Elizabeth Frushour Hill, Grand Corresponding Secretary, conducted the pledge ceremony, assisted by Julie Pratt Mendenhall, NPC Delegate, and Sharon Smith Pierce, Director of Panhellenics. Other officials attending included Mary Ann Fisher Olinger, Theta Province President, and Janet Roper Thornton, Theta Alumnæ Province President.

The pledge banquet was held that evening at the Sheraton Hotel and was beautifully arranged with silver bowls of wine and blue yarn flowers with baby breath on all tables. Wine candles and blue programs completed the decorations. Three Golden Arrow members, as well as the Dean of Women, were guests of honor. Sydnie Bowling Kampschroeder, outgoing alumnæ club president and current AAC chairman, was general chairman of the banquet as well as toastmistress.

Guiding the fortunes of the new chapter throughout its first year is Ann Marie Goodnight, Graduate Counselor. Ann Marie is a University of Michigan graduate and a member of Michigan Beta. Her major was speech communication, so she should have no trouble communicating with her new sisters and helping them learn about Pi Beta Phi. During undergraduate days, she was a chapter officer and earned the chapter Junior Service Award in 1973. In Ann Marie's words, "I have a sincere desire to work hard for something I believe in, and I do believe in the goals and ideals of Pi Phi. I know that this experience will be a growing one for me that will help me in whatever I may do in future years."

A rush workshop in the summer, conducted by Sharon Pierce, proved to be of great value, since the fledgling chapter pledged 14 girls during fall rush.

It was luncheon and lots of talk when 27 Illinois Zeta Pi Phis held a reunion in August. Pictured are, in the back, l. to r.: Grace Louise Kaiser Mayes, Betty Stoolman Julian, Helen Porterfield White, Catherine Hughes Turner, Glenita Hobbs Fairfield, Harriet Purvis Russell, Mary Margaret Oldham Klingel, Margaret Off Enslow, Frances Linden Robeson, Eleanor Keith Madden, Dorothy Oliver Larsen, Jean Webster Holly, Bobbie Fifer Rust, LaNelle Phelps Boyles, Jean Briggie Thomas, Julia MacPherson Webster, Anita Knapp Hutchinson. Front row: Annette Wolfram Daily, Frances Platt Bradley, Mary Jane Fithian Kennicott, Eunice Webster Fleming, Marie Freeman Palmer, Alberta Lewis Humble, Mary Lou Norris MaGirl, Helen Purvis Loftis, Betty Hughes Abbott, Bertha Kinnear Berger.

Ruth Brewster Honored On Birthday

by LUCINDA GRIFFITH BURROWS

Ruth Ellen Plumb Brewster, a resident of Laguna Beach, Calif., since 1957, was 100 years old July 18 of this year. The newly founded California Eta chapter at the University of California at Irvine, and the three Orange County alumnae clubs honored Mrs. Brewster by presenting her with a specially prepared salute. She was initiated into Kansas Alpha in 1893 as their 130th member, and continued her affiliation with the Fraternity while attending Stanford University.

Mrs. Brewster was born in Emporia, Kansas, on July 18, 1874. She is the daughter of the late Senator Preston B. Plumb, one of the founders of Emporia, who was also instrumental in the establishment of Kansas as a state. Her mother was Carrie Southwick of Ashtabula, Ohio. She was married to Schuyler Colfax Brewster in Emporia in 1901 and moved to South Pasadena, Calif., in 1908. Mrs. Brewster moved to Laguna Beach in 1957 to be near her only daughter and son-in-law.

Mrs. Brewster's great grand niece, Laura Wheldon Brown, Arizona Beta, received special chapter recognition last Founders' Day when she received the Diamond Pin Award, chosen by the alumnae as the most outstanding junior. As a sophomore Laura was chosen by the senior class as the girl who most nearly typifies the ideals of Pi Phi.

On May 6, 1974, two members of California Eta, Laura Schnaidt and Suzanne Scheidt, accompanied by Lucinda Griffith Burrows, a Golden Arrow member of Kansas Alpha, called on Mrs. Brewster at her home to present her with the salutation signed by 112 Pi Phis, recognizing her 81 years as a member of Pi Beta Phi and honoring her 100th birthday. It read:

"We, the members of the Orange County Alumnae Clubs and the California Eta Chapter of Pi Beta Phi, send to you a member of the Kansas Alpha Chapter, our Pi Phi love on your hundredth birthday."

Board of Governors

Attending Arrowmont July 8-14 were, from the left, Susan Ogle, Lakeview, Ore., Oregon Beta; Elinor Jensen, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., New York Alpha; Ken Collins, scholarship recipient from Nancy Black Wallace Alumnae Club, Salem, Ore., studying Advanced Fiber Techniques; and Virginia Barker, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., New York Alpha.

THE SUMMER of '74 . . .

. . . In Retrospect

The number of students attending Arrowmont classes topped 1000 for the very first time. One thousand and forty-three, to be exact. Their ages ranged from seventeen to seventy-five. They came from forty states and two foreign countries. The ten states not represented were Alaska, Colorado, Delaware, Hawaii, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, and Wyoming. Some of those places are a long way from Gatlinburg. But in all of them there may be Pi Phis or would-be scholarship students who would love to spend a craft-study vacation at Arrowmont. Let's try to find them and have all fifty of our states represented next summer.

The largest number of students, 258, came, of course, from Tennessee. But there were 73 from Ohio and 52 each from Georgia and Illinois. Florida sent 96. 53 came from North Carolina, 40 from Maryland, 37 from Virginia, 32 from Indiana, 29 from Michigan, 35 from Texas, 20 from New York, and 23 all the way from Wisconsin. Washington, Oregon, and California sent three, ten, and eight respectively. The District of Columbia was represented by three students.

Many of the students were professional craftsmen and teachers themselves, who felt that at Arrowmont they could learn to improve their already considerable skills. But working alongside them in the studios were other students to whom crafts are merely a delightful hobby. Some were attorneys, architects, physicians, or economists. Others were librarians, nurses, or secretaries. One was a postal clerk. Another was a travel agent. A band director, a choir director, a florist, a book store manager, a film-maker, a beautician, a motel manager, a meat clerk, a housing counselor . . . these were among the many professions represented. Seventy-two students classified themselves as housewives; 115 as teachers; 85 as art teachers; 190 as students; and 13 as graduate students. Arrowmont, it would seem, enjoys universal appeal.

Included among the students were 22 Pi Phis and 19 recipients of club or chapter scholarships. The Gatlinburg Rotary Club provided two scholarships, as did the Foothills Craft Guild.

According to Sarah Holmes Hunt, Grand Vice President of Philanthropies, a gratifying increase in alumnae contributions enabled the Arrowmont Board of Governors to budget for essentials. These included lights for the parking lot, air conditioning for Staff House, carpeting for cold office floors, and a power paint sprayer for maintenance.

Caroline Mills Riddle, the new Arrowmont Administrator, whose responsibilities include making sure that students are comfortably housed and fed, was delightful with the much needed new dishwasher, which "performed almost without a hitch." She reports that the kitchen staff "melded into a fine group of women, several of whom have asked to come back next summer. The food has been superb."

Additional equipment acquired included two looms, a Shippo electric potters wheel, a spinning wheel, and two re-conditioned typewriters. Pottery students were delighted with two new kilns—one built last summer by the kiln-building class plus a salt kiln built in March at one of the workshops. (Director Marian Heard and Assistant Director Sandy Blain contributed the salt kiln, described in a separate column.) Some primitive kilns were built behind the Red Barn by Hal Riegger's class.

Six craftsmen from Nigeria paid a visit to the school. Two of them have decided to enroll at the University of Tennessee. One will be working toward a master's degree in ceramics. The other will major in textiles.

Kirsti Rantanen, a Professor at the School of Industrial Design in Helsinki, Finland, joined the Arrowmont staff from July 29 to August 1 as a textile design instructor, adding a delightful foreign touch to the campus.

The book store, operated for the second summer by Paul Rossetter, was, according to Marian Heard, a "great success." Mr. Rossetter invested the necessary funds, worked countless hours, and then gave the profits to Arrowmont. "How lucky can we be!" exclaimed Director Heard. "He even got one of the senior editors of Van Nostrand-Reinhold and the southeastern service manager to be with us for two days. I believe two or three books may materialize from our staff as a result of their being here."

Miss Heard had praise also for the service staff, all of whom felt themselves to be a part of the total team and gave of their best in whatever capacity they served. She commended the public relations skills of Jan Bailey and Babette Gerhart in the front office, who dealt diplomatically with whatever problems arose.

Helen Deppe Vollmar, Chairman of the Arrowmont Board of Governors, has announced the clubs and chapters that contributed the most to Arrowmont and/or purchased the largest volume of Arrowcraft items. She commented that in reading the letters from chapters for the May Keller Award she found much greater enthusiasm about Arrowmont than was noted in previous years. Montana Alpha and Illinois Eta tied for first place (Grand Council provided two prizes) and Georgia Alpha won honorable mention.

Other club and chapter winners were announced in the Information Issue of The Arrow (Fall, 1974).

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENTS, JUNE 10-21, 1974. Annie Mae Jeu, sent by Houston Alumnae Club; Barbara Blevens, from the Monterey Peninsula A.C.; Nancy Rankin, Champaign-Urbana Club; Valerie Miller, Champaign-Urbana Club; Virginia Land, Reno A.C.; Gail Gilbert, Buffalo A.C.; Linda Wilson, from the Spokane A.C. Virginia is a Nevada Alpha, Valerie and Nancy are from Illinois Zeta.

Marian Heard, Director, and Sandy Blain, Assistant Director, stand beside the new salt kiln which they donated to Arrowmont.

Salt Kiln Is Popular

Suggestion sheets from 1973 pottery students at Arrowmont repeatedly requested a salt kiln. So arrangements were made for one to be built during the Tennessee Craft Workshop which the Tennessee Arts Commission held on the Arrowmont campus last March. Lewis D. Snyder, Director of Crafts for the Commission, and William F. Rummel, Crafts Training Coordinator, built it with their students. It proved to be an exceedingly popular addition. The entire student body watched with excitement whenever it was to be opened after a firing.

According to Clay and Glazes for the Potter by Daniel Rhodes, salt glazing is "accomplished entirely in the firing process. The ware is put in the kiln raw and taken out glazed. Bisque firing and glaze application are eliminated." The process was discovered by German potters in the 15th century and has been popular in Germany ever since. The German drinking stein is a familiar example.

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENTS, June 24-July 5, 1974. Emadene Travers, Mu North Scholarship; Larry A. Beukers, San Mateo A.C. Scholarship; Sonya Anne Benfer, San Francisco A.C.; Katherine W. Watts, Baton Rouge A.C.; Susan DeLong, Tennessee Gamma, Student Assistant. Emadene is an Illinois Epsilon Pi Phi.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS, July 22-26, 1974. Debbie Rose, Ohio Zeta from Fairfield, Conn., taking Jewelry, sent by her chapter; Sherrie Phillips, from Arlington, Tex., sent by the Mid-Cities A.C., taking Craft Media; Elinor Thornberry, Houston, Tex., sent by the Houston A.C., taking weaving at Arrowmont.

THE ARROWMONT DREAM

by MARIAN G. HEARD
Director of Arrowmont

"The gull sees farthest who flies highest."

The day is crystal clear. No fog. No smog. No rain. Every ridge, every valley, every lake, every river is a spot of beauty. Our height blots out those things that might detract from the visual beauty.

I am reminded of the day in 1964 when Lura Odland and I were returning from the Pi Beta Phi Convention at Victoria where the Fraternity voted to invest its centennial funds in enlargement of the craft program. What a wise and far-reaching decision that was. So well do I remember that trip—aglow with visions of an enlarged program.

Today I see again that great mosaic of sights that make up our country—our farmlands, cities, mountains, rivers, deserts. How could anyone not react to this visual feast?

Far below me, stretching out as far as the eye can see, is a giant water system—big and important only because of the hundreds of small rivers and streams that feed it.

Then I think of . . . Arrowmont and its influence which reaches out across our country—to the big cities—to the small towns—to the remote villages. Arrowmont, holding out its arms in welcome—not just to the accomplished craftsman but even to the rank beginner. . . .

Arrowmont, reaching out and seeking to be of service to all . . . to the teachers who work with all ages, from the very young to the young in spirit . . . to those involved in rehabilitation, be it mental or physical . . . to those seeking leisure involvement, whether scheduled or enforced . . . to those searching for a way of life as a craftsman. . . .

Arrowmont, nourishing the tiny streams that feed the mainstream . . . shouldering the burden of one week sessions for those who can not afford to invest more time or money . . . transmitting the spacious, beautiful magic of its great craft complex to all, regardless of their aesthetic sensitivity. . . .

Arrowmont, ever widening its reputation as an excellent, structured craft school which provides superior instruction by well known, established experts who not only know how to teach but also like to teach—to share with others their creative spirit, their technical knowledge, their standards, their individual philosophies. . . .

Arrowmont, offering college accreditation to those who desire it through affiliation with the University of Tennessee College of Home Economics which, through its Department of Crafts and Interior Design, has an excellent reputation in craft education and whose staff and graduates are in leadership positions in many branches of the craft movement.

And now . . . our plane is crossing a great desert. In the distance I can see a small village made possible by man's knowledge and efforts, regardless of the harshness of the environment.

Then I think of . . . the Pi Phis who came as pioneers to Gatlinburg when it was still a remote settlement in the foothills of the Smoky Mountains and who contributed so much in the areas of education, health, and industry. And I think also of the Pi Phis of today who still retain that pioneer spirit, with all systems targeted toward making significant contributions to the craft movement.

If only I could write beautifully! If only I could speak effectively! If only I could convey to you who have such an important part in the growth of Arrowmont the contributions our school is making and can make.

And now . . . we are flying past a great dam whose waters, when released, can alter the desert.

Then I think of Arrowmont, which will soon be dammed up, closed, after ten great weeks . . . to remain dormant for a nine-month period punctuated only by an occasional workshop of visiting craftsmen . . . until another summer arrives to bring it to life again.

And so . . . my thoughts are many as the earth and the years slip by. So little time remains for realizing my dream of being a part of the extension of Arrowmont. I do know that some day it will come to pass. I have already seen many parts of the dream come true. But for one who hopes to see it all the delay is devastating.

(ED. NOTE: This article is a condensation of a letter written to the Arrowmont Board of Governors during a flight from Knoxville to San Francisco, where Miss Heard attended the Conference of the Handweaver's Guild of America.)

However, as my plane approaches San Francisco, and the conference I will soon be attending, I do have the satisfaction of knowing that the famous craftsmen I plan to contact and invite to join our staff next year will be well aware of the reputation we have established, both at the University and at Arrowmont. And I can remember with pleasure all of the former instructors (many of whom return to us year after year) who have opened up for hundreds of students a new door, leading to the happiness of a creative life.

"Become Involved" Advises Activist

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The major portion of this article was written by Lori Lieber, public information assistant at Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa. The article appeared in the Simpson Alumnus.)

You could call her an international ambassador for the welfare of country women. You could say she was a women's libber before it was fashionable. You might add that she's been an advisor to presidents, prime ministers, and kings.

Ruth Buxton Sayre, Iowa Beta, Acworth and Indianola, Ia., has been all of those things at some time in her 78 years.

But probably the most fitting description of all for this vivacious and articulate lady with the white hair and infectious smile is that she's "just plain folks," always eager to lend a hand to her neighbor.

However, Mrs. Sayre's neighbors haven't been limited to those next door or down the road a piece—they live in Europe, Australia, Africa, Asia, Latin America, and Canada.

"Most of the people in the world are still engaged in agriculture . . . in most cases a peasant agriculture," Mrs. Sayre said.

"Trying to get rural women organized in other countries to help them improve their standard of living" through education was the aim of her international work, Mrs. Sayre explained. She served six years as president of the Associated Country Women of the World and traveled extensively, talking to her fellow country people and meeting with government officials to push for implementation of educational programs that could help primitive and rural societies adjust to today's rapidly changing world.

"I guess you'd say I'm an activist," Mrs. Sayre confided. "When something needs doing, I just do it, not just talk about it."

Mrs. Sayre's dedication to education began early in life. She attended Simpson at a time when a college education was the exception rather than the rule. Today she remains a concerned and active member of Simpson's Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Sayre's pioneering activities extended into the political arena as well. She recalled how "the boys stood on the sidelines and hooted at us" when she and a number of other Simpson coeds took up banners and marched around the Indianola square in support of the Constitutional amendment which was to give women the right to vote in 1920.

Mrs. Sayre was asked at one time to consider running for U.S. Senator from Iowa, but turned it down because by that time she felt she had spent most of her energies in her other work. She had served as chairman of the Iowa Farm Bureau's Women's Committee at the county, district, and state levels, and later as midwest regional director, vice president, and president of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"I'm not a radical," she said of her support of women's rights. But, she said, women need to become involved in the world outside the home. "Home is the center of your life but not the circumference," she declared.

Mrs. Sayre eventually found herself involved in a wide range of organizations, including the National Safety Council and the President's Agricultural Advisory Commission, both appointments by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Sayre's Pi Phi interests have never been neglected, but she admits that her activities in Pi Phi "did not begin in earnest until I was free from my international duties." She has been making up for lost time ever since. In 1965 she became president of the

Big Sister Week Provides Surprises

by LISA GRABLE, Virginia Gamma

Pledges of Virginia Gamma receive a fun surprise when Big Sister Week rolls around in their fourth week of pledgship. Sisters and pledges hand in "preferential" lists to the vice president of social advancement and her interest group, who proceed to match up each pledge with one or two big sisters.

Wednesday of that week the fun begins. Each day the big sisters leave clues and hints all around campus and town for their little sisters to follow. The pledges are supposed to be able to guess who Big Sister is from the clues, but the sisters make sure this is very difficult to do.

Finally on Monday, the Big Sister Ceremony arrives. The pledges are hidden away in an upstairs bedroom where they receive last minute presents and clues. They are then blindfolded and led downstairs and placed in front of their Bigs.

Our president reads a short ceremony, reminding the sponsor and her little sister of the responsibilities and joys of friendship. At the final line, "A friend is a present you give yourself," the blindfolds are pulled off, amid much excitement. Littles are introduced to their "families" and the whole chapter goes to the Williamsburg Lodge for a "family" dessert feast, a fitting end to this exciting week.

Crusade Against

by GERALDINE EPP SMITH

While most people today are concerned about the energy crisis, this is not Delphine Seabold McClellan's problem. Mrs. McClellan, Missouri Beta, is super-charged with energy and enthusiasm. Her worry is a time shortage. There is so much to do in fighting crime.

As founder and co-chairman of the Women's Crusade Against Crime in St. Louis, Del must change subject matter and location with the rapidity of a rabbit. A typical day begins with an 8 A.M. breakfast meeting of the St. Louis Committee on Courts. This gets her into the office about 9:30 A.M.—time for mail and a few telephone calls before a 10 A.M. meeting on OPERATION IDENT, a burglary deterrent program.

Geraldine Epp Smith, Program Coordinator for the Women's Crusade Against Crime, and author of this article, is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, and the new editor of its quarterly magazine, The Crescent.

Settling for peanut butter or cheese on crackers, she works through the lunch hour finding this one of the few periods in a day when she can confer quietly with her co-chairman or a volunteer project chairman. Then it's off to Juvenile Court, or the City Jail, or the Mayor's office for one meeting or another—maybe two or three. Back again to the office where she works til it's time to pick up husband Jim at his office. And sometimes he is kept waiting as she calls Juvenile Police for a citizen whose yard is being vandalized, or the head of the vice squad for another who suspects illegal activities in the house next door.

No job is too small to be done; no job too big to be tackled. And that is the key to Del's recognition as a dynamic community leader. For this she was named "Woman of Achievement" in 1970 by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In 1970, at the Mayor's request, Del organized the Women's Crusade Against Crime, to work for the passage of an anti-crime bond issue and sales tax. The package called for better street lighting, a strengthened police force, and expanded juvenile detention facilities. The goal was achieved with a successful vote in March of that year.

But in just the two months that Del worked on the bond issue, her eyes were opened wide to the many problems and discrepancies that mark the criminal justice system. And, she determined, the crime crusade must continue. Mobilizing other women around her, this group of volunteers spent hours observing the city courts, meeting with police, judges, and other public officials. "We felt," she says, "that before we could zero in on the problems we had to establish a base of knowledge. We couldn't attack without being sure of the facts."

Now, after more than four years of intensive study and credible actions for the betterment of the Criminal Justice System, Del and other Crusade members are valued additions to other organizations involving the police, courts, corrections, and youth. One is the first woman police commissioner in St. Louis; still another is a police sergeant commanding the Sex Offensive Investigation Unit (Rape Squad) which the Crusade fought long and hard to have established.

Del herself was named to the board of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency in 1972. She also serves as secretary of the St. Louis Committee on Courts; is a member of the Region 5 Technical Advisory Committee on Law Enforcement; a member of the state-wide Police Committee, Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council; and an advisor to Providence House for juveniles.

In looking back over her Crusade activities to date, Del has some very vivid memories—some good, some bad. One of the worst, a bomb threat . . . one of her best, receiving roses from an ex-offender she had helped gain acceptance into St. Louis University Law School.

"One of the most surprising things," says Del, "was to find myself preaching from the pulpit of Union Memorial United Methodist Church on a Sunday morning." A deeply religious woman (she attends mass daily), she became a vital personality in the "Commitment

Del McClellan takes to the pulpit during a "Commitment Against Crime" Sunday service in one of St. Louis' black churches.

Against Crime" Sunday services. Col. Theodore McNeal, the city's first black police commissioner and the board president, together with the Police-Community Relations Department, conceived the idea of having these services in black churches. The church programs have done much to foster better relations between blacks and the police.

A great tribute has come to Del and her Crusade from Donald Santarelli, outgoing administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Washington, D.C. One of his last acts was to launch an Accent on Women program promoting citizen involvement in the Criminal Justice System. He was moved to action by his participation in the National Town Meeting on Crime Prevention sponsored by the Crusade last April.

"Maybe," muses Del, "the women's touch has been the catalytic element missing all along in the fight against crime."

Because crime knows no boundaries, the Women's Crusade is now expanding its programs on a state-wide basis. Serving as Missouri State Coordinator is Martha Keeffe Griffith, New York Alpha, Xi Alumnae Province President.

Kathy Raskin Is Maid of Cotton

Kathy Raskin, Arizona Beta, a vivacious brown eyed brunette from Litchfield Park, Arizona, is the reigning 1974 Maid of Cotton.

Chosen as Arizona State Maid in April, 1973, she was the first Arizonian to win the national title in the selection's 36-year history. She was selected in competition with 19 other finalists across the Cotton Belt.

The New Maid is a nursing major at Arizona State University. She is a member of the Kaydette drill team and the ASU Student foundation. A talented equestrienne, Kathy belongs to the American Quarter Horse Association and has exhibited horses throughout Arizona.

Last January, she began an extensive tour of more than 35 cities in the United States, Canada, and the Far East. Highlights of her domestic tour included a visit to Washington, D.C., and appearances at Rotary Clubs throughout the nation pointing up the cotton industry's importance. At the tour's conclusion, during the Cotton Carnival in Memphis last May, she was presented with a new automobile in recognition of her service to the cotton industry.

The Maid of Cotton selection and tour are managed by the National Cotton Council.

Six Receive University Recognition

by KATHY WYTRYCH, New York Gamma

The ceremony of Moving-Up Day is held annually in the spring at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y. Originally it marked the official end of the school year. Now it is a time when individual students and professors are honored for their contributions to the campus community throughout the year. Last spring was an especially exciting ceremony for six members of New York Gamma, as they all received recognition for being outstanding students at St. Lawrence.

Lois Jo Brownell was elected to Mortar Board. As the newly elected president of New York Gamma, Jo has won the respect of her sisters, fellow students, and the entire campus community. Anne Falk was named Director of Operation Kanyengehaga for 1974-75. Operation K is a major campus organization involved with helping the nearby Indian reservation in the St. Regis Valley. Having devoted three years of time and effort to this worthwhile project, Anne was truly deserving of the directorship.

A Phi Beta Kappa key was presented to Deborah Kay for outstanding academic performance throughout her collegiate years. Debby ranked in the top twenty of her graduating class of over five hundred students. Following in her footsteps was Ann Malone, recipient of the Corolyn Susan Conkey Scholarship Award. Ann was cited for her perfect cumulative average of 4.0 during her freshman year.

Departmental honors were received by two more Pi Phis. Susan Pryzgoda was selected by the history department to receive the "Outstanding Junior" award, and Kathleen Wytrych was the recipient of the national Wall Street Journal Award. Kathy was chosen for her leadership and academic excellence in the economics department.

All the members of New York Gamma were proud of their sisters' accomplishments, and cries of "Congratulations!" were heard throughout the weekend. In all Moving-Up Day was a memorable one for our chapter.

Enthusiastic Singers Win Two Trophies

by DEBBIE KORFHAGE, Ohio Zeta

The Pi Phis of Miami University, teamed with Kappa Sigma, won first place in the annual Greek Song Festival last spring. Twelve fraternities and fifteen sororities participated in the event, jointly sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Delta Phi.

The Pi Phis and Kappa Sigmas actually won two awards. The judges chose the group as number one in the category of Enthusiasm, and they were voted over-all winners by the audience. The audience's vote was in the form of contributions made after each event, with all proceeds going to the Martha Schaeper Memorial Fund for the Cancer Society, established this year by Delta Delta Delta at Miami.

Behind these awards was a lot of hard work. After the pairings were announced, song interest group leaders Becky Bennett and Becky Day met with the Kappa Sigmas to select a theme. They decided to turn back the clock to the late 50s and portray the college generation of that time. Old favorites such as "Teenagers in Love," "Peppermint Twist," and "Rock Around the Clock" were chosen, with the jitterbug and twist completing the act. Pi Phi Kathy Anderson and two Kappa Sigmas provided guitar accompaniment.

The combined group practiced twice a week all through April and early May. Much to the delight of the chapter and alumnae, they performed at the Founders' Day banquet as a dress rehearsal. We knew even then they were winners and they did not prove us wrong!

The chapter song interest group meets regularly throughout the year to share a common interest—the joy and satisfaction found in singing with and for others. It is a vital part of the chapter's rush program.

Is Top Ten Finalist In Glamour Contest

Kathleen Makielski, Michigan Beta, was named a finalist in the Ten Top College Winners of 1974 by Glamour Magazine. The contest is an annual search for outstanding college women who represent the finest of today's active, involved students on campuses across the United States.

Every college which enrolls women was invited to select from one to three exceptional candidates on the basis of their campus and community activities, awards and scholastic achievements, leadership abilities, and work experiences. From among the nearly three hundred applicants who entered the contest as official representatives of their respective college, ten finalists and seven honorable mentions were chosen by a panel of Glamour editors.

Kathy is one of 50 students who was selected from among 600 outstanding applicants to participate in Inteflex, the accelerated medical program at the University of Michigan which incorporates pre-med and medical school curriculums. As part of the Inteflex program, she spent a month with a family physician in Allegan, Mich., for practical on-the-job training. The journal she kept of her experiences and candid observations in Allegan was published in the Michigan Alumnus Magazine and Time Magazine.

Kathy was a National Merit Scholarship recipient and is an Honors Convocation student with a grade point average of 3.85.

As a member of "Michifish," the synchronized swim club, she participated in last year's annual show as a performer, publicist of the event, and program designer.

Kathy has helped put herself through college by giving folk guitar lessons, doing free lance art work and lettering certificates and diplomas.

International folk dancing is another of her interests. She also sings folk songs and accompanies herself on the guitar. These talents were shared as she assisted a junior high Girl Scout troop. She is vice president of mental advancement for Michigan Beta.

As a participant in Inteflex, Kathy will receive her M.D. degree after six years of study instead of the usual eight. Her area of specialization has not been decided yet.

The Ten Top College Winners of 1974 were photographed by leading New York photographers on their campuses and were featured in the August College issue of Glamour. Each winner received a cash prize of $500, a diamond pin from the magazine's editors, and an all-expense paid week of exciting events in New York City in June.

A Symbol of Sisterhood Tie . . .

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following response was given by Emily Stewart Mowry, Kansas Alpha, during the chapter's centennial celebration in April, 1973. We felt it should be shared with all Pi Phis everywhere.)

We have a fourteen year old daughter at our house who is forever asking questions. By the time I have the answers figured out, she is usually nowhere to be found, so this time I wrote her a letter.

My dear Emily:

You have asked me "what is a sorority?" And I replied, "I wouldn't know, I belong to a fraternity." You giggled and said, "How come you are writing about sisterhood, then?"

I said I hadn't the faintest notion, but somehow, "brotherhood" didn't sound right in those long ago days when women first began to aspire to a college education.

And then, with the thoughtfulness and sensitivity that will make you a real asset to a chapter house some day, you said, "How can you enjoy taking part in something that shuts other people out? What about the ones who cannot belong?"

We live in negative times. You are constantly being told how bad our civilization and our institutions are. Parents are stupid, schools are rotten, and the church is a fraud.

A whole generation of you who have never seen a worm in an apple—because you live in a civilization with magnificent farm technology—are being taught to hunt for worms in everything else. You seem not to have heard about the cloud with the silver lining or the doughnut around the hole. In an era when the young feel alienated, you need, more than ever, organizations from which to draw strength and affection as you gradually mature—or as you love to say, "while you are getting it all together."

If there is not enough room in the fraternity system for all, then we need to enlarge it, not destroy it. The fraternity system has been a prime target for the destroyers. And if we allow them to be successful, a great character building system for young people will be lost. I know that sounds very structured and stuffy, but let me tell you how it really was. It centers around a word that is right in style these days . . . LOVE.

When Pi Beta Phi took me in I was an orphan. Really. You know your grandparents, of course, and you know that I was reared with all the care and privilege they had to offer.

But that is not what counts to a young person. It doesn't really matter that Mother thinks you are beautiful and Dad says you're pretty smart. If you do not feel the approval of your peers, you're an orphan.

When I arrived at K.U. I had traveled a thousand miles from home and knew almost no one. I lived in a small dormitory where the people came and went like strangers with nothing in common, little interest in each other, and no shared goals. Scholarship was the exception rather than the rule. The following fall I lived in a nice room in a private home. The people were lovely to me. Grades improved, as I recall, but boredom and loneliness were knee-deep. I discovered that we ARE, we BECOME, as we relate to other people. We learn about ourselves from them in a very specific sense.

To do this, we must feel welcome, loved. I don't kid you, dear, that I loved everyone in the Pi Phi house—and vice versa—but the spoken and committed rule was acceptance, support, and teamwork where it counted.

As a group, we were diverse, "whole bunches different from each other," as you would say, but we took turns applauding each other, bailing each other out when needed, and being proud of each other, ourselves, and Pi Beta Phi. Somehow, just the knowledge that we felt CHOSEN by Pi Phi was an enormous reserve of acceptance.

And as an alum—perhaps this is the best part. I remember yet when we first went to Manhattan nearly 10 years ago. Before we arrived, someone had sent word ahead that I was a Pi Phi and they were all but lined up in the street waiting for me. They had no way of knowing whether they would even want to claim me, but they did, simply and automatically. I wore that gold arrow, the tie of sisterhood, and that was what counted.

Charter members of North Carolina Alpha were honored at the 50th year banquet in Chapel Hill on April 5. From the left: Priscilla Burt, chapter president; Phyllis Foster Parker, Delta Alumnae Province President; Lillie Cutlar Farrior; Marianne Browne Hayworth; Adeline Denham McCall; Frances Venable Gardiner; Susan Rose Saunders; Jean Croom, chapter celebration chairman; Ann Duncan Brown; Mildred Morse McEwen; Barbara Cashion Lawler; Nina Cooper Thornton.

North Carolina Alpha Celebrates Birthday

Birthday parties are usually held on birthdays. But when North Carolina Alpha became 50 years old in September, 1973, the chapter was in the midst of fall rush. Consequently the alumnae and active anniversary committee decided to postpone the celebration until springtime in Chapel Hill.

On September 28, 1923, North Carolina Alpha was installed when seventeen girls were initiated by Miss Amy B. Onken. The local group, Beta Alpha Phi—known as The Boffins—petitioned Pi Beta Phi and was granted a charter at the 1923 Estes Park Convention.

Three members of Pi Beta Phi living in Chapel Hill helped make the Boffins' dream come true—Jane White Comer, Texas A, and wife of the director of the university YMCA; Harriet Wilmot Caldwell, New York B, wife of a university history professor; and Millicent Perkins Lawrence, New York B, wife of the rector of the Episcopal Church. Mrs. Caldwell's daughter, Martha, was initiated into North Carolina Alpha many years later, as were two Lawrence daughters, Elsie Lawrence Gribbin and Janet Lawrence Holmes.

Early in 1974 the celebration dates were set for April 5 and 6, and the committee began making preparations to honor the 17 charter members by establishing a merit scholarship.

As part of the preparations, two charter members, Frances Venable Gardiner and Adeline Denham McCall, delighted alumnae club and active chapter meetings with interesting stories about the Boffins. Their reminiscences provided much additional incentive to work for a gala birthday celebration. Collegiate chairman Jean Croom and her active chapter committee worked untold hours for the coming events.

Finally the big day arrived. Alumnae began arriving for the banquet at the Carolina Inn. Eight of the charter members were present for the birthday dinner—Frances Venable Gardiner, Adeline Denham McCall, Elizabeth Branson, Laura Thompson MacMillan, Ann Duncan Brown, Nina Cooper Thornton, Lil Cutler Farrior, and Mildred Morse McEwen. Other charter members unable to attend but who sent messages read at the banquet were Katherine Batts Salley, Ellen Lay Hodgkinson, Mary Yellott McNitt, Lina Pruden Mack, and Jane Toy Coolidge. Four of the original 17 are not living. However, Barbara Cashion Lawler and Marianne Browne Hayworth, both North Carolina Alphas, were present to represent their mothers, Carrilea Sanders Cashion and Catherine Boyd Browne. Martha Caldwell was present to represent her mother and messages were read from Elsie Lawrence Gribbin and Jane White Comer.

An interesting feature of the banquet program was the way each alumna was introduced. As a name was called, an active member who had searched old scrapbooks, histories, and yearbooks for information, read a short sketch—often amusing—about the college and chapter activities of the alumna.

As dessert was being served, a tremendous birthday cake was brought in, made in the shape of an arrow, iced in wine and blue, and aflame with 50 lighted candles. Then, as Happy Birthday was sung, charter members gathered around to blow out the candles.

Following the dinner special messages were read and recognitions and awards were made. This occasion was the first time that North Carolina Alpha could recognize officially and publicly their 1973 national winner of the Amy B. Onken Award, Mary Norris Preyer. With pride the chapter presented her a copy of A Century of Friendship as a token of love and affection, along with belated congratulations.

Next was the announcement of the Katherine Batts Salley Award, recognizing the junior who had contributed most to chapter spirit and unity, determined by secret chapter vote. A handsome plaque was designed with Mrs. Salley's jeweled initiation badge encased in the top and space provided below to engrave the names of the annual winners. Nancy Hoft, chapter treasurer and daughter of Jeanne Basnight Hoft, N.C. Alpha, was named the first winner.

High spot of the evening was the announcement of the Sophomore Scholarship Award. This was designed to be an appropriate recognition of the chapter's official installation in 1923. The name of the scholarship was a well guarded secret, so when announcement was made that it would be called the Susan Rose Saunders Scholarship, the expression on Mrs. Saunders' face became proof positive that women can keep a secret. The first winner of this award was Elizabeth Gordon Taylor whose scholastic average for the required period was 3.9 out of a possible 4.

Many messages of congratulations were received and read. Delta Alumnae Province President Phyllis Foster Parker brought special greetings and appropriate congratulations to both the chapter and the Chapel Hill Alumnae Club.

Saturday morning alumnae and collegians met again for a reception at the Pi Phi house. This occasion was a recognition of the alumnae club, also celebrating a Golden Anniversary.

The study room became an historical center of interest. One part of the room contained exhibits pertaining to the Boffins—the petition book, old pictures, the charter, and newspaper clippings about the installation of N.C. Alpha. In another part of the room, old scrapbooks, histories, and yearbooks were spread about for visitors to peruse. A large table displayed alumnae club memorabilia.

A light luncheon was served in the dining room by actives and alumnae hostesses for the occasion. Many townspeople, university officials, and patrons of Pi Beta Phi enjoyed this final hospitality in celebration of North Carolina Alpha's Golden Anniversary weekend.

Saunders Scholarship Surprises Honoree

The Susan Rose Saunders Scholarship, presented for the first time during North Carolina Alpha's Golden Anniversary celebration last spring, honors a Pi Phi alumna who has been near and dear to the hearts of the chapter for many years.

Unknown to Susan, a member of the celebration planning committee, it had been decided to name a proposed endowed merit scholarship fund in her honor. Not until the final agenda item at the banquet was it publicly announced that the new chapter award would be named for Mrs. Saunders.

In her words, the revelation of the well-kept secret "floored" her. She had not even been suspicious, although working on the project closely with chapter actives and their celebration chairman. One recent alumna, who had come from New York for the party, was heard to say, "I wouldn't have missed this celebration if for no other reason than to hear of something happening at the Pi Phi house of which Mrs. Saunders was unaware." A handsome silver trophy presented to Mrs. Saunders was inscribed, "For your constant love and caring for North Carolina Alpha, April 5, 1974."

In addition to her local interests with the chapter, Susan has held national positions as well, the most recent being chairman of the nominating committee. She has been a province president and an alumnae province president, and is the current president of the North Carolina Alpha House Corporation.

Memphis Pi Phi Is Carnival Queen

Queen Carroll Shannon, Arkansas Alpha, and King Ben Woodson reigned over the 1974 Memphis Cotton Carnival.

"I cannot believe it actually happened to me!"

That is the continuing reaction of Carroll Shannon, Arkansas Alpha, who was one half of the youngest royal couple in the history of the Memphis Cotton Carnival. As Queen of the 1974 Carnival, held last May, Carroll made her first official appearance in April at the annual Crown and Sceptre Coronation Ball, the most lavish of pre-Carnival events. At that time the king and queen dedicated Carnival as a week of festivity for all. The 200-member Royal Court was the largest of all Carnival courts, and included special princess Allen Jett, Mississippi Beta.

"I think I could write a book on what an absolutely fantastic time I had that week—that flew by way too fast," said Carroll. "We went to parties at night, but in the day we made visits to children's hospitals, homes for the elderly, schools, and other places like these. The day visits really meant more because, as Ben (Carnival king) and I would walk into these places in our bright costumes, you could see everyone's face light up. The whole week was a very rewarding experience that I'll love and remember forever."

Two years ago Carroll was lady in waiting for the Memphis Garden Club at Carnival time. Last year she was the Governor's Princess in the carnival.

Carroll has interests beyond social activities, however. She tutored dyslexic children in a pilot program launched by concerned mothers. Her hobbies include water sports, needlepoint, tennis and sewing. She also helped design the sequin motif for her night Carnival costume. Embroidered in sequins on the white cotton gown is a pattern showing the growth of cotton from the seedling through the pink blossom and white boll.

On Tuesday night of Carnival week, several tremendous barges float down the Mississippi River, marking the official arrival of Carnival royalty. One spectacular barge carried Queen Carroll and her royal court, and a separate one carried Maid of Cotton, Kathy Raskin, Arizona Beta. At this time there is a magnificent display of fireworks on an island in the river. The Queen is presented a key to the city, amid much ceremony, witnessed by thousands along the river banks.

Fraternity Survives

Fraternity has come far in its lifetime, and tempered by the fire that consumes the dross, is returning once again to what its Founders laid down. It has left behind the devil-may-care Scott Fitzgerald irresponsibility of the 1920's and '30's; the frustration and misinterpretation of the '50's and '60's which belonged to the rabble-rousers. Rightfully, it has jealously guarded the privilege of selecting its own best-fitted membership. It engages in tremendous civic and philanthropic projects; it hones the steel edge of leadership ability to create, direct and be good followers as well as leaders. It urges us relentlessly to continue the search for Truth; it strengthens our soul through Ritual in respect, reverence and belief in God.

Participative Leadership

If authoritarian and motivational styles of leadership are wanting in their ability to create satisfactory human relationships on the work environment, what else is there? Consider participative leadership. As implied by the term "participative," the functions of leadership are disseminated throughout the work group and not monopolized by a single leader (supervisor). Unlike the other styles mentioned, par-ticipative leadership views the supervisor and his subordinates as co-partners in the enterprise of maintaining group and organizational health. Even though ultimate authority and responsibility gravitate upwards towards the organization's apex, many of the leadership functions are shared at lower levels of the hierarchy.

The Academic Dimension of Character

College is supposed to be an intellectual challenge, and it is a mark of character when the challenge is accepted and, indeed, sought out. The student should not be content with simply acquiring information (much of which will soon be forgotten), but should be constantly exercising his mental skills in ways which will serve him throughout life. Intellectual challenge also involves subjecting one's views to reconsideration and criticism. College is not a place to seek confirmation of opinions

Reflections on Alumni Interest

We do not stop being DUs on graduation day. Once a DU, always a DU! Only with the passing of time do any of us get the opportunity to savor the true flavor of being a DU. That chance continually eludes the undergraduate. Like it is with wines, the new might be satisfactory, but the older are great. No undergraduate ever fully comprehends what it is to be a DU until he's gone from the chapter house, out of sight of the friends one saw every day. It is something that only starts during the college days, but becomes refined and polished and valued only with the years as the

Fraternity Isn't Limited

The words from a recent song state, "What the world needs now is love." Fraternity, by the very definition of the word, is an institution which should be dedicated to providing love and understanding through brotherhood. As emphasized by these projects, in finally recognizing that fraternity should not be already held—though that may result from study—but rather a place where one can be free to explore many different approaches and ideas. This may involve a bit of intellectual rough-and-tumble, but no one was ever the worse for that kind of wear and tear. A student can well be expected to appreciate this part of the nature of a college, though he need not be expected to accept a particular brand of intellectual orthodoxy.

It is the alumni of a fraternity that are its strength. Like the roots of a plant, they nourish the leaves and bring forth the flowers. You can prune back the branches, pick the flowers and leaves, but the roots keep going and soon again bring back the green. But cut out the roots or damage them and the plant will show the harm and perhaps regress to the point of dying. While our undergraduate brothers are the blood and vitality of DU, it is the alumni who are the roots and the heart of it. One needs the other.

Fraternity Contributions Are Unique

Since the first purpose of the university is to educate, today's fraternity must re-establish itself first and foremost as an instrument of intellectual attainment, creativity, and academic excellence. The social function must be subordinated to academic purpose, for any activity that tends to defeat rather than to enhance this mission of an institution of learning cannot long endure.

Fraternity must ask themselves what it is that they can offer that is unique, that is not

It's not the social side either, for the days when fraternities held a monopoly on campus social activities is long gone. Rather, the unique contributions of the fraternity lie in the areas of fellowship, leadership, and individual development.

Greek Week last spring was a great success at Florida State University. Although the Florida Betas did not win the championship, they did, however, make a first place showing in the talent competition with Heidi Hatfield taking the spotlight away from all others as the character of Lily Tomlin's Edith Anne came to life. Heidi, of Merrit Island, is a sophomore and pledged in fall 1973.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of Heidi's act was the 8 foot high yellow rocking chair into which she climbed for her performance. The chair was especially made for this performance and brought to Tallahassee by her parents.

Cooperation Is Theme

The theme for the Indiana Delta scholarship dinner last semester was cooperation and participation. At dinner, each sister had her wrist bound to the wrist of her neighbor on either side, and the meal proceeded with great difficulty. Passing dishes and glasses was particularly a problem, as the whole table was involved with almost every move.

Dessert was a time of relaxation while awards were given to girls with outstanding scholarship records, as well as most improved sisters, and the mother-daughter team with the highest grades.

Pi Beta Phi—A Flame

Pi Beta Phi is like a tiny ember deep inside my heart that emerges into a flame flickering and continues to stay inside me forever as an eternal glow within. That ember ignited a feeling of sisterhood like no other.

That flame is not something you see. It's a special something that happens every time you wear your pin or when your sister does something really outstanding. They call it pride. It's there when your sister needs a ride or some help. That's friendship. It happens when you realize the tradition Pi Phi holds and you try to keep it going. That's called respect. It happens when you sing the "Anthem" and chills go down your spine and tears keep flowing. That's the emotion. It happens when you give your best and your all because it makes the house the best. That's called loyalty.

How can I put into words what I feel for you, Pi Phi? Love is just a word but if it represents the pride, friendship, respect, emotion, and loyalty I have for you, then what you mean to me, Pi Beta Phi, is love.

Honor Society Recognizes Miss Hoeltzel

by DORRIS KARCHER WELLING

Phi Kappa Phi, the highest national scholastic honor group at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, inducted Miss Pauline Hoeltzel, Arkansas Alpha, in April, 1974, in recognition of her long service to the school and to education.

Miss Hoeltzel joined the faculty of UALR when it opened in 1927 as Little Rock Junior College. She started the LRJC chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college scholastic honor society, and was an honorary member of Sword and Shield, the UALR honor group that preceded Phi Kappa Phi. She also started the school's yearbook and sponsored it for many years.

In 1961-63 Miss Hoeltzel was state president of the American Association of University Women. She is a member and past president of Gamma chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, professional women educators society; was district governor of the Altrusa Club; and from 1950-1960 she was a member of the University of Arkansas Board of Trustees in Fayetteville. Pauline is also a member and past president of the Pulaski County Historical Society.

Miss Hoeltzel was associate professor of English and German and chairman of Humanities Division at LRJC. In 1949 she was chosen Little Rock Woman of the Year; in 1963 Teacher of the Year by Little Rock Federation of Clubs; listed in Who's Who In American Women, first edition. She retired from teaching in 1964.

She has held continuous membership in the Little Rock Alumnae Club since its founding in 1920, having served as president and corresponding secretary, and is the current historian. Pauline was alumnae advisory committee chairman for Arkansas Beta when it was installed in 1963.

Miss Hoeltzel is a Golden Arrow member and continues to be active in alumnae club meetings. In 1972 a scholarship plaque was begun honoring her, to be given each year to an Arkansas Beta collegian attaining the highest grade point.

Rush Skit Impresses Other Campus Greeks

The girls of Alabama Alpha highlighted their rush this year with an original skit based on Minnie Mouse's adventures through Walt Disney World. Minnie Mouse, the lost rushee searching for sorority, is aided by Jiminy Cricket who shows her the way to Pioneerland, Adventureland, and Tomorrowland. In Pioneerland, Minnie meets Davy Crockett who tells her about Pi Phi heritage. Minnie and Jiminy then follow the arrow to Adventureland where Alabama Alpha's favorite hood, none other than Robin Hood, reviews the Pi Phi activities. Once again, Minnie and Jiminy follow the arrow which leads this time to Tomorrowland. After much persuasion, a shy Tinkerbell comes out and tells Minnie of a lasting Pi Phi future. Minnie then realizes that she has found what is waiting for her in Pi Beta Phi.

During rush, Alabama Alpha was asked by the other sororities on campus to perform a special showing of their skit. Finally, after the last skit party, the Pi Phi room was overflowing with Greeks as Alabama Alpha excitedly put on their skit.

Corpus Christi (Tex.) alumnae were very excited to have Alice Jones Eshleman, Texas Beta, crowned Queen of the Court of Winged Beauty during the Buccaneer Days celebration last May. These festivities, lasting two weeks, are held each spring and involve the entire South Texas area.

Plants Thrive With Tender Loving Care

by BARBARA GILLINGS, Washington Beta

The art of raising house plants has become an enormously growing favorite pastime for a number of Washington Beta Pi Phis. All of a sudden the most popular gift to give and receive for any occasion became a small house plant in need of an owner.

Many times Pi Phis could be seen cooing softly to their "loved ones," encouraging them to grow to healthy maturity. There was a genuine concern when a girl's plant seemed to be ailing.

Luanne Danaher was often referred to as our plant doctor. A horticulture student at WSU, Luanne was considered our authority on the subject. She has a fine collection of plants that she has maintained through the years. Although our Pi Phi house could have passed as a greenhouse, the enjoyment we received from our little treasures was truly worth it.

Dedicated Librarian Inspires Everyone

A fascinating and challenging job for both men and women is that of media specialist. Thus thinks Virginia Knispel Brown, New York Alpha, who is head librarian of the Wyckoff, N.J., school system. Today the school librarian's role has changed. "In addition to selecting books, reference materials, and other publications, we're also responsible for keeping up and selecting audio-visual equipment and materials," she said. "The last ten years have seen a tremendous change in the availability of the latter, so we're on a constant search for new things to help the teachers and students."

Virginia started out to be an English teacher. She and her twin sister, Evelyn, were both members of New York Alpha. According to Evelyn, "Pi Phi meant so very much to us both, as we attended Syracuse University for four most memorable years."

It was while she was teaching English in Chatham High School that she worked as a part-time school librarian. Later she worked as a guidance director and a reaching teacher. Today all that has contributed to the background for her present job.

Many honors have come to Mrs. Brown. She has served as president of the Wyckoff Education Association, vice president of the Waldwick Board of Education, and has headed PTA units in two communities. She was named "Outstanding Bergen County Citizen" in 1968, and her portrait was hung in Trenton as part of a display of portraits of leading New Jersey citizens. She was listed in the 1973 edition of World Who's Who of Women.

Virginia has dedicated most of her life in the field of library work to educating, improving, counselling, and serving not only in her professional field and related studies, but also in the community and church. She has been a source of inspiration to her co-workers as well as to her family and friends.

"Close The Book Softly" Says Noted Judge

"Not all marriages have to be saved," says Judge Marjorie Montgomery Bowker, Alberta Alpha, of the Edmonton, Canada, Family Court. "Maybe some would be better off breaking up. And if a marriage has to break up, the couple should be helped to close the book softly. Healthy divorces are becoming as important these days as healthy marriages."

The Edmonton Family Court Conciliation Project, a pilot project funded by the federal government and now in its third year, has made making happier divorce, as well as happier marriage, one of its major objectives. Judge Bowker is one of four Family Court judges in Edmonton. Shortly after she was made a judge in 1966 she became aware that a lot of those who stood before her seemed to want to save their marriages—but that somehow the court system made it difficult to try once they became enmeshed in its processes.

Court administered counseling had started in Los Angeles after World War II and has since spread to 15 other states as well as Japan, Britain, and other countries. Judge Bowker felt that it was worth trying in Canada. It wasn't easy, but she finally managed to squeeze about $120,000 from the federal Department of Health and Welfare to spread over a three year period.

The project doesn't pretend to be a last-minute cure-all for peoples' problems. That's why it's called a conciliation project, not reconciliation. A five-member team of marriage counselors is attached to the project, and clients come only on referral from lawyers or judges of the Family or Supreme Courts.

When a lawyer or judge calls with a potential case, the counselor on duty suggests that the wife, husband, or both come over to the office right away. There's no waiting around. In the first session the counselor tries to figure out whether there's a chance that the two can get together—or if they can't, whether he can help in arranging an amiable divorce or separation. If the couple doesn't seem too interested in a cooperative approach, it's back to the lawyer—or the courts—for both of them. The project hasn't time to waste on those who won't put something into it themselves.

It's difficult to say how successful it has been thus far, but Judge Bowker has no doubt that the project will be a model for others of its kind. A visiting New Zealand expert on family law was impressed. He called it "a constructive instrument for rescuing shaky marriages and—perhaps even more important—for giving the parties to a hopelessly broken marriage a proper framework for cooperation in the future."

Judge Bowker is convinced that her baby will go on demonstrating its value and that, when its term is over in late 1975, there'll be public pressure to make it permanent. "Then, maybe all across Canada," she says. "For all of Canada, if they can't have happier, healthier marriages, then at least happier, healthier divorces. It's not quite as good, perhaps, but sometimes you just have to make do the best you can."

Ruth Brewster . . .

Jane Griffith Stevens, an active alumna in Lawrence, Kan., found the following information in the Kansas Alpha chapter archives. It is from the chapter's letter to The ARROW, October, 1892.

"The college year opened in September with a prosperous outlook for Pi Beta Phi. We have no interfraternity pledge this year, so we are at liberty to ask new girls whenever we choose, without the three months of waiting. Three new girls have donned the wine and blue, Miss Rohe, Miss Plumb and Miss Johnson.

"Soon after the opening of College a dainty luncheon was given to the Pi Beta Phi girls at University Place. This was our first reunion this year and was enjoyed in thorough school-girl fashion."

In the chapter letter to The ARROW in July, 1895, the following was found: "Ruth Plumb will not be with us at the opening of school in the fall as she sails for Europe the last of June. We hope, however, to have her with us the second term."

The three who participated in the presentation found it to be a very heartwarming experience.

Artist's Plaques Are Cherished Tradition

An original Pi Phi angel plaque, painted by Lois Thayer Lewis, is one of the gifts received by Illinois Iota, commemorating the chapter's installation. Lois, a talented artist, is a member of the Chicago South Suburban Alumnae Club, and the plaques are a tradition with the club. Lois has been painting them as presidents' gifts for the past seven years and each retiring president treasures her Pi Phi angel.

Lois combined her interest in art and Pi Phi when she was awarded a scholarship to Arrowmont where she studied stitchery. She has studied at the Cleveland Institute of Art, the Cleveland Art Museum, Ohio Wesleyan University, and the Chicago Theological Seminary. She has taught creative stitchery for the YWCA, a high school adult education program, and privately. In addition to stitchery, her work includes oils on wood, and collage oils. She has exhibited in numerous shows and has won many awards. In addition to her exhibitions, Lois frequently presents her program, "Don't Throw it Out," which has been popular with a wide variety of groups.

Lois' training at Chicago Theological Seminary has enabled her to become a member of a team ministry, Potential Unlimited, with her husband, Rev. Richard Lewis. Together they

Girls Swim Team Is Campus Innovation

Two members of Illinois Beta-Delta made history in the athletic department program at Knox College. Diane Dillon and Robin Losito competed in swimming and diving, respectively, on the first girls' swim team. Diane, who competed before college, continued to compete in breaststroke. Robin, who was interested in diving but never had the opportunity, learned the dives needed to compete. Thus this was her first year. Due to a change in the athletic program, girls' sports received letters and jackets. Both Diane and Robin were among the first girls to receive letters in women's competition.

Robin also made another first at Knox. She became the first woman to compete and letter in a boys' varsity sport. She dove competitively on the team after returning to practice from a shoulder injury. She placed in her first meet, earning points for the team. She continued to compete the rest of the season on both the girls' and boys' swim teams, ending with the conference meet and earning letters in both.

Hawaiian Panhel Shows Aloha Spirit

by JEANNE NEWMAYER MICHAEL Honolulu A.C.

Panhellenic of Hawaii, located in Honolulu, is unique in many ways. It is a City Panhellenic functioning as a state organization; it operates in a state that has no national fraternities, and it handles its funding through dues and various projects rather than through assessments from the 18 group members. Leading this organization is a Pi Phi, Deanna Epps Helber, Oregon Beta, who is not only president of Panhellenic but is also president of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club in Honolulu.

The majority of the money earned by Panhellenic is used for scholarships. Through the cooperation of sponsoring businesses, Panhellenic participates in the Community Club Awards program, earning cash for turning in proofs of purchases. A successful Christmas Boutique was held last year to help pay current expenses. Pi Phis donated a lovely set of Arrowcraft place mats. This year Dee organized the advance sale of admission tickets for Flora Pacifica, a huge annual garden show featuring flora and craft items from the Pacific Basin Area, open to the public for ten days in April and May.

Panhellenic of Hawaii maintains a central rush file for all participating NPC fraternities in the Islands, a Memorial Book Shelf of current business books purchased for the University of Hawaii, and an active scholarship program. Two $500 scholarships are provided to girls entering a college or university where there are NPC fraternities. An additional $100 is given each girl to help with sorority expenses if she chooses to pledge. During the summer months, various fraternity alumnae groups give college parties for active fraternity members visiting the Islands.

Sportswomen Garner Three First Places

by LYNDA GRASMICK, Florida Delta

First place honors were won by Pi Phis in three of nine sports during the 1973-74 sorority intramural season at the University of Florida.

Considering that Florida Delta had stiff competition from fifteen other sororities on campus, we were quite proud. Badminton, swimming, and volleyball proved to be the Pi Phi's forte as they captured the first place trophy in all three. Also the Pi Phis proved themselves second best in the highly competitive softball league.

Other sports for which Florida Delta supported teams included: basketball, bowling, football, racketball, and tennis. Unfortunately the Pi Phis strong showing only landed them second place among the sororities in the combined intramural sports.

Arrowman, Humberto "Humby" Aguilar, contributed greatly to the Pi Phi's athletic success. To encourage enthusiasm in the participating sisters, Humby instituted the unique and novel "Golden Shoe Award."

In its first life, the Golden Shoe was one of Humby's very special, but very abused, basketball sneakers. It began its second life being renovated, gilded, and mounted.

Florida Delta feels that the Golden Shoe Award was instrumental in generating the great spirit during its first year of existence.

Pi Phi Presides At Angel Flight Meet

by QUIN BUENGER, Texas Gamma

At the Angel Flight 1974 National Conclave, Pi Phis were in the spotlight from the time National Commander Kay Svoboda, Tennessee Delta, called the first business meeting to order until Jody Brooks, Washington Gamma, was named "Little General" at the awards banquet and military ball. The conclave enabled us to meet people from every part of the nation, but meeting girls with whom we shared a double bond made it even more rewarding. After the final business session, six "double Angels" finally found time to have our picture made together to commemorate the four fun-filled days we shared at the Astroworld Hotel in Houston, Texas, March 23-26.

Kay Svoboda reached the highest rank possible for an Angel—that of Brigadier General. She has been a credit to Pi Phi as she led Angel Flight to another great year, won the hearts of all with whom she worked, and still maintained a 3.90 average at Memphis State. She also served Pi Phi as pledge trainer and was named Outstanding Sophomore by her province alumnae. Kay's administrative officer (comparable to secretary), Barbie Wheeler, Tennessee Delta, well earned her rank of Lieutenant Colonel as she handled most of the paper work on the national level. Barbie also served on the Executive Board in Pi Phi.

The newly elected commander of the area which includes Oklahoma, Arkansas, and much of Texas in Angel Flight is Colonel Benita Elliott, Oklahoma Beta. O.S.U.'s local flight is also led by a Pi Phi, Jo Ellen Fenmore, and S.M.U. is another lucky flight as Patti Turbeville is their newly-elected commander. Both commanders are Angel Flight Majors.

Angel Flight is an auxiliary of the Arnold Air Society, an honorary service organization for A.F.R.O.T.C. cadets. The A.A.S. national sweetheart is fittingly titled the "Little General." Angels are selected by their local squadron as "Little Majors" to compete on an area level for "Little Colonel." At the joint Arnold Air-Angel Flight National Conclave, these girls compete for "Little General."

It is easy to see why Jody Brooks was selected as this year's "Little General," but, in addition, she has been active in Pi Phi and has been tapped for Mortar Board. As her first official duty, Jody was escorted to the first waltz of the military ball by Brigadier General Robert M. White, former astronaut and now Honorary National Commander of the Arnold Air Society.

Besides these girls in the national spotlight, Angels can always be seen in The Arrow as campus leaders. Since both groups are known as "Angels" it is no surprise that so many girls of the wine and blue wear the Air Force blue, too.

Movies Are Extra On U.C.I. Campus

by BECKY BISHOP, California Eta

The Pi Phis of California Eta not only have a beautiful campus, but nine times out of ten, they go to classes while passing hundreds of movie "extras" eating lunch, or while a director is surveying UC Irvine, or even while a filming is taking place.

Although no U.C.I. Pi Phis have been "discovered" yet, the campus has been used for many current movies, for both TV and the local theatre, including "Beneath the Planet of the Apes," "Planet Earth" and Jimmy Stewart's "Harper."

Some of the reasons for U.C.I.'s film fame are its easy accessibility to and from Los Angeles, Burbank, and other popular "location" areas in Southern California, and its uniquely ultra modern architecture. U.C.I. was designed by William Perreira, who also designed the University of California campuses at San Diego and Santa Cruz. The futuristic look of the U.C. Irvine campus is brought out by the modern buildings being surrounded by a park of green grass with no other civilization in view.

It's a thrill for students to catch a glance of buildings so familiar to them, while watching TV or at the movies. And it's also an interesting aside to education, watching the filming crews and performers transform a Humanities Hall into headquarters for "beings" on another planet.

Summer Job Is Exciting Lesson

by JAN NELSON

Kansas Beta

In the midst of Watergate, impeachment hearings, and the historic resignation of a president was Amy Button, Kansas Beta. Amy, who worked as a summer intern for Kansas Senator Bob Dole and Kansas Representative Garner Shriver, spent the summer in Washington, D.C., witnessing what was perhaps one of the most exciting events in American history.

Amy had the opportunity to sit in on impeachment hearings in the House Judiciary Committee. She said she was favorably impressed with the way our government functions.

"The way the whole Watergate situation was handled proved to me that our government really does work," Amy said.

During her internship, she also had the opportunity to look into other fields of government. Amy is especially interested in women's rights and attended committee hearings regarding the entrance of women into military academies.

Amy Button, Kansas Beta, poses with Kansas Senator Bob Dole on the steps of the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C.

"In Washington you are exposed to real government," she said. "You get a true picture of what is really going on."

Amy's interest in politics stems from a major in political science and prelaw. She is also active in the K-State student senate, and various university committees.

For the second consecutive year, the Minneapolis (Minn.) Alumnae Club won first place for their entry in the Theta "Flaming Festival." Each year local sorority alumnae clubs enter a table setting arrangement using candles, with a particular theme. Pi Phi's 1973 entry depicted an Old Fashioned Box Social. Red, white, and blue colors blended with the greens of the trellis and planters. The $100 prize won by the Minneapolis Club was given to Arrowmont and the local Minneapolis Girls Club.

Each year Florida Beta's class of 1964 has compiled a newsletter to keep members in touch despite the miles and years. As the tenth year out of school drew closer, three members, Susan Mullis Lewis, Marilyn Barineau Brown, and Pam Carleton Stark, began organizing a reunion at Calloway Gardens in Pine Mountain, Ga. Founders' Day marked this special gathering of eleven Pi Phis and their husbands for a weekend of Ringchinging, reminiscing, laughter, and Pi Phi sisterhood, mixed with tennis, golf, horse back riding, and swimming. Pictured are Marilyn Brown, Patti Haer Foster, Linda Hagan McCoy, Cindy Cline Chase, Pam Stark, Peggy Neel Duncan, Beth Ann LeGate Pickels, Dana Lenahan Vaill, Janice Howser Moody, and Susan Lewis.

Busy AAC Chairman Seldom Stops

On those long studious evenings when you think you'll never drink another cup of coffee, and you're wondering how you'll have time to wash your hair, and are considering being at the registrar's door bright and early to quit school, remember that there are busier people than you and I!

It's a fact! They just budget time better. Rosemary Eckel Skinner is one of those lovely, calm, organized interesting people. Mrs. Skinner is a vital link in the chain of friendship and service in Wyoming Alpha. As chairman of the alumnae advisory committee, she not only appears on the first Monday of each month, but is never-ending help in daily crises, whether they be calls to the plumber, the Dean of Students, or just a steady logical person to talk to or to help sort things out.

Aside from all this work, Mrs. Skinner is married to the Alumni Director of the University of Wyoming and this keeps her traveling with her husband, Dick. They have three teen-age boys and a six-year old girl.

When she isn't traveling, she is an active participant in the Baseball Mothers Club, room mother for their youngest, belongs to the Parents' Council, the Church Guild, and teaches religious classes. She takes art classes, is a member of the Art Guild, and still has a few seconds to be in a bridge club. Currently she is county chairman of the American Cancer Society's annual fund drive.

Wyoming Alpha considers themselves extremely lucky and honored to have this energetic lady as one of their viable leaders and a true friend.

Chapters Get Together

On July 5, members of Arkansas Alpha and Arkansas Beta met at the Arkansas Beta lodge for a get-together dinner to give the members a chance to meet and exchange Pi Phi ideas and activities. Several alums were present also. Arkansas Beta believes it was a start towards a better relationship between the chapters and helped both chapters realize the sisterhood which is all over the nation.

WOMAN IS THE WORD on campus, whether you're talking about student government, innovative curriculum planning, job opportunities for the graduate, or back pay for female faculty members. Among new course offerings directed toward women, Alabama lists "Introduction to Women's Studies" while Duke's Center of Continuing Education has "New Directions: A Guidance Seminar for Women," and nearly 2,000 other miscellaneous women-oriented courses include "Marxism and Women's Liberation," "The Heroine of the American Novel," "The Rhetoric of Sexual Liberation," "Media Images of Women: From Main Street to Madison Avenue," and "The Judeo-Christian Tradition and Historical Perceptions of the Role of Women." A number of campuses, often through their Panhellenics, provide an automotive fixit course for women. . . . One campus lists something interesting and probably appealing to women "In-Home Leisure Living in 1990," described as "an innovative, experimental course offered by the Department of Marketing Management." . . . It should also be noted that the women's enrollment in graduate schools is growing while the female dropout level has halved itself in the past ten years.

HEADCOUNT ON SINGLE MALES: They tell us that 12.7% are between the ages of 20 and 34, a noticeable double since 1960. One contributing factor is a high divorce rate which leaves older singles at large.

TRADITIONAL GRADING SYSTEMS, recent studies demonstrate, are still heavily favored by student and educational institution alike. From the student's point of view, the less traditional the record the greater the difficulty in being admitted to graduate or professional school or simply transferring to another campus, a fact which no doubt reflects the institutional preference for the old system.

MORE ABOUT WOMEN: When Denison joined the cavalcade of colleges offering women's studies as part of the regular curriculum, its director called it a "corrective course" because she says "it corrects omissions in other departments." Its topical range includes the black female, the woman artist, lesbians, marriage, women and the law, and the female labor force. Discussions are also held on venereal disease, abortion, birth control, and breast feeding and natural childbirth.

FOR ALUMNÆ, NOT ALUMNI . . . A Day with the Arts, Women's Day at Purdue—these are samples of the multitude of one-day programs directed toward university alumnæ in all parts of the country.

ENTERING FRESHMEN 1973-74 STATISTICS: Percentage of minority students dropped for first time in many years, percentage planning on graduate school reached all time high 57%, percentage indicating "no religious preference" dropped for the first time since 1966.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE BMOC? At Alabama 26% of students surveyed could name all three top student government officers, but 40% were unable to name even one. However, only 34% had voted—and this was a record turn out for recent years.

BAIL BOND SERVICE up to $2,500 is provided University of Miami students who find themselves in jail—the service courtesy of campus student government which requires jailed student to sign a note promising to repay funds.

THE PET PROBLEM . . . The University of California at Davis is one of very few schools sanctioning pets in campus housing but in doing so, it urges students to take two-credit course in "Companion Animals."

LACK OF FINANCIAL AID for students was listed first and drugs last among campus problems facing the 215 college presidents who were polled recently by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

CAMPUS POLICE on many campuses are reporting a slow year. While theft has replaced rioting as No. 1 Enemy, even theft is being reported to police more frequently than a year ago. Director of Campus Security at the University of Oregon speculates that student attitudes have reversed—"They don't like theft any more. They're reporting it now. The students have accepted the student patrolmen and the police as being there to help. . . ."

AS MORE STATES GRANT ADULT LEGAL STATUS to 18 year-olds new legal questions arise on the nation's campuses. It is bound to affect many aspects of higher education: rules, as applied to minors, are in many cases invalid; non-residents will find it easier to gain resident status in the state in which their school is located; there would be no reason to mail grades to parents; a student's financial status becomes his own, not that of his family—therefore upsetting traditional methods of awarding scholarships or offering other financial aid. The list goes on and one will merit considerable attention by administrators.

RE CAMPUS SCHEDULES: As the calendar turned to 1974 hardly a "semester campus" was left where students were taking final exams late in January in the old traditional manner. Since 1970 there has been a growing trend toward starting the first semester earlier and closing with finals before Christmas. Sometimes a mini-semester for special studies or projects occupies January with another four-month semester February til June. Often, too, the second semester begins in mid-January and closes in mid-May, allowing time for a two-term summer or third semester (trimester). Some "quarter schools" are reported eyeing the advantages of the trimester system.

BALLROOM DANCING IS RETURNING TO THE CAMPUS: classes (usually given through phys ed departments) are full and with waiting lists. First lesson, one instructor says, is learning how to hold a partner—something new for many students. She also says she makes it clear to her students that men do the leading—the dance floor is not the place for women's lib.

UNIONISM AMONG FACULTY MEMBERS is growing, and at least 28 state legislatures are considering changing laws to permit faculties at public institutions to engage in collective bargaining.

THE ENROLLMENT PINCH is striking areas beyond the obviously susceptible private college. According to the Chronicle of Higher Education, the "emerging" state colleges and universities—many of which weren't in existence a decade ago—are being hit worse than other public institutions. The totals for fall, 1974, are yet to be counted, but it is interesting to note that the 1974 high school graduating class is the largest ever.

THE WAY WE WERE—the University of Colorado's traditional spring celebration which has been dormant in recent years, CU Days, was revived to occur in all its glory in spring, 1974.

ORGANIZATION: While some campuses report the revival of SDS, another national student organization has filed papers of incorporation in the District of Columbia. The National Institute of Student Governments, Inc., says its primary purpose is "to advance the administrative capabilities of student governments, and to assist them in the formulation of positions and policies that will act in the interest of all students. . . ."

STUDENTS SIGN LEASES: Beloit reports that students are assuming all the responsibilities of the renter by signing a lease, paying a security deposit, etc., instead of paying the traditional dorm board and room fees. College also agrees, as lessor, to uphold its responsibilities within the lease.

MATCHING JOBS AND COLLEGE GRADUATES by computer is offered by a Des Moines company, Graduate Services, Inc. Resumes are microfilmed and entered into the computer which also knows employers' needs. The latter may ask for only one "most qualified" or for a dozen or a hundred well-qualified prospects. Cost to student is $15, to employer $2 per resume. University of Utah is offering job information to graduates via cassette counseling with 43 states already using the audio-visual material offered by the UU facility.

A CURE TO MANY CAMPUS ILLS may be found through transcendental meditation claims a growing group of students across the country. Meditation is practiced twice a day for twenty minutes while sitting in a comfortable chair with one's eyes closed. Simply stated, TM is a method for experiencing deep physical and mental relaxation which, in turn, enhances normal daily activity—even offering an almost effortless way to study more efficiently, to become more confident and creative, to acquire a better disposition and to find greater direction in life.

JOURNALISM IS BECOMING A TOP CHOICE among college majors as the sciences did following Sputnik. New applicants and students switching from liberal arts are flooding journalism schools across the country. Editors are feeling the pressure of more job applicants than can possibly be hired, and one comments that "There's no doubt in my mind the whole Watergate thing—Woodward and Bernstein (Washington Post's Pulitzer Prize-winning investigative reporters)—has a lot to do with it."

SAT SCORES HAVE DECLINED again for the tenth year in a row reports the College Entrance Examination Board. The cause? Two theories are offered: Changes in high school curricula over the past decade provide more nontraditional courses and wider choices in what were once standardized areas. Senior composition, for example, has been replaced by choices usually reserved for college level—Short Story, Drama, Poetry, etc. A second theory in SAT drop is that total students tested includes more low-income and minority group students. Next year's SATs will include a composition to test writing skills.

A STOP-START PROGRAM has been adopted at Penn State, recognizing the growing trend among students to drop out of school for a term or two and then return. The Penn State program allows this without the process of re-applying.

STREAKING SHOULD BE MENTIONED, if for no other reason than to record its existence in spring, 1974, for the historian of the future who may be reading these lines. It has been greeted by cheers and jeers, titters and tirades, and it has been classified as anything from sensationalism to sociological phenomena. Mostly the girls say it's a "bunch of guys showing off," while on one campus where two girls streaked, the boys said, "if those two girls had been seen by the rest of the world, that would have ended streaking." One FBI agent commented that streaking, done by a fun loving student, could harm future job hunting.

WOMEN'S PLACE IN THE ATHLETIC ARENA continues to be unique as an Issue of the Day in that it seems to be far more popular as a topic to be written about than as a matter for discussion. Certainly the financial aspects of expanded women's inter-collegiate programs, equality in competitive areas and space allotments will provide one of the academic battlefields of the 1974-75 school year.

YEARBOOKS ARE A MATTER FOR DISCUSSION across the nation if notes on this subject in alumni publications are a reflection of the situation. There is no trend, in fact, a decided absence of one. Some schools report a gloomy situation of no interest, no takers, no funds, and sometimes discontinuance of publication while others are doing a brisker than ever business in not only the current edition but in requests for volumes from the past.

ACADEMIC CREDIT FOR COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT is being made available on many campuses under a federally funded program known as University Year for ACTION. Students work in a variety of private and government agencies and devote full time to community problems for an entire year, receiving up to 45 hours of academic credit in the process.

Civil Engineer Is Iranian Consultant

"Engineers are today's pioneers, trained to do what has not been done before, to find new and better ways to solve new problems. This now means recognizing human problems as well as the technical."

Thus Miss Elsie Eaves, civil engineer, ended the second annual Arthur J. Boase Lecture at the University of Colorado in April, 1973. Miss Eaves, Colorado Alpha, has been selected by the faculty of the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering to deliver the Lecture, only one of many honors she has accrued through the years. The latest honor came last spring when she was presented the George Norlin award at graduation ceremonies in Boulder. This award is the highest presented by the CU Associated Alumni Association and recognizes achievements in the recipients' respective fields. Five such awards were made last spring.

For more than 30 years, the one person who knew more than any other about the statistics of the construction industry in the U.S. was Elsie Eaves, who earned her B.S. in Civil Engineering at CU in 1920. She was the fourth woman ever to graduate from CU in engineering. As manager of the Business News Department of Engineering News-Record, she managed a team of 125 construction project field reporters, 20 price reporters, and a departmental staff of 25. She "retired" in 1963—from the magazine but not from engineering.

Miss Eaves has since served as a consultant on housing costs to the National Commission on Urban Problems and wrote its 16th Research Report. She has ghost written a college course on construction cost indexes, taught a college credit course in civil engineering for guidance counselors, and presented professional papers.

The list of "firsts" credited to Miss Eaves is almost unbelievable. She was the first woman to be elected as Associate Member, Member, Fellow, and Life Member of the American Society of Civil Engineers; the first woman (and first civil engineer) to be elected as a Member of the American Association of Cost Engineers and the first woman recipient of its Award of Merit; the first woman elected as Chapter Honor Member of Chi Epsilon, civil engineering honorary; the first woman engineer to receive Colorado University's Distinguished Engineering Alumnus Award, and the first woman to deliver the Arthur Boase Lecture.

Miss Eaves now serves as a Volunteer Executive with the International Executive Service Corps of New York City. In that capacity, she has just completed an assignment in Tehran, Iran, with the Plans and Budget Organization, to help the agency develop an Iranian construction cost index. It was this project that cut short plans to visit with Pi Phi friends in Colorado last spring.

When asked if she was active in her local alumnæ club, Elsie replied, "I've been away so much that all I've been able to do with the local Pi Phi Alumnæ Club is to contribute to their garage sale!"

Knowing of her broad travels, one wonders about the exotic items that must appear at those garage sales, courtesy of Miss Elsie Eaves.

"We who are active today must build upon the past, so that deep roots are maintained, and at the same time project into the future so that the love, friendship, and high ideals will have wings to soar into a second century of sisterhood." BEVERLY CRUICKSHANK ROBERTS, Sigma Kappa

Festivities Mark Diamond Jubilee

by PEGGY UNSWORTH

Missouri Alpha

Missouri Alpha Diamond Jubilee, celebrated on April 27, will never be forgotten by Missouri Alpha's actives and alumnæ. Missouri Alpha has existed since 1899 and was thus proud to celebrate their 75th anniversary with some 300 members present. This busy day began with a lovely luncheon prepared by Mrs. Jean Morgan, the efficient housemother loved by all the actives. The alumnæ were then taken to the Tiger Hotel where they spent an afternoon renewing acquaintances.

The banquet, held at the hotel, was followed by a program, with Dr. Jean Edwards Holt as a superb mistress of ceremonies. Before the program began, various ladies who made Diamond Jubilee possible were recognized. The banquet hall, flowers, programs, and centerpieces were all provided by a devoted group of Columbians: Marge McKenny, Queen Smith, Natiley Medley, and the organizer, Laura Lee Ellifret. Each of these ladies spent many hours behind the scenes and deserve much credit.

Next, as has been a Columbia tradition, Founders' Day was celebrated by the alumnæ and active chapter. Emily Agee, president of Missouri Alpha, presented the ABO and Chapter Service awards. Doris Ditmer, president of the Columbia Alumnæ Club, awarded the scholarship bracelets. Many more were recognized—former chapter presidents, province or national ABO winners, and active or alumnæ province officers were given a round of applause.

To conclude the special awards, Agnes Hildebrand Leonard, well known to most Missouri Pi Phis, was presented with one of the arrow key chains commemorating the grand event. Agnes generously served Pi Phis for many years as chapter president, alumnæ club president, and province officer. In addition, as an outstanding alumna of our province, Agnes was recently the recipient of the Evelyn Kyle Angel Award.

The program, which had a clever and appropriate theme, "A Streak Through 75 Years," provided a pictorial review of the history of Missouri Alpha. Slides showed various periods in Missouri Alpha's history. Sharing some of her experiences with the active chapter was Olivia Smith Moore, one of the true diamonds in Pi Phi's Golden Arrow, president of the active chapter, member of Grand Council, and now, Grand Treasurer Emeritus.

The next woman to share some of her personal highlights was Alice Wiedmer Wuertebacher, active chapter president in 1921 and recently named one of the outstanding women of St. Louis. A lady who spoke of her experiences in the 1930's, Anne Logan Heflin, was one of the 14 triumphant Pi Phi musicians who won the Nelson Eddy Cup in 1937. Anne also became chairman of national music committee. To represent the 1940's, we were happy to have Jan Jean Hootin, chapter president in 1949, for some additional comments and remembrances. The final speaker who "added a highlight to college years" was Donna Huskey Beckett. Donna was both a chapter officer and a campus queen.

Two other highlights of this program were the presentations of the 1954 Savitar Frolics and the 1973 rush skit. The 1954 Pi Phis proudly won the Savitar Frolics. We thoroughly enjoyed seeing them "in action" again with Marilyn Lacy McMullen and Katie Inges Gusewell directing them in the widely acclaimed "Ring Around the Columns." The active chapter, directed by Merry Greene, then presented its latest rush skit—"Godspell."

Dr. Jean Edwards Holt's final words effectively ended the program. She said, "We have these years of Pi Phi experience and we can give to these Missouri Alpha actives of the present and to those in the future, the real meaning of this golden heritage just reviewed. But as is so with anything worthwhile, it can not be done without effort on our part. Required will be hours of time, fellowship, and counseling. Let us not fade passively into the background, but unite with true devotion for what Pi Phi has given to us. Let us form a reserve supply station of ideas and energy so that each year when the new pledges shout 'Everybody's going Pi Phi,' they truly will be going—onward and upward."

What's Wrong With "Little Sister" Groups?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an excerpt from a report to the interim session of NPC, presented by former NPC Chairman, Mrs. L. D. Foxworthy, Alpha Gamma Delta, in October, 1972. It is for the reasons stated herein that The ARROW does not recognize fraternity auxiliaries as legitimate campus activities.)

The first concern seems almost ludicrous in view of today's women's liberation movement. When NPC met in 1967 a mildly stated resolution was adopted. This resolution dealt with auxiliary groups of men's fraternities and NPC's disapproval of them. Now it is five years after the resolution and for all the good its adoption did, we might as well have let it die for lack of a second.

At that time we were concerned with the amount of time consumed by little sister activities. Most auxiliary participants were also sorority members, usually freshmen, and their active support of the auxiliary projects kept them from fulfilling obligations to their own groups. Knowing full well the importance of boy/girl relationships to this age group, NPC could understand the natural appeal that the little sister groups possessed. It seemed best to show mild disapproval and then hope these groups would fade with time. How wrong could we be? They have not faded . . . they have become a necessity, an obsession, and a dangerous and unhealthy type of competition for NPC groups.

Some of the National Interfraternity Conference groups use the young women in their auxiliaries to perpetuate their own organizations . . . Indeed, the very success of their undergraduate programs seems to be dependent on the variety of ways they use their little sisters. "How to use little sisters in a successful rush program" is an article found in too many fraternity magazines. Other articles might deal with the organizing of new little sister groups and their governing rules and regulations. All this seems relatively harmless until you are confronted with the complex details of these operations. To illustrate I would like to tell you of a conversation I had with a young sorority member who was wanting advice on how her college Panhellenic could compete with the auxiliaries. She mentioned that on her campus a freshman woman is faced with a decision concerning her social life. Should she go through PH rush or little sister rush? Either might make campus life more interesting. She realized that it would be foolish to choose both. Why? Because the obligations to both a sorority and a little sister group would be too demanding. She has been told by the men that should she choose to belong to an auxiliary, it should come first. Certainly the auxiliaries look like fun. The girls in them are very close . . . practically like sisters . . . and they're never without dates . . . the brothers see to that. And it is flattering . . . and it only costs $10 to join! Why the choice is practically made for her.

Once initiated into an auxiliary, a little sister must attend weekly meetings. But this is only the beginning. She must serve when called upon. Serve means empty ash trays, sweep floors, serve beer to rushees, smile and make rushees comfortable, date rushees when asked, plan parties, and cheer at the intermural games, to mention a few. In short, she is the inflater of egos, the hostess with the mostest, slave, maid, and girl friday to the men's fraternity she has been fortunate enough to be attached to. If she tires of this chauvinistic routine and backslides on her duties there is a built-in procedure to handle her case. If she wants to remain in the auxiliary she appears before a judiciary board made up of brothers. There she pleads her case and a verdict is handed down.

The fact that this whole matter is more than a little degrading and the fact that it is completely foreign to anything remotely resembling women's lib, seems to affect its continued practice little at all. In fact, little sister groups are thriving almost everywhere. They threaten the very existence of NPC groups on some campuses because they rob us of our most important commodity . . . pledges. In extreme cases the auxiliaries rush against us. They hold the promise of a flourishing social life and friendship and in some cases they mean a place to live for little sisters are now being housed together in fraternity annexes. Many feel that if NIC votes to allow female members, it will be the direct result of the men wanting to initiate their little sisters into their fraternities as full participating members. I guess what disturbs me the most is the fact

Two New Trophies Added To Display

Pi Beta Phi is known for its beauties and the Pi Phis of Mississippi Alpha are very proud of their own. The chapter sponsored Odette Robb and Jane Perkinson in the Miss Southern Pageant (a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant) and came out with two winners. With a modern jazz dance to the music "Call Me," Odette placed as second alternate, while Jane placed third with a musical skit.

And that's not all for Odette and Jane or Pi Phi. These girls along with Carolyn Morris, another Pi Phi active, were among the Top Twenty Beauties at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Home towns give way for accomplishments and Pi Phis join in. Rita Smith won Miss Congeniality of her home pageant and Jane placed again with a first alternate position in the Miss Hospitality Pageant at her home.

These girls proudly display their trophies in the chapter room.

Is On Pom-Pon Squad

Judy Daine, Arizona Alpha, is a member of the University of Arizona's Pom-Pon squad. Seventy girls tried out for this honor, while only eighteen were selected. The Pom-Pon squad performs at all football, basketball, and baseball games. They also raise spirits and generate enthusiasm for U of A athletic events at pep rallies, homecoming festivities, 'A' Day, and Parents' Day.

A recent issue of the William & Mary Alumni Gazette was made especially attractive when its cover pictured Jan Rivero, Virginia Gamma. Jan is a varsity cheerleader for the William & Mary Indians.

Record Numbers Sign For Rush At Alabama

Alabama Beta has forty new bright faces around the house this fall after a record number of rushees participated in rush activities at the University of Alabama.

Eight hundred girls went through rush this year at the Capstone. Pi Phi pledges come from as far away as Dallas, Tex., and Long Island, N.Y. The membership roll for Alabama Beta now boasts 105 lovely Pi Phis.

Rush chairman Rita Albane attributes this year's rush success to a new party on eight-party night. A speak-easy was constructed and members dressed like characters from the 20s. The skit was a take-off on the "Sting" and a Billie Holliday song highlighted the evening. Rushees were entertained the rest of the week by Pi Phi Island, a take-off on "South Pacific," and Serious Night.

Squeal Day climaxed rush week and Pi Phi welcomed home their 40 new pledges with a feast and a get-acquainted period.

Is First Woman On Planning Commission

by HELEN VOLLMAR DIEPENBROCK

When Jane Dallen Hagedorn, North Carolina Alpha, arrived in Sacramento, Calif., just three years ago, who would have guessed the track record she would shortly establish?

Of course, active involvement in civic affairs was nothing new to Jane, who is 30 years old and a mother of two. As a Pi Phi at the University of North Carolina where she earned a BA in political science, and later while earning a master's degree in international economics and Latin American studies at Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, she was a distinguished student leader.

Last spring Jane added a new feather to her cap by being named the first woman member of the Sacramento County Planning Commission, which has charge of reviewing and approving all proposed development, as well as setting policies for the future.

Jane does not come to her new position without thorough experience. From 1967 to 1969, she worked as a consultant and economist for Mentor International in San Francisco, planning corporate international strategy for industries and governments in 33 nations.

Patti Rabbe, Illinois Zeta, shown above at the bottom of the stack, is a member of the 14 man cheerleading squad urging on the Fighting Illini of the University of Illinois. Patti was selected last spring after demonstrating proficiency in a Pom-Pon routine, extensive tumbling, and lifts with one of the male members, as well as the traditional cheers.

Since moving to Sacramento, Jane has been named a director of the Sacramento Branch of AAUW, and is a member of the Environmental Council of Sacramento, the Sacramento Lung Association, the Planning and Conservation League, and the Joint Committee on the Environment.

The Sacramento Alumnae Club has managed to win a bit of her time as well. She's an active supporter of local projects and an encouraging example for alumnae involvement in policy-making community roles.

Hat Sale Earns Money For Goodwill

by JANE C. MILLER, JUDY LITTLE
Wisconsin Gamma

Wisconsin Gamma Pi Phi had a unique sale last spring. We sold hats, hats, and more hats.

The history of the hats and the Pi Phi hat sale is an interesting one. There once was a milliner in Wisconsin. She began her trade of making hats in the early twentieth century, and continued on through the 1960s. Like most craftsmen, this milliner could hardly bear to part with her creations and so she often would save for herself the original models of each style of hat which she made. These hats she kept for herself and upon her death, the boxes of hats (there were well over 4,000 hats in all) became the possession of her daughter. Not having room for all of them, the daughter contacted Goodwill to see if they had any need for them. Although Goodwill really couldn't use the hats themselves, they could use the profits of Goodwill-sponsored hat sales. Thus, the hats became the property of Goodwill.

Mrs. Pat Brooks, the coordinator of the Fox Valley Goodwill Warehouse, had the job of finding people and groups to sponsor these hat sales. A Pi Phi alumna held a sherry party at which some of the hats were displayed, and it was through her that Wisconsin Gamma decided to sponsor a sale. Mrs. Brooks visited one of our chapter meetings to talk to us about the hats and to explain how Goodwill operates. She brought along a sampling of the hats and we had such fun passing them around and trying them on that by the end of the meeting the whole group knew this was a good idea and we really thought a hat sale on campus would be rather different.

Finally, the day of the sale arrived. Our chapter went to the Union to set up tables and mirrors and to unload box after box after box of hats. There were so many hats! Mrs. Brooks was so excited about our sale that she really loaded up her car and brought close to a thousand hats for us to sell. Within a few minutes the room was packed with students, townspeople, and children, all trying on hats, often having a good laugh, and more importantly, often buying one, two, and even fifteen! Our sale lasted four hours and the lounge was busy from beginning to end. It was such a fun day for everyone—especially the Pi Phi. At the end of the day we very proudly presented Mrs. Brooks and the Fox Valley Goodwill Association with our proceeds of almost $450! And you can take off your hat to that!

Pre-Rush Planning Brings Chapter Closer

by M. NOEL TOUSEY, Illinois Theta

Coming back to school early to prepare for rush is an old tradition at Illinois Theta, and this year was no exception. We spent those free days before registration working on entertainment, decorations, name tags, food, etc. for rush, the week of September 3-8. We were all very enthusiastic about the up-coming rush week, and working together brought us closer together.

The house is a young house this year with over half of the girls living in being sophomores. This year, much more than in past years, there is a strong feeling of equality among classes. The underclassmen as well as the seniors voiced positive opinions on this and the effect it will have on Illinois Theta this year. The fact that underclassmen do not have to be afraid of the seniors and that seniors want to be able to work on an equal level with the others assures us of a wonderful and productive year at Illinois Theta.

When we returned we were excited to hear that one of our seniors from last year, Laura Judd, had become the national Resources Consultant for Academic Excellence. Laura did a great deal for our chapter while she was here, and we all congratulate her and wish her the best of luck in her new position.

We were also pleased to welcome Didi Fugate to our chapter. Having transferred from California Epsilon, she is now a sophomore at Bradley and has become affiliated with Illinois Theta. She has already been a help to us with rush and we are looking forward to working with her.

Xi Province Award To Cathy Wilson

Cathy Wilson, Missouri Gamma, is the 1974 recipient of the Xi Province Sophomore Award. This award is made annually by the St. Louis Alumnae Club and announced at the Founders' Day Banquet. Cathy's name, chapter, and year of award are engraved on a silver tray which her chapter keeps for one year. She also received a personal gift from the St. Louis Club.

Cathy served as president of her pledge class and was chosen Outstanding Pledge. She has served as corresponding secretary and is chapter vice president of moral advancement. The pledges chose twelve actives to represent the high qualities of our Founders, and Cathy was chosen to represent the quality of high moral values. She also participates in intramural sports.

She is a member of the Student Union Board, a Drury Ambassador, a member of the yearbook staff, and a swim team timer. Last year she qualified for Alpha Lambda Delta, and served as treasurer. She has a 3.69 accumulative grade average and is a 4.0 student in the business and economics department.

During the January term of 1974, Cathy worked five hours daily with mentally retarded and handicapped children. She is also a member of the First Presbyterian Church, and is enthusiastic about promoting the newly formed Logos religious group on campus.

Iowa Gamma's Veishea float.

Columbus' Mistake Wins Float Award

by JENNIFER LARSEN
Iowa Gamma

One of the highlights of spring quarter at Iowa State University is Veishea, an all-college celebration featuring a parade, open house exhibits at all university buildings and Greek houses, presentation of many honorary awards, and a student-sponsored play and musical. Included in the parade are marching bands, university and state officials, and floats built by houses on the theme announced by the Veishea Central Committee each year.

Spring 1974 saw Iowa Gamma and SAE working together in the large float competition portraying "Great Mistakes of the Past." The seventy-two foot completed product was the longest in the parade. Representing Columbus' mistake of discovering America, Superman, Mickey Mouse, covered wagons, Donald Duck, a space ship, the Statute of Liberty, and Uncle Sam were all present on the three-section float to show what resulted from Columbus' error. As a result of all the time spent in designing, pounding, gluing, and sewing, along with the headaches caused our co-chairwomen, Nancy Zandbergen and Louise Leschin, the joint effort won us a second place as well as a lot of new friends in the SAE house.

Cooky-Shine Honors Busy Golden Arrow

by JANICE OSGARD HUIZINGA

Wine and blue carnations, a Cooky-Shine, and a Golden Arrow carnation were all waiting to surprise Louise Wheelock Dobler, Washington Beta, on the night of January 23, 1974. Alumnae from all over the Everett, Wash., area converged at the home of LaVerne Swalwell Ziebell. Even Mickey Meechan, Tau Alumnae Province President, winged her way over from Spokane.

After the usual agenda of business was completed, Jennifer Johnston laid out the white sheet, the Greek letters, and the candles—all hallmarks of a Cooky-Shine, ostensibly being held to honor our visiting province officer. After maneuvering Louise to the head of the "table," Everett Club President Linda Kellman Simmons revealed that this Cooky-Shine was actually in honor of the club's newest Golden Arrow. To the delight of all, Louise was completely surprised as she received her carnations, her pin, and notice that a donation was being made in her name to Arrowmont. Linda then read the dozens of congratulatory notes that had arrived.

Pi Beta Phi has meant much to Louise since her initiation in 1924. She helped establish the Everett Club and has held all of its offices. She was instrumental in establishing the Everett Panhellenic. As perennial chairman of the annual Arrowcraft sale, she brought six awards to the Everett Club for sales. Her interest in Arrowmont led her to a position on the Board of Governors, while it was still in the Settlement School stage. Having attended a dozen or so conventions, Louise provides the Everett Club with extensive background on the workings of Pi Beta Phi, past and present. She was a "natural" as the Tau Province Evelyn Peters Kyle nominee in 1972.

Chapter Chomps Chicken To Chart Championship

by PATTY MCHUGH, Georgia Alpha

Chickens? Yes! Once again when spring quarter came to the Georgia Alpha chapter we found ourselves deeply involved in our pursuit of Kentucky Fried Chicken boxtops.

Every spring at the University of Georgia a Poultry Princess contest is held. In order to win the contest, a sorority must collect the largest number of K.F.C. boxtops. What fun it is to collect them! Every afternoon we found ourselves heading to the various K.F.C. outlets in order to dig through trash cans and dumpsters (which we admit is a little out of our regular line of activities). Often we would arrive at the outlets only to find that someone had already taken all of the boxtops. One Saturday the chapter drove to Atlanta. With the aid of a fraternity at Georgia Tech, the Pi

Phi brought a lot of boxtops and fun memories back to Athens.

The contest ends in a beauty pageant on the last night. Our entry, Darlene Driskelle, was chosen as one of the four finalists to compete on a state wide level for the title of Miss Poultry Princess 1974.

The winner of the boxtop contest is also announced at the beauty pageant. Georgia Alpha was very proud when it was announced that we had won once again. We had collected over 7,000 boxtops, more than 3,000 better than the other sororities. With great pride we took our trophy back to the house for still another year. Georgia Alpha is happy to say that once again we are on the top roost at the University of Georgia.

Speech Pathologist Tours Four States

by LOU ANNE WOLFE

Oklahoma Beta

Jeanette Winkcompleck, Oklahoma Beta senior, was recently chosen as a 4-state regional counselor to National Speech and Hearing Association Conventions for the next 2 years.

The counselors are selected by the faculty and supervisors in the field of speech pathology and hearing at Oklahoma State. In addition to majoring in the field, a counselor must be active in other areas.

Jeanette represents Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma, one of 10 similar districts in the United States. She traveled, expenses paid, to Los Angeles in November for a convention. She took ideas and suggestions from her area, and had the opportunity to talk with experts. When she returned, Jeanette corresponded with speech pathology clinics in her region.

"Wherever speech pathology is offered, there is a clinic on campus," she explained. Students are able to get experience treating patients with speech or hearing problems under the guidance of a professional staff.

"To do this, you must have a certain number of hours of clinical experience in different areas and problems of speech pathology," Jeanette said.

Jeanette feels she has chosen a rewarding career. "I'm helping people with something that could keep them from fitting into society and attaining their goals," she said. "Speech problems can be emotional and cause a person to become introverted. They can change his life.

"Speech is the most direct part of communication," Jeanette added, emphasizing its importance. "Speech pathology is more personal than a classroom situation."

Future conventions may be held in Canada and Washington, D.C.

Although Bonnie and Clyde, better known as Katie Campbell and date, didn't win a prize for the best costume, they had lots of fun at Arkansas Beta's masquerade party for the spring pledge class. The Shiek of Arrow-B and his harem girl won first prize, with Frito Bandito and a bag of Fritos winning second!

Senior Returns After Studying In London

by ROBIN BROWNE, Michigan Alpha

This fall Michigan Alpha gladly welcomed back senior Dianne Depatie, who spent her junior year in London, enrolled at Schiller College, an affiliate of the University of London—Burbeck College. Although she originally planned to stay only one semester, she liked England so much she stayed one full year. Dianne first lived with an English family, and her London "brother" was a musician who has worked with Elton John and the Beatles. For the spring semester Dianne moved to a youth hostel where she lived with other American students.

Dianne's stay abroad was not limited to England; she toured Scotland, France, Switzerland, Italy, and Greece with other students. It was in Athens that one of her most memorable experiences occurred; she wore a jacket displaying the letters Pi Beta Phi to the Museum of the Oracle of Delphi. Several native Athenians wanted to know the significance of the letters, and Dianne found herself explaining the Greek system to Greeks.

Is Financial Advisor For 15 Years

by SUSAN WILCOX, Illinois Zeta

Pi Phis at Illinois Zeta for many years have held Anita Knapp Hutchison in a special place in our hearts. Now it's time the rest of Pi Phi knew why.

Mrs. Hutchinson was a Pi Phi at the University of Illinois in the late thirties and at that time brought campus recognition to herself and the chapter as editor of the yearbook and a member of numerous honoraries including Phi Beta Kappa. Several years after graduation she and her husband settled in Champaign-Urbana where she joined the local alumnae club. That was twenty-two years ago. She is treasurer of our house corporation, and will continue in that position, but this year she is resigning after fifteen years as financial advisor of the Illinois Zeta Alumnae Advisory Committee.

Beside these Pi Phi activities Mrs. Hutchinson is the buyer for the Burnham Hospital Gift Shop, works with adoptions in the Illinois Children's Aid Society, and holds a job with the U. of I. Athletic Association. After hours she enjoys a game of bridge or travel with her husband.

Mrs. Hutchinson says there has been a change in the girls over the years. The alumnae feel much more welcome at the chapter house and enjoy the girls so much. We're much more independent too than the girls used to be. There is more concern about where our money goes and more questions are asked. But Mrs. Hutchinson is always willing to patiently answer each question.

Here is a beautiful example of the involvement Pi Phi can offer to alumnae. She works with many of her old friends and in the last few years with some of their daughters and nieces. This, she says, makes it even more special to her.

We want to thank Mrs. Hutchinson for giving so much to Pi Beta Phi and Illinois Zeta. We hope that some of us can follow the example and return to Pi Phi some of the benefits it has offered to us.

Florida Delta Wins Lengthy Zoning Battle

by PEGGY FOX, MARION BANZHAF
Florida Delta

Three years ago, Florida Delta applied to the city of Gainesville for rezoning a piece of property on Sorority Row. The petition was denied. But Florida Delta had a dream.

On May 21 of this year, we re-applied to the city, having had the petition previously approved by the Zoning Board. All Pi Phis, Gainesville alumnae, and chapter supporters anxiously awaited the vote of the city commissioners gathered at city hall. Adverse reactions from the neighbors, comments from some of the commissioners, ecology problems, and local politics culminated in a 3-2 vote in our favor, an apparent majority. Unfortunately it was not enough to override adjacent neighbors' objections.

This unprecedented vote at variance with zoning plans was questioned both by Billy K. Stevens, owner of the property, and Pi Beta Phi. On July 16, 1974, under threat of court action, the city commission voted 4-0 in approval of rezoning.

The nightmare was over and the dream realized. The Pi Phis at the University of Florida have a home.

All-Greek Effort Is Financial Success

by ANNE POUPORE

Ontario Beta

Instead of its usual "Drop-in-the-Bucket" campaign for the Canadian Save the Children Fund, the Ontario Beta chapter joined with all the other eight fraternities and two sororities in London for an on-campus dance marathon at the University of Western Ontario. The twelve-hour marathon, from noon to midnight, proved to be a tremendous success. Supported by hundreds of sponsors, the anticipated goal of $5,000 was far surpassed, as $6,500 was the total amount collected. All proceeds were sent to aid the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Resembling something out of American Graffiti, the dance marathon presented little challenge for "twinkle-toed" Pi Phis. In fact, three of the five prizes were awarded to Pi Phis—one for being the first up onto the dance floor; one for demonstrating our unbeatable singing capabilities with "Pi Phis Don't"; and one for winning the human wheelbarrow race!

Refreshments were available from start to finish but most people indulged only during the ten minute breaks after each fifty minute session of dancing. The two bands and disc jockey highlighted the marathon with songs of the present as well as golden oldies from the fifties and sixties. Half a dozen Pi Phis managed to survive the full twelve hours, but all enjoyed the effort and found it a great opportunity to meet fellow Greeks.

Within our chapter, $650 was raised towards the worthy cause.

Is Tops Scholastically

South Dakota Alpha has recently been informed that, of the five sororities on the University of South Dakota campus, they were rated first scholastically with highest grades for the 1973-74 school year.

Although they tied for second place during the first semester of that year, they moved to first place for second semester and took honors for the entire year with an overall 3.025.

Eleanor Collier Ehlers, Oregon Alpha

Civic Leader Is Oregon State PEO President

Eleanor Collier Ehlers, Oregon Alpha, is the current president of the Oregon State Chapter of PEO, installed during the state convention in June. Eleanor lives in Klamath Falls where she has been active in the local Pi Beta Phi alumnae club for twenty-four years.

The new president is an active and interested civic participant. In 1971 Oregon Institute of Technology honored her with its "Greatest Service Award," in part for her assistance with the inception of the school's nursing program. AAUW also honored her with a name grant to the Oregon Endowment Fellowship Fund. She has had a continuing interest in music, and teaches private piano lessons.

Eleanor has served on the Governor's Advisory Committee for the Arts and Humanities, the Child Guidance Council, the Governor's Committee on Community Colleges, and is a board member of the Favell Museum of Western Art and Artifacts. She is listed in several Who's Who compilations.

African Safari Is Exciting Experience

by SUZANNE FAIRCHILD
Texas Beta

The social chairman of Texas Beta had quite an experience last summer. Kathy Cook had always wanted to go on a safari, so last June her father took her to Africa. For twenty-one days they traveled in Angola, the Portuguese country on the west coast of Africa bordering Southwest Africa and Zambia. They had a Portuguese hunter named Pedro Milho, who plans to visit the U.S. soon, and bushmen from the Kalahari Desert as guides.

The camp consisted of Kathy and her father, Pedro, three bushmen trackers, twelve natives, and one camp manager from Portugal. Travel was in an open jeep, sleeping was in individual tents, and a shower consisted of one bucket of water. Needless to say this was not a trip for socializing.

Africa is beautiful, Kathy says. She rose at five o'clock each morning and was hunting by 6:00. The temperature ranged from 20°-30° in the morning and evening, warming to 60°-70° during the day. They hunted for twelve hours

"Go Greek" Gets Literal Translation

Kathy Contos, Michigan Gamma, really takes the expression "Go Greek" to heart. Besides being both membership chairman and Panhellenic delegate while only a sophomore, Kathy manages to keep herself busy as an officer in another sort of Greek system. She is district president of the Maids of Athena, a national service organization for girls of Greek descent.

As president, Kathy coordinates activities of the Michigan area chapters and travels to conventions, workshops, installations, and numerous speaking engagements. Needless to say, this is one reason why Kathy is one of the more outspoken Panhellenic reps! All this, plus a part time job at Michigan State's International Center certainly keeps her moving, but Kathy seems to take it all in stride. If one is going to be Greek she should be Greek all the way, and Kathy Contos really proves that!

each day and because the grass grows to ten feet tall, they would burn off areas. The animals would then come to these areas to eat the new grass and ash that tasted salty.

Among her kills, Kathy bagged an elephant, Cape buffalo, greater kudu, sesseby, sable, wildebeest, zebra, and others. They ate the meat they killed except the elephant, and the only vegetables were potatoes, rice, and noodles. Now Kathy is having the heads of her kill mounted and some of the skins made into rugs. Undoubtedly, this was a once in a lifetime experience. Kathy says regretfully that she will probably never get to go back, but hunters in Texas may find her in the hills hunting local birds and turkey.

Pilot Boyer Flies High With Unusual Major

Each morning, as other Illinois Zeta Pi Phi's leave for classes, Jane Boyer gets into her car and heads for the airport where she will spend 33 hours a week. Jane, a sophomore, is one of three females enrolled in the University of Illinois College of Aviation.

Jane has been flying for two years and received her pilot's license in November, 1972. She is involved now in the University's three year program where she will obtain her commercial license, instrument rating, multi-engine rating, and instructor's certificate. After completing the entire program, Jane hopes to buy a small plane for hire.

Being in the female minority in this curriculum has presented no problems to Jane, who says she feels just like "one of the gang."

Campus Leader Is UTK Torchbearer

by CAROLYN BROWN
Tennessee Gamma

Tennessee Gamma Pi Phis were greatly honored at the Chancellor's Honors Banquet last spring when Jan Henley was chosen to be a 1974 Torchbearer. This is the highest award that a UTK student can achieve, and it is based on scholastic achievement, activities, character, and service to the university.

In her four years at UTK, Jan has been an outstanding leader in numerous campus activities. She was elected historian of both Mortar Board and Angel Flight, and was also active in Vol Corps. She served as a student senator and was involved in campus publications, including the position of business manager for the yearbook. Last year she was instrumental in reorganizing the Adawayhi Pep Club, getting it started again as a major campus organization. In addition, Jan has served as member of the All-Sing, Carnicus, Food Co-op, and publicity committees.

Besides these activities, Jan has also been an outstanding member of Pi Beta Phi. Chosen as best pledge her freshman year, she went on to hold the offices of corresponding secretary and vice president of moral advancement. Jan is now attending dental school, but it will be a long time before her hard work both on campus and in Pi Phi is forgotten.

Debbie Miller, Illinois Eta, skates across the stage to introduce Pi Phi's act in Campus Chest activities.

Karen's collegiate honors include Arizona State University Academic Scholarship; A.S.U. Band Scholarship, PTEP Fellowship, Mortar Board, Who's Who in American College and Universities, Outstanding Senior Woman Membership Award from AAUW. She was nominated to participate in the 1974 Outstanding Young Women of America program.

From 1971 to 1972, she was Assistant Dean of Women at the University of Kansas. Her background also includes the position of Executive Director of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, a national association composed of university women's organizations throughout the country.

Resources Unlimited Proves A Satisfaction

by CAROL JURGENSON FARN

Those enthusiastic members of the Southern Fairfield County (Conn.) Alumnae Club have established an exciting and rewarding relationship with another organization entirely different in scope—the "other" group they so eagerly support being known as Resources Unlimited.

How, why, when, and where Pi Beta Phi and Resources Unlimited became friends does need a bit of explanation! First of all, Resources Unlimited was founded in 1953 as a means of bringing handicapped people together with non-handicapped working within a common interest. Nancy Nickerson, a house wife disabled by polio, and Rachel Baker, a creative writing teacher, formed the first group in Stamford, Conn., centering activities around creative writing and using a tape recorder. Since then, there is also a Resources Unlimited art group in Darien whose members number about 40 and may have 40 meetings a year, a current affairs group in New Canaan, another current affairs group in Bridgeport, and a quilting and photography group in Hartford. There is also a national meeting each year!

How does Pi Phi fit into all this? Actually, Nancy Burden Tapley, Vermont Beta and Southern Fairfield Alumnae President, does live very near Don Springer, a leader of the Darien Resources group. But far beyond that, the alumnae have financially supported Resources as a local philanthropy for many years. Pi Phis have furnished aides as well, since each handicapped person has a non-handicapped aide who transports him to meetings and shares in the planned activity. Referrals are always a concern with prospective members being hard to get out; thus Pi Phis have helped by referring people to Resources. The special feature of the Pi Phi-Resources Unlimited year is an art show at one Pi Phi meeting at which the Darien group displays and sells its art work which is also featured at their own art show on a town-wide basis. Those Pi Phi funds still help too, as there are always Resources Unlimited members who could use financial help for materials. For the first time, the current Pi Phi directory proudly bears a fantastic cover designed by none other than a Resources member!

Nancy Burden Tapley, Southern Fairfield County Alumnae Club President, presents a check to Caroline White of Resources Unlimited.

Welcome Governors

From September 8-11, Texas Governor Brisco welcomed sixteen governors from across the south, including the Virgin Islands. The annual Southern Governors' Convention was conducted at the World of Tennis and Lakeway, located outside the capitol city on Lake Travis.

In the three-day conference, the governors considered policies of interest and benefit to the southern region as a whole.

Pi Phis participating in the function as hostesses were Linda Jarvis, Chita Haas, Anne Arnold, and Robbie Keeton. The young ladies are part of a select group of students that represented Texas in the state's efforts to extend a hearty welcome to the governors of our neighboring states.

A Rose Is A Rose Is A Sister, Twice

by BEVERLY JO SPENCER
Virginia Delta

When a Pi Phi is chosen sweetheart of a fraternity, all the sisters find themselves simply overwhelmed with joy and pride, not to mention a slight touch of envy. Such was the feeling of the girls at Virginia Delta when Carol

McKinley was chosen Rose of the Kappa Alpha Order at Old Dominion University for the year 1973-1974.

With the close of Carol's reign, a new Rose was chosen and once again, to the delight of everyone, she was not only a Virginia Delta Pi Phi, but Carol's own sister, Alison McKinley.

The two sisters have proven themselves to be valuable assets not only to Pi Phi and the brothers of Kappa Alpha, but to the university as well.

Work On Capitol Hill

Minnesota Alpha's Susan O'Brien and Miki McGee spent part of last summer working on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C. Miki and Susan attended classes at Georgetown University in the morning and worked in the office of Minnesota Congressman William Frenzel in the afternoon.

They were able to find time to do some sight-seeing in the Washington, D.C. area and along the east coast.

They each felt that their working, traveling, and studying experiences were valuable and fun.

Kathleen Tighe, left, an April, 1974, initiate of Indiana Delta, is the third generation of her family to share Pi Phi sisterhood. Pictured with her are her mother, Susanne King Tighe, and her grandmother, Margaret Simminger King, both also Indiana Delta members.

Sister Swap Proves Panhellenically Popular

Last January four girls from Indiana Delta packed their bags and walked out. In their place four strange girls moved in. What was going on? This was the beginning of sister swap week.

This event, sponsored by Panhellenic, lasted for three days and two nights, and all the sororities and women's co-ops at Purdue "swapped" sisters. Four girls from the Pi Phi house went to other houses and in exchange, four girls from other sororities and houses came to the Pi Phi house.

It provided a good opportunity to get to know how other houses are run. The differences between a sorority and a co-op are especially interesting. In moving into a co-op, LuAnn Detamore was expected to help cook two meals and to do a daily duty.

Sister Swap gave us a chance to meet new girls and to find out their interests and to form new friendships. It also helped form better relationships between the sororities and co-ops on campus. After the short week in their new homes, the four Pi Phis returned home with many new ideas and friendships.

S.P.K. Is Popular Annual Project

by JANE BARBEN

Florida Delta

On May 16th, Florida Delta showed that winning was not the only thing on their minds.

That particular evening was selected by Lambda Chi Alpha for their annual project, Sorority President Kidnapping (SPK). This project is a popular event at the University of Florida, involving the sororities in a joint effort to collect food for the needy families of Gainesville and surrounding area.

The Lambda Chis carry off this project every year in style, as they kidnap all the sorority presidents after a little warning, leaving behind only a ransom note. This note explains that the sorority must collect canned goods and deliver them to the Lambda Chi house, in order to get their president back.

Since we especially like this project we started collecting food when we had the first clue that SPK was coming. (This clue is usually an ad in the newspaper or such.) So, we were ready and waiting when they nabbed our president, Marie Williams. Of course we were not too worried about her treatment for a nice meal is waiting for the hostages when they arrive at the hideout; but just to show our spirit, we rushed right over and were the first to deposit our goods, over 500 pounds, on the scales.

The other sororities got caught up in the action and soon the Lambda Chi house was the

Perform With Symphony

Three Pennsylvania Epsilon Pi Phis belong to the Penn State University Choir which recently performed Beethoven's Ninth with the Pittsburgh Symphony. Last summer eighty members were selected to go on an European tour including Pi Phi Mary Gitschier. On their four and a half week tour, seven countries were visited.

Practicing in the various American embassies, they sang in many places: the town square in Athens, St. Marks Cathedral in Venice, and a church in Vienna where Beethoven's funeral was held. Impromptu concerts were not uncommon either, with airports and Nymphenburg palace being two examples.

center of attention on fraternity row. The Greek action was reported live from the start to finish by a radio station in Gainesville.

There was never any question as to who was to collect the most food, as the Pi Phis were ahead from the very start. As it turned out, we had more in our first drop than any of the other sororities did the whole evening. However, knowing that we were the winner did not stop us from continuing our effort and we knocked on doors collecting food until the very last minute. The amount we collected was a surprise to everyone, including ourselves. The scales weighed in over 1000 pounds, making us the first to reach this goal since the project began four years ago. Nearly 2 tons of canned goods were collected, making our 1016 pounds over one-fourth of the total amount.

At midnight we were presented with our first place trophy, the second year in a row that we have housed this trophy. Our house has also given space to a second place trophy which was won two years ago.

Named Dean of Girls

Darline Hunter Gamble, Texas Gamma, is the new Dean of Girls at Imperial High School, Imperial, Calif. Within just five short years in the education profession, she has moved from teacher to department head to administrator.

Upon graduation from Texas Tech in January, 1966, Darline began her teaching experience in the speech department at the university. Since she was still an active Texas Gamma, having Pi Phi pledges in her first classes was a strange, but pleasant situation.

Moving to California, she taught speech, drama, English, and girls' physical education before being appointed Director of Speech at El Centro's High School. This fall she began her new administrative challenge.

In spite of her busy schedule in education, Darline still had time to organize California's only Pi Phi Pocket, in the Imperial Valley.

Christens Tanker In Japanese Shipyard

Anna Marie Hughes Sellers, Oklahoma Alpha, was honored recently by being the sponsor for the christening of the S.S. Grand Alliance. She and her husband, Bob, a former Sigma Chi at the University of Kansas and presently chairman of the board of Cities Service, flew to Japan where the event took place.

The tanker, the largest ship ever to become a part of the Cities Service fleet, is reported to be 1100 feet long or is described as being twice as long as the New York City CITGO building is tall.

Anna Marie christened the tanker last May in Nagasaki at the Koyagi Shipyard, one of the largest shipyards in the world. Her picture now hangs in honor in the captain's cabin of the ship.

The Sellers moved to Tulsa in the summer. Until that time Anna Marie had been an active member of the Northern New Jersey Alumnae Club as well as being active in the community of Summit, N.J.

Tours Caribbean With U.S.O. Troupe

by DEBY HALL
Wyoming Alpha

Pretty blue-eyed Colleen Quiner (known as Coke to her friends) journeyed to Central America last summer as part of the University of Wyoming's U.S.O. touring group.

Colleen was selected to become a member of the Ariels after auditioning in Salt Lake City, Utah, last fall. The group consists of five boys and three girls. They were selected on their singing and theatrical talents as well as personality and appearance.

The Ariels left the 18th of May and returned a month later, touring Panama, Puerto Rico, Cuba, and the Bahamas. They performed for U.S. military installations throughout the Caribbean.

Coke, home economics major, is one of the most active members of Wyoming Alpha. She directed the homecoming sing, was a member of Arrowboard, the pledge interest group, and serves as vice president of mental advancement.

Coke is equally active outside of the House. Last fall she danced in "Paint Your Wagon," and was chosen Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. During all of her college years she has been on the Dean's List and served as the Chimes vice president in her junior year. She is also a member of Mortar Board and Phi Kappa Phi.

Miss Quiner was a nominee for Glamour's 10 top college girls last year and is this year's campus representative for Mademoiselle magazine.

Neither Smoke Nor Tornado Nor . . .

by JAN NELSON

Kansas Beta

Rush week '74 was not one that Kansas Beta will soon forget. It was definitely not an ordinary, run-of-the-mill rush.

It all started on the second day of rush when, minutes before a party, the ice machine in our kitchen caught on fire. Smoke billowed out, and an obnoxious odor filled the house. A fireman was called to the scene, but this was a minor crisis compared to what followed.

The next day began as a fairly normal day, sunny and bright. Suddenly, during one party, Mother Nature blessed us with tornado-type weather. We hadn't expected such great cooperation from the weather just because our theme for the day was The Wizard of Oz.

As if tornado warnings weren't enough, the clincher came when our lights went out and we were forced to give house tours by candlelight. Finally we got our power back, and we assumed the rest of rush would go as planned.

We were wrong. Our plans didn't include what happened the last night of rush, just before our preference party. The tension was building as we were all especially anxious to make a good impression. While we were getting ready, the fire alarm went off, and we had to evacuate the house. The fire department rushed to the scene to find sixty bewildered Pi Phis, some in robes, others in formals, but none ready for a rush party.

To our relief, there wasn't really a fire. The alarm had gone off as a result of low voltage, and we lost our power again. Rushees began to arrive only to see a firetruck in front of the house, and a bunch of evacuated Pi Phis wondering what else could possibly go wrong?

In spite of the unusual circumstances, we managed to keep our sense of humor, overcame obstacles, and pledged twenty-four fantastic little angels.

New Chapter Says Goodbye To One; Hello To Another

by DEBBIE LINCOLN, ANN HARSHMAN,
Illinois Iota

One year ago in August, Pi Beta Phi sent to Illinois Iota Colony a dust storm in the form of a graduate counselor. Anita Swain, Kansas Beta, shared with us her knowledge of Fraternity life and helped us become an organized Pi Phi chapter. Anita worked on her master's degree in Special Education during the school year and finished at Illinois State University at the end of the summer which meant that Anita's role as graduate counselor ended too, and she returned to Kansas, by way of Kahoutek (her car), to take on a new role.

She is currently teaching kindergarten through fourth grades in Kanopolis, Kansas, and is really enjoying it. Besides her busy schedule at school, Anita has moved to Salina, Kan., and is involved in various activities such as decorating her new apartment, sewing, and playing in a bridge club. We were delighted to have her visit us last fall to show her the result of all the time and hard work she so lovingly gave to her chapter.

Illinois Iota now has a new graduate counselor, Mary Wilcynski from Wyoming Alpha, and she has brought with her many new ideas. We are looking forward to another exciting year and are forever grateful to the unending dedication both these women have demonstrated to our chapter.

Is Head Cheerleader

Oklahoma Alpha has a sister that all are proud of, Diane Vaeth. Besides being such a valuable asset to the house with her enthusiasm and constant good humor, she is the head cheerleader at University of Oklahoma.

Her cheerleading career started in the seventh grade and now she is a senior at the University. After her senior year in high school, she worked as an NCA instructor at different universities throughout the southwest. She was freshman cheerleader at O.U. and the following year she again made varsity.

Redecorated Rec Room Inspires Rush Party

by KAREN MACNEILL, Indiana Epsilon

Put a new bumroom, some creative Pi Phis, and a few rushees together, and what do you get? A casino party! The Pi Phis of Indiana Epsilon returned this fall to an enlarged, carpeted, boothed, panelled, fire-placed, air-conditioned bumroom, and were so proud of it we decided to show it off to our fall rushees. So, we added a few roulette wheels, chug-a-lugs, five-card studs, and tarot posters, spiced it with a few fishy cardsharks, and opened our doors.

The rushees were each given fifty fake dollars and escorted to the games where they met fellow rushees and more Pi Phis, and had popcorn, peanuts, pretzels, and drinks for refreshment.

Scholarship Dinner Is Spring Highlight

by GERE WAGEMAN

Illinois Epsilon

Scholarship has been a source of pride at Northwestern University's Pi Phi house for several years, but last year was a special one.

After receiving Pi Phi's national scholarship award at Convention, the traditional scholarship dinners at Illinois Epsilon became special occasions.

Highlight of the year was the spring scholarship dinner to honor Pi Phis who earned high grades during winter quarter.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Mrs. Dorothy Thorman, an Illinois Epsilon Pi Phi in 1923, who has since distinguished herself in writing. Mrs. Thorman told Pi Phi actives and pledges what it was like being a Northwestern Pi Phi in the '20s, and circulated pictures and mementos.

Decor for the dinner was a French cafe, named "Cafe de Maggie" in honor of the chapter's cook.

Hand-lettered French names appeared on each table, as well as bottles of grape juice and trays of fresh fruit.

When awards were given out, almost everyone in the chapter received one! Several alumnae attended the event. It may become a new tradition at Illinois Epsilon to invite guest speakers for scholarship dinners, as Mrs. Thorman's talk was enjoyed by both Pi Phis and alumnae.

Sisters Are Capped

On Tuesday, September 3, eight North Carolina Beta Pi Phis were capped in a service of dedication and commitment for student nurses in the Duke Chapel. Almost 100 students were capped by their Big Sisters in the Nursing School.

The Pi Phis capped included Patty Beale, Irene Crabtree, Nancy Dinsmore, Laura Dixon, Barb Eisenhardt, Jan Hayhurst, Betsy Muir, and Jan Wells. Big Sister Pi Phi doing the capping were Marcia Bacon, Peggy Forrester, Terri Jackson, and Beth Stevenson.

Outstanding Pledge From New Chapter

by BETTY MANAHAN MORAN

The Central Orange County (Calif.) Alumnae Club annually selects an outstanding pledge of Phi Province from one of our six active chapters. Joy Cash Van Pelt, philanthropies chairman, requested each active chapter to send a letter nominating its outstanding pledge, and with the assistance of her committee, selected Barbara Whitney, California Eta, to receive the $100 cash award.

Barbara, a freshman art major, has contributed much of her talents to the activities of the campus and Pi Beta Phi, designing the mailbox for the brand new Panhellenic trailer and making the Greek letters for the "Seven Precious Gifts Ceremony." She was elected chapter historian and it was here that she displayed her never-ending energies as the office, for this new chapter, proved very demanding. The result emerged as a work her sisters were pleased to call their own, and a loving recording of the chapter's beginning.

Barbara's activities have included participation in the Commuter Student Committee and maintenance of the University's Kiosks. She has found time for charity work, participating in the Mothers March of Dimes and manning the tables for the Red Cross Blood Drive sign-ups.

Barbara's future plans include advertising art and architectural design and in her first year of college she attained a grade point average of 3.07.

To quote from the nominating letter written by her chapter, "In our eyes, Barbara has already won the honor of Outstanding Pledge. Before initiation we felt the need to thank and honor her for the loyal support she has given, by electing her to receive the Laura June Award, Cal Eta's award for the all-around outstanding member."

Trish Long, Miss University of Wyoming

Miss Wyoming U. Has Busy Days

by SHARON REED
Wyoming Alpha

Another Pi Phi wears a crown! Wyoming Alpha's Trish Long won the title of Miss University of Wyoming and Miss Congeniality in the pageant held April 20th. Pi Phi Jane Ludeman was second runner-up.

A junior, Trish is a music education major and was song leader of her pledge class. She worked on the scholarship committee as a sophomore and was a dorm counselor during rush week this fall.

As Miss UW, Trish spent her summer representing the University. She traveled throughout Wyoming meeting people and talking on the radio in her hometown, Buffalo, Wyoming.

Cheyenne Frontier Days, one of the world's largest rodeos, saw Trish in the parades, grand entries to rodeos, and the queen's luncheon.

But Trish's role as Miss UW is just beginning. This year brings different appearances on campus, more Wyoming travels, the American colleges' Miss University pageant in Florida, and the Miss Wyoming pageant.

Pledges Aided In Academic Awareness

by BECKY FLEMMONS

Mississippi Beta

Beginning a new school year is hard for active members because of the need to adjust to the daily routine once again, but we often fail to realize how much more difficult it is for the pledges who have come to college for the first time. For this reason, Mississippi Beta is approaching scholarship through the actives' emphasizing academic awareness to our pledges.

Plans were made for a scholarship workshop to be held at the chapter house. The Dean of Women came to speak on ways to study and university opportunities in academics. Several seniors gave short talks on their field of study to give the pledges an experienced viewpoint.

Our scholarship chairman explained our planned scholarship program for this semester and had each pledge fill out academic goal cards. There was an effort to gain pledge enthusiasm in our academic excellence interest group by having the chairman tell about its functions and plans.

We have converted our office into our own library and research area for all chapter members. The bookshelves have been arranged according to subject and labeled for easy location of source materials. Teacher files have been set up to help in choosing classes at registration. Our chapter files containing old notes, tests, and essays have been rearranged and updated to give all members the best possible opportunities. In order to keep all materials in order and available to all, we have plans for a file-keeper to see that materials are signed in and out.

Bulletin boards are being used to add to our atmosphere of academic awareness. In our chapter room, the academic excellence interest group sees that the bulletin board is changed often with pictures, poems, sayings, etc. to boost studying. To make sure Pi Phis are always aware of events both on campus and in the community, we have a "Cultural Corner" which is posted weekly. Finally the most important bulletin board, academic awareness, keeps everyone informed of tutors, exam schedules, and deadlines.

A surprise gift of two beautiful trophy cases was delivered to South Dakota Alpha during rush work week last fall. Installed in the chapter day room, the cases were a gift from local alumnae and enabled the chapter to effectively display their many trophies and awards. Admiring its contents are Lisa Dummermuth and Debbie Moore.

Queen's Title Stays With Texas Alpha

by PEPPER PIERSON, Texas Alpha

In the past year and in the current year, the title of Queen of the Austin Aquafestival will be held by members of Texas Alpha. The 1974 reigning queen, Susan Penn, relinquished her crown at the coronation ball held August 10, to Margaret Miller, the 1975 queen.

Along with two duchesses, the Queen of the festival represents the city of Austin and promotes the festival wherever she goes. The festival is designed around the slogan "Summer Fun For Everyone" and takes place August 1-10 each summer. Events include waterskiing competition and championships, boat races, beauty pageants, and various other entertaining activities for the public.

Throughout the year, the Queen attends other celebrations as a visiting representative of her own festival. She takes part in such festivals as the Minneapolis Aquatennial, held in Minnesota each summer. Along with visiting queens from across the nation, she participates in the events of the Aquatennial. Many float trips are made by the Queen and her court to various smaller parades and functions throughout the state of Texas.

It is truly a wonderful experience and both Susan and Margaret are proud to represent their city, their festival, and Pi Phi at all related events.

Promotes P.R. Among Greeks

by DIANE WATTERS
California Gamma

Cynthia Allison, California Gamma, is doing much to promote fraternity relations on campus, and has had a great deal of working experience. She is acting personnel director and secretary to office manager of a law firm, and was receptionist for USC vice president of student affairs. She was student hostess for the Benefit Banquet for John McKay and the All-Stars, 1973. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic fraternity, and Blackstonian honorary society. She is currently serving on the USC Judicial Court of Justice, and is a member of the Public Relations Student Society of America, Woman's Caucus, and is a journalist for the Daily Trojan, the USC student newspaper. Cynthia is also on the Dean's List for scholastic achievement of a grade point average of 3.5 and above, and was tapped for Mortar Board last spring.

A Remembrance

Life is more than choosing the path "less trod upon," more than a long chain of golden moments, more than a sequence of experiences and lessons learned . . . much more than we are able to comprehend, even in the most illuminating moments, when everything seems to be so clear. Imagine if every person were as a single flower in a field of millions. Some are rosebuds picked early that blossom gloriously once they are placed in a bouquet. Others are a single daisy residing forever in the field, blooming with singular magnificence. While others are made to grow in clusters like forget-me-nots . . . never needing to be picked and always appearing most beautiful together. Pi Phi may not be your bouquet; perhaps there are other ones more suited to the delicacy of your petals or the strength of your stem. But every bouquet is only as complete as the separate and unique colors, fragrances, and shapes which give it its unity and character.

Spring Rush Is New At Arkansas

It's a whole new rush system for the Arkansas Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi.

For the first time in the history of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, sorority women rushed for pledges in the spring. Starting at the beginning of the semester last January, freshmen could attend functions twice with women of a particular sorority. They were allowed to go on rush dates with any number up to fifteen any number of times.

Marilyn Mosely was Panhellenic rush chairman who initiated the idea of spring rush and directed its progress throughout the semester. Jane Hunt and Karen Kennedy advised and encouraged the Arkansas Alpha chapter in rushing and pledging 25 freshmen.

Is Appointed Trustee

Jody Galbreath Phillips is now serving as chairman of the Ohio University Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Phillips, Ohio Alpha, was appointed to the board by former Gov. James Rhodes in 1970. She is the second woman to be a trustee and the first to become chairman.

Jody is the second in three generations of Pi Phis. Her mother was also a member of Ohio Alpha, and her daughter Dianne, Tennessee Beta, is the current resource consultant on rush.

Arkansas Beta pledges showed off their knowledge of Pi Beta Phi history and awards by defeating actives in a game of "Jeopardy," designed by pledge trainer, Linda Baker. Liz Dolan, Laura Watkins, Debbie Rivers, Bennett Morris, and Pam Reade won nearly $300 more than their "knowledgeable" sisters.

Wins Scholarship In Furniture Mart

by SUZANNE FAIRCHILD, Texas Beta

Dallas Market was the right place to be for Jo Pietras, Texas Beta. Jo was interviewed in the fall for the January Furniture Market by a representative of Masland Duran vinyl upholstery manufacturers. During the Market she represented Masland Duran in the showroom registering the buyers of their product for promotion during the year. This promotion consists of local and national advertising on television shows and in store promotions to benefit the store and the customer.

During the year there are nine other major Furniture Markets around the country. From each of these is chosen the Masland Duran Cover Girl who receives a $1000 scholarship. In Dallas the girl chosen was Jo Pietras. Last summer Jo and the nine other winners were flown to Chicago to accept their scholarships. There they spent an exciting, all expense paid week and were treated like queens. Last January Dallas Market was definitely the right place to be for Jo Pietras!

Volunteers Aid Disaster Victims

by JANE PERKINSON

Mississippi Alpha

Spring 1974 proved to be a disaster for many people in the Hattiesburg area. Floods, due to continuing heavy rains, caused extensive damage and evacuation of families from their homes. The American Red Cross responded and so did the members of Mississippi Alpha. Many Pi Phis volunteered but two members took one more step.

Diane Brewer and Susan Farnsworth, actives of Mississippi Alpha, began as workers to recruit girls from the Panhellenic Dormitory to make sandwiches and ride in vans to carry food to flood victims. They soon developed into campus coordinators. Anyone on campus and also off campus organizations were placed by Diane and Susan where they were needed the most in the flood area.

After the food need diminished, Diane and Susan stayed at the office and helped with general organization of crews (case workers, housecleaners, etc.). They served until they were no longer needed.

Diane and Susan were recognized for their service and the chapter received a certificate of merit and a small trophy.

Spring Sing Songs Earn Sure Citation

The Indiana Gammas, plus a Cole Porter medley, added up to first place in Butler University's annual Spring Sing last spring.

In competition with five other housing units in the singles division, the Gammas sang themselves to success with a medley of Porter which included such songs as "Night and Day," "It Was Just One of Those Things," and "From This Moment On."

There were 15 in the group, led and coached by Jane Beals and Mary Washburn. The girls wore long black evening dresses with spaghetti straps, accented by long white gloves and red poppies.

Study of Arts Includes 24 Plays

by DIANE MAYER, Illinois Beta-Delta

Fall term junior year didn't start with hauling luggage back to the Knox College campus, but rather waiting for luggage at London's Heathrow Airport. Taking advantage of a program offered by the Associated Colleges of the Midwest, I spent September through December participating in the arts of London and Florence. Seven weeks in London studying Shakespeare, English architecture, and English art of the 17th and 18th centuries kept me busy. I took full advantage of the London theatre scene by attending 24 plays in the seven weeks.

One very special night several of us were coming home from the theatre and to our surprise we saw a member of the Royal Shakespeare Company riding on the train. We introduced ourselves and this young actor was very flattered because he had never been recognized off stage before.

Students were given a week of vacation before we had to arrive in Florence. I took the opportunity to see the sights of Paris . . . the Eiffel Tower, Napoleon's Tomb, the Champs-Elysees, Sacre-Coeur, the Left Bank, Montmartre, Notre Dame, etc., all in two days! Leaving Paris I headed for Besancon to visit a fellow Knox Pi Phi, Barb Jansen, who was spending her junior year studying in France.

After thirteen hours on a train from Besancon, I finally arrived in Florence, the capital city of Italian Renaissance art and history.

My courses in Florence were Cosmology from Dante to Galileo, Italian Renaissance Art, and an intensive study of Michelangelo. Florence can keep one busy with great art museums during the day and great concerts at night.

Highlights of the remainder of my stay included a weekend in Milan with my family when we attended the opening of the La Scala and sat in the third row; Christmas day in Sicily climbing barefoot in sea coves collecting marble pebbles and lava rock; and four days in Rome.

Returning to Knox meant receiving a warm Pi Phi welcome. I had had a great time while I was abroad learning a great deal about art, history, and people in general.

and back to Miami her home, and travels include such far away places as Australia, New Zealand, East Indies, the far East, Europe, Central and South America, and the West Indies.

Jayne has held many offices in both Pi Phi and Panhellenic, in addition to being an active volunteer worker in the Guild of Museum of Science of Miami, where she has been corresponding secretary, exhibits chairman, office chairman, and gift shop secretary.

There are two Dunker children—Cristine Lorch, Kentucky Beta, lives in Anchorage, Ky., and John, an ATO at Memphis State, now living in Raleigh, N.C.

So these four ladies, and many, many more, are busily at work getting ready for the Miami Convention next June. They promise a smooth-running, productive, fun-filled week, and hope that there will be many Pi Phi visitors in addition to the delegates and alternates.

New Chapter Appreciates Mothers' Club Support

California Eta is very fortunate to have an energetic Mothers' Club. They are always anxious to help in any way and give their unending support. Their warm and sincere backing has helped make the chapter's first year a success.

During finals, mothers made cookies and other treats. Throughout the year, they reminded the girls of their love and approval by giving all sorts of helpful ideas and always volunteering their services. To end the school year, Mothers' Club gave the chapter a formal tea. Everyone enjoyed herself and was appreciative of the mothers for the nice idea. California Eta was delighted also with the beautiful gift of two candelabras to enhance the growing silver collection. The chapter is very proud of our mothers and thankful for all their love.

Work With Indians During Internship

by LIZ JACKSON
South Dakota Alpha

South Dakota Alpha saw many of its members traveling and working this summer. Two of the members, Sue Swiden and Pat Kieb, did a summer internship for social work in Mobridge; under the Division of Social Services, Dept. of Social Welfare for the State of South Dakota.

Though most of their work dealt with the Indians of Cheyenne and Standing Rock reser-

Lyn Newcomb, Mississippi Beta, was named Lady of the Realm during the Cotton Carnival in Memphis last spring. She has appeared nationally and internationally as a member of "The Group," a song and dance team that aids the Recruitment Department for Ole Miss. She is also a member of CWENS.

Pat Kieb and Sue Swiden, South Dakota Alphas, spent an unusual summer working on Indian reservations.

ventions, traveling in a radius of 200 miles brought them in contact with many members of other communities.

They had many duties including family planning, adoption investigations, counselling unwed mothers, and many other aspects of the social work field.

When asked what the highlight of the summer was, they replied that it was the gathering of people for AIM International Treaty convention. As a reward for their long and serviceful summer, the girls not only received school credit, but a feeling of self fulfillment and agreed it was truly a worthwhile experience.

Iowa Beta House Corporation Board and has been serving in that capacity ever since. According to an Indianola alumna, if it hadn't been for Ruth's courage and reliability, the new two-story and much needed addition to the chapter house might never have become a reality, as it did in 1969-70.

"Since I have time now to do the research, I have written a 'history' of the Iowa Beta house (1901-1974), and have just finished a 100 year history of the chapter, as we are celebrating the founding of Iowa Beta in October, 1874, in October of this year," said Mrs. Sayre.

As a result of her continuing devotion to Pi Beta Phi, Mrs. Sayre was nominated by the Indianola Alumnae Club, and subsequently was chosen Nu Province's nominee for the Evelyn Peters Kyle Angel Award in 1973. A paragraph in the nomination papers stated, "She consistently supports any activities of either alumnae club or active chapter, whether it be social or money making ventures. She is recognized throughout the community and beyond as a very loyal Pi Phi. She gives unstintingly of her time, talent and experience."

Illinois Etas Mary Anne Klein and Nancy Irwin discuss tennis with William Windom, stage, screen, and television star, during his visit to the Millikin University campus last fall.

Swimming Champions Set New Meet Records

On March 23, Indiana Delta walked away as the 1974 Women's Intramural Swim Champions. The Pi Phis accumulated a total of 73 points, well ahead of the runner-up Chi Omegas whose score was 41. Six first place ratings and four records were established during the afternoon.

Barb Suci, Lou Alterr, Mary Hubert, and Wendy Sievert combined their efforts to break the old record in the 100-yard medley relay. Wendy Hafer and Bryn Johnson joined Barb and Wendy to establish another record in the 100-yard freestyle relay.

On an individual basis, Barb set a new record in the 50-yard backstroke as Mary put her name in the record books for a quick 25-yard breaststroke. Bryn added a first place in the 100-yard individual medley, just touching out teammate Abbe Hohmann. Karen Deem rounded out the afternoon with a superb performance in the 1-meter springboard diving competition and capturing first place.

In the all-campus volleyball tournament, Indiana Delta won first place honors by demolishing every opponent—sorority, dorms, and co-ops alike. The victorious team included Wendy Sievert, Judy Pratt, Holly Young, Sheryl Esary, Cheryl Fenzau, Deb Flynn, An Carlton, and Beth Baird. This team compiled a perfect record.

You may be aware already of the tribal differences in the two great Kansas Universities. There are two chapters of Pi Beta Phi, of course. And I am one of two Kansas Alpha Pi Phis in the Manhattan (Kansas Beta) Alumnae Club. How's that for a minority group!

But the feeling of acceptance and affection built into that foreign alumnae club was precisely what I remembered from college days. Surely if something is as good as this, we could use more of it, not less. An institution which helps its members become more than they are is valuable to a civilization.

I would wish that there be many more chapters of all Greek letter organizations established across this land. And if your liberated generation must call sisterhood a brotherhood or a personhood, well, be my guest! I belong to a Fraternity!

Wins Sweepstakes For Second Time

by DIANE BRIESE, MARY FARNSWORTH

Iowa Gamma

"Varieties" is the spice of life in the winter months at Iowa State University, and for the second consecutive year the Iowa Gamma Pi Phis walked off with Sweepstakes honors in this annual skit competition. Along with the opportunity to sponsor candidates for the emcee competition and the short, creative "flash act" competition, Greek and independent houses can combine their talents for the production of an original twenty minute skit.

Out of ten groups competing in the last category, three were chosen to contend for Sweepstakes awards in February, with each group of two houses working together to produce music, lyrics, choreography, costumes, sets, and a dialogue to express a timely message. Iowa Gamma and Pi Kappa Alpha, under the direction of producers Mary Peterson and Tom Norris, not only were "invited" to compete for sweepstakes but received first place as well with a skit entitled "This is the Answer For You."

The story centered around a new wonder product called Stuffeldoo which people believed could cure all ills, eliminate bad habits, strengthen the body and mind, and improve the quality of life. All but one of the townspeople advocated the virtues of this wonder drug, but a disbelieving janitor finally opened the townspeople's eyes to the fact that Stuffeldoo was a fake and that any improvements made had occurred because of individual efforts. The people realized that they could do anything that they set their minds to without any artificial aids, and rejoiced in their discovery with the lyrics "Long Life Life."

The Pi Phis and the Pikes found that this was not just a story; they could do anything that they set their minds to, as they demonstrated by winning Varieties 1974!

Silver Tea Service Is Memorial For Chapter

by ROBERTA CLELAND, Florida Delta

Florida Delta Pi Phis have received a beautiful gift to complement their new home, from Ethel Sanford (Sandy) Adams of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. An alumna of Montana Alpha and Massachusetts Alpha, Mrs. Adams has presented a silver tea service and silver Paul Revere bowl, "to Florida Delta in loving memory of Cynthia Roby Adams, from New York Gamma and Massachusetts Alpha."

The tea service consists of a coffee pitcher, tea pitcher, sugar bowl, creamer, waste bowl, tray, and doilies. It was a wedding present to Mrs. Adams, and the Revere bowl was an award presented to her husband.

Responsible for the donation was Susan Burbridge Staten, alumna of Florida Delta from Pompano Beach.

The service is especially appreciated as Florida Delta has just moved into their first house. In the five years since the chapter's founding, members have lived in an apartment complex. With the purchase of our house, the silver service is that much more a meaningful gift.

Kathryn Gale, Mississippi Alpha, was crowned Queen of the Crewe of Columbus, Mardi Gras Ball in Mobile, Ala., last spring. Kathryn, presented by her father, led the crewe in the opening promenade. Kathryn kept her secret well and no one knew of her coronation until the night of the Ball.

Win Song Competition

by SALLY HOLT, Texas Gamma

For the second year in a row, Texas Gamma received first place in the University Sing-Song competition last April. Sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha, the men's music honorary, the contest is held annually and is open to all groups on campus. This year, there were six contestants, each consisting of a sorority and a fraternity.

Texas Gamma's partner was Sigma Phi Epsilon, the same as last year when the Pi Phis and Sig Eps also won first place.

Under the direction of Jana Bullard King and Tim King the winners performed three songs from "West Side Story," including "America," "Maria," and "One Hand." We won a beautiful trophy both years. Any group winning the contest three years in a row retires the trophy. Therefore, Texas Gamma is already planning to work extra hard on the 1975 Sing-Song.

Teaches Thirty To Twirl and Strut

Jane Ludeman, Wyoming Alpha, put a new whirl into her twirling baton this summer.

The petite junior realized that there was no one in her South Dakota town to teach aspiring majorettes to excel in baton twirling so she took on a giant challenge and organized a school. It was difficult to take care of details while still in Wyoming, but Jane managed to enroll thirty students from ages six to sixteen.

"I already had a full-time summer job, but I wanted to pass the fun of twirling on to others," Jane said. "We worked on fundamentals and then organized a routine and costumes to march for two days in the "Days of '76" parade in Deadwood, S.D. We also marched in a parade in Lead, S.D."

Jane is a piano major and puts in many hours helping her not-so-musical Pi Phi sisters. Last year she arranged the number for our competition in the Homecoming Sing. In addition to her house activities, Jane is a UW twirler, a member of Delta Omicron music honorary, and was second runner-up in the Miss University of Wyoming contest.

Sooner Scandals Choreography Wins

by CINDI MYERS
Oklahoma Alpha

A variety show called Sooner Scandals is presented each spring at the University of Oklahoma. The show is a competition between fraternities, sororities, and university housing. Each group does a twelve-minute act which portrays the central theme that is selected by the Scandals staff. Last year the theme was "Oklahokum" and the message of each act was to be kept light and entertaining.

Our act was entitled "Corner of the Sky" and we used music from the rock musicals "Tommy," "Hair," and "Pippin."

The act took many hours of hard work and practice, but it all was worthwhile because, besides making close friends with the Sigma Chis, our partners, we won the trophy for best choreography. We also won the trophy for being the most congenial and enthusiastic group. We were all tremendously proud of the latter because it was voted on by all the other acts!

Alum Gift Is Special

At Convention in Hot Springs, two Maine Alphas, Louise Magno and Janet Reid, were presented with a lovely gift for their chapter. The donor of the gift was Mrs. Louise Durgan Hammons who was initiated into Maine Alpha in 1927, served for many years as chapter advisor, and now lives in California. Her gift was a beautiful silver angel on a necklace to be given bi-weekly to the sister or pledge who has performed a special service for the chapter or shown considerable spirit and enthusiasm while working on a project. The recipient is selected by Executive Council.

This award has served as a special little "thank-you" to those hard-working Pi Phis who are sometimes overlooked. The giving of the award further illustrates the truth of the words of the song "Ocean to Ocean" as we see the "unending friendship" and bond that exists within our own chapter and nationally from "rocky Maine to the Golden Gate afar."

Classes Combine With Hula-Hula

by TERRI S. MAY
Louisiana Beta

Students who find it necessary to go to summer school know how vacations must often be passed up for class. Three Louisiana Beta Pi Phis, however, found a way out of this bind. Last summer Sue McConnell, Billie Joyce Mitchell, and Terri May attended the University of Hawaii, a place where school and the beach were easily combined.

These Pi Phis took advantage of unique opportunities Hawaii had to offer in addition to its breath-taking landscape. Their courses included Judo and Hawaiian dances. Their classmates were of many national origins. Getting to know the land and the culture proved to be an education no classroom could have provided, and summer school was in itself a vacation.

Chapter Entertains A.A.C. and Hubbies

by NANCY FOGLE, Arkansas Beta

Arkansas Beta honored the alumnae advisory committee and their husbands with a dinner in the backyard of the Pi Phi house last summer. The yard was decorated with banners, welcome signs, and balloons. Members brought dishes of salads, meats, vegetables, and desserts for the six hungry men, the alums, and the members. After eating, actives presented a skit depicting the AAC members when they were actives in Pi Phis: a Miss USA contestant, a studious Math major, a heartbroken member writing to her long lost love, a "Miss Pi Phi" from Arkansas Alpha, a LRU cheerleader, and an Arkansas Beta turned Texan. The husbands were given Burger King crowns to wear for the night. Then to the surprise of the members, there was a candlelight ceremony and Arkansas Beta was awarded the Lucile Douglass Carson National Award for Community Service for the second year in a row. The award was the climax of a great evening.

Five Pi Phis Are All-Maine Women

by JANET R. REID, Maine Alpha

Pi Phis at Maine Alpha were very proud to have five of their sisters selected as All Maine Women for the year 1974-75. The members of this society are chosen during the spring semester of their junior year. The qualifications are: outstanding evidences of character, Maine spirit, service to the University and community, creditable scholarship, and responsible leadership and potential contributions. Less than one percent of the population of women on campus are selected each year to receive this high honor. This year thirty-one women were chosen including Maine Alphas Vicki Jordan, Kathy Keaney, Linda Levesque, Chris Tyndall, and Deb Westman.

Greek Reunion Cures Summer Doldrums

This year, when the summer jobs lost their novelty and the letters became scarce, the University of Illinois Panhellenic and Inter-Fraternity Councils came to the rescue and sponsored a Greek Reunion on campus in July. All the Greeks from U of I were urged to come and share their summer news with everyone.

Illinois Zeta Pi Phis really looked forward to this weekend and the barbecues, parties, and picnics sponsored by girls from the Champaign-Urbana area. These gave us a chance to catch up on Pi Phi gossip and to get those creative juices and enthusiasm flowing for the new year. After that busy weekend, school seemed only a short time away.

Wins Piano Award

Patti Lakes, an Indiana Gamma junior, has been awarded $100 by Sigma Alpha Iota music honorary. She was selected from a field of 15 on the basis of a piano presentation. It is applicable to this semester of school.

Annual "Pink Party" Is Special For Seniors

by JENNIFER LARSEN, Iowa Gamma

In case other chapters are wondering how to give their seniors a proper send-off, Iowa Gamma would like to share their annual, traditional "Pink Party" extravaganza.

All Pi Phis come dressed in pink to "toast" as many seniors as can make it back for the affair, including those who have transferred, already graduated, or been married. The juniors in the house are responsible for invitations, decorations, the writing of the skit portraying the senior class's deeds and misdeeds, and the refreshments which often are pink, too: pink champaign and pink cake, for example.

Seniors sit at the head table after "ring, ching, ching-ing" their glasses for the last time and during dinner present their "will." Pledge daughters are responsible for escorting their "moms" to the occasion and this is done in a most formal fashion—down the front stairs in candlelight at the beginning of the evening. The senior class usually breaks off for its own last party after the skit is given and the house is left in anticipation of a new fall pledge class to fill the leaving seniors' places.

"Little Sister" Groups . . .

that many National Interfraternity Conference officers are encouraging the concept of auxiliaries . . . completely unmindful of the potential damage they are doing to the Greek system in general, and to the NPC groups, in particular . . . to say nothing of the perpetuation of subservience on the part of young women . . .

Human dignity and self respect are precious commodities that vanish when our young women are reduced to the roles of servant. Our fraternities suffer tremendously when our members and pledges must divide their time and attention between two groups, and college Panhellenics are finding it increasingly hard to plan schedules that will not conflict with the activities of the auxiliaries.

Music Teacher Has Research Published

Dr. Karen Fanta Zumbrunn, Ohio Beta, was honored recently by having her research cited and published in the Yearbook of International Music Education. She was one of two women and two Americans to have articles included in this book. "A Guided Listening Program in Twentieth-Century Music" was an outgrowth of doctoral research done at the University of California at Berkeley under a grant from H.E.W. Dr. Zumbrunn, a music teacher at Bergen Community College, Bergen, N.J., is married to a college teacher and is the mother of a two-year-old son.

Karen is the daughter of an Ohio Beta Pi Phi, Virgene Anderson Fanta. For the past four years she has served as corresponding secretary of the New York City Alumnae Club.
