Remember

1995 marks the 75th anniversary of the passage of the 19th Amendment for women's suffrage. Today, women can actively participate in our country's democratic process in large part because of the efforts of Carrie Chapman Catt.

Born in 1859 in Ripon Wisconsin, Carrie Chapman attended Iowa State Agricultural College in Ames where she pledged and was initiated into the Iowa Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi, and in 1880 graduated valedictorian and the only woman in her class.

Carrie Chapman Catt was an early teen when she decided women should have the right to vote. Twenty-eight years later, the cause's leader Susan B. Anthony named Ms. Catt her successor where she served as the key strategist gaining final ratification of the 19th Amendment in 1920.

Founder of the League of Women Voters, Ms. Catt was recognized, in 1937, as one of 10 greatest American women. She graced the cover of Time magazine in 1926.

The play, "The Yellow Rose of Suffrage," was commissioned by Iowa State's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences to commemorate the achievements of this remarkable woman. Jane Cox, professor of theater, wrote and performs this one-woman play. A special benefit performance was held at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., March 1.

In October 1995, Carrie Chapman Catt Hall will be dedicated on the Iowa State campus. It will become the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Carrie Chapman Catt Center for Women and Politics. The center will offer educational opportunities to women and men who are interested in politics and public service; organize political issues seminars and workshops; foster research on issues related to women in politics and encourage women to pursue careers in politics and public service.

This building was the Agricultural Hall, more commonly known as Old Botany, and opened in 1893. It is the last surviving well-preserved 19th century building on the I.S.U. campus and was placed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1985.

A $5 million renovation will make it once again a functioning building.

In front of the building will be a plaza of engraved bricks called the Plaza of Heroines. Here women, living or dead, will be honored for their contribution to families, sorority, community or world. The Fraternity honored Carrie Chapman Catt as a member of Pi Beta Phi by purchasing a paver which will bear her name.

The Center is a living memorial to a woman whose life's work was promoting education, securing the right to vote for women and working for world peace.

To the right that needs assistance,

Capitol Gains

From the Texas State Treasurer's office to Washington D.C., United States Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison has traveled a maverick's path to gain substantial yields for Lone Star residents, women's issues, small businesses and big government.

She has been called everything from "Senator Sweet" to a "Texas Trend-Buster." Political Columnist Molly Ivins refers to her as the "Breck Girl." Adjectives such as soft-spoken, genteel, petite and demure are consistently used to describe her. And yet perhaps the most striking characteristic of this U.S. Senator has nothing to do with her blond tresses or small build.

Texas Monthly reports Senator Hutchison's strongest character traits as determination, a tireless capacity for hard work, a knack for planning and organizing and extraordinary thriftiness. In a 1984 Dallas Morning News article, Senator Hutchison herself said the best advice from her mother was "Stop working so hard," and reported her epitaph should read: "She worked herself into this ground." She calls herself a perfectionist. "I don't demand anything of anyone that I don't demand of myself," said Kay.

A quick glance at Senator Hutchison's résumé, and one might think she sped to national prominence with ease. But that assumption, just as the "Breck Girl" label, is based on appearances. Delve a little deeper and there is more to be found. The road to Capitol Hill was not paved for her; it has been bumpy and full of detours. One could say she navigated her way there maneuvering through the traffic of discrimination and harassment among other road blocks.

The Trip Begins

Senator Hutchison grew up in La Marque, Texas, daughter of a builder and homemaker. She graduated in the top 10 percent of her high school class and started at the University of Texas as a government major. The Texas Alpha Pi Phi was active and popular on campus. A cheerleader at the University of Texas, Kay entered the University of Texas Law School her senior year, one of a handful of women.

A Turn in the Road

After receiving her law degree in 1967, Kay worked for a year at a law firm in Galveston, Texas. She tried for months to find work in a Houston law firm but met with rejection and frustration. Many firms thought male clients would not work with a woman attorney. Others did not risk hiring her. They worried about what might happen if she married and had children. Always industrious, Kay turned to a career as a reporter for KPRC-TV in Houston. It was this turn which provided her first close glance at politics when she was assigned to cover the courthouse and political beat. An interview with fellow Texan Ann Armstrong, Co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, led Kay to a job in Washington as press secretary for the committee.

The Road Back Home

After a short stint in the Capitol, Senator Hutchison returned to Houston to fulfill her political ambitions and was twice elected to the Texas House of Representatives; holding her first elected office at the age of 29. In 1976, President Gerald Ford appointed her Vice Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board.

In 1978 she married Ray Hutchison, a former colleague from the Texas House, and moved to Dallas. There she was appointed senior vice president and general counsel of Republic Bank Corp. She later co-founded Fidelity National Bank of Dallas. Kay turned again to the political arena in 1981. She decided to run for Congress. After placing first in the primary, Kay was forced into a runoff with a friend. Three days before the runoff, an anonymous smear letter about her was circulated and she lost the election. Defeat was not easy for her to accept. In a rare display of public emotion, Kay conceded the race, saying, "I voted for myself this morning ... and I felt good about it."

From politics, she switched gears to business. She was a partner in Boyd-Levinson, Ltd., in the Dallas and Houston design centers. In addition, she owned McCraw Candies, a manufacturing company with national distribution. Running her own business Kay called "the toughest thing I have ever done."

Still possessing a fervor for politics, Kay sold the company and ran for state treasurer in 1990. This race, too, turned personal as her opponent claimed Kay had a conflict of interest because of her husband's position as a bond attorney. Quick to defend herself against the accusations, Kay persevered. It wasn't until after midnight that Kay could claim victory; she was elected to office with 49.9 percent of the vote.

New Horizons

Lloyd Bentsen's departure to become secretary of the Treasury in Washington opened a seat in the U.S. Senate. Governor Ann Richards appointed Democrat Bob Krueger to fill the vacancy until a special election. In June of 1993, in that special election, Kay Bailey Hutchison, Republican of Texas, was elected by the largest margin of votes ever received in the United States against a sitting, incumbent senator.

Just months after her victory, a Texas grand jury indicted her on charges that as Texas State Treasurer she had misused state funds and employees for her own political purposes. The controversy continued for months as charges were dismissed and reinstated twice. On February 11, 1994, Senator Hutchison was exonerated of all charges. Republican Senator John W. Warner of Virginia said on the Senate floor that Hutchison wore a "badge of courage and firmness I wish more of us had."

In November 1994, she was reelected to a full, six-year term in the Senate.

Life in the Fast Lane

Her major legislative initiatives have been aimed at restoring the proper focus of the federal government and limiting its intrusion into the domain of states, local governments, small businesses and individuals.

On the Armed Services Committee, Senator Hutchison has proven a strong advocate for United States military personnel and their families and for increased readiness and support for our armed forces. After 18 months on Armed Services, she became the first woman to serve on the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence.

In her work on two other Senate committees, Small Business, along with Commerce, Science and Transportation, she has consistently voted to roll back federal mandates and to limit the power of government. A recurring theme in Senator Hutchison's political theory since entering politics, was illustrated in a speech entitled, "Let Thomas Jefferson Rest in Peace" when she was state treasurer. "Thomas Jefferson is rolling over in his grave. When he framed the Constitution, he fought for states rights. He fought for limited federal government. What we have today is not the small representative body envisioned by our founding fathers. What we have is a 3,000 pound gorilla."

Senator Hutchison was named a Deputy Majority Whip and is co-chair of the Senate GOP Regulatory Reform Task Force. She has been making the news of late introducing legislation that would provide violence ratings for television programming on a quarterly basis. In addition, she is co-sponsoring the IRA Equity Bill to allow homemakers fully deductible contributions of up to $2,000 to individual retirement accounts.

Senator Hutchison and her husband Ray live in Dallas. He is a partner in the law firm of Vinson and Elkins.

Among other charitable activities, the Hutchisons fund two scholarships at the University of Texas and one at Southern Methodist University School of Law.

The Senator's links to Texas are historic. Thomas Jefferson Rusk, of Nacogdoches, was the first Texan to serve in the U.S. Senate. His friend and law partner was Charles S. Taylor, who signed the Texas Declaration of Independence. Taylor's great-great-great-granddaughter, Kay Bailey Hutchison, today occupies the Rusk seat in the U.S. Senate.

Her links to build bridges for today's women are just as historically noteworthy. Kay Bailey Hutchison is a woman of firsts: first Republican woman elected to the Texas House; first Republican woman elected to statewide office in Texas; first woman elected Senator in Texas. Though her accomplishments are many, you haven't heard the last from this woman of firsts. One gets the sense that this U.S. Senator is a pioneer of women for women. "I want to be able to pick up the newspaper and read that 'the bottom line earnings of a bank are the best, and the president happens to be a woman,' rather than reading that 'there is a first woman president of the bank.'" She concludes, "I think the best thing that will happen to women is when there are no more 'firsts.'"

In a special interview with Pi Beta Phi, Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison shares her feelings on Pi Phi, politics and persistence.

How has your experience in Pi Beta Phi benefited you in your endeavors?

Many of the best friends I have are those I made in the sorority. I have been touched by how many of my Pi Phi sisters from all over Texas helped in my political campaigns. Many held leading positions in my organization, many contributed and hosted coffees and receptions for me.

You have worked as a reporter, press secretary, attorney, bank vice president and business owner. What advice would you give our collegians currently determining their career paths?

First, get the best education you can and take advantage of every educational opportunity. Once in the work force, don't be afraid to try new things early in your career and take on new challenges. A good job is one that forces you to learn something new every day. Move around and experiment—but give yourself 100 percent to whatever you're doing.

How can Pi Phi make their presence known politically?

Get involved in local community affairs, both individually and as a group, and be loyal, reliable participants in the process. Vote, support the candidates who represent you and look for opportunities to make a unique contribution based on the strength of our organization.

- ★ Outstanding University of Texas Law Alumnus, 1995

What character qualities do you believe helped you most in your political career?

Persistence, and a willingness to risk failure. The one characteristic shared by those who succeed is the ability to pick themselves up after they've lost a round, and try again.

What do you believe you can contribute as a United States Senator? What goals do you have after serving as United States Senator?

Our country needs to revitalize its roots. We became the greatest nation on earth by rewarding hard work and assuring success based on merit, not birth. We must return to self-reliance, rather than dependence on government, and we must free our businesses from over regulation and taxation so they can compete in the global marketplace and create more jobs in America.

I hope, as a senator, to help get this country back on track. My goal after leaving the Senate is to write a book!

What do you consider your biggest political accomplishments?

As a state representative, I sponsored and passed bills to authorize the creation of transit systems in Texas cities and create county historical commissions to preserve our heritage, and a measure to ensure fair treatment of rape victims. As State Treasurer, I fought against the imposition of a state income tax and cut my agency's budget more than any other in the state, while earning more for our taxpayers' investments than had ever been earned in one year. As U.S. Senator, I am fighting for a strong national defense, for homemakers' retirement security and for a balanced federal budget.

- ★ Women Helping Women Award from the Women's Center of Dallas, 1987

As a women in the predominately male-oriented political arena, what have been your greatest challenges? Your biggest surprises?

The challenge in my first campaign for the state Legislature in 1972 was to prove I could do the job. Back then there was healthy skepticism whether a woman could be tough enough to function effectively in politics. It came as a big surprise to me to find that now the situation is just the opposite: being a woman in politics is an advantage—and is very rewarding.

I'm touched by the women who love helping other women and by fathers who bring their daughters to meet me because they want them to have a role model.

What do you consider your causes?

Strong national defense; individual retirement accounts for homemakers so they will enjoy the same security in their later years as those who worked outside the home; regulatory relief for small businesses.

Who has served as a role model for you?

I consider Anne Armstrong, former co-chair of the Republican National Committee and first female ambassador to Great Britain, to be a role model. I was her press secretary and learned so much from her. She has continued to be my closest advisor and friend through the years.

- ★ Named one of Ten Outstanding Working Women of America by Glamour magazine, 1977
- ★ Named one of Twenty Rising American Political Stars by USA Today Weekend, 1990

How do you maintain homes and offices in Washington and Dallas and have a personal life?

My husband is a political veteran as well as a respected attorney in his own right. Without his support and understanding, it would be impossible to do what I do.

How are you able to maintain a perspective in the face of criticism?

One of the adjustments I had to make in my life was making the transition from wanting people to like me to a career in which I seek not popularity, but respect. In life, all of us who work hard and fight for our beliefs will have detractors—this is magnified if we are in politics. I try not to take criticism personally and I try not to criticize others in a personal way.

Our readership consists of nearly 120,000 women, ranging in age from 18 to 80 and beyond, what issues do you consider paramount to their futures as we approach the year 2000?

- ★ Named one of Ten Outstanding Young Women of America, 1977

It is vital to the future of America that our society continue to take advantage of the strength offered by women. In the workplace, in politics, in community leadership and at home, women bring a different set of life experiences to the table. Men, as well as women, will benefit if women continue to be full participants in leading our country.

Is there anything else you would like to share with our readers?

Our sorority has been an important part of the formative period of so many of our lives. Times have changed and we must look for new ways to meet the needs of our young women who are growing up in very rough times. They face challenges that many of us never had to face, but we can grow and adapt and look for ways to help them prepare for the future. The bonds of friendship carry beyond the college years and can continue to be a source of strength for all of us throughout our lives.

Founded 1867

Recently I attended a memorial service for Melissa Gail Aptman, a Pi Beta Phi collegian who had been brutally murdered just two weeks shy of her graduation from Washington University in St. Louis.

More than 800 students, faculty and friends gathered to pay tribute to this young woman whose future seemed so bright and yet was cut short. The night was one I will not soon forget. Peers, sisters and mentors openly shared how one had touched them, the impact made on their own lives.

I am saddened to think of the number of similar services we have each attended, saying our goodbyes to those we have held dear. Our members who have died are listed in the In Memoriam department, and though we do not publish obituaries of deceased members, we know that with each life is an incredible and inspiring story.

For every issue we receive notes and letters informing us of the death of our members. Sometimes newspaper clippings are included, a husband pens his feelings of grief and loss, an alumnae club shares the program from a memorial service, collegians send photos from Pi Phi functions. As objective as we are called to remain in an editorial sense, many times our hearts surrender and we are brought to tears.

Resonating in my mind are the words of Melissa's younger sister who, in a poem she wrote in tribute to her sister, asked, "Can anyone mend a broken heart?" Unfortunately, none of us can. Yet, we can call on one another for support and assistance, to bear one another's burdens.

I believe it is in times of great grief and sadness that the utter core of our Fraternity shines through. As much pain and anguish as was visible at the memorial service, I was strengthened to see the chapter members of Missouri Beta walk together across the quadrangle of the campus, wearing wine and blue ribbons and their badges, comforting and sustaining one another.

Following is an excerpt from a poem by Melissa entitled "Uncertainty."

You can't read ahead into our life's plan, so you must do what you can...
to enjoy today's delights,
because change comes with the night.

The rearranging in life stimulates the soul,
although it always takes its toll.
Departing from the comfortable has its price...
but without risks ... what is life?

To move ahead, we must say goodbye.
To shape the soul, we must break old ties.
However, we never lose that which we once had at the start.
It remains engraved in each of our hearts.

In this issue, we celebrate women—from Carrie Chapman Catt to Melissa Aptman and thousands of others—who in big and small ways charge us to give of ourselves ... to our country, our community, our causes, and most importantly to each other.

From the Reader

I want to publicly thank the more than 70 Nebraska Beta Pi Phis who worked so many hours to stage our 100th birthday celebration the week-end of April 7-9, 1995. Over 400 Pi Phis from every corner of the United States attended. Initiation dates ranged from 1924 through 1995.

Activities were well planned and programs were beautifully orchestrated. Old friendships were renewed. A wine and silver blue thread of love permeated the festivities. Extemporaneous singing, from "Ring Ching Ching" to "Remember," erupted during each assembly for fellowship.

I am proud to be a 45-year Nebraska Beta Pi Phi. Thanks, ladies, for a memorable weekend.

Thank you for your letter telling me of my 75-year certificate. I will treasure it always.

These have been very special years for me. A wonderful Phi Delta Theta husband from Iowa State University who was a resort hotel manager, gave me an opportunity to travel and live in lovely hotels, where I met many, many Pi Phi sisters during our 46 plus years in plush hotels.

With all these beautiful years I am still young at heart, blessed with wonderful health, and active as always, although I will soon be 97 years of age.

Maxine Fleming Fones, Kansas Beta, was a friend of my mother's and part of a group of Kansas Betas who maintained a round robin letter since leaving Kansas State University. My mother was first to die in 1977. The round robin was at her home when she died, so I sent pictures of family and a letter of thanks for their friendship over the years. When I talked to Maxine's daughter Rosemary (Fones Walczak), an Arizona Alpha, after Maxine's death she recalled that and hopes to do the same. I traveled to Manhattan, Kansas that next weekend for our 80th anniversary of founding celebration. I took a copy of the obituary to show to those who knew her and were in attendance. Yes, some were there, amazing the loyalty of Pi Phis!

You are doing a great job with The ARROW! I majored in journalism at the University of Connecticut. My favorite issue was the one with the Amy Biehl story. I had been drawn to her in the papers and Newsweek and when I read The ARROW, I realized why. She was a Pi Phi!

Have you ever wondered how many Pi Phis share birthdays with our Founders? Probably not, huh? Well, Betsy Rusnak, a member of my alumnae club, and I both were born on March 25, the same day as Emma Brownlee Kilgore. We think becoming Pi Phis was our destiny!

What a wonderful article ("Perspective") Virginia Fry wrote for the Spring ARROW! She brought out a "family" side of Pi Phi I'd never realized before. I'll quote parts of her letter in my April Alumnae Province President correspondence (giving her full credit of course). High marks to her! I know what a busy time this is, so from all of us out there—thanks for the added inspiration.

Yesterday I hosted Valley of the Moon Pi Phi bridge and one lady, a Golden Arrow, spoke of losing her mother at age 14 and being "raised" from then on by her mother's close Pi Phi friend. There's more to it, but the gist of it is "Pi Phi" and how it continued to keep Lou and this lady's daughter close.

California Theta NICOLE M. BERGERON described herself as being "raised as a precinct-walking, envelope-stuffing, civic-minded kid," and believes she is still keeping that family tradition alive. After graduation from the University of California at Davis, she was awarded a Jesse Marvin Unruh Fellowship in the California Assembly where she staffed bills for Assemblyman Richard Katz and worked for the Transportation Committee. Nicole worked on a gubernatorial campaign and is now helping with her husband's campaign for the Assembly and her father's campaign for judge.

A permanent employee of the Smithsonian Institution, MARY RAKOW TANNER, Maryland Beta, was assigned to the Vice President's National Performance Review (NPR) in January 1995. The NPR is the office charged with making recommendations and championing the "re-invention" of government. She had worked with NPR in developing the original report issued in 1993, in the area of improving financial management.

California Delta DOREEN DEMOND MARSHALL has been active in her city of Newport Beach, California since the late 1950s. After serving as councilman and vice mayor, she was mayor from 1968-70 and was named Woman of the Year by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce in 1971.

"What did Pi Phi do for me? First off and probably most important, Pi Phi gave me a self confidence which served me the rest of my life, no matter what the venue, endeavor or culture I encountered. Secondly, my Pi Phi experience taught me to appreciate and enjoy. I still am an active, dues-paying alumna."

JUDITH LUDWIG GORHAM, Illinois Beta-Delta and a member of the Galesburg, Illinois Alumnae Club, was voted the "Best of the 'Burg" alderman by a local Galesburg newspaper. Known for her cool head and thorough knowledge of the issues being brought before the council, Judy is interested in economic development and matters concerning equitable treatment of minorities and women.

The Texas Council on Problem and Compulsive Gambling's Executive Director is Texas Zeta SUE GREEN COX. The state agency provides assistance to individuals with a gambling addiction, operating a 24-hour hot line and educating the community on gambling awareness. In 1994, Sue made presentations on compulsive gambling in Las Vegas, Seattle, Santa Fe, Montreal, Orlando and throughout Texas. Sue's other political involvements include campaign consulting for several county elections, statewide manager for a senatorial race and state lobbyist for the National Association of Social Workers.

VIRGINIA DILL MCCARTY, Indiana Beta, was co-founder and first president of the Indiana and Greater Indianapolis Caucuses which was established in 1971. A Democratic candidate for attorney general in 1976, she was also candidate for governor in the 1984 Democratic primary. United States attorney for the southern district of Indiana from 1977-81, she collected for the government more than 11 times the cost of her office for four years.

Indiana Beta SHERRILL LACKEY JEFFERS served as mayor of Hopkinsville, Kentucky from 1982-85. A member of the Association of United States Army

Board of Directors from 1983-1986, she attended the U.S. Army War College National Security Seminar in 1988 and received a U.S. Army decoration for Distinguished Civilian Service in 1984. Still involved in her local community, Sherrill is on the board of directors and Vice Chairman of Tourism for the Hopkinsville Christian County Chamber of Commerce.

Ohio Alpha NATALIE KAPRALIS Finance Director for the Ohio Republican Party in Columbus, Ohio. Her responsibilities include managing the 1995 Shared Revenue Program with Ohio's 88 counties, managing all special events on behalf of the party, and tracking direct mailing and telemarketing programs. Prior to her work with the Ohio Republican Party, Natalie was Deputy Finance Director for U.S. Senatorial candidate Mike DeWine.

After three and a half years at the University of Arkansas, HELEN H. DICKEY, Arkansas Alpha was offered a full-time position at the Governor's mansion in Little Rock, Arkansas as Assistant to the Mansion Administrator. After President Clinton won the election, she was offered a job in the White House Social Office where she managed guest lists for all ceremonies, parties and dinners. It was in that role that she gained an intense knowledge of the Social Office database and was asked to contribute to a ground-breaking new project. In October 1994, she left the Social Office and began working as Database Administrator at the White House on an enterprise-wide database.

CHRIS KELLOGG, Kentucky Beta, was selected by the National Association of Government Communicators (NAGC) as one of two national scholarship recipients to the association's annual school held in Alexandria, Virginia in December. NAGC, a professional organization for communicators in national, state and local governments whose principal responsibilities involve media and public relations and other methods for disseminating information within and outside government, made the selection based on Kellogg's work on Kentucky Governor Brereton Jones' Commission on Quality and Efficiency that met last year. Chris is president of the Kentucky Association of Government Communicators.

NANCY BURKEY BENOLD, Texas Delta, is running unopposed for her third three-year term as a school board trustee for Georgetown Independent School District in Georgetown, Texas. "I truly enjoy the challenges of public education, trying to better the instructional environment for all children."

Mayor of Olivette, Missouri for two terms, Missouri Beta LEE THOMPSON BERGER had to pass the gavel when she moved. Lee was elected to four three-year terms on Olivette's City Council. While serving in Olivette, she became active in the St. Louis County Municipal League. The league is composed of elected representatives from the 90 municipalities. In 1993, she was elected president of the league, the highest office for a local representative. "The Pi Phi activities I have been involved in created a strong base for leadership and enabled me to do my best in each office I have held."

Pennsylvania Epsilon ANNE BICKEL EMERSON was appointed as district director for Congressman Sam Brownback, 2nd district in Kansas. Her primary duties include representing Brownback in his absence, meeting and maintaining contacts with locally-elected officials and business leaders throughout the district, assisting with press responsibilities and maintaining close contact with the Washington staff. Anne has worked on a number of campaigns, including cochairing three campaigns for Senator Nancy Kassebaum and working on the campaign for the reelection of Senator Bob Dole.

Arizona Beta KAREN R. KEESLING practices law and has been serving as state lobbyist for Virginia Business and Professional Women. She was appointed Deputy Wage and Hour Administrator and Acting Wage and Hour Administrator in the Department of Labor in 1992. In 1972, she was executive secretary for the Secretary's Advisory Committee on the Rights and Responsibilities of Women at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. From 1974 to 1977, she served as director of the White House Office of Women's Programs. Karen was head of the Civil Rights and Equal Opportunity Section, Government Division, Congressional Research Service at the Library of Congress from 1977 to 1980. Afterward, she became a legislative aide to Senator Nancy Landon Kassebaum and served as the senator's staff member on the Senate Budget Committee.

"Government and politics at the local, state and national levels impact each one of us. It is the road we drive on ... the water we drink ... the food we eat ... the ability to vote. What an incredible opportunity each of us has to make a difference when we participate in government and politics—even if it is just exercising our right to vote."

Now Special Assistant to the Vice President, Anne looks forward to someday using her White House experience in the classroom.

Louisiana Beta PHYLLIS FREEMAN COLE was appointed as Collin County (Texas)

Commissioner in 1990 to fill an unexpired term. In March 1992, she successfully defeated her opponent in the Republican primary and ran unopposed in the November election. She was the first woman elected County Commissioner in Collin County, and one of the few in Texas. In 1993 she was selected as one of Ten Outstanding Republican Women in Texas. In addition to supporting local candidates, Phyllis has worked for Kay Bailey Hutchison and George W. Bush in the past year.

Five years after graduating from the University of Vermont, ALICIA BAMBARA, Vermont Beta moved to Washington, D.C. and accepted a position with United States Senator Patrick J. Leahy as Deputy Press Secretary for the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry. Just a year later, Alicia was promoted to Director of Communications for the committee. She was the youngest person and first woman to hold such a position. In her job, Alicia was media and policy strategist, spokesperson and speech writer. Her press contacts included all major television networks and news shows, the Washington Post, New York Times and Wall Street Journal, as well as National Public Radio and the Associated Press.

BARBARA NORMAN HAYNES, Tennessee Gamma, began her political activities in the late 1970s as a legal assistant. After receiving a law degree in 1976, she went into private practice. In 1982 she was elected the first woman judge in Davidson County, Tennessee. During her tenure, Barbara was elected president of the Tennessee General Sessions Judges. She was reelected in 1990 as a Circuit Court Judge in the 20th Judicial District which includes Nashville. Barbara was a charter member of Tennessee Women Forum, and is a member of League of Women Voters.

Virginia Gamma GRACE MUNSON NICHOLS served the city of St. Charles, Missouri as mayor for two four-year terms. An attorney in St. Charles, Grace received her law degree from St. Louis University.

ELIZABETH ALLIN CLARKE, North Carolina Beta, drove a Red Cross ambulance during World War II and worked for years in opposition of the E.R.A. Appropriations—Natural and Economic Resources; Budget; Education—Elementary and Secondary; and Municipal Corporations. Previously, Emmy served as the In-District Assistant to State Representative Marion G. Cairns and as the Director of Missouri Secretary of State's Corporation Division Field Office in St. Louis.

"I noticed the analogy early on: running for office is a lot like having a baby ... Just as memory blurs the bad aspects of pregnancy, I shall forget how my legs ached, how stupid I felt in a sweatshirt that announced my name, how tired I got of asking people to do yet another job, how anxiously I awaited the papers each week, how frustrated I felt at not being able to answer some critics. Instead, I shall remember campaigning as an incredibly busy, three-month high, when I talked to my best friends and totally committed campaign managers eight times a day and never got enough sleep. I'm glad I did it; I'm glad it's over. It's wonderful to have my life back."

Gentle Message Delivered at School's First Painting Conference

"Having long since made the not so startling discovery that art is not the best choice of professions by which to get rich, my belief is that one becomes an artist because of a certain independence of spirit, and to give up that independence is to give up the real reward of being an artist."

This quote from Milford Zornes, published by Hillcrest Press in 1991, perfectly sums up the active career of painter Milford Zornes, the keynote speaker for the Watercolor USA Honor Society Conference held April 20-22, 1995 at Arrowmont.

Born in Oklahoma in 1908 and reared in California, Zornes has traveled the world, painting in such places as Mexico, Majorca, Greenland and Uganda.

As one of 42 official U.S. Army artists in World War II, Zornes was assigned to the Pacific Theater. "The army experience was a significant one," Zornes said at Arrowmont. "I was sent to India, Burma, China and spent two years abroad with no other chore than to paint, draw and collect graphic sketches of anything that had to do with army life. Of course I cheated—I went and saw things outside of army life and did a lot of painting I wasn't required to do, so it was an outstanding experience."

Since then his many teaching assignments have taken him to places such as Italy, Ireland, Spain, Puerto Rico, Costa Rica, Bali, Java, Alaska and very recently to Tennessee, where he taught one of eight pre-conference watercolor workshops at Arrowmont.

"In my own teaching I definitely don't teach people to be artists, I certainly do not attempt it. I teach painting as a craft. In Ireland a young friend of mine, a student, rushed up to me one day and said, 'Mr. Zornes! Do you know how to be an artist?' I said I'd like to,

and he said, 'You get your paints, your canvas, your brushes and your easel, and you set up in the square or by the road, and you paint, and people come along and say there's an artist!'

"I'm afraid that's the reason why we as painters do get the label 'artists,' whereas in other fields of endeavor this label has to be won. People do not speak of a novel as a work of art until it has proven itself to be a work of art, and the same is true in architecture, music or any of the other arts."

Zornes confided that over the years he's become suspicious of "art by intention or art by influence or art by attitude. I've found that what constitutes art is what any one individual needs from his world, and what he looks for. If he finds it, he finds art."

"A World of Color: Painting for Young Artists" taught by Scott Betz (background) of Knoxville, Tennessee explored the color and design of a different culture each week. ## Employee Celebrates Four Decades With ΠΒΦ

Arrowmont Business Manager Nadine Whitted is celebrating her 40th anniversary with Pi Beta Phi. A native of Gatlinburg, Nadine attended Pi Beta Phi Elementary and Pi Beta Phi High Schools. After graduation, she joined the staff at Arrowcraft in February of 1955. "There was a lot of business (at Arrowcraft) then," Nadine said. "Arrowcraft had a loom out front, and I demonstrated weaving some."

Gradually she moved into the shipping department. After she had worked five years with Arrowcraft, Nadine was hired by Settlement School Director Marion Miller. Her office was in Teachers' Cottage. The area where Arrowmont now sits, Nadine recalls, "was fenced in with mules, cows and livestock."

"I worked year round back then, but we only had about five weeks of classes in the summer, and they were held in the high school building. Those (students) enjoyed it! They weren't pressured so much like now. Everybody goes at a fast pace now."

Things have changed steadily since then. Today Spring and Summer Workshop Programs occupy 14 weeks of the year, and Elderhostels about six weeks. Ten years ago Arrowmont offered five workshops during November Community Classes; there were eight in 1994. Children's Classes boasted three workshops in 1987, and seven in 1995. Twelve Elderhostel Workshops are scheduled for this September, twice as many as in 1987. Additional studio space has enabled Arrowmont to offer 100 classes during its 1995 Spring and Summer Workshop Program, up from 76 in 1985. As classes and programs have expanded, so have Nadine's responsibilities and her job description.

Though busier than ever at Arrowmont, Nadine's work schedule enables her to remain active in her church where she and former Arrowcraft employees Veryl Monhollen, Faye Cook and Nella Hill got together and formed a gospel group called Southern Harmony. "They're all sisters," Nadine explained, adding, "Sometimes we go visit other churches and things, and once in awhile another group will have us, but mostly we just sing at our church."

For about 25 years, Nadine crossed the parking lot to spend lunch hour with the Cook sisters at Arrowcraft. The ritual ended when the shop was leased in 1994, but Southern Harmony is still intact.

Today, Nadine's office is located in a shingled cottage between the Parkway and a hedge around the Pi Beta Phi Elementary School playground. "Oh, I love this building," Nadine said. "It's away from the beaten path!" Formerly the Settlement School clinic, the building houses three offices and a historical room under a lovely slate roof. The nearby hedge is popular with birds and rabbits, and with her windows open she can hear children on the Pi Beta Phi playground—a pleasant reminder of the Fraternity's long history in Gatlinburg.

Gallery Gifts Expand Sphere of Influence

Each time Billi Rothove, Arrowmont's Gallery Coordinator, answers her telephone or opens her mail, it's a new experience. Recently, it was the Smithsonian Institute calling. The word is out ... Arrowmont is placing new emphasis on its gallery and permanent collection. With support from the Campaign, this area of Arrowmont's role in education is poised for growth.

Hired less than a year ago to the administrative position made possible by Campaign gifts, Rothove's full-time commitment to the gallery program is opening doors and bringing visibility to the school.

The Internet

The Smithsonian's call was to announce that the Renwick Gallery of the National Museum of American Art is putting its White House Collection of American Crafts "on tour" on the World Wide Web, the fastest-growing part of the Internet. The "tour" will include the work of 12 to 15 of Arrowmont's faculty. In addition to pieces in the White House Collection, these recognized craft artists have pieces in Arrowmont's permanent collection and have been represented in numerous exhibitions in the school's gallery.

The Arrowcraft Collection

One of Rothove's goals is to "expand our educational outreach and establish Arrowmont even more firmly as an institution of historical significance." When speaking of current activity to document the school's historic Arrowcraft Collection, Rothove says, "This collection is far more important than I first realized. We are fortunate to own a collection with such regional significance and we have an obligation to preserve it." The largest portion of the collection represents hand-woven textiles from Pi Beta Phi's cottage weaving industry.

Correspondence from the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte, North Carolina supports Arrowmont's role as a resource and recognizes the value of its treasures. The Mint Museum seeks Arrowmont's help in documenting the origins of work for its Southern Arts & Crafts Movement in 1890-1940 exhibition scheduled for mid-1996. Several pieces from the Arrowcraft Collection will be on loan to the Mint Museum.

The Anniversary Collection and Tour

In celebration of its 50th anniversary, Arrowmont's gallery will host a 50th Anniversary: Faculty Invitational Exhibition from August 18-October 7. Letters of invitation have gone to more than 650 faculty members. Faculty who have made a commitment to send work for the anniversary exhibition have received a personal appeal to donate a work to the newly established 50th Anniversary Collection. This collection is being assembled to represent the best in late 20th century American art and craft objects. The Anniversary Collection will become a part of Arrowmont's permanent collection with continuing visibility in the school's atrium and foyer gallery areas and with travel opportunities. The Hermitage Foundation Museum of Norfolk, Virginia has requested the collection for a 1996 showing.

A basket by faculty members Sharon and Leon Niehues, right, is pictured in the May issue of House Beautiful along with turned wood vessels by faculty members David Ellsworth and Ron Fleming. More than 70 American artists donated works to the White House Craft Collection in celebration of the year of the American Craft.

Commitment

Elevating its gallery and collections to priority positions within Arrowmont's sphere of educational influence, the Arrowmont Board of Governors is committed to this aspect of art education. A full-time coordinator is providing the gallery program with new vitality, and is offering Arrowmont the first glimmer of activity toward museum quality documentation and preservation of its collections. The School joined the American Association of Museums in the fall of 1994, and Coordinator Rothove recently attended the Museum Division of the National Arts Education Association held in Houston and the Tennesseans for the Arts Advocacy Day in Nashville. Director Sandra Blain says, "Arrowmont's visibility and opportunities for networking are essential as we increase our understanding of what the public needs and wants. Arrowmont is committed to building a strong reputation for its gallery program."

Campaign for Arrowmont

Funding for the Future ...

Capital Campaign funding to date has supplied start-up monies. Blain says, "The Campaign for Arrowmont will make a monumental difference in the gallery program. We're already seeing it in installations and in the earliest steps to document and preserve valuable collections. But we've just begun. Many more steps lie ahead and additional gifts are essential."

Opportunities for the Arrowmont program are limitless. Whether they include visibility on Internet and the information superhighway, assembling a new collection, providing a climate-controlled environment for the preservation of a historic collection, or selecting pieces for the many theme exhibitions ... funding will dictate the boundaries. The undivided attention of a full-time gallery administrator will ensure that monies are spent wisely. An open endowment begun with gifts in honor of Sandra Blain seeks support from Pi Beta Phi and other friends of Arrowmont.

1995-96 Scholarship Recipients Selected

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation Trustees and members of the Undergraduate Scholarship, Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarship and Graduate Fellowship Selection Committees are proud to announce that 49 Pi Phis will receive awards for the 1995-96 academic year. These women have displayed excellence in their studies and in their volunteer service for their communities and Pi Phi.

If you are in need of financial assistance and would like to apply for one of the Foundation's awards for the 1996-97 academic year, send a note to the attention of Scholarship Program, Pi Beta Phi Foundation, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, Missouri 63105. Please request an undergraduate or Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarship or a graduate fellowship application.

*Eligibility rules for undergraduate scholarships require candidates to be active members in good standing and have a minimum GPA of 3.0.

*Eligibility rules for alumnae scholarships require candidates to be out of school for two years or more and to be a dues-paying alumna member.

*Eligibility rules for graduate fellowships require the candidates to attend school full time in a program which is accredited and to be a dues-paying alumna member.

Selection Criteria: The Foundation awards all scholarships and fellowships on the basis of need, academic performance, service to Pi Phi and service to the community.

The need for financial assistance continues to grow. Your gift to the Foundation may be directed to the scholarship program. For information on named scholarship endowments contact the Foundation Office.

At Christmas time, ILLINOIS ALPHAS at Monmouth College visited a nearby home for mentally handicapped children and read Christmas stories and sang Christmas carols.

KENTUCKY GAMMAS at Eastern Kentucky University tutor children in a local Adopt-a-School Program. In April the chapter participated in a walk-a-thon for Cystic Fibrosis.

INDIANA DELTA Renee Lehman volunteers at the Lafayette Urban Ministry Temporary Residency Shelter. Several other Purdue University chapter members volunteer with the Big Brother/Big Sister Program.

PENNSYLVANIA IOTAS spend mornings and afternoons serving as teachers' aides for kindergarten and first grade classes at H.C. Lea Elementary School of West Philadelphia. As a fund-raiser for the Lea School, University of Pennsylvania Pi Phi sold hot chocolate and held a 24-hour hula hoop-a-thon.

Each week, WASHINGTON GAMMAS at the University of Puget Sound volunteer one hour a day Monday through Thursday to tutor children at McCarver Elementary School. Chapter members donated money and clothing to the Tacoma Women's Shelter as well as participated in an AIDS walk for the Three Cedars AIDS Hospice.

ARIZONA ALPHAS at the University of Arizona participated in a bowl-a-thon for Big Brothers/Big Sisters. The chapter also participated in a concert, Rally in the Sun, to raise money for two sick boys. Arizona Alphas attended the Kappa Alpha Football Tournament, a fund-raiser for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

CALIFORNIA BETAS walked through Tilden Park to help raise money for the Make-A-Wish Foundation for terminally-ill children. On the Saturday before Easter, chapter members helped set up an Easter Egg Hunt on the University of California, Berkeley campus for underprivileged children from the inner city.

ALABAMA ALPHA Garian North, a student at Birmingham-Southern College, tutors children in the community for Urban Ministry. Susie Simmons heads the Parker Companion Group, formed to give students a place to go after school where they have role models who spend time with them.

Forty-five TEXAS DELTAS from Texas Christian University volunteered at the John Peter Smith Hospital for a Neo-Natal Intensive Care Unit Reunion in April. Volunteers helped with different game booths. Courtney Schueler participated on the planning committee for the annual AIDS Crop Walk.

COLORADO ALPHAS at the University of Colorado participate in the university's Adopt-a-School Program. The chapter hosted Halloween and Easter activities, inviting children from the community to play games, eat, make crafts, trick-or-treat or have a picture taken with the Easter Bunny. Amanda Julian has been traveling to Denver to care for and work with patients at a children's hospital.

ARIZONA GAMMAS held an intramural fund-raiser called Arrowball, an all-day flag football tournament. Proceeds went to Arrowmont, Los Arcos Nursing Home and Flagstaff Women's Shelter. Last fall Northern Arizona Pi Phi helped run a Pedal Mania Bike-a-Thon for the American Cancer Society. Chapter members handed out drinks and punched lap cards as the elementary school children rode their bikes.

UTAH ALPHAS Jenny Layman, Shanalee Richins, Annie Hawes, Michelle Reece and Danielle Parker, all University of Utah students, volunteer at local hospitals. Danielle also volunteers at the Homeless Resource Center. Kelley Eardley is a volunteer for the Utah AIDS Foundation where she answers questions on the AIDS hotline and teaches AIDS prevention in local high schools. Genevieve Kiley helps homeless and low income families with legal advice for the Utah Legal Services.

OHIO ETAS hosted a Fun Run on the Denison University campus raising funds for the Special Wish Program. The chapter also volunteered their time at Independence House, a home for single parent families.

KENTUCKY ALPHAS at the University of Louisville volunteered to set up free game booths for children at the South Louisville Festival. This spring, chapter members served lunch and dinner at the Wayside Christian Mission for the homeless.

Each CALIFORNIA ZETA completes two hours of community service each quarter at the University of California, Santa Barbara. In October, the 1994 pledge class spent a few hours visiting cerebral palsy victims at Hillside House. In January, California Zetas helped shovel mud during the devastating floods that occurred in Santa Barbara, and in February they put together Valentine's Day goodie baskets for the children of a local halfway house.

In March, the TEXAS ZETA Chapter at Baylor University participated in a university-wide day of service called Steppin' Out. A group of chapter members picked up trash in local parks and neighborhoods, others visited with residents of Village Manor Nursing Home.

NEBRASKA GAMMAS sold plants to Creighton University students to raise money for cancer research. They joined forces with the other sororities on campus and men of Sigma Phi Epsilon in sponsoring a wheelchair race for an inner-city school. Nebraska Gammas also teamed with the Knights of Columbus and hosted a spaghetti dinner for homeless children. Following the dinner, everyone attended a Creighton Bluejays basketball game.

NEW YORK DELTAS participated in a Halloween party at the Greater Ithaca Activity Center (GIAC). The center provides numerous services for residents of low-income neighborhoods surrounding the center. In the spring, members volunteered over a period of several weeks and accompanied children from GIAC to Cornell varsity basketball games.

As part of their annual Monmouth Duo celebration, TEXAS EPSILONS joined with University of North Texas Kappa Kappa Gammas and picked up litter around the community.

In November, MISSOURI BETAS went to the St. Louis Children's Hospital to play and sing with hospitalized children. For Thanksgiving, the Missouri Betas worked with Sigma Alpha Mu to put together a special Thanksgiving for more than 50 abused and homeless boys from a local boy's home. The day's activities included games in Washington University's athletic complex, story time and a Thanksgiving feast.

ARKANSAS BETAS at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock recently served their community by donating time to an auction benefiting Hearts in the Park, an organization that aids those with dyslexia.

TENNESSEE BETAS at Vanderbilt University spent a day working for Habitat for Humanity, an organization that builds homes for needy families in the community. In February, eight Pi Phis volunteered to take part in a food drive for the Second Harvest Food Bank.

VIRGINIA GAMMA Tara Adams spearheaded the fourth annual campus-wide bone marrow drive at the College of William & Mary. Tara, a bone marrow donor whose surgery was last May, organized the April 19, 1995 drive by directing nearly 500 volunteers through three committees: corporate fund-raising, campus fund-raising and campus publicity. Virginia Gamma Mary Guynn chaired a campus fund-raising committee.

While celebrating Monmouth Duo with Kappa Kappa Gamma at the University of California, San Diego, CALIFORNIA KAPPAS split into groups and visited ten different retirement homes and nursing home facilities.

INDIANA BETA'S annual Moms' Weekend Auction raised more than $4,500 to benefit the Christopher Bowden Memorial Fund. His memorial fund will provide scholarships for Indiana University students who excel in all areas of campus life.

collected more than 1,000 canned goods and nearly 1,000 pounds of clothing which were donated to local charities. Ohio Iotas won the University of Dayton Panhellenic Council's Outstanding Community Service Award for 1994. The chapter completed more than 1,000 hours of community service last year.

In March, the IOWA ZETA Chapter at the University of Iowa participated in their annual bowl-a-thon with Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. The money raised went to the Crohn's and Colitis Foundation. Last December, the chapter donated 20 stuffed Christmas stockings to the Women's Domestic Violence Center of Iowa City.

VIRGINIA ZETA Gretchen Welborne gives an average of 7 to 12 hours a week to several local organizations. She dedicates most of her time to her little sister in the New River Valley Big Brother/Big Sister organization. Gretchen, a Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University student, was recognized on a local news television program, "Wednesday's Child," for her efforts as community little sister.

INDIANA ALPHAS at Franklin College sponsored a blood drive with Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, participated in a food drive with Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity and hosted "Safe Treats from the Greeks" with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

NORTH CAROLINA GAMMAS from Wake Forest University held a clothing drive for the Salvation Army to benefit families in the Winston-Salem community. The chapter's major community service project of the semester was the Pi Phi Hoppin' Easter Egg Hunt in April. North Carolina Gammas invited 40 local disadvantaged children to participate in the hunt and a variety of other games.

KENTUCKY BETAS at the University of Kentucky contributed their time by volunteering and participating in the Multiple Sclerosis Walk sponsored by Super America. Volunteer activities included decorating and setting up for the event, selling T-shirts and working the rest stops.

FLORIDA ALPHAS at Stetson University have contributed more than 970 hours of community service work. Activities include helping in AIDS outreach programs, participating in the YMCA's Safety Village, volunteering at a local branch of the American Cancer Society, and playing with at-risk children in the local elementary schools.

WISCONSIN DELTAS at Marquette University helped St. Francis Children's Center with a fund-raiser in March. The indoor golf event included silent auctions, a raffle and plenty of music and food. More than $20,700 was raised. St. Francis Children's Center is a non-profit, non-sectarian educational facility that caters to children from birth to adolescence who experience learning disabilities.

KANSAS BETA'S annual philanthropy is Pi Phi Plunge, a contest including a diving competition, biggest splash contest and synchronized swimming. Kansas State fraternities are invited to participate in the event. The money generated from T-shirt sales, registrations and donations is given to Arrowmont. The chapter also participates in Operation Turkey, a canned food drive.

Oregon Alphas hosted a carnival at Howard Elementary School. University of Oregon Pi Phi Alicia Pavilk helps children create valentines with crayons and glitter.

TENNESSEE DELTAS at the University of Memphis held an All-Greek Chili Supper with Kappa Sigma Fraternity to raise money for Arrowmont and the Make a Wish Foundation. The chapter collects donations for the Memphis Inter-Faith Association and canned goods for the Memphis Food Bank, and sponsors an Easter Egg Hunt with Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Memphis.

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHAS volunteered at the Humane Society where University of North Dakota members perform a number of duties such as cleaning cages and walking the animals. Chapter members help at a thrift store, hanging and sorting clothes and pricing items to be sold, and commit their time to act as role models for children with the YMCA Big Sister program.

Seven ALBERTA ALPHAS at the University of Alberta participated in the fourth annual Lambda Chi Alpha Food Drive in March. Grocery bags were handed out on Wednesday and the donated food was picked up on Saturday. Members canvassed 7,000 homes, collecting 14,000 pounds of food for Edmonton's needy food bank.

MONTANA ALPHAS at Montana State University have adopted a sixth grade class at Chief Joseph Elementary School. The chapter assists this class in activities such as chaperoning dances and helping them host parties. Montana Alphas will continue their assistance with this specific age group as they grow older. Chapter members are active volunteers in a local Girl Scout troop, local battered women's shelter, an annual Wellness Fair and a child advancement program.

NORTH CAROLINA BETAS at Duke University have been successfully raising money for the Durham Soup Kitchen for years. The Holloway Carnival was held in March, and chapter members organized and participated in two carnival booths for Durham children to enjoy. In April, the entire chapter gathered for fun and exercise in the Crop Walk which raised money for the fight against hunger.

INDIANA GAMMAS at Butler University volunteer at Christamore House. Each chapter member visits the home at least once a semester to help the children with their homework. The chapter is also involved with Direction Sports Program, sponsored by the YMCA, tutoring children and coaching them in basketball.

Each year KANSAS ALPHAS get involved in Rock Chalk Revue, a project in which fraternities and sororities at the University of Kansas pair up for six months to give community service to Douglas County and raise more than $40,000 for the United Way. Kansas Alphas received an honorable mention award for community service, averaging at least ten hours of community service per person.

OHIO THETAS are involved with The Link (a crisis hotline), provide pet therapy at the Humane Society and supply gifts for the Children's Resource Center. Bowling Green State University Pi Phis also take part in Dance for Heart, a three-hour aerobic marathon which benefits the American Heart Association.

NEBRASKA BETAS participated in the Adopt-a-Highway Program at the University of Nebraska picking up litter on a section of highway near Lincoln once a semester. Chapter members also participated in the Alzheimer's Memory Walk and Jingle Bell Run. Nebraska Betas were the best-represented chapter at the Alzheimer's walk with more than 60 participants.

LOUISIANA BETAS participated in a clothing drive for the Battered Women's Shelter, a canned food drive for the Baton Rouge Food Bank and their annual Doubleshot Basketball Tournament. Louisiana State University Pi Phis spend time with local children on Big Buddy Day, taking underprivileged children to the zoo and out for ice cream.

IOWA BETAS participated in Simpson College's "All-Nighter" in February. More than 250 students attended the function sponsored by the organization S.T.A.R.S. (Simpson Taking Awareness Responsibility Seriously). More than $500 was raised for Turning Point, a battered women's shelter. Iowa Betas treated six girls from South Central Youth and Family Service Center to the final Simpson regular season basketball game. The center houses and supports delinquent children of Indianola and the surrounding area.

ILLINOIS ETAS at Millikin University participated in a bowl-a-thon sponsored by Big Brother/Big Sister. Each participant collected pledges and Iowa State University faculty nominated IOWA GAMMAS to become a pilot chapter for a new program, AEGIS (Asking Every Greek at Iowa State). AEGIS was designed to help the Greek system become involved and give service to the university and the surrounding community. The chapter teamed up with Theta Chi Fraternity and volunteered at Iowa State University's indoor track and field meets.

In April, ten members of ILLINOIS IOTA participated in a 10-kilometer walk for Multiple Sclerosis. Money raised by the Illinois State Pi Phis was donated to the Greater Illinois Branch of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

ARKANSAS ALPHAS are involved with pet therapy at a local nursing home. Pi Phis receive pets from a local pet store and take them to visit the elderly. Arkansas Alphas also participate in the University of Arkansas' Volunteer Days.

WEST VIRGINIA ALPHA Nancy Anderson is the student coordinator of Rainbow of Service, a link between volunteer agencies in the Morgantown area and West Virginia University student volunteers. The Monongalia Emergency Medical Squad, local physical therapy centers, YMCA camps and an adult day-care center are all assisted by Pi Phi volunteers.

Last year marked the first year of ISC-sponsored AIDS Awareness Week at the University of Virginia. VIRGINIA EPSILONS attended a charity a capella concert to raise money for the local AIDS Community Center, a housing option for AIDS patients.

ILLINOIS BETA-DELTAS decorated four-leaf "Good Luck On Finals" clovers and sold them to the Knox College community. Proceeds went to provide food, clothing and medical care to a Haitian child the chapter sponsors. Saskia Turner put together a reading program for camp participants at a Multiple Handicap Summer Day Camp.

At Ball State University's Greek Week Grand Chapter, INDIANA ZETAS received the Philanthropy Award from Panhellenic Council. Philanthropies for the year included donating canned foods, working for the Elder Beerman Christmas Gift Giving Tree for underprivileged children, singing Christmas carols in local nursing homes, working at the Muncie Childrens' Home, donating to the Special Olympics and hosting a book drive.

NEW JERSEY ALPHAS Jennifer Kaffenberger, Lucinda Brown and Sarah Israel, founders of the Leukemia Society at Princeton University, organized two bone marrow drives to benefit leukemia patients. Many Pi Phis are members of the Leukemia Society, and assisted with the event. Jennifer has participated in the bone marrow program as a donor for her younger sister who is battling leukemia.

Each TEXAS ALPHA at the University of Texas participates in two philanthropic projects per semester. Popular projects include: Salvation Army Feed the Homeless, Junior Helping Hands Program (for children of low-income families) and Campus Race for the Cure benefiting the Susan G. Komen Foundation for the prevention and cure of breast cancer.

As a fund-raiser, OHIO BETAS at The Ohio State University are compiling a Greek yearbook. The yearbook contains all 23 fraternities and 19 sororities at the university and will be available to all students next spring. Proceeds from the sale of the yearbook will be given to Arrowmont.

SOUTH DAKOTA ALPHAS paired with the University of South Dakota Sigma Alpha Epsilons and trick-or-treat-ed for UNICEF.

During the spring, COLORADO GAMMAS held their annual Pi Phi Plunge, a competition between fraternities on Colorado State's campus. Activities included a penny drive, pizza party and the final event held at a local swimming pool. Money raised was donated to a local Fort Collins community retirement center.

WYOMING ALPHAS at the University of Wyoming began a new program assisting the elderly of Laramie by delivering hot meals to homebound and disabled senior citizens.

OHIO ALPHA Heidi Rust, an art major at Ohio University, organized a community art show at the Pi Phi house featuring samples of artwork by Pi Phis. Chapter members donated blood to the Red Cross.

VIRGINIA ETAS helped sponsor the UR Century Bike Race held each spring at the University of Richmond benefitting Habitat for Humanity. Many chapter members participate in the Carver Promise Program, tutoring children at an inner city elementary school each week.

PENNSYLVANIA EPSILON Ginny Hall volunteered this year at the Child Development and Family Center organizing after-school activities for children including arts and crafts, athletic events and outdoor recreation. Julie Clifton volunteered on campus at Healthworks, a peer outreach program sponsored by Penn State University Health Services. Pam Saracino is active in the Big Brother/Big Sister Program.

MISSISSIPPI BETAS held their annual philanthropy, King of Hearts, during the week of Valentine's Day. This year's University of Mississippi event raised more than $1,600 for Arrowmont.

MISSOURI GAMMAS at Drury College dressed in costumes and distributed candy at Spooktacular, a safe Halloween event at the zoo. Chapter members participated in a Family Enrichment/Fun Weekend held for handicapped children and their families. For the second year, chapter members collected donations and participated as a team in the American Cancer Society 24-hour Relay for Life. Missouri Gammas received the Spirit Award for their efforts.

MISSOURI ALPHA Cheryl Bartlett served as co-director for Rocking Against Multiple Sclerosis (RAMS) at the University of Missouri. Missouri Alphas participated in the Panhellenic-sponsored Greeklinc Program, spending time each week in the Columbia public schools as mentors for students and extra help for teachers.

ILLINOIS THETAS at Bradley University organized a car wash with Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity to raise money for Arrowmont. The chapter started a program called Lunch with Love at the Salvation Army shelter. Each Tuesday, Illinois Thetas go to the shelter and serve lunch.

WASHINGTON BETAS recently participated in Epicurian Delight, a benefit dinner for Spokane's Sacred Heart and Deaconess Hospital. Chapter members also participated in Washington State University's Greek Week. Nearly $5,000 was raised for Palouse Industries, a non-profit rehabilitation organization which provides work skills training and employment opportunities for disabled or disadvantaged individuals.

FLORIDA EPSILONS at the University of Central Florida held their annual Rock the Arrow event to raise money for Arrowmont. Through T-shirt sales and various activities, the chapter raised $3,000.

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHAS held Making Strides, their second annual five-mile race for the Chapel Hill Women's Center. The Women's Center offers educational, professional, counseling, crisis and other support services for women in the area. The race through the University of North Carolina campus raised $2,500 to be divided between the center and Arrowmont.

Stacy Bardo, philanthropy chairman for ILLINOIS EPSILON, volunteered her time and energy to Northwestern University's annual Dance Marathon. Karen Anderson and Katie King paired with two members of Pi Kappa Alpha and danced nonstop for 30 hours. The

Illinois Zeta Karen Winker joins Abbey and Nathan as part of the Share A Reading Experience (SHARE) Program at Yankee Ridge Elementary School in Urbana, Illinois.

GEORGIA ALPHA sponsored its first writing contest at Whit Davis Elementary School in Athens, Georgia. The 122 children participating in the contest wrote essays explaining where rainbows come from. Georgia Alphas enjoyed reading the essays and picking 12 winners. Several sponsors donated books to be awarded as prizes. Members of the chapter announced winners and awarded prizes at an all-school assembly. In addition, the chapter's philanthropy chairman, Kristie O'Neill, is co-chairman of the Athens Tutorial Program in which 20 Pi Phi tutor elementary, middle and high school students two to four days a week in all subjects.

Members of ARIZONA BETA volunteer at St. Vincent de Paul's, a shelter in downtown Phoenix, reading books to homeless and underprivileged children. Each week, members collect books donated by the chapter and take them to the shelter to read during dinner time. The books are given directly to the children after each reading session.

Six years ago, MICHIGAN ALPHA founded and has since supported "The Voice of Freedom," an organization which provides literature on tape to blind and invalid persons. Michigan Alpha members Stacey Englehardt and Renae Holman serve on the board that coordinates the readings which include the Bible, classics and magazine articles. Many Hillsdale College students donate their time and their voices, along with many members of Michigan Alpha, to transfer the literature onto tape. Lela Ach, a junior, also contributes to her chapter's Links to Literacy efforts by serving as a tutor for adults through the Hillsdale County Literacy Council. Since her freshman year, Lela has met with a 38-year-old woman twice a week to help the woman work on her reading and writing skills.

Members of IDAHO ALPHA visit Russell Elementary School in Moscow, Idaho each week to tutor fourth-grade students who need extra help in various subjects.

NEW MEXICO ALPHA donated hundreds of children's books to the childlife playroom of the University of New Mexico Children's Hospital in honor of New Mexico Alpha alumna and former Fraternity Parliamentarian Carrie-Mae MacNair Blount. The hospital hosted a dedication ceremony to acknowledge the contributions of New Mexico Alpha, along with Blount's lifetime achievements.

Asa Adams School in Orono, Maine benefits from MAINE ALPHA'S participation in Links to Literacy.

Several chapter members tutor students in math, reading and vocabulary and in return are constantly greeted with cards and drawings from the children. Last November, the school invited Maine Alpha to join them in an anti-drug parade. Members of the chapter and the school marched through town together to make a statement against drugs.

Several members of CALIFORNIA THETA tutor children in a number of Davis, California elementary schools. Burnley Riley, a senior, tutors adults through the Woodland Literacy Association. California Theta incorporated its annual pie social into its fraternity orientation program by holding it as a big/little sister activity. Pledges joined their big sisters in making pies for the event which raised $850 for the Woodland Literacy Association.

The legacy of Settlement School continues in TENNESSEE GAMMA as members donate books and reading time to a nearby mountain school. Chapter members visit the school twice a week with the aim of increasing the children's interest in reading.

In August of last year, ALABAMA BETA adopted the WUAL public radio program Radio Reading Service for the Print Impaired as its local Links to Literacy project. Radio Reading Service was brought to Tuscaloosa, Alabama by Pi Phi alumna Betty Ozment Jobe in January 1982. Recently, the program lost grant funding and was in need of volunteers. The members of Alabama Beta pledged their financial and volunteer support which included donating $1,000 toward the purchase of new broadcast receivers for the visually impaired and testing those receivers prior to distribution. The women of the chapter also received training to become "on air readers." Initially, three members volunteered weekly. Now, 10 members read for one-hour sessions each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Another 25 members have volunteered as substitute readers. Just one year ago, Radio Reading Service did not have enough volunteers. Now, thanks to Pi Phi, it has more volunteers than it needs each week!

Alabama Beta hosted the annual Volunteer Readers Reception at the chapter house to thank all community volunteers who read for the program. The chapter also sponsored a widely publicized golf tournament that raised more than $2,000 for Radio Reading Service. Chapter members and local Pi Phi alumnae worked to procure prizes, recruit players and staff the tournament. Local alumnae also serve as "on air readers." On February 28, 1995 the College of Communication at the University of Alabama dedicated the new Radio Reading Service broadcast booth to Pi Beta Phi in recognition of a new $10,000 endowment established by Alabama Beta to support Radio Reading Service. The president of the University of Alabama, deans, directors, other distinguished guests and local television and newspaper reporters attended the dedication and recognized Pi Beta Phi as being the first to make such a notable contribution of both volunteer hours and financial aid to a university program.

THE NANCY BLACK WALLACE ALUMNAE CLUB in Salem, Oregon planned a two-part Links to Literacy project that allowed the club to donate books written in Spanish to pre-school age migrant children in the Salem community. Club members Olene Mehlhoff White and Addyse Lane-Palagyi planned the Elegant Elephant, an annual gourmet garage sale held every year at the historic Mission Mill Village in Salem. The members of the club decided to give the money raised to a literacy agency that promotes hands-on service, in keeping with the service emphasis of Links to Literacy. The agency selected was Mano A Mano, a Spanish service center serving migrant families that work in Salem's agribusiness industry. Books were delivered in December to coincide with the agency's Christmas party. Members of the club enjoyed their project and believed it to be a success. They plan to increase the scale in years to come. In addition, a club member has designed a Pi Beta Phi bookplate to be included in next year's donated books.

Allison Miller, a senior at The College of William and Mary, volunteers each week in an after-school program called Kid's Club in which she tutors a local child in all subjects and develops a friendship with the younger student. Bevin Kenney, also a member of VIRGINIA GAMMA, spends two hours each week tutoring an adult through the local Rita Welsh Adult Skills Program. Kenney has seen her student progress to the point where she can now solve word problems thanks to her new skills in reading and multiplication. Plans for a Pi Beta Phi book drive and Adopt-A-School are also underway within Virginia Gamma.

TEXAS GAMMA recently expanded the Angel Library at Children's Hospital at University Medical Center to include adult as well as children's literature, books and magazines in foreign languages and literature to help children understand medical diseases. Texas Tech Pi Phis also volunteer their time by reading to children who are too sick to leave their beds and visit the library.

In November, MINNESOTA ALPHAS from the University of Minnesota went to the Minneapolis Marriott City Center to help decorate the ballroom for the second annual Author! Author! Benefit. The benefit helps fund charitable care for the Minneapolis Children's Medical Center. The evening consists of book sales and signing, a silent auction, dinner and entertainment. The event has proven to be very successful, raising more than $100,000 each year.

Where friendships grow

Pi Beta Phi's Mentoring & Networking Program

In 1995, Pi Beta Phi's Directions Program got a new look and a new emphasis. To oversee the expansion of the program, Grand Council moved Directions under the jurisdiction of the Director of Membership Kay Knittle Brock. In addition, a national committee of six women was appointed. Clubs in larger cities appointed a Directions Coordinator, whose function is to promote Directions within her club as well as collect and send enrollment forms to Central Office.

The database of resource people has been increased and updated. In December, a questionnaire was sent to all members currently enrolled in the program. Individual Pi Phis were able to update Central Office records ensuring that the information provided through the program is current. So far in the 1994-95 academic year, approximately 500 requests for Directions information have been filled. The Fraternity is better able to send members what they want, expect and need.

Kay has brought a new emphasis to the program in meeting the needs of today's women and widening the personal communication channel between members. Among other goals in reorganizing Directions, Kay wanted to redefine the purpose of the program and educate members on how to participate and what to expect. In achieving that goal, beginning this summer, members who register with Directions will be given guidelines for the program.

I am a recent graduate of Texas Tech University where I was an active member of the Texas Gamma Chapter of Pi Beta Phi. I am currently living in Texas, but plan to move to the Denver (Fort Collins/Loveland) Colorado area in August 1995. I have a degree in food technology and I am certified to teach elementary and early childhood education. I am also interested in information concerning a career in flight attending.

I was very excited when I saw the Directions article in The ARROW. Thank you very much for offering this service! I hope to one day become a mentor for a needy Pi Phi moving to a new area! Thank you again.

Evelyn Peters Kyle Award

Originally presented in 1971 by the Alumnae Directors and the Alumnae Province Presidents, this annual award is for club service. The intent of this award is to honor an alumna for exceptional service to an alumnae club by performing those duties often unrecognized; for example, service on telephone committees, arrangements, hospitality, etc. Judging criteria include: promoting the ideals of Pi Beta Phi, reliability, initiative, consistent contribution to well-being of her club, unstinting loyalty.

Emma Harper Turner Award

Announced at the 1993 Convention in recognition of the establishment of the Alumnae Department in 1893, this annual award is for club leadership. The intent of this award is to honor an alumna for exceptional leadership on the local club level in Pi Beta Phi. Serving as an effective alumnae club officer, aiding in recruiting and maintaining dues-paying members, acting as a role model in promoting Pi Phi loyalty, displaying creativity and flexibility in programming, encouraging long-range planning in her club, and broadening the scope of local alumnae by promoting the international aspects of the Fraternity are criteria for the award.

Travel with Pi Beta Phi

Pi Beta Phi travel opportunities are available to our members who enjoy traveling to interesting and exotic places, learning more about our world, and experiencing the companionship of friendly traveling partners. Pi Beta Phi travel opportunities let you take advantage of lower group costs—and allow our members to continue to strengthen the bonds of Pi Phi friendship. Trips are offered to members of Pi Phi, their family and friends. If you would like to be included on future mailings for coming trips, please call toll free (800) 633-1545 and ask for Claire or Lynn.

Family Ties

In the "Family Ties" article in the Spring 1995 issue, Flora Edmond Winton was listed as having two Pi Phi daughters. In fact, Mrs. Winton had three Pi Phi daughters. Her youngest daughter, Susan Winton Clevenger, was inadvertently omitted from the article. Mrs. Clevenger, a Texas Alpha and Golden Arrow Pi Phi, resides in Houston, Texas. We regret the error.

Pi Phi On Line

Pi Phi Printings, the quarterly online newsletter has been expanded to include Internet users. If you would like to sign up, send a message to Emily Russell Tarr, Director of Alumnae Records, PRODIGY #CSXC27A or Internet CSXC27A@prodigy.com. Network with other Pi Phis and keep up to date with Pi Phi online.

Financial Excellence

The following collegiate chapters have maintained outstanding financial cooperation for the 1994-95 academic year. The Chapter Treasurers of these chapters are eligible for the Olivia Smith Moore Award for the Chapter Treasurer who has best fulfilled the requirements of her office.

Women's Health Issue

An upcoming issue of The ARROW will focus on women's health issues. We would like to hear from members who are in the medical field, as well as those who have personal testimonies of enduring and surviving medical problems. Please send your contributions and ideas for this issue to The ARROW of Pi Beta Phi, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105.

Chapter Anniversaries

The NEW YORK ALPHA Chapter and Syracuse, New York Alumnae Club are making plans for the 100th anniversary celebration of the chapter. Many special events for a weekend celebration in April of 1996 are being planned. Help is needed in planning and contacting fellow alumnae. Please contact the chapter with an offer to assist.

INDIANA DELTA will celebrate its 75th anniversary the weekend of October 5, 1996. Organizers are seeking memorabilia for a historical presentation and members interested in serving on the planning committee. Please contact Carol Dora Murphy, 200 Quincey Street, West Lafayette, IN 47906 (317) 743-7700 or Shirley Gayda Dora, 5121 Green Braes E. Drive, Indianapolis, IN 46234 (317) 293-5094.

The Greek system at Texas Christian University will celebrate its 40th anniversary in fall of 1995 during Homecoming November 2-5. TEXAS DELTAS who would like more information may contact Jean Walbridge, 3021 Bigham Blvd., Fort Worth, TX 76116, (817) 738-8082.

Share the Benefits of A Greek Experience

Share information on Greek life with college-bound students you know. Call the National Interfraternity Conference at 317-872-1112 and order this kit containing informational brochures and a fast-paced 7-minute Greek life promotional video called Where Friends Become Family for only $10.

RECOGNIZING ALUMNAE WHO exhibit excellence and outstanding leadership in their professions and careers or service to their communities

MARJORIE MONTGOMERY BOWKER
ALBERTA ALPHA
UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA
EDMONTON, ALBERTA, CANADA
PROFESSION: RETIRED JUDGE OF FAMILY
AND JUVENILE COURTS OF ALBERTA

Alberta Alpha Marjorie Bowker served Alberta, Canada as Family and Juvenile Courts Judge for seventeen years, not only exhibiting excellence and leadership in her profession, but service to her country, Canada, and the community as well. In her judicial capacity, with the aid of a federal grant, she was instrumental in 1972 in establishing a court-centered Marriage Conciliation Service, in the Family Court of Edmonton. The first of its kind in Canada, it is aimed at preventing divorce, reducing divorce and conciliating differences created by divorce. The service would become a model for other courts in Canada, as well as in Australia. Partly in recognition of her work in this field, she was awarded the Queen Elizabeth Silver Jubilee Medal in 1978.

Published in 1988, her book on the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement, entitled "On Guard for Thee," was a national best seller. Her two books on the Constitution, "The Meech Lake Accord: What It Will Mean to You and to Canada" (1990) and "Canada's Constitutional Crisis: Making Sense of It All" (1991) were also best sellers and were commended for making complex constitutional issues understandable to the average citizen.

In 1989 Marjorie was named Woman of the Year by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Edmonton and given the Distinguished Canadian Award from the Council of Canadians in Ottawa. An honor for which she is most proud is the Order of Canada, the highest civilian award in Canada's honors system, emphasizing lifetime achievement. She received the award in 1990. This February, Marjorie was named to the Alumni Wall of Recognition which honors distinguished alumni of the University of Alberta.

Although retired from the court, Marjorie continues to counsel on a one-on-one basis, and is sought after as a speaker and mediator for her profession.

CATHERINE NELSON EVANS
TEXAS GAMMA
TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY
ARLINGTON, TEXAS
COMMUNITY: VOLUNTEER

Catherine Evans' volunteerism has touched the whole of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex for the past 30 years. A Texas Gamma, her expertise in community and urban affairs has been sought by community boards, mayors and United States legislators.

Accompanied by a sound sense of integrity, gracious manner, depth of knowledge, untiring diligence and a skillful finesse, Catherine's interests and efforts have impacted community needs in a variety of arenas.

Catherine's honors and awards for her volunteerism have dated from 1968. Most recently she was named Tarrant County Legacy of Women Volunteer of the Year. The Women's Shelter, Inc. of Fort Worth sponsors the awards program to call attention to the accomplishments of women in areas where the shelter serves victims of domestic violence.

Since 1989, she has served on the board of directors for United Way of Metropolitan Tarrant County, for the past three years as board vice chairman and Community Initiatives and Allocations Division Chairman. In 1991, Catherine was named United Way Volunteer of the Year for Metropolitan Tarrant County. She serves on the board of directors for The Parenting Center. Catherine represents Tarrant County Commissioner's Court while serving on the Sheriff's Department Civil Service Commission. A former president of Mortar Board, Inc. and Mortar Board National Foundation, Catherine served four years during its transition to a co-ed honor society. Catherine is board vice president for Challenge, Inc., a substance abuse advisory and advocacy agency. She volunteered as chairman of Arlington Human Service Planners for three years and served on the Coordinating Board another seven.

Catherine's most recent endeavor is fund-raising chairman for a multi-million dollar retirement center sponsored by the United Methodist Church Central Texas Conference.

JUDITH JOHNSON FRICK
WISCONSIN ALPHA
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
WICHITA, KANSAS
COMMUNITY: CHILD ADVOCATE

For seventeen years, Wisconsin Alpha Judy Frick has concentrated her career on child advocacy. Many organizations in Wichita, Kansas have benefited from her outstanding leadership abilities. In 1978, the three Junior Leagues of Kansas formed Kansas Action for Children, Inc. (KAC), a statewide child advocacy organization. When Judy Frick was called on to assume the presidency, KAC was struggling. At the end of Judy's three years as president, KAC employed a full-time executive director and had completed several major projects including a statewide project to promote the revision of the outdated Kansas Juvenile Code, and a project to promote the knowledge and use of the new Kansas Juvenile Code with an emphasis on permanency planning for children in foster care. Today, KAC is a very successful statewide advocacy organization participating in projects such as Kids Count, teen pregnancy prevention, child care policy and citizen review boards.

Judy has been a presenter to the Governor's Conference on the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect. In 1989 she was appointed for a three-year term to the U.S. Advisory Board on Child Abuse and Neglect for the Secretary of Health and Human Services, and in 1988 she received the Friend of CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocate) Award.

After many years of helping children voluntarily, Judy was hired as the executive director of Wichita/Sedgwick County Cities in Schools, Inc. (CIS) in 1990. CIS is a private nonprofit dropout prevention program which seeks to redirect community services through the school. Through her efforts during the 1993-94 school year, CIS served 880 children and their families by way of site coordinators, 41 staff persons on loan from human service agencies and 200 volunteers. The loaned staff and volunteers represented 95 different agencies, businesses, civic and religious groups, colleges and universities, and they contributed 21,000 volunteer hours to help children at project schools.

MARILYN HORNE
CALIFORNIA GAMMA
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
NEW YORK CITY, NEW YORK
PROFESSION: OPERA SINGER

For four decades mezzo-soprano Marilyn Horne, California Gamma, has been gracing operatic stages around the world.

Among her many honors, Marilyn received New York's highest cultural award, The Handel Medallion in 1980, for her outstanding contribution to the arts in New York City. She received the Covent Garden Silver Medal for Outstanding Service in 1989 which marked the 25th anniversary of her debut at The Royal Opera House, and in 1990 the San Francisco Opera's

Silver Medal for 30 years of extraordinary artistry. In 1992 Marilyn was honored by The National Endowment for the Arts when President Bush presented her with the coveted National Medal of Arts. The International Association of Opera Directors awarded her the prestigious Fidelio Gold Medal. Marilyn was the first American artist so honored. In 1993 she was the featured vocalist at the Inauguration of President Clinton.

Marilyn has the distinction of being the only living artist selected by Jarold C. Schonberg for his New York Times list of the nine "all-time, all-star singers in the Met's (Metropolitan Opera's) 100 years."

A first for Marilyn in 1994 was the Marilyn Home Vocal Workshop at Carnegie Hall. The intensive five-day workshop of seminars and masterclasses gave some of the country's brightest young artists the opportunity to learn and be coached by the esteemed singer. To further education of artists, Marilyn established The Marilyn Home Foundation, a nonprofit organization devoted to the art of the vocal recital. The foundation's purpose is to provide grants to musicians and presenters to create more performance opportunities for singers; educational programs for grade-school children; and song commissions for American composers.

Future projects for Marilyn include serving as Voice Program Director Designate and Artist-in-Residence of the summer institute at the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, where she will be full time as of the summer of 1997.

"In Pi Phi we set goals and figured out how to achieve them. Our chapter capitalized on the diversity and individual talents of the membership and always tried to work together as a team. We learned basic organizational skills—especially time management. We knew our strengths, focused on them, and worked to present our best side. Does all this resemble a blueprint for successful political leadership? You bet! Though I never guessed it at the time, those Pi Phi years were preparing me for a most exciting and satisfying future in politics."

ROSEANN KNAUER BENTLEY was elected to the Missouri Senate in November 1994. The Missouri Alpha represents Missouri's 30th senatorial district, which encompasses the city of Springfield and the southeast quadrant of Greene County. Senator Bentley serves on six senate committees, including Aging, Families & Mental Health; Elections, Pensions & Veteran Affairs and Ways and Means. A Springfield community leader and strong proponent of education, Senator Bentley has served two terms as president of the Missouri State Board of Education and the Springfield School Board. She went on to become president of the National Association of State Boards of Education—the only Missourian to hold that position.

"My experience at Texas Beta during my formative years gave me an early, and life-lasting grounding and appreciation of group efforts and the natural politics of how to accomplish objectives. This has sustained me in a business career and now in politics."

—KATE FOWLER MARKHAM
TEXAS BETA

President of the Lake Tahoe, Nevada Republican Women's Club

Missouri Alpha LYNN GARDNER HINKLE has been active in politics since college days, when she coordinated campus activities for Congressman Jerry Litton in his 1976 campaign for the U.S. Senate. She received her Bachelor's of Journalism degree from the University of Missouri in 1979, and moved to Topeka, Kansas to work in a politically active advertising firm. In 1985, she bought the advertising firm's assets, and expanded its services to include public and governmental relations. Lynn's interest in supporting women in politics led her, in 1993, to create a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization to provide political leadership training to women candidates in emerging democracies. Women of the World (WOW) is a (501)(c)(3) charitable organization, and in its first year trained more than 125 women in the former Soviet Union.

1993 Convention Honor Initiate BETTY GREEN SIMS is serving her first term as Missouri State Senator. A Missouri Beta, she has been active in the St. Louis community for years and was recognized as 1993 Fundraising Volunteer of the Year by the National Society of Fundraising Executives. The United Way of Greater St. Louis, Girl Scout Council and Salvation Army are among the groups benefiting from Betty's volunteer efforts. Betty, a consultant for small business owners, was Administrative Assistant for the Danforth for Senate campaign in 1987.

After having two children, Michigan Gamma KAREN BATCHELLOR COOLMAN AMLONG flipped a coin to decide whether to join Junior League or the National Organization for Women; NOW won. She helped form the local chapter, became Florida State Coordinator and eventually served on NOW's national board of directors. Because of her involvement with the women's movement, she became interested in politics and in 1974 was elected to the Florida House of Representatives. She was 27 and the first woman ever to be elected to the Legislature from her county. She served one term, then decided to retire and go to law school. Now in private practice, Karen remains active in politics by personally strategizing and running campaigns and contributing financially.

Nevada Alpha KATHLEEN DANIELS RILEY is Chief of the Consular Section in Jerusalem for the United States Department of State. In 1984 Kathy joined the Diplomatic Corps and has been posted in Morocco, Haiti, Cairo, and is currently in Jerusalem, mid-way through her three-year tour of duty. Kathy's mother, Nevada Alpha Rita Laing Daniels, says she is often asked what her daughter does for the State Department. "All I am able to say is, 'She helps Americans who get into trouble.'" In the fall of 1994, Kathy was in charge of an operation to extricate an American woman who was being held captive. In the United States Department of State magazine Kathy was quoted, "With war or peace, you're still going to have lost Americans requiring our services. You're going to have Americans here who get hurt in accidents or who become mentally disturbed. You're going to have family disputes and natural disasters. In fact, the more calm the political situation becomes, the more American tourists we'll have."

Ohio Beta SUSAN HICKOX ANDERSON is Clark County Ohio's first woman judge. Following graduation from The Ohio State University, she was associated with marketing and public relations, was instrumental in obtaining funding from local women's organizations, and served as home-school coordinator for public schools. In 1982, she received a law degree from the University of Dayton. Prior to her appointment as municipal court judge in 1991, she served as assistant county prosecutor.

HELEN STEIGER KELLICUT, Washington Gamma, began her political career at the grassroots level when she joined a Republican women's club in 1977. Since then she has held many leadership positions in both the Republican Women's Federation and the Republican Party, and has worked for and advised numerous GOP candidates. Current president of the Montana Federation of Republican Women, she also serves on the board of directors for the National Federation of Republican Women. A longtime advocate of expanding the role of women in politics, Helen has emphasized the need for more women as policy-makers on Montana boards and commissions and has assisted the governor's office in identifying qualified women for these positions. "In Pi Phi we set goals and figured out how to achieve them. Our chapter capitalized on the diversity and individual talents of the membership and always tried to work together as a team. We learned basic organizational skills—especially time management. We knew our strengths, focused on them, and worked to present our best side. Does all this resemble a blueprint for successful political leadership? You bet! Though I never guessed it at the time, those Pi Phi years were preparing me for a most exciting and satisfying future in politics."

Wyoming Alpha THYRA GODFREY THOMSON was six times elected by Wyoming voters as Secretary of State when she chose to retire at the end of 1986. As ex officio lieutenant governor she served as acting governor in the absence of three chief executives, both Republican and Democrat. The National Conference of Lieutenant Governors three times elected her vice president. Thyra is the only woman elected president of the North American Securities Administrators—a rare distinction in the field of regulating capital markets. She was named an International Woman of Distinction by women educators, a Distinguished Alumna by the University of Wyoming and a Woman of Achievement by press women. "What did Pi Phi do for me? First off and probably most important, Pi Phi gave me a self confidence which served me the rest of my life, no matter what the venue, endeavor or culture I encountered. Secondly, my Pi Phi experience taught me to appreciate and enjoy. I still am an active, dues-paying alumna."

Missouri Gamma BETTY COLE DUKERT was named senior producer of "Meet The Press," network television's longest running program, in August 1992. She has spent almost her entire career at NBC in Washington, beginning in 1952. She joined "Meet The Press" as an associate producer in 1956 and became producer in 1975.

While based in Washington, Betty spanned much of the globe with "Meet The Press." She has traveled with the broadcast throughout the U.S., Canada, most of Europe, Chile, the Phillipines, Lebanon, India, Israel and South Vietnam, for an exclusive interview with newly elected President Nguyen Van Thieu in 1967.

Betty has been the recipient of numerous awards throughout her forty-year NBC career. In June 1991, she was elected to the Hall of Fame Society of Professional Journalists, Washington D.C. Chapter. She received a University of Missouri School of Journalism Honor Medal for Distinguished Service in Journalism in November 1993. The medal, one of the oldest international awards in journalism, is awarded for career-long excellence. Past recipients have included David Brinkley, Walter Cronkite, Winston Churchill and John Chancellor.
