

PI BETA PHI: A Steadfast Heritage of Service

A Message from Grand Council

A Salute to the Pi Phi Volunteer wo Questions- Who works for a multi-national, non-profit corporation with subsidiaries in 398 cities, that has an annual national budget approximating two million dollars with subsidiaries (chapters) whose average budgets approach one half million dollars per year?.... What organization is best known for its quality control, its leadership role in developing program and policy initiatives, its outstanding opportunity for member development and association, and for its putting together of community partnerships, collaborations, and national philanthropic projects?

Answers- YOU- the Pi Phi volunteer, and Pi Beta Phi Fraternity! In our work as Grand Council members, we are constantly made aware of Pi Beta Phi's evolution into a preeminent international organization recognized as an important and influential association. We have a business built on partnership and friendship. We are the original "Old Girl" network, and we've been in the business of Pi Beta Phi for almost a century and a quarter.

The opportunities and challenges presented by nearly 170,000 initiated Pi Phi members, 129 chapters and 376 alumnae organizations are met by approximately 130 volunteer national and province officers, committee and resource people. Add to that the 1,300 active Alumnae Advisory Committee and House Corporation members and thousands of alumnae club officers and members, and you will realize that our Fraternity's success is no accident.

You, the Pi Phi volunteer, are the real captain of our fraternal industry. You, who serve on AACs, the House Corporations, and Alumnae Club Boards are Pi Beta Phi's unsung, but certainly not unappreciated heroines. You are the union chiefs, the advisors, the planners, mentors, teachers, landlords, creditors, counselors, cheerleaders, and substitute mothers. You provide the continuity, the stability for the chapters, the clubs, and the Fraternity. (continued on pg. 23)

PI BETA PHI CREST AWARD For OUTSTANDING ALUMNAE

Pi Beta Phi has established the Crest Award to recognize the achievements of alumnae through professional contributions or volunteer service to the community. The Fraternity is proud to present the 1991 winners of the Crest Award. Four women were selected for outstanding contributions to their profession; three were selected for outstanding contributions to their community.

Nancy Ford Indiana Epsilon DePauw University New York, New York Profession:

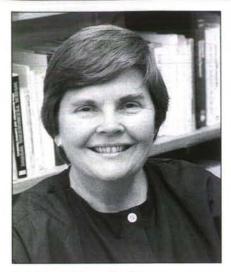

Scriptwriter/Composer

A performer, lecturer, script-writer and composer, Nancy Ford is perhaps best known for her work with daytime television serials. Nancy began writing for daytime serials in 1971 when she wrote for Love of Life.

Since that time she has been a scriptwriter for Ryan's Hope, Guiding Light, Search for Tomorrow and As the World Turns. She received two daytime Emmy Awards for Ryan's Hope in 1983 and 1984 and Grammy Award nominations for Guiding Light and As the World Turns. In addition, Nancy received two Writers Guild Awards for Love of Life and Ryan's Hope.

Nancy has composed three off-Broadway musicals, Now is the Time for All Good Men, The Last Sweet Days of Isaac and I'm Getting My Act Together and Taking It on the Road, and a Broadway Musical, Shelter. She was winner of the Obie Drama Desk Award from the New York Outer Critics Circle and received a Grammy Award nomination for cast album of "I'm Getting My Act Together and Taking It on the Road."

A board member of the Council of Writers Guild of America, East, Nancy is also on the Board of Trustees for DePauw University. She was the 1990 Distinguished Professor of Humanities at Eastern Michigan University and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Arts degree from the same university in 1986. She is also a judge for the Writers Guild Foundation Fellowship Award and is involved in the Dramatist Guild Music Theatre Development Program.

Profession: Dean of Graduate Education—Harvard

A graduate of Purdue University with "highest distinction," Patricia Graham went on to get her master's degree at Purdue and a Ph.D. at Columbia University. Since that time the number of honorary degrees she has received are too numerous to list.

Immediately following her undergraduate career, Patricia began teaching at a Virginia high school and continued at Indiana University, Columbia University, Northern Michigan University and Harvard.

She is currently the Graduate School of Education Dean at Harvard University, the first woman dean at the prestigious university.

In addition, she was appointed Director of the National Institute of Education with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare from 1977-79

Patricia is responsible for three books on the subject of education and has written a great number of articles which topic's ranged from literacy to women in academic life.

Her professional activities and awards include: National Science Foundation, Science and Engineering Advisory Committee, National Academy of Education President, and Commission of Precollegiate Education in Mathematics, Science, and Technology of the National Science Board. Patti Patton Leeman Oklahoma Alpha University of Oklahoma Oklahoma City, Oklahoma Community: Public Education

The National Committee for Citizens in Education (NCCE) Chairman from 1986-90, Patti has long had an interest in improving public education. Patti has been a member of NCCE since 1982. The purpose of the organization is to "improve the education of all children by mobilizing and assisting citizens, including parents, to strengthen public schools."

Patti assisted in forming the Oklahoma City Public School Foundation. The Foundation was established to help improve the perception of public schools and to raise funds for programs and incentives for teachers, students and administration. Patti served on the Steering Committee to determine feasibility of such a foundation, was elected tothe first Board of Trustees, and acted as Executive Director for two years. She is now on the Chairman's Council in an advisory capacity.

A fifteen-year volunteer at Omniplex, (a hands-on science museum in Oklahoma City) Patti was able to see the growth of the museum which now holds more than 300 exhibits. She was president of the Board of Trustees for two years and president of Omnipeople Volunteer Association in its first year.

In addition to her volunteer work, Patti enjoys freelance writing. She has written several education articles which have appeared in The Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma Observer.

Virginia Holt McFarland Texas Beta Southern Methodist University Houston, Texas Community: Children's Health and Welfare

Virginia was instrumental in starting the Pi Beta Phi Library at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston, Texas. The library was established with a $5,400 donation from the Houston Alumnae Club to purchase 400 books. A member of the Board of Trustees at Children's Hospital, Virginia converted a linen closet into the library. The library now contains 3,000 books and offers audio and video cassettes for children and their parents.

Recently, Virginia received a Distinguished Alumnae Award from her alma mater, Southern Methodist University. In 1990, she received Citation and Award from Texas Children's Hospital Board of Trustees for outstanding service and contributions to the National Association of Children's Hospitals and Related Institutes (NACHRI). In 1989 she was made a Lifetime Honorary Trustee of NACHRI, only the fourth such appointment given during the history of the organization. In 1987 she was the recipient of the Houston Mayor's Award for outstanding volunteer service in the field of children's health.

Virginia's community service work spans more than 30 years. She is a member of the Advisory Board of the Ronald McDonald House and a board member of the Greater Houston Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse.

Jane Bryant Quinn Vermont Alpha Middlebury College North Salem, New York Profession: Columnist and Commentator on Finance

Jane is the nation's leading commentator on personal finance, with news articles and television broadcasts read and seen by millions.

A Newsweek contributing editor, Jane writes on issues affecting personal finance. On the same subject, she has a twice-weekly newspaper column syndicated by The Washington Post to more than 250 newspapers. A columnist for Women's Day magazine, Jane writes a Money Facts column for every issue.

Also a television personality, Jane has given business news reports on CBS Evening News with Dan Rather, The CBS Morning News, and other nationwide programs. In 1988, she hosted a series on money management called Take Charge! for the Public Broadcasting System.

Author of Everyone's Money Book, a complete guide to personal finance, Jane is now working on another book, titled Making the Most of Your Money to be published later this year.

Jane was named by the World Almanac as one of the twenty-five most influential women in the United States.

A recipient of many awards, she has to her credit: an Emmy Award for outstanding coverage of news on television, John Hancock Award for excellence in Business and Financial Journalism, the Janus Award for excellence in television business reporting and three National Press Club Awards for Consumer Journalism.

Linda Myers Taylor Ohio Beta Ohio State University Fort Meyers, Florida Community: Public Education

Linda established the Lee County Public Schools Foundation. In 1985, Linda began consulting with the local school board about establishing a non-profit/private partnership between the community and the school system in Lee County. Her goal was to provide programs for the public schools with private funds. Linda organized a board of thirty top business and community leaders and was elected the founding president of the Foundation when it was chartered in 1986.

Linda went on to create the Golden Apple Teacher Recognition Program to recognize and honor the achievements of individual outstanding teachers. Six teachers are selected from the numerous nominations from the community. Next, Linda established the Academy of Teachers, allowing recipients of the Golden Apple to attend conferences and network meetings monthly.

Responding to an identified need for teachers to have more personal and professional growth opportunities, Linda has raised more than $50,000 to establish the Collegium of the Advancement of Teaching.

Linda has received numerous awards, among them: 1988 Presidential Citation for Outstanding Private Sector Initiatives, Commission of Education's Business/Partner ship Award. In addition, CBS selected Lee County as one of eight sites featured on their national program focused on ways on improving education.

Patricia Pulliam Upton Arkansas Alpha University of Arkansas Heber Springs, Arkansas Profession: President and Chairman AROMATIQUE

President, chief executive officer and founder of Aromatique, Patricia Upton went from model to housewife to entrepreneur. Tired of staying at home while her two boys were in school, Patti began hanging out at a local gift store.

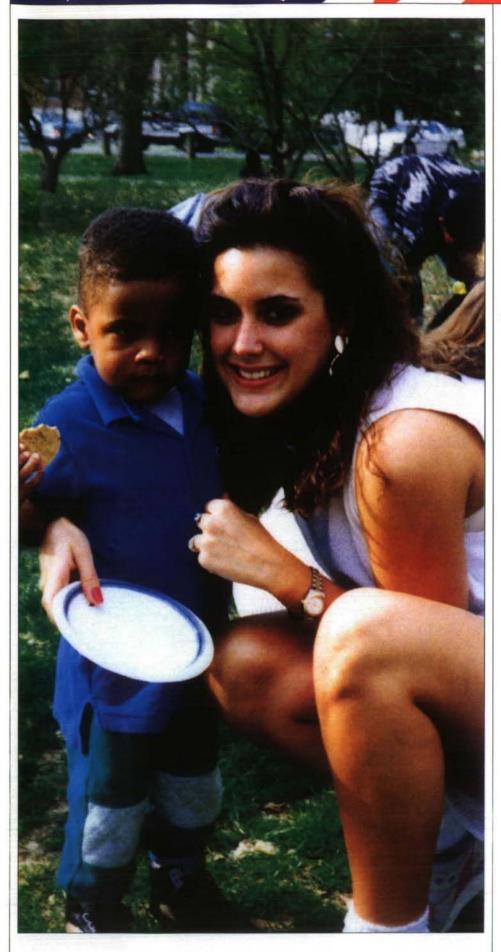

When the holiday season rolled around, the shop manager asked Patti to come up with something special to set the mood for the shop's Christmas Open House. Patti went home and gathered up several gifts of Mother Nature, including pine cones and nuts, then placed them in a wooden bowl with crushed bay leaves and chrysanthemums. Disappointed that the mixture did not have a smell, Patti added cooking oils and spices. The result was her first room fragrance, The Smell of Christmas.

Aromatique now produces eleven different room fragrance lines and sales have topped $40 million. An average of 300 employees work for the company on an annual basis.

Aromatique's products are self-distributed and are available solely to handselected retail shops.

In 1987 Patti was named Arkansas Woman Entrepreneur of Year. She was also named Outstanding Woman of Arkansas.

Her company was given Business of the Year in Arkansas Award and in 1989, was ranked 39th in a list of the 500 fastest growing privately held companies in the United States by Inc. magazine.

Pi Beta Phi: A Steadfast Heritage of Service

by Jean M. Egmon

"Today is not yesterday: we ourselves change; how can our works and thoughts, if they are always to be the fittest, continue always the same? Change, indeed, is painful; yet ever needful; and if memory have its force and worth, so also has Hope."

-Carlyle

The importance of change is not new. Thomas Carlyle wrote his passage on change in the mid 1800s, near the time of the founding of I.C. Sorosis. One hundred years later, long after I.C. Sorosis had changed her name to Pi Beta Phi, this same passage was featured in A Century of Friendship in Pi Beta Phi to introduce a section of the book entitled "The Changing Years - 1888-1940."

Pi Beta Phis are major stakeholders in the changes of society. Changes in attitudes and behavior, in age cohorts, in participation, in labor and education, and in the volunteer work force directly affect our need and means of existence as a fraternal organization for women.

Our founding principle of service inspired by friendship, gives us constancy in our mission. At the same time, it gives us responsibility for the continuous development of our organization and her members to meet the demands and opportunities of the society in which we move.

As Pi Beta Phi stands at the threshold of a new century, once again she features change as a link in her history of friendship and as a guide in her planning of fraternity life.

What are the major changes occurring in society in general and in the volunteer/independent sector in particular, and what implications do they have for Pi Beta Phi?

In 1990, Independent Sector, a coalition of organizations whose mission is to encourage giving, volunteering and not for profit initiatives, commissioned the Gallup Organization to conduct a survey to establish reliable trend information on the volunteer/independent sector in the United States.

The survey results indicate that in 1989, 54% of those sampled said they had volunteered the previous year. This increase of 9% from 1987 resulted in 15.7 billion hours given in formal volunteer work, valued at $170 billion dollars in labor alone!

Those groups showing the greatest increases in volunteer participation from 1987 were Blacks (an increase of 10%), Baby Boomers 25-34 years old (an increase of 17%), Baby Boomers 35-44 years old (an increase of 10%), divorced, widowed or separated persons (an increase of 13%), and persons employed part-time (an increase of 18%).

When respondents of the Gallup Survey were asked to give a reason for starting to volunteer, 62% said they wanted to do something useful. When asked how they learned about their volunteer activities, 42% said simply that they were asked by someone; 41% said it was because they were already a participant in the organizations; and 75% reported they had not turned down a request when asked to serve.

These data suggest that volunteerism, at least as compared to recent years, is on the rise. Blacks, Baby Boomers, divorced, widowed or separated persons and part-time workers especially are increasing their participation as volunteers. These groups, then, have particular volunteers.

potential as members in Pi Beta Phi right now. Although, as Table 1 shows, there are no groups of women outside the realm of possibility for providing useful and meaningful service as Pi Beta Phis.

This research also shows that people volunteer because they want to feel useful, and because someone asks them to serve, or because they are already participating in an organization. These findings tell Pi Beta Phis that our activities must be designed and conveyed as being useful, and we must ask our members directly for their service. Asking members to perform specific services and explaining their importance, rather than asking for help in general, is a strong motivator for volunteers.

Most of us can remember a time or two when we washed stacks of dirty dishes after a rush party, recycled cans on a steamy summer day or accepted an office because someone told us Pi Phi needed us for a specific undertaking and, as a friend, asked for our help.

In addition to the data provided by Independent Sector and Gallup, there are general societal trends that will likely affect Pi Phis in the coming century. ■ By 2000, one in three of the population will be from an ethnic minority group.

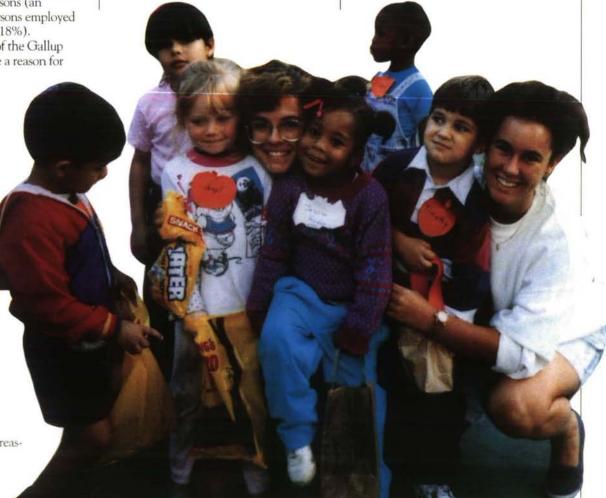

Given these groups' increasing participation in volunteerism, Pi Phi has the opportunity to tap this potential pool for members. Pi Phi also has the challenges of addressing new issues and societal needs brought closer to our attention by these members and of managing the changing dynamics of the Fraternity is membership.

■ Young adult (25-34) numbers are projected to fall 15% by 2000.

Despite the current good news about the Baby Boomers' increasing participation, Pi Phi will not have a new crop of Baby Boomers in the near future and will have to program for and rely on other age cohorts to provide service.

■ The fastest growing age sector of adults will be older Americans.

This trend tells us who, in large part, we should program for and rely on in and for our future. We should plan part, we should program for and rely on in and for our future. We should plan programs and services for these women and solicit their input and involvement now! Our current generation of older Pi Phis can be our model for the next.

■ College age (18-24) young people will continue to decline.

Not only will Pi Phi not have a large group of young alumnae, she will have fewer traditional collegians to rush and pledge. A dearth in this area would negatively affect the entire Fraternity for years to come. All of us must work harder than ever to make each active chapter the strongest it can be, and we must encourage recruitment of non-traditional collegian women into our number. This will necessitate changes and flexibility in typical active chapter life. What is reasonable and appealing for an 18 year old woman, does not necessarily appeal to a 30 year old married woman with a part time job and a family.

■ The number of non-traditional, particularly older, students will increase on college campuses.

This tells us we have a new and different pool of potential Pi Phi pledges approaching, but our chapter and recruiting activities will have to be designed to be meaningful to the older student.

- Almost two in every three new workers will be female by 2000.
- By 2000, 61% of all women will have jobs.
- By 2000, women's share of the work force will be 47%

More and more Pi Phis will be working women. Many of these working Pi Phis will even be collegians. Whether we need someone to hold a national office or attend a meeting, we will have to adjust our scheduling, programming and time demands so these valuable members can be active and find Pi Phi worth their while. Here, in particular, making these members feel useful, needed and wanted and directly asking for their involvement for some particular function can make the difference. We must let these women know that we recognize and need the special skills and relationships they bring from their careers.

Perhaps, too, we can make it more obvious to each member that through Pi Beta Phi she can find something not available in any of her other circles - that special brand of friendship that stands on the middle ground between herself and the outside world - a rare commodity in our busy lives.

The Fraternity has already taken steps to develop the organization internally in response to the current and future demands and needs facing her members.

The ARROW has been redesigned to address broad issues of fraternity life and to communicate Pi Phi as a true profession of ideals and activities in keeping with our founding principles.

Links To Literacy has been created as our service philanthropy in direct response to members' needs and requests to doin their own community something useful and tangible in their service through Pi Beta Phi.

Jobs and duties of Pi Phi officers have been redesigned to cut down on the time commitment of officers, streamline reporting procedures and delegate authority.

Active chapters have been encouraged to embrace ethnic diversity by welcoming members of all backgrounds.

New awards have been created to encourage and highlight many different aspects of volunteer activity.

So, like "The Changing Years - 1888-1940," these are years of intense internal development for Pi Beta Phi. Out of necessity from internal and external changes, we are taking a good look at ourselves and at the world around us and asking, What is it all for? Where do we go from here?

Pi Phis before us must have asked these same questions when planning for and managing changes brought about by the Industrial Revolution, two World Wars, the women's movement, the sixties and the yuppies to name a few.

We must remember the constant that guides the planned changes of our fraternity's life is the same constant that has kept Pi Beta Phi alive in our hearts for well over a century.

This constant reveals itself symbolically in a least three places. Each of us has heard that to its members Pi Beta Phi means friendship. Also, recall "The Changing Years" is only a part of something bigger called A Century of Friendship in Pi Beta Phi. Finally, the results of Pi Beta Phi's own recent Alumnae Programming Survey indicate that when alumnae were asked, "What are the most important benefits of your Pi Beta Phi Alumna Membership?" Far and away the number one response was friendships.

Some things never change!

Pi Beta Phi does have a constant with which to guide our change as individuals and as an organization. It is this spirit that will lead us through the changes we encounter in the coming years. Then, in the year 2067, when we celebrate our second hundred years as an organization, we will again feature "The Changing Years" as part of our history and smile for their

Installation

Alabama Alpha Returns to Birmingham-Southern College

The history of Alabama Alpha goes back as far as 1927. It was in Pequot, Michigan at the extension session of the 1927 Convention, probably the only one in the history of the Fraternity to date at which no opposition to petitioning chapters or extension in general appeared from the floor of the convention. There was a plea for expansion in the South and the vote of the delegates granted a charter to Alabama Alpha. More than sixty years have passed since then, but the excitement of welcoming Alabama Alpha is as intense now as it was in 1927.

Pi Beta Phi's recolonization efforts began with participation in Birmingham- Southern College's formal rush in September of 1990. Approximately fifty members of Florida

Beta made the trip from Florida State to Birmingham to assist with the recolonization. The Florida Betas combined with the national rush team of Grand Vice President of Collegians Io Ann Minor Roderick, Grand Vice President of Membership Carolyn Payletich Lesh, Director of Collegiate Extension Kay Cromb Brada, Supervising Officer Dawn Sheeler Ford. and Resident Graduate Consultants Tracy Nevill and Salli Preston to conduct rush. All of the hard work paid off when Pi Phi pledged twenty-two outstanding women. Alabama Gamma collegians joined the national rush team and area alumnae to welcome the charter pledges.

Under the guidance of RGC Tracy Nevill and with assistance from an exceptional Alumnae Advisory Committee, the charter members had a fun-filled and memorable pledgeship. Committee members include: Kay Williams Wise, Melanie Merkle, Jill Verdeyen, Annette Mitchell Mills, Susan Nuckolls and Martha Ann Galloway Ware.

Panhellenic was extremely supportive of the new group on campus and provided Pi Phi Pals for the women. Each pledge received two Pi Phi Pals from other sororities. The Pals helped the charter members become accustomed to Greek life at BSC. The charter members received further encouragement and support from the Birmingham Alumnae Club. Each pledge was assigned a Slightly Older Sister (SOS) from the alumnae club. This was a special program in that it enabled the pledge to see how Pi Phi affected the lives of the alumnae and how it is much more than a four-year commitment. The pledges found out who their SOS was during a "Pledges on Parade" dinner hosted by the alumnae club.

The Alabama Alpha pledges were extremely active on campus. The women participated in intramural football and in a campus-wide philanthropic activity in which they took underprivileged children to the city zoo. But Alabama Alpha took the campus by storm when they won the annual Mr.

Charter members of Alabama Alpha gather before the installation banquet.

Hilltopper event sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi. Every chapter on campus performs a skit during Mr. Hilltopper. The Pi Phis skit used an adaptation of a favorite television serial, Beverly Hillbillies and won first place.

Official installation festivities began on Friday evening, the weekend of February 9-10, 1991. Collegiate Province President Peggy Malone Peery and Supervising Officer Dawn Ford performed the reading of the constitution. From there, the women went to the Preparatory Service conducted by Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg, Jo Ann Minor Roderick, Carolyn Pavletich Lesh, Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell and Kay Cromb Brada. The highlight of the night was the Cookie-Shine. A large blue sheet bordered in wine fabric held a seven-foot angel made of cookies, cupcakes and candy. Votive candles and smilax were also used to decorate the sheet. The pledges sat around the sheet and at each place setting there were notes and gifts.

Pledges took part in the return of the pledge pin ceremony by passing a golden arrowhead pillow, made by Annette Mitchell Mills, on which they placed their pins. Prior to the installation weekend, Alabama Alpha pledges voted on women who best exemplified the Seven Gifts of Pi Phi. A candlelighting ceremony was then performed at the Cookie-Shine to honor those pledges. Finally, the history of the Cookie Shine was read by Dawn Ford. The night was filled with fun and excitement as collegians from Alabama Beta, Alabama Gamma, South Carolina Beta, Georgia Alpha and Florida Beta joined in the celebration.

The initiation ceremony was held in the Pi Phi chapter room at Stockham Hall on the Birmingham-Southern campus. Many national officers assisted with the ceremony which was performed by Grand President Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg.

Held at the Vestavia Country Club, the installation banquet was a time of celebration. Local Installation Chairman and former Grand Council member Annette Mitchell Mills was the toastmistress for the evening.

The tables were covered with ivory table cloths and arrangements of crystal angels surrounded by smilax were used as centerpieces. Each angel held an ivory candle which was lit during the dinner. At the end of the evening, each new initiate was given an angel from the centerpiece as a memento of the event.

1927 charter members Virginia McMahon and Virginia Hicks Sutter returned to Birmingham-Southern College to be part of the reinstallation of Alabama Alpha.

A candlelighting ceremony, executed by Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, Grand Vice President of Philanthropies, reminded all in attendance of Pi Phi's founding and paid tribute to our twelve founders. The two candlelighters were former Alabama Alpha Chapter Presidents Melanie Merkle and Sabina Goetz. A Loving Cup ceremony was then conducted. Grand President Carolyn Lichtenberg represented the national Fraternity, Alumnae Club President Kay Stammer Kelly represented the alumnae and Chapter President Heather Clarke represented the active members. The chapter was also presented with some gifts at the banquet. They received a silver serving tray from Grand Council, two silver candlesticks from the Birmingham Alumnae Club and a Loving Cup from the women of Zeta collegiate province. The evening climaxed when the Alabama Alpha's original charter was presented to the chapter. In attendance at the banquet were two 1927 charter members, Virginia McMahon and Virginia Hicks Sutter, who joined Heather Clarke in receiving the charter.

Sunday, after the model chapter meeting, a reception tea was held in Stockham Hall's parlor. Well attended by parents, students and friends, the reception was in honor of the Alabama Alpha chapter.

Birmingham-Southern College is the result of a merger of Birmingham College and Southern University in 1918. The campus, located in the western section of Birmingham, consists of 188 beautiful wooded acres. Enrollment currently stands at more than 1800 students, with 70% of the campus being Greek. Known as the Hilltop, BSC has seven Panhellenic groups on campus: Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Pi Beta Phi.

Mary Ann Behlen Hruska, Treasurer

Managing the Funds: A Trustee Highlight

cameo look at Pi Beta Phi Foundation Treasurer Mary Ann Behlen Hruska reveals a woman who maintains a strong balance between her professional function as vice president of a family-owned corporation, her role as a wife and mother, and her strong commitment as a civic leader, particularly in the field of education.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska and a Nebraska Beta Pi Phi, Mary Ann currently resides in Walnut Creek, California. In addition to her service as the Foundation Treasurer, she also provides Pi Phi leadership as president of the California Beta House Corporation and is a past president of her alumnae club. Outside of her Pi Phi activities, Mary Ann is involved in several business education partnerships and serves in elected and appointed positions on numerous local, county and state educational boards and committees. In 1989, she was appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Education to serve a three-year term on the Fund for the Improvement and Reform of Education and Teaching, which is an advisory board to the Secretary.

Mary Ann's interests transcend education to include involvement in a number of cultural organizations. Pi Phi is indeed fortunate to have her commitment, her wisdom and her broad experience as a strong base is built for the Pi Beta Phi Foundation.

Leadership, Nashville Style

t Convention 1989 in San Diego, an effort was begun to address the basic needs of Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts. Meeting these needs is essential if our highly acclaimed arts and crafts school is to continue offering the quality education that has become its hallmark. Arrowmont has turned to individuals and alumnae clubs for assistance in meeting both endowment and building costs and the response has been heartwarming.

In keeping with the leadership role that it has played in the financial support of the Fraternity's major philanthropy, the Nashville Alumnae Club becomes the second alumnae club to obtain leadership status in the Pi Beta Phi Foundation's campaign for Arrowmont. The club's pledge of $100,000 is the largest thus far from any alumnae club. The multipurpose room in Arrowmont's proposed new dormitory will bear the Nashville Club's name in recognition of this generous gift.

The gift of the Nashville Club comes from the money raised in its annual four day "Christmas Village" held each November. Originating in 1961, the event is now staged at the Tennessee State Fairgrounds, where over 250 merchants and craftsmen come from all over the country to participate. A portion of the proceeds from the event benefit the Bill Wilkerson Hearing and Speech Center in Nashville; however, Arrowmont has also been the recipient of a significant amount each year. The 1990 gift from the Nashville Club was $30,600— the largest gift last year from any Pi Phi club or chapter. This annual honor has been the Nashville Alumnae Club's as long as records have been kept.

Over the years, the Nashville Club's donations have been used for a variety of programs and equipment for Arrowmont. Most recently, the expansion of the dining room in Staff House weas made possible by a previous gift from the club.

Leadership in giving! The Nashville Alumnae Club promises to continue in this role.

Following the example of the first two Leadership Clubs, St. Louis and Nashville, other alumnae clubs may participate as Foundation Leadership Clubs to benefit the campaign for Arrowmont. The Leadership Club program is designed to give special recognition to an alumnae club for its leadership gift support. Clubs may participate at one of four leadership levels: $100,000 and up; $75,000 to $100,000; $50,000 to $75,000; and, $30,000 to $50,000. Those interested in more information about becoming Leadership Clubs may contact their respective Alumna Province President or the Foundation office in Pi Beta Phi Central Office.

Foundation officers Carol Warren and Adrienne Mitchell pause during their conversation with Nashville Club President Christy Cason Robinson and former president Cassie Cunningham Edenton during Arrowmont's Pi Phi Arts Weekend. The Nashville Alumnae Club pledged $100,000 to the Pi Beta Phi Foundation.

ARROUMONT

by Cynthia Huff

Theresa Tyler Named Arrowmont Director of Development

Can the job listings in any major art periodical, and you'll notice that art organizations all over America are looking for employees to write grants and raise money. Arrowmont School is no exception. After a 12 month search, the School's Board of Governors has hired Theresa Tyler as Arrowmont's Director of Development and Public Relations. Theresa, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, is a member of Alpha Delta Pi. Primarily, it will be Theresa's job to locate sources of funding outside Pi Beta Phi which will go toward The Campaign For Arrowmont. a $2.3 million capital and endowment campaign which is being conducted by the Pi Beta Phi Foundation.

In her office overlooking Arrowmont's library terrace, Theresa was asked if the endowment could conceivably cover all of Arrowmont's expenses, Theresa said, "It could. If the campaign goal is met, then it will. The Foundation is raising endowment money which, if invested, will generate enough income. Once the endowment is raised, it goes on raising money forever."

Theresa used the planned Artist-In-Residence Program as an example of how an endowment works. "The endowment amount for Arrowmont's Artist-In-Residence Program is $500,000. If investment interest rates are 10%, then we would get $50,000 for materials, supplies, etc. Generally the interest rate changes with inflation. If inflation accelerates and the interest rate goes up, then the income generated by the investment goes up— if it is invested wisely."

With a 98% success rate in writing grant proposals, Theresa seems capable of handling the task she has been given. She is an experienced fund-raiser who has pulled more than one organization out of the red and into the black. Before moving to Gatlinburg in January, Theresa lived in South Bend, Indiana for many years and worked for several non-profit organizations including the YWCA and Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

It was while she was Foundation Director for St. Joseph's Hospital in Mishawaka, Indiana that Theresa saw Arrowmont's job opening in The Chronicle of Philanthropy. As a Knoxville, Tennessee native, Theresa saw the job as an ideal position for her skills and interests. In addition, it is an opportunity to be near her mother and her son and his family who live in Knoxville.

Theresa spent a great deal of time observing children's classes and the Spring Workshops and commented, "I wish there was some way to get all Pi Phis to come here. I think they are missing something by not seeing what they've done. I don't think Pi Phis, by and large, are aware of the magnitude of what they've done. If I'd been part of that, I'd feel very proud."

Theresa Tyler joined the Arrowmont School staff in January as Director of Development and Public Relations. Theresa is a Knoxville, Tennessee native who moved to Gatlinburg from South Bend, Indiana.

Arrowmont to Inaugurate Resident Artist Program

rrowmont School's faculty is composed of some of the craft world's brightest stars, many of whom were singled out early in their professional careers by winning artist-in-residence status at various art centers throughout the nation. Typically, an artist-in-residence is given a studio for several months or several years to work full-time on his or her art. Such residencies are highly sought after, particularly by beginning art professionals. The names of America's most influential residency programs are often heard during conversations and lectures at Arrowmont, and a list of distinguished "graduates" can lend a forward thinking host institution an element of prestige. It is not surprising, therefore, that Arrowmont will join the residency ranks this year by inaugurating its own artist-in-residence program.

Bill Griffith, who is coordinating the program, said recently, "Just the name Arrowmont has a prestigious ring to it, and my feeling is that a residency program can only add to that. Because Arrowmont's name has such a good reputation, it will attract quality people."

Concrete planning for the residency program began last year after Griffith, Arrowmont's Assistant Director, sent a survey to 240 current or former resident artists from 8 host institutions. Sixty-nine artists completed the survey, answering questions such as: What is the ideal length of a residency? How many resident artists make a good team? How many hours are you committed to work for the host institution? Does the host institution provide you employment? How many hours a week do you spend in your studio?

Subjective questions included: Describe the one thing you would change about your residency? Do you expect to stay in the surrounding area after completing your residency.

Using the surveys as a guide, Arrowmont's residency program has been structured to accommodate 3-5 artists who will work 10 hours a week for the school. The artists then pay The artist-in residence studio building will feature four studios. Construction is scheduled to be complete by late August 1991.

$175 a month for their studio and housing. The program seeks to provide artists access to valuable studio equipment and the time and space to develop a major body of work in Arrowmont's community environment of students and visiting faculty. At the end of the 9-11 month residencies, a group exhibition will feature selected work executed during the program.

Griffith says the ideal candidate is a self-directed artist who will want to be involved in the diverse programming that Arrowmont provides. "We don't want them to hide out in their studios." To be at Arrowmont, Griffith added, "you have to be a somewhat social person, and sometimes artists aren't the most social people. We want people who can work with that team spirit the way our staff members do. So the ideal candidate should be able to be a part of that team."

It is hoped the brand new residents' studio building will be completed by early August, so that the program can begin by mid-September. Because this will be the program's maiden year, Griffith says he will explain to Arrowmont's first artists-in-residence that there may be a lot of rules bent and a lot of rules created in the middle of the program. "It will be a learning year. It should be exciting."

A hill behind Arrowmont's metalsmithing studio has been chosen as the site of the resident artists studio building. Visible in this photograph is Arrowmont's main complex (left), Staff House (center, with window), and several Gatlinburg hotels in the distance.

Arrowcraft and Arrowmont Demonstrate at Biltmore Estate

pril 6 and 7 artists representing Arrowcraft and Arrowmont gave demonstrations in what must have been the most illustrious craft fair "booth" they've ever occupied. The outdoor room was made of Indiana limestone with a patterned brick floor and is but one small alcove in the Asheville, North Carolina castle commissioned in 1887 by George Vanderbilt, grandson of U.S. railroad industrialist and financier Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Now under the blanket name, Biltmore Estate, the Biltmore House took 5 years to build and opened on Christmas Eve 1895. Today visitors to the estate can tour a winery, wander the gardens, and see more than 50 rooms in the house from the downstairs rotisserie kitchen, pastry kitchen, and main kitchen to the upstairs banquet hall with a table capable of seating 64 diners. Film fans may recognize the house as Shirley McLaine's home in Peter Seller's popular movie, "Being There".

Arrowmont and Arrowcraft were on the property at the Estate's invitation to participate in Appalachian Crafts Weekend as part of the annual Festival of Flowers. Biltmore's connection with Appalachian crafts goes back to the early 1900s when George Vanderbilt's wife Edith was instrumental in forming a woodcarving club for girls and boys whose families lived on the estate. The club developed into Biltmore Industries, which enjoyed great success for many years and is credited with assisting young men and women in the Asheville area in learning valuable skills and trades.

Several Pi Phis stopped at the Arrowcraft booth throughout the weekend to buy weavings and to express their excitement at finding Arrowcraft on the premises. Peggy Whitted, Diane Lunsford, and former Arrowcraft Manager Mary Dale Swan demonstrated weaving, basketry, and woodcarving for Arrowcraft, while former Arrowmont students, Erich Richter and Cynthia Huff demonstrated metalsmithing and pastel drawing for the School.

Despite the crowds, the Biltmore staff was unfailingly friendly and helpful to our demonstrators. The weather was flawless, the flowers breathtaking, and the Biltmore apple honey nut ice cream was worth every minute spent waiting in line to buy it.

Arkansas Alpha Dede Dietrich Hutcheson from Fort Smith, Arkansas and Tennessee Gamma Tootie Ronzo Hagerty from Memphis, Tennessee were enrolled in workshops at Arrowmont March 25-29. The ladies took Shibori and Glass Fusing, respectively.

Four Turned Wood Artworks Added to Permanent Collection

Permanent Collection. All of the acquisitions are directly related to the national woodturning conference hosted by Arrowmont last October.

Robyn Horn, daughter of Arkansas Alpha Dede Dietrich Hutcheson, has given "Pierced Geode" to Arrowmont after it was exhibited at the school October 24-December 8, 1991, as part of the "Woodturning: Vision and Concept II" exhibition. Robyn is a respected turner and collector from Little Rock, Arkansas who has taken several classes at Arrowmont.

Michael Peterson's vessel, "White Stone Desert" was purchased while in the same exhibition. Michael is a professional turner from Edmonds, Washington, and will teach at Arrowmont this summer. Ron Kent of Kailua, Hawaii, gave his Norfolk Island Pine bowl entitled "Translucent Bowl II" to Arrowmont at the close of the popular exhibition.

"The Big Apple," a giant red apple made of laminated maple, was turned and assembled by members of the New York Woodturners Association.

Originally intended to be a part of the woodturned totem poles, "The Big Apple" was given to Arrowmont's Permanent Collection in January.

Arrowmont's Permanent Collection contains two and threedimensional artworks given by visiting faculty. Pieces are also acquired when the school purchases from competitive exhibitions it sponsors such as the upcoming, "Artists and the Kitchen:
New Forms, New Functions." Large scale works in the collection, such as stained glass windows, began as class projects by students learning to handle professional commissions. Finally, a few pieces in the collection were created by student assistants in lieu of their regular duties working for the school.

Barbara Factor Applaudes Arrowmont

or three-time Arrowmont student Barbara Factor the first in a long list of things she enjoys about Arrowmont is the people. You have the fun of sharing and interacting with people who have similar interests to yours. That happens very seldom in real life. Just coming to Arrowmont, you filter down to people who have a real concern for the arts and crafts. I think that's a special situation, and I truly appreciate and enjoy it."

This special situation might explain why a certain weaver once said he teaches at Arrowmont (in tiny Gatlinburg) to escape artistic isolation in Los Angeles! Barbara, who lives in Galesburg, Illinois, told a similar story. "When you work alone in your studio, it's really a very lonely existence. That's why I enjoy coming here. You get to meet other people, maybe you make some friends that you never would have had before. Plus, you get the experience of sharing."

In 1988, after her 20th year as a professional artist and teacher, Barbara enrolled in her first Arrowmont workshop, a fabric/surface design class. "I decided to live it up by coming to Arrowmont. At that time I applied for a scholarship and received it. It was a real help for me to have that aid, and I truly appreciated it." To this day, she says the 1988 Shibori workshop taught by Seattle's D'Arcie Beytebiere, is one of the best classes she's ever had. "I learned lots, and I still use those techniques in my own classes "

"While I'm here, I see that not only does Arrowmont help people like me, but I see how it filters down through the community. For example, this class I'm taking now, 'Silkscreening On Fabric,' has some local people in it. That's fun because I love learning more about Gatlinburg and the surrounding area....I think that these situations can enhance or change people's lives. It's just as vital to a person who's in college as to somebody who is older and maybe not had as much (art) experience. People have made a decision to come here, so they have interest, but when we get here, the experience is a shot in the arm for everyone. Maybe that's the most special thing about Arrowmont...the energy it generates."

Barbara has chosen Arrowmont over other schools partly because she gets so much for her money. "Every thing (in the fiber studio) is so efficient and so well planned." She insists she can't help but want to work long hours in such a well-equiped and spacious studio. "You can't just sit because you want to take advantage of every minute and of the equipment." This includes an enlarged darkroom and new equipment for making silk screens, which Barbara described as "absolutely wonderful."

"I pick Arrowmont over other schools because I have to think about where my money is going and how I'm using it...I can come here for a week, concentrate, work from 8 until midnight, and probably get as much out of it as in a whole semester at a university. "Plus," added Barbara, "it's nice to be able to look out the window and see the beautiful view of the mountains."

Barbara Factor of Galesburg, Illinois says the sharing that happens at Arrowmont is one reason she has taken three workshops since 1988. Here she prints yardage with help from two classmates.

Community Service

Colorado Alpha Andrea Kahn from the University of Colorado works as a volunteer at Safehouse, a Boulder, Colorado shelter for women and children who are victims of domestic violence. Andrea serves as a crisis line advocate, answering phone calls from women victims involved in a relationship where abuse is taking place.

Ohio Etas at Denison

University have been very active in helping out at the Battered Women's Shelter. For the Christmas holiday, the chapter donated a playpen filled with toys for the children. Each member participated by donating toys, and some spent a few hours at the shelter with the women and their children.

Indiana Eta's campus and community interest group has established many opportunities for its members to get involved in the community. The interest group has helped raise money for the chapter's local philanthropy, Big Brothers/Big Sisters. The chapter held a bake sale and organized a bowlathon at Indiana-Purdue University at Fort Wayne to generate funds for Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

Iowa Gammas from Iowa State University have been assisting the Meals on Wheels program in Ames, lowa deliver approximately seventy meals to the needy each day. The meals are prepared at Mary Greely Hospital in Ames, and various churches and volunteer groups, including Pi

Several Indiana Alphas were actively involved in supporting the U.S. troops serving in the Persian Gulf. After obtaining addresses through local newspapers, the Pi Phis from Franklin College began corresponding with soldiers. Written weekly, the letters were to let the troops know that the Indiana Alphas cared. Many Pi Phis received letters and pictures in return.

Texas Epsilons at the University of North Texas, who sent gifts and letters to the soldiers in the Persian Gulf, were recently invited to Fort Hood to be honored for their help in Operation Desert Storm.

Ohio Zeta Pi Phis and the men of Phi Delta Theta from Miami University hosted the second annual relay marathon to raise money for their philanthropies, Arrowmont, the Oxford Learning Center and Lou Gehrig's Disease.

Oklahoma Alphas sponsored a five kilometer run benefiting Children's Medical Research. The run was a joint effort of the Pi Phis and Pi Kappa Alphas from the University of Oklahoma.

Arkansas Betas Kim Haynie, DeAndra Tate and Shannon Owen from the University of Arkansas at Little Rock were part of the Easter Seals telethon in March.

Six Indiana Epsilons spent the month of January living in the Appalachian Mountains while volunteering for a work project. The women lived in the Appalachia Service Project Center and worked daily to build a house for an underprivileged single mother and her two small children. They were responsible for putting up dry wall, siding and generally making the house more livable. A Depauw University professor served as faculty advisor to the mostly Pi Phi work team which included Indiana Epsilons Madeleine Arnheim, Leigh Gannon, Mila Ott, Stephanie Schmidt, Tonja Sharbo and Carrie Sturrock.

Virginia Etas teamed up with members of Phi Delta Theta, Delta Gamma and Alpha Chi Omega for "Jail 'n Bail" to benefit the Leukemia Society. University of Richmond students paid ten dollars to have their friends and professors arrested by members of the campus police force. The convicts then had to raise a certain amount of money to be set free. Pi Phis helped raise nearly $900 for people suffering from leukemia.

Washington Gamma Terese Gaddis develops a new friendship at the dance for the elderly in Tacoma. The dance is scheduled to be a regular event for the University of Puget Sound Pi Phis.

California Lambda Loren Davis and Sunshine student Betheny make their way to the next game at the Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the University of California at Riverside Panhellenic.

Montana Alphas have been involved in a Peer Counseling Group that has been created to educate students in stress management, as well as drug and alcohol abuse. The program has been instituted in the residence halls, fraternity houses and sorority houses at Montana State University. Amy Bergsieker is a member of the Peer Counseling Group and gives seminars each week that deal with the education of personal limits of drug and alcohol abuse.

A group of Tennessee Gammas got together and distributed games and candy to children at the University of Tennessee Hospital. All items given were donated by chapter members.

Tanya Stiers, Indiana Gamma from Butler University, is active in a new program called Directional Sports. The program motivates children to learn by using sports as an incentive. Fifth grade children spend one hour with a tutor and one hour playing basketball each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. On Saturday mornings, the children play basketball games. The beginning score for each game is determined by the number of questions that the children answer correctly in dribbling drills prior to the game. During the game if a student makes a basket, he is asked a questions pertaining to something he learned during the week. If the answer is correct, the point counts.

Texas Epsilons of the University of North Texas are sponsoring a little league softball team of retarded children with the Sigma Alpha Epsilons. Each week they help coach and support the team during their games.

In recognition of Arbor Day, members of Ohio Alpha joined with the entire Greek community at Ohio University in planting more than 2,500 trees to beautify the Athens, Ohio community. The project, sponsored by the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils, was an all-Greek philanthropy in which more than 300 Greeks, including 45 Pi Phis, participated.

Throughout the school year, Ohio Deltas at Ohio Wesleyan University have been busy with community service projects. Pi Phis went trick-or-treating with members of Sigma Phi Epsilon and collected more than $200 for UNICEF. In December, members rang bells for the Salvation Army, and the chapter hosted a tea for local senior citizens. In February, Pi Phis provided the publicity for an area Red Cross blood drive.

Illinois Epsilon Pi Phis at Northwestern University conduct a regular collection of clothing and other goods to service the Evanston and Chicago communities. The chapter holds clothing drives a couple of times each semester. The Polish National Fund receives some supplies as does the Salvation Army.

Virginia Gammas at William and Mary are involved in nearly a dozen community service projects. A few of the more popular ones include volunteering at a local mental hospital, helping at the Avalon shelter for battered women, and tutoring reading and math to adults in the Williamsburg area.

New York Zetas initiated a new philanthropy in March. The chapter members sold breakfasts to students at Colgate University to be delivered by cheerful Pi Phis. Profits were given to the Hamilton Food Cupboard, which supplies food to the less fortunate in the Hamilton area.

Connecticut Alphas participated in a canned food sculpture competition during Greek Week at the University of Connecticut. The cans used to create the sculptures were donated to the Willimantic Soup Kitchen. Last year, Connecticut Alpha won first prize in a campus-wide can drive.

Easter brought children and fun into the home of the Pi Phis at Illinois State University. The Illinois Iotas held their annual Easter Egg Hunt and party for 20 alumnae and neighborhood children. Julie Berner organized the afternoon of stories, treats, Easter egg coloring and the Easter egg hunt.

Jenna Culbertson, Virginia Delta from Old Dominion University, has been the major initiator of a neighborhood watch program. The program is a type of crime prevention program for the neighborhood adjacent to the school.

Polly Hayes, New York Gamma and a participant in the Big Brother/Big Sister program at St. Lawrence University, plays with her little sister Rachel and friends Louise and Theresa.

Texas Alpha Holly Heath assists children at an Easter Egg Hunt held by the Pi Phis of the University of Texas for the area alumnae and their children.

Pennsylvania Etas and Kappa Delta Rho co- sponsored "Shipwrecked Weekend," a dance marathon at Lafayette College. Thirty-three couples braved the experience, pledging to dance for 24 hours. More than $9,000 was raised for two local charities: The Children's Home of Easton, Pennsylvania and The Spring Gardens School, a low cost day care facility also in the area.

At the University of California, San Diego the Pi Phis and Delta Sigma Phis are presenting the second annual Twister Tournament. One-thousand people are expected to attend the event. California Kappa is aiming to raise $5,000 compared to last year's earnings of $2,000. All proceeds are donated to Delta Sigma Phi's national philanthropy, the March of Dimes, and Pi Beta Phi's Arrowmont.

California Iota helps the community outside of California State University, Chico through a Nightwatch program on Halloween night. The project involves making sure neighborhood children are safe while trick-or-treating. The chapter also has an adopted grandmother at a local retirement home. The chapter members visit her regularly.

During Greek Week at San Diego State University, a number of California Epsilons went to a center for children in downtown San Diego. The center was started in order to prevent children in the area from getting involved in drugs and gangs. The center offers a number of counseling programs to children feeling the pressure of drugs and gangs in their lives. The Greek members that went to the center helped prepare the center for some landscaping and cleaned much of the inside.

Texas Gammas from Texas Tech invited children from the
accompany them on a spring picnic.

In December members of Idaho Alpha worked as giftwrappers to support the Hospice of the Palouse, a local organization which cares for homebound elderly people.

Alabama Gammas from Auburn University entertained residents of a local nursing home last semester. Chapter members hosted a game of bingo and provided baked goods and refreshments.

Connecticut Betas have been working for the past five months with the Port Sea Shelter, a 15 room facility providing mothers who have lost city funding with three to six weeks of temporary housing while they await approval of state welfare support. Philanthropy chairman Gwynne Keathly has worked closely with the shelter's directors to coordinate events and activities for the women. Events such as a Valentine's Day party, Easter egg hunt and a trip to Yale University's Peabody Natural Science Museum have all been sponsored by the Pi Phis.

New Jersey Alpha members brought holiday cheer to the residents of Merwick House, a nursing home near Princeton, in the form of two large Easter/Passover baskets.

Louisiana Betas (top) Andrea Adams, Amber Bollinger, Cristin Haake, Alison Gootee, Jolie Laflerur, (bottom) Edy Landreaneau, Shawn Carney, Amy Crawford and Deborah Erny are all members of Scotch Guard, a community service organization affiliated with the Army ROTC at Louisiana State University.

The alumna volunteer is the management consultant, the role model. She is the vivid illustration that fraternity involvement and opportunity continues after graduation and that the values and principles taught have a very real application in the everyday world. While working locally to advise and assist, our individual alumna volunteer works in association, that is, in linkage with others in regional, national and international arenas.

Newsweek touted, in an entire issue devoted to volunteers, that our nation's volunteers are "America's Unsung Heroes." And according to Wendy Kanimer, author of a book titled Women Volunteering, the "giving" of time all began more than 150 years ago when women first ventured out of their homes and into their communities by volunteering. Pi Phi's service to others began in I.C.'s first year when the Founders provided coal and rent money to a needy family, and the first volunteer service to I.C. was provided when the original members formed a committee to draft a constitution and nominate I.C. Officers. Stemming from that early concept of volunteerism to work for a strong and growing organization came the establishment of Chapter Alumnae Advisory Committees in 1913 and chapter facility volunteers as early as 1892.

Perhaps the responsibilities of the chapter advisor volunteer can best be summarized by the results of a survey by the American College Personnel Association. Undergraduate leaders of chapters ranked important advisor functions as: provide advice; teach techniques of good leadership and fellowship; provide continuity with the history and traditions of the group; help members develop self-discipline and responsibility; help the group observe rules; and supply the organization with information; expert knowledge; and insight gained through experience.

Hundreds of women manage millions of dollars worth of assets for our many Pi Phi chapters. Our House Corporation volunteers manage property to be used as a safe, comfortable meeting place to foster high ideals of friendship among our members, to promote educational and cultural interests, and to foster good qualities of character. House Corporation officer volunteers help build and maintain a positive reputation for the local chapter and for our Fraternity.

Since the inception of the first alumnae chapter in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1882, the alumnae club and faithful member volunteers have given their time freely for the betterment of Pi Phi collegians, alumnae, local community, Settlement School and the national Fraternity.

You, the "active" Pi Phi member/volunteer, are part of the fold which nurtures the thread of friendship and giving which began 124 years ago. The thousands of Pi Beta Phi women, often vastly different in lifestyle and interests, have a very common link, the giving of time and talent to an organization in which they believe. Without the volunteer, Pi Beta Phi, a non-profit institution, would cease to exist.

Today's Pi Phi volunteers are not simply giving of their time and talents to appease boredom. Our statistics show that most of our volunteers hold jobs and have active families. They come because they value what the group stands for and because they want to contribute to its success. Pi Phi alumnae volunteer their time because they understand the tremendous need and are rewarded for their participation. Working for the Fraternity as an alumna provides an opportunity to learn, to grow and to work with young women who look to them for guidance. The alumnae volunteer has the opportunity to associate with women of all ages and interests.

The enterprise of Pi Beta Phi is strong and stable. It is offering a quality product to an expanding and demanding market. Record dividends are being returned to the volunteers who invest their time and love. The managing, marketing, and publicizing of our product-friendship with all the what-so-evers- is a successful "public business" conducted through the voluntary sector. With the exception of the fifteen Central Office staff members, our organization is run by faithful volunteers from coast to coast.

Pi Beta Phi Fraternity SALUTES its volunteers in every capacity, from the chapter collegiate officer to the national elected officer, who work countless hours and give unselfishly of their time to oversee daily chapter and club operations, property management, marketing, membership recruitment, quality control, group management, research development and return on investment.

YOU, the Fraternity volunteer, are vital.

The 1989-91 Fraternity "Board of Directors," better known in Pi Phi circles as Grand Council, salutes you and THANKS YOU, the Pi Phi volunteer. Together we have our own "Fortune 500" organization- Pi Beta Phi Fraternity.

The Hinsdale-Naperville Alumnae Club kicked off Links to Literacy at their March meeting with an array of activities. A six member committee met monthly beginning in September to explore various literacy needs and avenues of involvement for the clubs's membership. The committee reported its findings by way of a skit, "Three Pi Phis Out to skit, "Three Pi Phis Out to Lunch." It also unveiled a Links to Literacy bulletin board, to be displayed at every meeting, and a plan to build a golden chain of literacy activities each month. The links of the literacy chain will contain the brief written updates of each member's literacy activities, big and small, from the previous month.

Each Hinsdale-Naperville Pi Phi is completing a survey to indicate which literacy activities are most amenable to her interests and time committment. The club's Links to Literacy Committee serves as a clearinghouse, matching individuals to specific activities in one of three categories: 1) Programs involving training and weekly time commitments, 2) Programs requiring no formal training, and 3) Activities providing literacy materials or funds to local groups. In addition, the committee is organizing one clubwide literacy activity per year, such as establishing a reading area at the local battered women's shelter.

The sweetest reminder of Pi Beta Phi's newest nationally sponsored service project was a Links to Literacy cake, shaped like an open book and trimmed in wine and blue frosting and symbols of the Fraternity.

The Northern Virginia Alumnae Club launched their "Links to Literacy" program at their annual January luncheon. The featured speaker was Jeannie Baliles, former First Lady of Virginia and founder and Chairman of the Virginia Literacy Foundation.

Northern Virginia took Mrs. Baliles suggestions and established an Ad Hoc Committee to oversee the Club's involvement in literacy programs. Activities include linking with the Greater Washington Reading Council where Pi Phi efforts will be directed toward collecting books and cassette tapes to be distributed to children in the homeless shelters of Northern Virginia. Members are then volunteering time for reading to these children.

Diana Long of the De Land Alumnae Club has linked her professional training with literacy tutoring. While completing her Master of Arts in Teaching English, Diana has chosen, for her internship, to tutor a local woman in her thirties who was unable to complete school and, until now, could not read.

After receiving formal training in the Laubach method, Diana has helped her student through basic levels, while reading materials of interest to adults. Diana has also found for herself she is truly committed to becoming a teacher.

The Windy City Alumnae Club's contribution to the Chicago Literacy Council's Silent Book Auction this past March helped to make this year's event the most successful in its history. Over 320 people attended the auction, raising an all-time high of $50,000 for the Council. The top money-making items included: Little Women sent by Katherine Hepburn, sold for $500.00; In the Arena, autographed by Richard Nixon, sold for $750.00; Remembrance Rock, autographed by Carl Sandburg, sold for $800.00; and finally, an authentic foot-

Many Pi Phis at William and Mary participate in the Rita Walsh Adult Skills Program. Started in 1984, this center uses student volunteers to tutor many local adults. ball jersey autographed by the spokesperson for the event, Chicago Bears Trace Armstrong, sold for $500.00.

The Windy City Club made a strong showing of 20 women with the majority being volunteer workers. Their efforts throughout the evening were irreplaceable in helping to monitor the silent auction, sort the books alphabetically, and to collect payments from the winners.

The Literacy Council was very complimentary of all the volunteers, especially in regard to the reliability of the Pi Phi women.

The California Eta Chapter became involved in a volunteer program designed to promote literacy in school-age children called "Prime Time Friday Night." This program is held every Friday night from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. at local elementary schools. "Prime Time" includes such activities as reading games, silent time for reading, and assistance on what to do for those who cannot read. The program was designed to get more children to read rather than watch T.V. on Friday nights. The chapter assists in this program every week and helps run the literary program. Pi Beta Phi was also recognized in a local newspaper for volunteering time to this unique program.

The Arkansas Alpha Chapter has collaborated with the Literacy Council of Northwest Arkansas to promote literacy in the area. Approximately forty Pi Beta Phi members have joined the organization which consists primarily of local teachers and education students. The council is currently working with local corporations to create libraries in their factories for employees. The Pi Beta Phis volunteered to hold a book drive, within the house, to collect books to be used in these libraries. VP Moral Carey Doss spoke at the annual winter meeting of the council to present the program. Three hundred and fifty books have been collected by the chapter thus far.

The chapter has also been working with the Ozark Literacy Council which certifies citizens to teach illiterate people to read. The certification process involves a sixteen hour workshop. The chapter has agreed to participate as soon as a convenient time can be arranged. A special workshop for Arkansas Alpha members will be conducted.

Collegiate News

Three Oregon Gammas were active in Willamette University cheerleading this past year. Sophomores Amy Ellsperman, Carla Poindexter and Winona Zeffiro encouraged Willamette athletes in a variety of sports.

New York Zeta is proud to have five Gate Keepers, or Colgate tour guides. Lenore Henault, Beth Mazzei, Lisa Thompson, Lauren Shanahan and Lisa Natkin volunteer one hour a week to lead prospective students around the campus and give them a flavor of Colgate student life.

Michigan Alpha Jennifer Wallman was recently recognized by the faculty of Hillsdale College and Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honorary as the recipient of one of two Outstanding Sophomore Awards presented at the annual Hillsdale College Honors Assembly.

In February Ohio Wesleyan University sponsored their fifth annual Ebony and Ivory Weekend. This is a time to promote diversity and unity among students, especially Greeks, of differing racial backgrounds. Ohio Deltas participated in many of the events, which included a dinner reception, banner competition, talent show, and a service project.

Washington Beta Amy Raekes was chosen Outstanding Greek Woman on Campus for Washington State University.

Louisiana Betas teamed up with Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity for Louisiana State University's annual Songfest competition and went away with the Sweepstakes trophy. Pi Phis Pam Henkel, Rachel Saaks and Mary Bearden perform "Elvira."

Tennessee Delta Emily Harris is a member of Memphis State's champion Pom Pon squad for 1991.

Michigan Betas had an educational talk on AIDS at the University of Michigan chapter house. It was an informative meeting with an AIDS victim and professional AIDS counselors on hand to answer questions.

Ohio Alpha Marcie Keifer was named to the first team All-American during NCAA swimming championships in March. Marcie, a sophomore at Ohio University, finished 12th in the 200 meter relay, helping her team place 16th overall.

Jennifer Butler, Illinois Theta, received an award for highest ranking Greek in the Bradley University College of Engineering. The Illinois Theta Chapter placed second on campus for GPA.

Indiana Gamma Jodi Carlton has been on the sports medicine staff at Butler University for two years. In those two years Jodi has put in more than 1000 hours in athletic training. Her responsibilities include prevention of injuries through bracing and taping, nutrition education, weather monitoring to determine if heat and humidity levels make practice dangerous, and attending all practices and games. She has worked with cross country, tennis, volleyball, softball, baseball, track and field, and football teams at Butler.

Indiana Gamma has three new initiates who participate in Butler varsity sports. Shelly Hilary is a member of the swim team and swims the 100 and 200 backstroke, the 500 freestyle and the mile. Susan VanWilligan is the starting centerfielder for the Bulldog softball team. Jama Schitter plays number four singles and is number one doubles player for the Butler tennis team.

Three Montana Alphas were selected as Orientation Leaders for the 1991 summer term. Lee Anna Irvine, Jennifer Helvick and Kim Lewis will be assisting incoming freshmen with class registration, campus tours and general questions about campus life at Montana State University.

Tennessee Gamma celebrated Founders' Day at Arrowmont. This year the ceremony was extra special because each active was given the name and address of a Tennessee Gamma alumna to write and ask for any special Pi Phi memories, comments on being an alumna, or chapter history they wished to share with the chapter. The University of Tennessee alumnae responses were shared with all present for the event.

California Delta Lisa Morgan is Miss Illinois-USA. She participated in the Miss USA 1991 pageant and placed sixth overall.

Montana Alpha Chapter placed first in grades among the five sororities at Montana State University. Montana Alpha also has the distinction of being the only sorority to consistently improve their grades for five quarters in a row.

Coleen McFelea of Kentucky Alpha was recipient of the award for the sophomore with the highest cumulative GPA at the University of Louisville.

The Nebraska Beta Chapter was awarded the Madeline Girard Philanthropy Award for the 1990-91 scholastic year at the University of Nebraska. The award was established by the Panhellenic Association to designate a chapter which has contributed to the campus and community in creative and positive ways through the chapter's philanthropy program.

Tennessee Gamma Laura
Painter is one of three University of Tennessee students on the Student Publications Board. Her duties include helping to choose an editor for the school newspaper and overseeing other student publications.

Two of Virginia Eta's seniors have been named recipients of campuswide honors at the University of Richmond. Amy Eisenhaur was elected female Greek contributor of the year and Elizabeth Earle was named female contributor of the year.

Oklahoma Beta Monica West is a member of the Oklahoma State Varsity Cheerleading Squad. The squad competed at the National Collegiate Cheerleading Championships and won first place.

Oklahoma Betas Amy Wilsey and Jami Zirkle were both honored as two of the Top Ten students in the Arts and Sciences College at Oklahoma State University.

Arizona Betas at Arizona State University are sponsoring a local Little League team. The sponsorship not only involves financial support, but moral support as well.

Mississippi Beta Virginia
Peppiatt arranged for the chapter at the University of Mississippi to participate in an etiquette class. A representative from the Graces Course came to speak to the chapter on proper etiquette. She discussed topics such as formal events, evening wear, proper introductions, correspondence and table manners.

In April, Indiana Epsilon, in conjunction with the DePauw University chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, held a date rape seminar. The seminar was to promote awareness of the issue and help with the prevention of date rape on the DePauw campus.

Jada Kohlmeier, Kansas Beta Chapter President, was chosen by the Panhellenic Council to serve on an alcohol policy task force committee. The committee consists of seven members from different sororities on the Kansas State University campus. The group has researched many different policies and will be proposing an alcohol policy to be used by the entire Greek system.

Oklahoma Alpha hosted two Japanese exchange students this spring who were at Oklahoma University finalizing an intensive eight year English program. Aside from attending English classes at O.U., the two women studied American history, art and culture. The women stayed at the Pi Phi house for three weeks.

In early February, Missouri Gammas Jill Bright and Annee Peters were honored as attendants of the 1991 Homecoming Court at Drury College. Both women were elected by the Drury College student body.

Indiana Alphas at Franklin College were the hostesses of Indiana State Day. Pi Phis from Indiana gathered in Franklin to share news and ideas as they celebrated Founders' Day. The day's featured speaker addressed the growing problem of illiteracy.

Shannon Jones of Indiana Eta attended the Indiana Forensics Championships representing Indiana-Purdue University at Fort Wayne. She received third place in Rhetorical Criticism and fifth place in the Informative category. Shannon is now qualified to compete at the National Forensics Championships to be held in Huntington, West Virginia.

Washington Gamma Kristin Andonian, from the University of Puget Sound, traveled to DePauw University to attend the seventeenth annual DePauw National Undergraduate Honors Conference.
This conference is one of the most respected communications conferences in the United States.

Seven Wisconsin Alphas were chosen as Rho Chis or rush counselors for the 1991 Rush at the University of Wisconsin. Those selected are Kendra Heenan, Melissa Tifford, Melanie Schneider, Michelle Labow, Amy Pesch, Heidi Snyder and Lori Skedelsky.

At the beginning of the spring semester, four Illinois Etas were elected to Millikin University'sPanhellenic Council. Jenny Master was elected the council's president; Katie Durham secretary; Carrie Umlaf, public relations chairman; and Jennifer Stocks, social chairman.

Seven members of Illinois Eta were selected to serve as counselors for the Millikin University freshmen camp. The Millicamp counselors selected were Sue Hope, Lynn Hewing, Jenny Masters, Trisha Darrah, Shalise Golden, Shelly Peters and Angie Snellenberger. The seven women will be a part of the 50 member group which will help incoming students prepare for college at a two-day camp.

Pi Phi Collegian Travels to White House for Interfraternity Briefing

Maryland Beta Donna Goffredo attended a White House briefing on April 5, 1991, highlighting the interfraternity effort toward philanthropy, underage drinking control and drug abuse elimination. Organized by the Fraternity Executives Association, groups represented at the briefing were undergraduate students from international/national college fraternities and sororities. Speakers included Governor Bob Marinez, Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy; C. Greg Petersmeyer, Deputy Assistant to the President and Director of the Office of national Service: Dr. Antonia C. Novello, U.S. Surgeon General; and Charles E. Kolb, Deputy Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy. In his speech, "Drug Czar" Martinez challenged the audience to help fight against drug abuse. "Drug prevention is work that never ends. The nation's youth are constantly being replenished from below. And they are statistically the age group most at risk of drug use. Most of all, please help us help them." Dr. Novello has dedicated her term of service to combating underage drinking in schools. Her efforts with beer distributors to limit access to alcohol during traditional Spring Break met with great success.

and Interfraternity Councils have resurrected their Greek yearbook. Formerly named The Legacy, the new book will contain original theme ideas and cover design. Colorado Alpha Kristin Yantis has been named assistant editor of the new publication.

Missouri Beta Kimberly Link of Washington University received a Fulbright scholarship to teach English conversation to high school children in France for the 1991-92 academic year. The program is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and those of other countries.

The Michigan Gamma Chapter was recently honored for outstanding scholarship at Michigan State University. Of the eighteen sororities on campus, Pi Phi received the highest GPA for the fall term. The chapter carried a 3.12 average.

Recent student government elections at Washington and Jefferson College placed Pennsylvania Zeta Julie Grebenz in the position of vice president. Julie will run the general assembly meetings which are held biweekly and is in charge of a subcommittee.

This spring Alabama Gammas held Health Awareness Day in order to promote the health and well-being of its members. Booths were set up in the chapter room at Auburn and the members were able to browse and ask questions on health and beauty tips. Skin and fitness were the main subjects of questions.

Three members of Alabama Gamma, Wendy Francis, Holly Kendrick and Mandy Payne were recently selected for Angel Flight. This group works with the college Air Force program providing service to the Auburn campus and community.

Debbie McFarlane, Idaho Alpha, carries the ball for a touchdown. Last fall Idaho Alpha won the intramural football championships at the University of Idaho

Connecticut Beta Samantha Lincoln is an outstanding track athlete at Yale University. Not only did she routinely place through the season in meets, she currently holds three Yale women's records for her 1990 performances in both indoor and outdoor triple jump and indoor long jump.

Washington Alpha held its first "Recognition Dinner" at the end of April. The purpose of the dinner is to recognize those individuals who have invested considerable time and energy in volunteer work, campus activities, jobs, in-house activities and sports, as well as those who have won scholarships or awards at the University of Washington.

Sixteen members of Washington
Beta made the President's Honor Roll for the fall 1990 semester at Washington State University:
Wendy Smith, Tamara Dissmore,
Karen Green, Jennifer Gallucci,
Coleen Altig, Natalie Channing,
Nancy Clark, Amy Raekes, Debbie
Booth, Julie Trull, Jennifer Holeman,
Carol Kutch, Wendy Campbell,
Shannon Jenney, Nicole Adkins, Trina
Hess.

Texas Epsilon placed third in grades at the University of North Texas.

Iowa Zetas Vicky Smith, Allison Faber and Gina Harms are members of the University of Iowa Pom Pon squad. The three Pi Phis had the honor of attending the Rose Bowl to cheer for their team. In February, the Florida Delta Chapter held their Parents' Weekend. Linda Calderon (center) enjoyed having her father, Henry Calderon and mother, Maria Calderon visit her at the University of Florida.

Idaho Alphas Georganne Stone and Cori Stanaway were elected to the University of Idaho's Panhellenic Council. Their installation was held March 12 and their term of office is one year. Georganne is the new Panhellenic Vice President, while Cori will serve as the IFC Representative and Greek Week Chairman.

Missouri Alpha is pleased to to have the highest number of Panhellenic Council members at the University of Missouri this year. Jenny Guinan is the liaison between the Residence Hall Association and Panhellenic. Michelle LaForge is the co-coordinator of G.E.A.R.S. (Greek Early Advisement Referral System). Michele Yansen is the Panhellenic Rush Chairman.

Michelle Tarantino, California Iota, currently holds the office of vice president of programming for Chico State's Panhellenic Council. She organized an alcohol and drug awareness week on campus.

California Iota Chapter had the highest GPA of the seven Panhellenic groups on the Chico State campus.

Three Iowa Etas help boost spirits at Drake University sporting events. Dana Imlay and Jennifer Miner are members of the cheerleading squad, while Michele Gierut has been a member of the Pom Pon squad for three years.

Sharon Mattingly and Kim Smith, both Ohio Iotas, are members of the University of Dayton cheerleading squad. Kim, a senior, was recently named captain of the squad.

New Mexico Betas were awarded a certificate for outstanding participation in Panhellenic meetings at New Mexico State University.

Alumnae News

The Oak Park-RiverForest, Illinois Alumnae Club had a special meeting in November . Members gathered at president Nancy Koller's home, and after the business of the meeting, all joined in a Cookie Shine. The younger members in the club arranged the event. It was a nostalgic night as members told what their chapter Cookie Shines were like. While eating the goodies, members played a Pi Phi version of Win, Lose or Draw created by Tina Russo.

A variety of programs, projects and activities made the 1990-91 year special for the May L. Keller (Richmond, Virginia) Alumnae Club. A favorite by the club's own versatile game show hostess, Mary Petticrew Onken, was held in November. Mary led the club in a quest for knowledge about Pi Phi philanthropies. University of Richmond students joined the club in a fun and informative evening. The club provides many board members for the Elizabeth Kates Foundation. This is the club's local philanthropy which it has supported for many years. Elizabeth Kates, a Pi Phi, was the first superintendent of the Virginia Woman's Prison. Her endowment fund is the basis of the foundation which provides special projects, gifts and help to the women in the prison.

Southern Fairfield County Alumnae Club invited landscape architect John Voit to one of their spring meetings. Mr. Voit illustrated how to transform mundane, overgrown or otherwise difficult home sites into attractive settings. The club also participated in the annual Fairfield County Panhellenic Association's fashion event at Saks Fifth Avenue in the Stamford Town Center.

Fourteen years ago, in an effort to promote Arrowmont and Arrowcraft sales, the Kansas City, Missouri-Shawnee Mission, Kansas Alumnae Club began a program whereby its members gave scholarships to the Arrowmont summer session. Initially the club presented a scholarship every other year, but the program has grown so that two $500 scholarships are now presented each year. The club's annual auction and Theater Tour generate more than enough income to support this project. The Arrowmont scholarship committee reviews the scholarship applications and selects the winners each spring. Most of the applicants apply from the art departments of the school districts in the greater Kansas City area.

Lafayette, Indiana Alumnae Club helped organize and participate in the first Alumnae Panhellenic Boutique last October. Pi Phi alumnae had long sought a new outlet for the sale of Arrowcraft items and were delighted for the opportunity to share with ten other Panhellenic groups a room at the local YWCA. In addition, the club had a Reading is Fundamental literacy program at the club's joint March meeting with Alpha Omicron Several Pi Phis attended the University of Mississippi's "Convocation 1991." Topics discussed at the conference included ethics, risk reduction and rush. Those representing Pi Phi were Mississippi Betas Terri Nadlicki and Suzanne Malone, Jackson Alumnae Club President Jan Mauldin, Xi Collegiate Province President Jean Gilbert Dampier, AAC Chairman Kerry Slay and House Corporation representative Beth Williston Webb.

Pi alumnae. Shared meetings in March is one of Lafayette Alumnae Panhellenic's yearly projects.

The Knoxville, Tennessee Alumnae Club enjoyed an array of good food and conversation at the Senior Pot Luck Dinner in February. Janice Dorsey Hixson graciously provided her home for the annual event. At the dinner, Tennessee Gamma seniors have the chance to get to know the alumnae better and see what the alumnae club is all about.

The Luncheon Group and Career Club of the Birmingham Alabama Alumnae Club focused their energies this year on rush and the re-installation weekend for Alabama Alpha at Diane Miller, Colorado Alpha, and Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, Grand Vice President of Philanthropies and Kansas Alpha, with guide Mohammed in Timbouctou. Adrienne was on a Stanford Alumni Association Tour titled "African Kingdom College" when she met Diane, a flight attendant on their chartered flight.

Birmingham-Southern College. Two joint meetings were held: the first was a dinner at the Birmingham Botanical Gardens to honor the new pledges and the second was a luncheon at The Club in honor of Founders' Day with Sarah Ruth Mullis, Director of Alumnae Advisory Committees, as guest speaker. On April 12, a preview party was held at the home of Derry Brice Bunting to meet the decorator, view architectural plans, samples of paint, wall-paper etc. for the new Alabama Alpha Townhouse. Betty Ray Price Hughes, who was in charge of the fund-raising for Pi Phi's part of the Townhouse Campaign, and Ann Douglas Henagan, House Corporation member in charge of decorating, planned the party.

In March, the San Francisco Pi Phis had an evening at the ballet. The evening began with a talk given by the music director and conductor who described the music and dance the women would be experiencing during the performance. All in attendance then went to dinner at a local Caribbean restaurant before the premiere performance of Dark Elegies at the Opera House.

Linda Sanders, Susan Lenihan and Stacy Burns attended The Manhattan Alumnae Club dessert on February 10. The guest speaker, Ford Model Diane DeWitt, spoke of her experiences as a Pi Phi and the progression of her career. Virginia Sewell Norville and Anna Jane Stranquist Chain were recently honored as the Oklahoma City Alumnae Club's newest Golden Arrows. Many former Golden Arrows attended the luncheon, which included reminiscences of college days past. Interesting stories were told and many younger generation Pi Phis were able to learn from the Golden Arrows' experiences.

Michigan Beta alumna Hilary S. Kayle is publishing her second novel, Players this summer. The book will start appearing in stores as early as midJune. The plot revolves around an Indianapolis anchorwoman who moves to New York and works on the production staff of a morning network television news show in the hopes of becoming an on-air star. Ms. Kayle worked at NBC's TODAY program for ten years and decided to write a novel inspired by her experiences there. Not surprising, there are some scenes in the book that take place at the University of Michigan, where the author actually set up part of a special two-hour TODAY program in the fall of 1985 featuring the U of M and Brown University. Ms. Kayle currently lives in Manhattan and works for Person Inc., a British holding coy.

The Texas Alpha Pi Phi house was the meeting place for the Pi Beta Phi/Kappa Kappa Gamma/ Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae joint coffee. Alumnae club presidents from the three groups in Austin are Margaret Hawn, Kappa Alpha Theta, Debbie Mincher, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Jan Tomforde McNabb, Pi Beta Phi.

The Richardson-Plano
Alumnae Club spent an evening at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children helping decorate for Christmas last December. Husbands, children and friends joined the members in the rewarding experience. Other projects the club had were providing a meal for a women's shelter, making cookie boxes for the Literacy Council and collecting canned goods.

Eleanor Hall Benson, Colorado Alpha and member of the Denver Area Alumnae Club, was named Woman of the Year by the Denver Area Panhellenic Association. Selection was made on the basis of involvement in Panhellenic, community, and sorority, as well as professional and career activity.

Texas State Treasurer is a Pi Phi

On November 6, 1990 history was made in Texas with the election of Kay Bailey Hutchinson, Texas Alpha, as State Treasurer. She is the first Republican woman ever elected to a statewide office. Mrs. Hutchinson took the oath of office on January 2, 1991.

Her career has been marked by a series of firsts. In 1972, she was the first Republican woman elected to the Texas House of Representatives. While in the House, she received outstanding legislator awards from the Association of Professional Educators, the Texas Good Roads Association, the State Bar Association and the Texas District Attorneys Association. Mrs. Hutchinson represented the Houston area in the Texas House from 1972 until 1976.

In 1976, Mrs. Hutchinson was appointed by President Gerald Ford as vice chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. During her two-year stint on the board, she also served as acting chairman.

Mrs. Hutchinson currently is a member of the prestigious Anthony Commission on Public Finance, a national public policy group organized by U.S. Representative Beryl Anthony Jr. of Arkansas. Her governmental experience also includes membership on the Governor's Commission for Women, the Governor's Commission Against Crime, and the State Treasurer's Asset Management Advisory Committee. Before running for elective office, she worked as a political and legal correspondent for NBC-TV affiliate KPRC of Houston.

She moved to Dallas in 1978 and became senior vice president and general counsel of RepublicBank Corp. She later co-founded Fidelity National Bank of Dallas and owned McCraw Candies, Inc., a manufacturing company with national distribution. She sold McCraw candies in 1988.

Mrs. Hutchinson has been director of the State Fair of Texas, the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association; the Dallas Women's Foundation Advisory Board, the Boys Club of Dallas and its national board; and the YWCA. She is a former director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, a former chairman of the North Dallas Chamber of Commerce, past president of the Executive Women of Dallas, Chapter 100 of Dallas, and the Dallas Forum. She serves on the National Board of International Women's Forum.

This year, USA Weekend listed Mrs. Hutchinson as one of the 20 rising American political stars of the 1990s. In 1987, she was the recipient of the Women's Center "Women Helping Women" award; the 1977 Glamour Magazine, "Ten Outstanding Working Women in America" award, and in 1988 named one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Women in America."

Sixteen California Gammas from U.S.C. celebrated at a "Twenty Plus Year Reunion" held at the Sea Lodge in La Jolla, California. Members of the 1966, 67, and 68 pledge classes who renewed friendships at the weekend gathering included: (back) Karen Russell Lindsey, Ann McKinley Woods, Terri Jamieson Hoops, Trish Lee Scarborough, Linda Stockmar Pierson, (middle) Suzanne Knolle Wilcox, Joan Heid Boul, Peggy Coker Best, Charie Prickett Laugharn, Leslie Barnett Cies, Nancy Jordan Chenoweth, (front) Sue Adamson Anderson, Nora Stevens Kanoy, Susan Arico Hawley, Christy Thomas Rokow and Diana Wilde Treese.

Grand Council Makes Trip to Monmouth

Although the day was rainy, spirits were not dampened and some members of Grand Council commented that it was one of the most memorable "Pi Phi days" they have ever had. All were thrilled to make this historic pilgrimage to Pi Beta Phi's founding home together.

The Grand Council of Pi Beta Phi traveled to Monmouth to tour the College campus and Holt House, the founding home of the Fraternity, on Friday, March 1.

Upon arrival at Monmouth, Grand Council enjoyed brunch at the home of Alumnae Province President Elizabeth Davis Vance who was instrumental in planning the day's activities.

The next stop of the day was at Holt House where a formal tour was led by Holt House hostess Marg Cooper. Individual members of Grand Council were delighted to sit in the rocking chair where all founders had sat. Each had her photograph taken in the rocker.

Grand Council then visited the Illinois Alpha chapter room at Marshall Hall on the Monmouth campus. All members enjoyed a few words of welcome and current information about Monmouth College from Mr. Gerald McBride, Vice President of Alumni Affairs and Mr. Drew Boster, Director of Alumni. In addition, Grand Council was personally welcomed to the college by Monmouth President Dr. Bruce Haywood in his office. Dr. Haywood's wife is a Pi Phi.

Other sites visited included the Pi Beta Phi Lounge in Monmouth College's Hewes Library and the Stuart House. The Stuart House is the founding home of Kappa Kappa Gamma women's Fraternity. The house was recently purchased by Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae. Grand Council was welcomed there by hostess Barbara Frazier.

Perhaps the most touching part of the day, was when Grand Council visited the grave sites of five of Pi Beta Phi's founders buried in Monmouth. Elizabeth Vance wrote a tribute to each of the five founders and a memorial serivce was conducted at each grave.

Tea hour was held at Holt House in the late afternoon. Pi Phi alumnae attending the tea came from Avon, Bushnell, Macomb and Galesburg, Illinois as well as Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. Collegians attended from Knox College, Drake University, Iowa Wesleyan College and Monmouth College.

On Valentine's Day, Suburban Chicago's Milton Township Alumnae Club donated paper goods to a local battered women's shelter.

Bertha Couglan Shelhorn, Indiana Gamma, was honored with a Cookie Shine by the Kokomo, Indiana Alumnae Club. She is celebrating her 75th year as a loyal, active and inspirational member of Pi Beta Phi. A signature Cookie Shine cloth was signed by all members of the club to remember Mrs. Shelhorn.

Indianola, Iowa Alumnae Club had its first Cookie Shine at the Iowa Beta chapter house. Guests were members of the junior class of Iowa Beta. Sheets were placed on a table, in lieu of the floor, and individuals signed their names on the cloth. Each alumna told how Cookie Shines were when she was in school.

Early American crafts, using the home-grown materials of the pioneers for decorations and toys, was the theme of the March St. Paul Alumnae Club meeting. Ginger Tyrell Hammel, expert wheat-weaver, led the club in making cornhusk angels for Founders' Day decorations. Ginger and her family began in April to prepare for the popular fall Renaissance Fair, turning the products of agriculture into creative art.

Marjorie Uhalde M.D., a Nevada Alpha alumna, was recently elected the first woman President of the Nevada Academy of Family Physicians, During her one-year term in office, she will serve as delegate to the American Academy of Family Physicians. This group meets annually in the fall to determine policies for physicians. These policies include Medicare, indigent care and women's health care. Marjorie is a family physician in the Reno, Nevada area and has had a private practice for eight years. She serves on the Board of Directors for the Reno YMCA, is the Chairman of the Board for the Adolescent Care and Treatment Center, a non-profit organization in the Reno area, and is an active member of the Reno Alumnae Club.

Three Selected as Graduate Fellowship Winners

Pamela Alberts graduated in 1989 from the University of California, Davis with a degree in American studies with a biology emphasis. She is currently working toward an M.D. degree at Pennsylvania State College of Medicine. Having completed two years of medical school, Pam will now spend her summers working on rotations in different areas of medicine.

Previous VP Moral for the California Theta Chapter, Pam established several new programs for the chapter. She was the Amy Burnham Onken recipient for Omega collegiate province. Pam not only excelled in academics and fraternity service as an undergraduate, but also in community service and philanthropic work.

A Magna Cum Laude graduate of West Virginia University, Beth Choby received a Bachelor of Arts degree with an emphasis on biology. She will be attending medical school at West Virginia University in pursuit of an M.D. degree. Pediatric reconstructive surgery is Beth's planned area of specialization.

Beth was Vice President of Mental Advancement for West Virginia Alpha as well as philanthropy and scholarship chairman. Very involved in campus activities, Beth served as Secretary of the WVU Student Foundation Board of Managers and Mortar Board President. She was also a member of Golden Key honorary, Alpha Epsilon Delta pre-medical honorary. A WVU Presidential Scholar, Beth was selected as one of five women on the West Virginia Homecoming Court.

Ohio Alpha Nealie Pidcock will be studying for her master's degree in health services administration at Ohio University in the fall. A two-time Harriet Rutherford Johnstone scholarship winner, Nealie continued to serve the Fraternity upon her graduation in 1990. Nealie recently completed her employment with the Fraternity as a Resident Graduate Consultant for Pi Beta Phi's chapter at Villanova University.

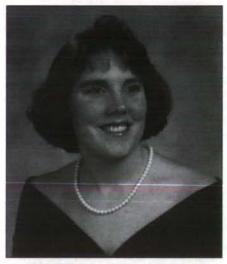

A strong undergraduate leader at Ohio University, Nealie continued to serve the campus, Panhellenic and Greek community while at Villanova. While an undergraduate Nealie was Vice President of Moral Advancement and Chapter President for Ohio Alpha.

In February, the Eastern Maine Alumnae Club held their "Guest Night" with a dinner party at a restaurant in Orono. Following dinner, the group attended the performance of the Andreyan Babalaika Orchestra at the Performing Arts Center on the campus of the University of Maine.

The Palm Springs/Desert Cities Alumnae Club brought clothes and other items to their December meeting. The items were donated to the Angel View Children's Center's thrift mart. Three members of the club are officers in the area Panhellenic Association and Jean Caryer Lovejoy is being trained to tutor individuals.

In the fall of 1990, twenty-two alumnae of Iowa Zeta, University of Iowa gathered at Lake Okoboji in Northern Iowa for a reunion. Ten members were celebrating 52 years of membership in Pi Beta Phi.

INTRODUCING

The Pi Beta Phi 25 Year Recognition Pin

To recognize those who have been Pi Phi members for twenty-five years, Pi Beta Phi introduces the Silver Arrow Society and the 25 year recognition pin.

Its simple diamond design with bevel cut arrow elegantly proclaims twenty-five years of dedication to Pi Phi.

This custom designed silver-tone lapel pin is available for $12.00 (including shipping and handling). Please direct your order and check, made payable to Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, to:

Pi Beta Phi Central Office 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333 St. Louis, Missouri 63105

If you qualify by being a member of Pi Beta Phi for at least twenty-five years, take this opportunity to be among the first to order the Silver Arrow Society recognition pin.

EXPECT A CALL!

Beginning June 7, 1991, representatives of Harris Publishing Co., Inc. will start telephoning alumnae for the verification phase of our Pi Beta Phi Fraternity Alumnae Directory project.

Much of the information to be verified on each individual's listing will be going into the Directory. Specifically, current name, academic data, residence address and phone number (if applicable). The scope of this information is an indication of the thorough and complete quality of the entire volume. The Directory will sort this data by name in the alphabetical division, and by chapter and geographical location in separate sections of the book. Also included will be special information on the Fraternity.

Dear Editor

Thank you so much for including the picture of me with my dog, Roody, in the Spring ARROW.

Roody is such a special dog I think she needs a little more introduction. She is a Certified Hearing Ear Dog. She alerts me to sounds, such as, the doorbell, smoke alarm, telephone, oven timer, someone calling my name, and her most difficult job is waking me when the alarm goes off. (As any of my Arizona Alpha housemates will testify—this is really difficult.) Since I have been widowed I depend on Roody fully to alert me to sounds.

Hearing Dogs are recognized internationally by their orange collar and leash and have all the rights of Guide Dogs. Roody goes everywhere with me; into restaurants, grocery stores, hotels,on airplanes, etc. She is a marvelous companion and allows me to live my life quite independently—I don't know what I would do without her.

Anne Busch Hills Arizona Alpha La Canada Flintridge, California

After graduating from college a year ago, I remember how sad I was. All the joy and happiness I shared as a Pi Phi college student were coming to an end. Leaving my Pi Phi sisters was a hard thing to do. My dearest friend, little sister and roommate Caroline Brenke and I were parting for the first time. Needless to say the tears began to fall.

Pi Phi not only gave me everlasting friendships but a chance of a lifetime. I am so grateful to be a Pi Phi and for all things it gave to me. Even though my college years are over, I am proud to say Pi Phi is not. Thank you Pi Phi for making my college years the most memorable and unforgettable.

Stephanie Fulton Mississippi Alpha Baton Rouge, Louisiana It pleases me to see articles such as "Making a World of Difference" in the Winter ARROW. In these times of growing awareness, concern for our environment and the ability to reduce, reuse and recycle should be embraced by all. I am proud the New York Gamma Chapter is also a chapter that recycles.

I am concerned, however, whether Pi Beta Phi, which takes pride in leadership is really doing all it can to lead the way in this area. Has The ARROW been printed on recycled paper, as well as mailings from Central Office? Each of us should examine our wasteful habits and affect a change.

I would challenge each member of Pi Phi to be a leader in her community. Use and promote recycled products, as well as alternative cleaning products, energy efficient light bulbs, and reduce consumption of disposable or limited use items. With over 98,000 alumnae, certainly we could make a difference.

Kathleen Murphy Boyer New York Gamma Massena, New York

Editor's Note: Pi Beta Phi is currently practicing many recycling habits. When ever possible, Central Office duplexes materials, therefore using both sides of paper. Paper which has only been used on one side is recycled in the way of memo pads for office use. Also, our computer service, picks up old printouts to be recycled. We have investigated printing The ARROW on recycled paper. At this time it would not be cost efficient to do so. We are, however, now using soy-based inks versus petroleum-based inks to print the magazine.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank two special Pi Phi sisters for showing me what Pi Phi is all about.

Last year a high school friend of mine moved to New York. Before leaving, I gave her the addresses of two pledge sisters that I knew were living in New York. I found their addresses in the Florida Beta Directory. I told my friend to give them a call and they might be able to help a newcomer. Well, not only did my sisters help, they took my friend under their wings and welcomed her into a great circle of friends.

My friend had a great experience in New York, mostly because of the friendship and support she gained from my Pi Phi sisters. I am so proud of my fraternity and my Pi Phi sisters Mary Brumleve and Edie Barry. They really proved the bonds of wine and blue extend from ocean to ocean.

An avid jazzercise fan, she has some interest in becoming a certified instructor.

Position Statement on Alcohol

Because of our concern for the health and well-being of our members, the presidents of all 26 National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) groups have agreed to the following:

- 1. that we are opposed to the misuse of alcohol;
- 2. that all college chapters, all individual members, and all guests must abide by federal, state/provincial, local, college/university laws and regulations;
- 3. that it is inadvisable to host a party involving alcohol when the majority of guests attending are under the legal drinking age;
- 4. that no college chapter funds may be used to purchase alcohol. (Co-sponsors of social events are potentially liable regardless of how the expenses are shared.)

Each NPC group has an alcohol policy and is expected to abide by it. In addition, the presidents expect their chapters to respect the regulations of any NPC co-sponsoring group.

We hope that this agreement will give college chapters the courage and ability to initiate discussion and formulate a Panhellenic stand on the subject of alcohol.

Attention Pi Phi Authors

If you would like to donate two copies of your books to Arrow in the Arctic, I will affix special bookplates and forward them to Central Libraries of the Yukon in Whitehorse and Central Libraries of the the Northwest Territories in Hay River. All topics are of interest, but young peoples books would be particularly welcome. Another terrific tie-in with our Pi Phi "Links to Literacy" program! Thank you in advance for sharing your gift of literacy.

ARROVCRAFT - The Pi Beta Phi Shop -

Presents a Variety of Summer Pastels.

The new mat, Petals, will create a pastel palette for your table. It is woven of chintz strips cut from a lovely floral print. When accompanied by the floral napkin, it lends a note of casual elegance for dining. You may choose a solid color napkin in pink, green or white. Annodized aluminum napkin rings in colors called saffron and moonstone. Museum quality hand split white oak basket with muted colors on the collar. Placemat and napkins by Arrowcraft weavers.

Swing glass is etched, colored and kiln fired for permancy. Offered in the two colors shown; each piece is slightly different. Pattern appears to capture effervescence. Left to right-candle globe/vase, small goblet, decanter, large goblet and cordial glass. Swing glass is dishwasher safe. Please specify Blue or rose when ordering.

Potpourri wreaths of dried flowers. On the left is Wild Rose constructed of wild roses, purple statice and globe amaranth; the essence is wild rose. Country vanilla is the fragrance of the pale yellow strawflower, white statice and baby's breath. Both are backed with moss. Specify rose or yellow on order. Sachet pouches and hair rosettes/barrettes of hand painted silk in jewel tones or apricot/peach. Use jewel or apricot on order.
