Pi Beta Phi's Financial Health

As Grand Vice President of Finance, my responsibility is to oversee the management of Fraternity assets and financial operations. I do this with help from the Accounting Department in Central Office, led by Illinois Zeta Mary Mitch Mullendore.

Fraternity assets include cash and short-term investments; investments in high quality, government-backed securities; stocks and bonds; mortgages on chapter houses; inventory for resale, including official jewelry, supplies and Pi Phi Express; and property. The majority of our property is in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, but also includes Holt House and Central Office furnishings and equipment.

A significant portion of our investment holdings are in a trust set up in May 1929 at Harris Bank in Chicago, Illinois. The Fraternity's investment policy is a conservative one. The goals are to preserve capital, to keep pace with inflation and to secure income for qualifying programming and operations.

Pi Beta Phi's liabilities are limited. We carry no long-term debt. In the past fiscal year, short-term payables were higher than usual, primarily because convention took place at year end. The only other liability is funds being held for chapters who have relinquished their charters. These funds will be returned to chapters if and when they recolonize on their respective campuses.

Pi Beta Phi is heavily dependent on dues and fees from members for general operations. More than 40 percent of our $3 million-plus annual budget comes from dues and fees. Much of the other revenue is restricted for particular uses or for reimbursements or repurchases. It is unavailable for general operations. Pi Phi has been granted tax-exempt status under Section 501(c)(7) of the tax code, which means that income from investments and other non-member sources may be used only for educational or philanthropic purposes. Only a portion of our activities and programming qualify under the rather strict IRS guidelines for funding from these sources. For example, no expenses associated with the publication and distribution of The ARROW may be paid for with income from investments.

Pi Beta Phi's annual budgets are relatively modest in relation to the scope of our activities, programs and membership services. Our pool of dedicated volunteers give generously of their time, talents and expertise. Without these volunteers, we would have to curtail many of our activities or incur significant additional expenses.

Major expenses include Central Office operations; chapter support which includes the consultant program; publication and distribution of The ARROW; club support; extension; conventions and officer leadership training. We operate on a two-year cycle with higher revenues and expenses during convention years. We budget for a slight surplus over each two-year cycle.

Pi Beta Phi today is financially sound because the officers who have served through the years were wise and careful stewards of Fraternity resources. Each member of Grand Council takes her financial responsibilities seriously. We all know we must continue to preserve the assets of the Fraternity so that Pi Phi will maintain its premier standing in the Greek world. We pledge to do our best to fulfill our responsibilities.

*In this special issue
about breast cancer awareness, two Pi Phi health professionals reveal the secrets to maintaining good health.
And it's easier than you may think.*

During Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October, collegiate and alumnae members of Pi Beta Phi remembered loved ones who have lost breasts and lives to the disease. Breast cancer affects the women we know and love—our mothers, our grandmothers, our friends, our co-workers. The disease scares us with its prevalence and erodes our confidence with its presence.

We've all heard the bad news. Breast cancer affects one in eight women. It's the second leading cause of death among women, killing one woman every 12 minutes. But Breast Cancer Awareness Month was about spreading facts, not fear. The good news is that if caught early, women have a 93 percent chance of surviving breast cancer.

In this issue, two Pi Phis provide some easy tips about how to increase the chances of survival while improving your quality of life. A breast cancer specialist, S. Chace Lottich is founder and director of The Center for Women's Health. She shares her advice about treatment and education. Clare Buie Chaney, who counsels oncology patients, reveals how she helps them deal with the emotional anguish that often accompanies cancer. Read on to discover the importance of early detection and active involvement in your own health.

THE REAL ROAD TO WELLVILLE

ating right and staying fit seem to be catch phrases for the '90s. While these are indeed important, good health is about more than chomping leafy greens and crunching abdominals. For North Carolina Beta S. Chace Lottich, good health starts with a woman's decision to take control of her own well-being. "Women need to stay actively involved in and educated about their own health," she says.

In a survey of breast cancer survivors conducted by Self magazine, 58 percent of women said that they were the person most in charge of their own care and treatment. Chace gives women the perfect opportunity for this involvement at The Center for Women's Health. The center is a medical facility in Indianapolis, Indiana, where Chace and a team of radiologic technologists, patient educators and nurse practitioners treat the entire gamut of breast conditions. These professionals provide complete support through education, diagnosis, treatment and an extensive resource network in a friendly, considerate atmosphere. "We have the capacity to make a complete diagnosis at the center," Chace says. "Women will know what is wrong with them before they leave the office."

Chace explains that breast cancer starts like rust in the ducts, or pipes, that run from the nipple to the mammary glands in the breast. If the cancer is caught before it leaves the pipes, it can be cured with little damage to the breast. When the cancer grows outside of the pipes it becomes more dangerous.

Early detection, through routine mammograms and monthly breast self examinations is the key to arresting the development of cancer. "If caught early, breast cancer can be cured without the woman losing her breast or her life," Chace says. Women must demand superior care from their doctors.

"In some cases, cancer is missed partly because of the physician and partly because the women did not push for a thorough examination," Chace says. And although there is no way to prevent breast cancer, exercise and good nutrition can help women protect themselves.

Women need to stay actively involved in and educated about their own health.

Chace warns against the false sense of security that comes from thinking breast cancer is genetic. "Only five percent of breast cancer patients have a strong family history of the disease. Breast cancer occurs at a one in eight risk in women. So, if you are a woman, and you are getting older, you are at risk."

For women who have recently been diagnosed, Chace recommends taking things slowly. "Women can take their time before making a decision about treatment," she says. "There is never an emergency in breast cancer." Chace advises women to assemble a support team of friends, family and loved ones and to stay away from unsupportive people. A woman dealing with breast cancer should find a team of doctors who will give her all the information she needs and will work with her. "It is important for women to feel in control of the situation," Chace says. "A good team of doctors should support her in that."

Chace first became interested in helping women with breast disease in high school. While working at a retail clothing store, Chace developed a close friendship with a manager who was diagnosed with breast cancer. "Knowing her as a human being before knowing her as a patient made me realize how badly the medical profession could treat women." After receiving her bachelors degree in chemistry and medical degree at Duke University in North Carolina, Chace dedicated her work to ensuring that women are treated with respect and compassion.

It Only Hurts When I DON'T Laugh...

OR CLARE BUIE CHACE'S 12 STEPS TO RECOVERY OF A SENSE OF HUMOR

1. Expect the best, but prepare for the worst. Choose your own personal punch line to have ready for your next crisis.

Here are some favorites:

- Hakuna Matata. (No worries, from "The Lion King.")
- Are we having fun yet?
- Calgon, take me away.
- Beam me up, Scotty.
- Take it back. This is not what I ordered.
- Discover wildlife. Have kids.
- I'd rather be ...(sailing, dancing, skiing.)
- I refuse to be intimidated by reality.
- We're not in Kansas anymore.

2. Make up a joke about your problem. For example, "The bad news is the chemotherapy made all my hair fall out. The good news is that I was eligible for both leads in 'The King and I.'"

3. Exaggerate or diminish the upset until it's so absurd that you have to laugh. One business woman took her unaccepted budget request to a copier, made it the size of a postage stamp and then presented it as her "reduced" budget.

4. Recall a funny, playful time in your childhood. Decide what elements made it so, then make it part of your life today. Imagine yourself at age 100.

Looking back at your life, what fun would you regret having missed? Then do it!

5. Select an affirmation or visualization and say it or picture it often. Mine were: "Every day, in every way, I'm getting better and better." "This is a great opportunity brilliantly disguised as an impossible situation." "Don't sweat the small stuff, and it's all small stuff."

6. Practice optimism. Realizing a "could have been worse" scenario can keep things in balanced perspective.

7. Create your own unique prop power-laugh reminders. Some to include: "Candid Camera" reruns, funny movies, "I Love Lucy" comedies, zany photos, cartoons and joke books, masks, wigs, hats, costumes and gadgets. When my hair began falling out from chemo, I had my head shaved into a mohawk as I bade it farewell. Then I donned a Carmen Miranda fruit turban.

8. Encourage smiles and laughter. Place a "smiley face stick on" dot on your watch to remind you to smile.

9. Draw your "demon" or name your monster. My monster was a life care pump that used to beep all hours of the night. We named it R2D2 (from "Star Wars") and a relationship was born.

10. Let go. Write down your upsets, burn them or mail them to the North Pole. Caution: Do not put your return address on the envelope. I did and all my troubles were returned to me a few days later.

11. Discover the advantage to past disadvantages. Recall prior setbacks that you ultimately overcame and became beneficial to you. Before first grade, I panicked about whether I'd be able to learn to read—I can.

12. Learn to laugh at yourself. They say that angels can fly because they take themselves lightly.

CLARE BUIE CHANEY'S HOW-TO GUIDE ON BLOOMING WHERE YOU'RE PLANTED

Laughter is the best medicine," goes the old adage, and scientific findings concur. According to a recent study at Loma Linda University Medical School in California, laughter spurs multiplication of T cells—the body's natural defense against disease. Texas Alpha Clare Buie Chaney did some research of her own. Diagnosed with leukemia 10 years ago, Clare investigated the healing power of humor. Now, with her leukemia in full remission for nine years, Clare is sharing her discovery that a giggle a day may help keep the doctor away. As a counselor, Clare teaches oncology patients to hone their sense of humor into a weapon to combat fear, frustration and despair—common side effects of cancer.

To help her patients, Clare uses jokes, silly props and funny stories to induce laughter. "It almost seems irreverent, but sometimes my patients and I are virtually rolling on the floor from laughing," she says. Laughter is powerful medicine because it allows a patient to achieve a bit of distance from the situation. By looking outside of oneself, a patient can gain a better perspective and can make more educated decisions. In addition, laughter has proven medical benefits. A good belly laugh lowers blood pressure and releases endorphins—the body's natural pain killer and anti-depressant. "So, if patients don't want to take anti-depressant drugs, they can just have a good laugh," Clare says. (For a good laugh, check out Clare's "12 Steps to Recovery of a Sense of Humor" on Page 6.)

Yet, learning to live with cancer requires more than an extended stay at Laugh-In or a week's worth of "I Love Lucy" reruns. Clare takes two approaches in her counseling. First, she encourages patients to undergo what she calls "cognition restructuring." The idea, put simply, is to teach people to reframe their point of view. Instead of focusing on the physical pain of chemotherapy, for example, a "restructured" person would look at her balding head as the perfect forum for trying out new hair styles with a variety of wigs. This restructuring aligns the three aspects of personality—thoughts, feelings and actions. Often during crisis situations, people feel that their emotions are taking control. By learning to think positively and engage in productive and fun activities, people can take charge of their emotions. "It's like that old saying, 'I cannot change the wind, but I can adjust my sails,'" Clare says.

“Laughter is a powerful medicine because it allows a patient to achieve a bit of distance from the situation.”

Through her practice, Clare also teaches cancer patients to find happiness inside of themselves. She helps people find ways of dealing with their feelings of fear, anger and frustration—feelings that could block the path to healing. "I tell my patients that I can't take away your pain, but I can diminish your suffering," she says. Inner happiness can be found through meditation, spiritual exercises, communing with loved ones and,

BREAST EXAMINATION GUIDELINES

According to Dr. Lottich

Before 40 years old

1. Examine breast monthly
2. Have a physical breast exam by a physician every three years
3. Have your first mammogram on or before your 40th birthday. This test should be earlier if family history or symptoms indicate.

Between 40 and 49 years old

1. Examine breasts monthly
2. Have a physical breast exam by a physician every year.
3. Have a mammogram every one to two years.

Age 50 and older

1. Examine breasts monthly
2. Have a physical breast exam by a physician every year.
3. Have a mammogram every year.

of course, laughter. Clare says she found a great support network among her Pi Phi friends during her illness. Photographs from college days, letters and phones calls from Pi Phis helped Clare find inner happiness.

Before strategies, such as laughter and cognitive restructuring, can be effective, patients must grieve, Clare says. Experiencing the five stages of grieving—shock, anger, negotiation, despair and acceptance—is essential for patients who want to move forward and change their behaviors. From her own experience with cancer, Clare knows that trying to gloss over the sadness only exaggerates its effects. "After wasting energy trying to be brave and act perfectly, I finally decided to spend my energy on crying and then move on," she says. "There is a therapeutic benefit to crying."

The bottom line, says Clare, is for people to believe that they can gain more control of their own destiny. In light of recent research and discoveries, Clare says that cancer is rarely the life-threatening disease it used to be. "Cancer has become more like a chronic illness, that can be controlled with current medication and treatment" she says. Early detection is one way to lessen the effects of disease. And hope is the best way to get through the rough patches. Through her own experience, Clare says she has gained a new, and healthier, perspective on life. "I have learned to reset priorities and live them out day to day. Now, I stop to smell the flowers, watch ants on the sidewalk and admire clouds rolling by."

In the end, lumps are found, malignancies are removed and lives are saved through awareness.

If you could make one wish, what would it be? My wish would be to find a cure for cancer—all cancers.

In light of the recent statistic that one in eight women will be diagnosed with breast cancer, I am confident that each of you has been touched by this disease. All women are at risk, including our grandmothers, mothers, sisters, friends and ourselves. But we can protect ourselves. In this breast cancer awareness issue, we hear from two Pi Phi professionals who work with and care for cancer patients. Our special thanks to Clare Buie Chaney and S. Chace Lottich for sharing their experiences and their expertise.

Pi Phis are not the only ones encouraging breast cancer awareness. What is the Greek world doing to deliver breast cancer prevention information? Five years ago, the National Panhellenic Conference, along with Glamour magazine, began its participation in the Glamour/Hanes Hand in Hand Breast-Health Education Program. This national breast health education program spread information via printed inserts in Hanes hosiery packages to more than 100 million women. The program communicated the importance of exercising, increasing dietary intake of fruits, vegetables and fiber, not smoking and moderating alcohol consumption in breast cancer prevention.

This information is important to women of all ages. As S. Chace Lottich says, all women who are getting older are at risk. Thus it is important to educate young women about adopting health-enhancing behaviors to reduce the risk of disease. As you can read in Collegiate News (page 12), our collegiate chapters are already involved in programs that promote good health.

Until my wish for a cure for cancer comes true, prevention and early detection are the keys for survival. Exercise, a healthy diet and breast self exams seem to be simple steps toward a long, healthy life.

As I edit this issue of The ARROW from my home where I am taking care of my new little angel, Sophie Alexandra, I wish you good health.

Arrowmont Adventures

A scholarship from Pi Beta Phi (Kansas City, Missouri-Shawnee Mission, Kansas Alumnae Club) allowed me to attend Arrowmont. I took the "Imagery in Weaving" course.

Arrowmont's reputation was familiar to me, and I thought I was prepared for what I would find there. But the actual experience surpassed my expectations. As a studio artist struggling to make ends meet by working juried shows, contacting galleries, talking with individuals for private commissions, etc., there is virtually no time to experiment at the loom or relax with other artists, sharing information and "war stories." Good old "think time" is practically nonexistent.

For one heavenly week, Arrowmont supplied remedies for all those ills. I visited with and learned from so many wonderful people. I worked hard, slept hard, ate like a queen, learned a weaving technique and produced a piece of fabric of which I am extremely proud. Each day I ate meals with a different group of artists while savoring culinary delights from the Arrowmont kitchen. After 10 hours in the studio every day, I enjoyed a solid, restful sleep that allowed me to wake up and jump into another idyllic day.

Thank you seems inadequate for the opportunity that was provided, but I mean it from the bottom of my heart. I only hope that I am able to return to Arrowmont for another session, another year, another dose of revitalization.

Colleen Myers and I chose Pi Phi Arts Weekend 1997 as our annual "Girls Weekend Out." Each year, we take a little retreat from reality and our "grown up" lives.

Colleen took a photography class where she learned to find her own way of looking at the world. At Arrowmont, Colleen discovered a whole new world of photography—people doing every day things. Colleen photographed the people around Arrowmont. And her photos became art and an extension of the way she views the world around her.

I signed up for woodworking and got a lot more out of the class than I bargained for.

On the first day of class, I took one look at the monster-like wood lathes, and thought I would be leaving Arrowmont a few digits short. I was intimidated and a little frightened, but I stayed and began turning my first cherry bowl. I didn't feel confident, and I asked for help every 10 seconds. And wouldn't you know it, my first bowl turned out to be a funnel.

I started with another block of wood, and after finishing four beautiful bowls, I was amazed at my abilities.

I think Colleen and I made one of the smartest choices by choosing to go to Pi Phi Arts Weekend at Arrowmont.

We both grew a little and had a tremendous adventure. By the way, I still have that funnel I made in wood-working class. I named it "Hunger," because it awoke a hunger inside of me—a hunger to boldly try new things.

Pi Phi Ties

I am writing to tell you about a most inspiring member who passed away this summer—my grandmother, Colorado Alpha Maxine Cooley Montgomery. My grandmother and I had been close before I pledged Pi Phi, but I credit Pi Phi for creating not only a sisterhood, but also a life-long friendship between us.

At times, it is difficult to have close relationships with grandparents. I grew up far away from my grandmother, seeing her only once a year. When I pledged Pi Phi, my grandmother was ecstatic. Our friendship blossomed from there. We began corresponding at least monthly. She told me stories of her college days, including memories of Cookie Shines and social events.

In November 1996, my grandmother was diagnosed with cancer. I was devastated that our friendship would be cut short. But I will always carry with me the memory of her as a spectacular woman, a devoted grandmother and a true Pi Beta Phi.

Nevada Alpha Mary Stone Lanove, an art teacher, painted this watercolor, titled "Hanna and George," during her summer class at Arrowmont.

Arrowmont— A Retreat for Art Educators

Teachers are probably the most commonly unsung heroes. Working hard throughout the academic year, they look forward to summer vacation almost as much as the students do. This year two art educators had a special reason to await the summer hiatus. It was not because they were eager for school to recess, but because they were bound for Arrowmont.

An art teacher from Kansas City, Missouri, Nevada Alpha Mary Stone Lanove won an Arrowmont scholarship that was sponsored by the Missouri Art Educators Association. Before receiving the scholarship, Mary had decided to use money from another grant to visit Arrowmont. "I chose to return to Arrowmont mainly for my students. After being there, I will come back to my students as a refreshed, renewed teacher," she says. It's a much needed vacation considering that Mary teaches more than 300 preschool to eighth-grade students.

During her two week summer session, Mary enrolled in a watercolor class taught by Cynthia Peterson. "Cynthia is a master teacher. I learned so much in just the first four days," Mary said. "There is so much talent at Arrowmont.

It's so intense that the campus vibrates with artistic energy."

A third generation artist, Mary realized her desire to follow in her mother's and grandmother's footsteps at an early age. She works mainly with watercolor, but also enjoys working with fabrics, ceramics, mixed-media, paper-making, quilting and drawing. "I would go crazy without art," Mary says. "I think we are all artists here, from the clothes we choose to wear to the food we choose to eat."

Mary plans to return to Arrowmont in May for Pi Phi Arts Weekend.

Madison County, Illinois Arts Council President Linda Baierlein was thrilled when she won the Missouri Art Educators Association watercolor contest. The grand prize was a scholarship to Arrowmont where Linda enrolled in a paper-making class taught by Ted Ramsay. "My experience here at Arrowmont has gone beyond my expectations," she said. "It's the best therapy one can get, like a cleansing of the soul. Ted has made this class feel almost magical."

After college, Linda started a business and kept art as a hobby. But she soon sold her business and began teaching art. "As a teacher you make a difference in young lives," she says. Linda teaches elementary children, but plans on teaching high-school students eventually. Talking to Linda makes it easy to see why she is making a difference in the young students she teaches. Her enthusiasm for art is contagious.

Arrowmont Artist-in-Residence Andy Shaw uses a mechanical wheel to throw clay pots during a presentation at Pi Beta Phi's 61st Biennial Convention.

Update from Convention

At Pi Beta Phi's 61st Biennial Convention, Paula Chairmonte, Director of Development, displayed color photographs and information about Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts. The display provided Pi Phis with current news about Arrowmont's educational programs, gallery exhibitions and conferences. Photographs of the new buildings constructed on campus since the capital campaign of the early 1990s gave visitors a glimpse of the new wood studio, the painting and drawing studio and the new dormitory.

Paula and other members of the development department also promoted the wood studio's "woodworkers walk" paved area. Pi Phis had the opportunity to purchase engraved bricks and pavers. Proceeds will purchase equipment for the studio.

Dawn Ford, Chairman of the Board of Governors, and Sandra Blain, Director of Arrowmont, presented programs about the school's development and aired the new "Arrowmont: 50 Year History" video. Arrowmont faculty member Ellen Zahorec expressed her love of the school during a heartfelt talk. Later, two resident artists demonstrated their crafts.

Collegiate News

The CONNECTICUT ALPHA Chapter at the University of Connecticut hosted several health-related programs including a self-defense class, a film and discussion about eating disorders and a presentation about the new "date rape drug."

During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week at the University of Maine, members of the MAINE ALPHA Chapter agreed to abstain from drinking alcohol for the week. As an alcohol-free activity, members went on a dessert rampage at a local restaurant.

The NEW YORK EPSILON Chapter at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute supported National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week by hosting a speaker who discussed alcohol abuse awareness. Other risk management programs included a presentation about the dangers of eating disorders and a workshop stressing the importance of fitness and good nutrition.

The NEW YORK ALPHA Chapter hosted a nutritionist from Syracuse University who discussed weight loss, body image and eating disorders. The speaker dispelled common myths about dieting and explained the importance of good nutrition.

To celebrate National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the PENNSYLVANIA IOTA Chapter at the University of Pennsylvania hosted a non-alcoholic "mocktails" party with members of other Greek groups.

Members of the FLORIDA EPSILON Chapter at the University of Central Florida volunteer at a local child-watch program. The program finds missing children and prevents abductions.

PENNSYLVANIA KAPPAS Veronica Tabaras, Loredana Dhiodi, Dee Carroll and Carisa Martin volunteer as "health peer educators" at Lehigh University. In this role, they meet with other students to discuss important health concerns. Shannon Rafferty and Cheryl Padula work as Certified Personal Trainers in the campus gym.

The PENNSYLVANIA EPSILON Chapter at Pennsylvania State University sponsored a program about skin cancer. After watching a video from the campus health department, members discussed the dangers and symptoms of skin cancer.

In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the PENNSYLVANIA ZETA Chapter learned about Washington and Jefferson College's new alcohol policies, which were implemented to discourage underage drinking. The chapter attended a spaghetti dinner where they discussed different aspects of good nutrition.

The VIRGINIA EPSILON Chapter organized an Eating Disorders Programming session at which speakers from the University of Virginia's Women's Center presented information about eating disorders. The chapter invited a police officer from the area crime-prevention center to speak about personal safety. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter conducted an open discussion about alcohol-related issues prevalent on campus.

The VIRGINIA ZETA Chapter hosted a speaker from the Women's Center at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. The speaker discussed eating disorders, including how to get help and treatment and common tell-tale signals that someone has a problem. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, members attended a program titled "The Four Stages of Alcoholism" at the campus student center.

The MICHIGAN ALPHA Chapter at Hillsdale College sponsored a speaker from the NutraCare Center of a local hospital. The speaker, a counselor for patients with eating disorders, described the symptoms and dangers of anorexia and bulimia. She also offered advice about helping a friend with the disease. At another meeting, the chapter sponsored a speaker from the American Cancer Society to discuss the health risks associated with smoking.

The ARKANSAS BETA Chapter at the University of Arkansas Little Rock participated in a Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure run/walk benefiting breast cancer education, screening and treatment for underserved communities in the state, support programs for breast cancer survivors, and national research.

For this issue, The ARROW asked collegiate chapters to describe the programs and activities they sponsor in the name of good health. The response was overwhelming, proving that our chapters are finding innovative ways to ensure healthy living. From ocean to ocean, Pi Phis are engaging in frank discussions about the hazards of eating disorders and alcohol abuse and the importance of self defense and healthy lifestyles.

The NORTH CAROLINA BETA Chapter at Duke University hosted a presentation during which a chapter member shared her personal battle with anorexia and bulimia. The president of ESTEEM, a campus group that addresses many women's health issues, spoke about her encounters with eating disorders. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, chapter members attended a presentation about the psychological and physical health risks associated with alcohol abuse.

Members of the VIRGINIA THETA Chapter attended a discussion about eating disorders presented by a nutritionist from the University of Virginia. The program included interactive activities designed to teach the effects of undereating and overeating. The chapter also participated in a seminar about the dangers of smoking, presented by Vice President of Mental Advancement Laura Cohen.

VIRGINIA GAMMA Joanne Watters organized a sexual assault forum for students at the College of William and Mary in an attempt to foster awareness of the problems of assault which often plague campuses. The chapter also conducted a workshop about eating disorders.

The FLORIDA DELTA Chapter at the University of Florida watched a video about alcohol and its role in date rape and campus violence. Another video described the dangers of eating disorders. At each social event, 10 chapter members volunteer as designated drivers. The chapter sponsored speakers about AIDS awareness, the dangers of smoking, and the importance of good nutrition and fitness.

The OHIO EPSILON Chapter participated in the University of Toledo's third annual Alcohol Awareness Week in February. The week includes daily activities, such as a basketball tournament, casino night, "mocktail" parties in Greek Village and speakers. The chapter has worked throughout the year raising money and collecting donations from local businesses for the week. Proceeds go to the local Mothers Against Drunk Driving program.

During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the VIRGINIA DELTA Chapter at Old Dominion University listened to a speaker from Mothers Against Drunk Driving. Throughout the year, the chapter sponsors programs about eating disorders and alcohol abuse.

In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, members of the ALABAMA BETA Chapter at the University of Alabama created posters about alcohol abuse to be displayed throughout campus.

The FLORIDA ALPHA Chapter at Stetson University attended programs about alcohol awareness and domestic violence. Chapter members have a wallet-size card with each members' phone number on it. Two members serve as "safe rides" for the chapter each week.

The OHIO IOTA Chapter sponsored a nutrition and eating habits workshop. A health and nutrition professor at the University of Dayton spoke about eating healthier foods and improving personal nutrition. In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter hosted a dinner to recognize the importance of fun in an alcohol-free environment.

The FLORIDA BETA Chapter at Florida State University invited a police officer to discuss the potential dangers young women face in a university setting, such as alcohol and drug abuse and violence against women. The officer outlined a few self-defense lessons.

The OHIO THETA Chapter at Bowling Green State University participated in the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation Race for the Cure in Toledo, Ohio. The race is a 3.1 mile run/walk, and proceeds go toward breast cancer research.

In continual efforts to maintain healthy lifestyles, the members of the OHIO ALPHA Chapter at Ohio University invite speakers to discuss health-related issues that affect college women. Recent speakers discussed issues including eating disorders, self defense and alcohol abuse.

The OHIO BETA Chapter attended a suicide prevention program presented by The Ohio State University counseling center. The speaker discussed the counseling services available to victims and bystanders of attempted suicides and explained what to do if a suicide situation occurs.

The KENTUCKY ALPHA Chapter attended a risk management program titled "Double Vision" that covered issues such as gender relations, date rape and alcohol awareness. The chapter also sponsored a speaker from Women First who discussed sexually transmitted diseases, breast cancer and eating disorders. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, chapter members participated in an alcohol-free tailgate party at the University of Louisville Homecoming festivities.

Collegiate News

Members of the ONTARIO GAMMA Chapter at the University of Guelph spent a day at a local spa to relax and revive for the stress of upcoming final exams. Members participated in the 1997 Terry Fox Run, an annual 10K run that supports cancer research.

The OHIO ETA Chapter at Denison University attended a retreat, which featured programs about self defense, nutrition and alcohol abuse.

The KENTUCKY BETA Chapter at the University of Kentucky emphasizes the importance of alcohol awareness by providing members with emergency crisis cards that list the phone numbers of local hospitals, police stations, campus security and rape awareness hot lines. Throughout the year, the chapter shows videos, hosts speakers and provides printed materials about eating disorders, personal safety and alcohol awareness.

The KENTUCKY GAMMA Chapter at Eastern Kentucky University sponsored two campus-wide health seminars last semester. A safety seminar promoted campus awareness and emergency techniques. A "Safe Sex in the '90s" seminar answered women's contemporary health questions.

The INDIANA ETA Chapter at Indiana-Purdue University at Fort Wayne sponsored an eating-disorders speaker.

The TENNESSEE BETA Chapter participated in an interactive, anti-smoking seminar conducted by Vanderbilt University medical students. The program included a computer program that changed photographs of students to show what they would look like after smoking for 30 years.

ILLINOIS EPSILON Trina Lorch organized a campus-wide benefit walk for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. Trina's brother is diabetic and her father serves on the executive board of the foundation. Many Northwestern University students participated in the walk. To further support good health, chapter members viewed a multi-media presentation about the dangers of sexually transmitted diseases and alcohol abuse. Molly Maiers is one of 60 Health Aides on the Northwestern University campus. In this role, Molly learns basic first aid as well as CPR and rescue.

The ILLINOIS ZETA Chapter at the University of Illinois sponsored an eating disorders presentation. During the program survivors of the disease discussed the physical and emotional implications of anorexia and bulimia. The chapter hosted a fitness and nutrition workshop to emphasize nutrition facts, fads and fallacies.

The INDIANA ALPHA Chapter at Franklin College sponsored a 48-hour smoke-out encouraging members to give up either smoking or caffeine. The chapter also held an eating disorders workshop to educate members about the importance of a healthy lifestyle.

The ILLINOIS BETA-DELTA Chapter at Knox College sold pink ribbons in support of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. They donated the proceeds to the Saint Mary's Institute for Women's Health in Galesburg, Illinois.

The INDIANA GAMMA Chapter at Butler University hosted a nutrition program to enlighten chapter members about the importance of good lifestyle choices. This program included a segment on the dangers of eating disorders and a discussion about the nutritional values of popular snack foods.

The members of the INDIANA EPSILON Chapter at DePauw University met with members of a neighboring fraternity for a discussion about sexual assault. Therapists from a local clinic facilitated the discussion, which served to open lines of communication between the sexes.

The INDIANA ZETA Chapter at Ball State University hosted a self-defense speaker. For National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter coordinated a kick ball tournament as a fun, alcohol-free alternative. The chapter also participated in alcohol-free spaghetti dinners, cookouts and "mocktail" contests.

The ILLINOIS ALPHA Chapter at Monmouth College plans only alcohol-free social exchanges. This enables members to have a good time, while avoiding the dangers of alcohol abuse. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, members attended a discussion about the effects of alcohol on the body. The chapter also sponsored a self-defense program.

Members of the ILLINOIS IOTA Chapter at Illinois State University participate in an alcohol-free cook-out with Sigma Alpha Epsilon and a pumpkin-carving party with the men of Alpha Tau Omega. The chapter also hosted a speaker about sexual assault and acquaintance rape. The program was open to the campus, and nearly 1,000 students attended.

Collegiate News

The LOUISIANA BETA Chapter at Louisiana State University hosted a doctor from a local emergency room to discuss the effects of alcohol abuse. The doctor described the numerous injuries and deaths he sees each day that are due to alcohol abuse. The chapter also sponsored a self-defense class and programs about date rape and eating disorders.

The NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA Chapter participated in Eating Disorder Awareness Week, which was sponsored by the University of North Dakota. During the week, members learned about the dangers of trying to be too thin and where to go for help. The chapter also sponsored a speaker from the campus learning center who discussed time management, study skills and goal setting.

The TENNESSEE DELTA Chapter at the University of Memphis sponsored an eating disorder speaker who discussed the negative body images that many women have due to the media and advertising. The chapter also sponsored breast cancer awareness and prevention activities, including wearing pink ribbons and participating in a philanthropic project to benefit breast cancer research. For National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, members attended a candlelight vigil to recognize the effects of alcohol abuse.

The MISSISSIPPI ALPHA Chapter at the University of Southern Mississippi sponsored a representative from the campus health clinic who discussed the dangers of smoking. An alumna who works at a local hospital spoke to the chapter about eating disorders and healthy lifestyle habits.

The MINNESOTA ALPHA Chapter at the University of Minnesota has five "health advocates," who provided members with breast cancer prevention information in conjunction with breast cancer awareness month. Minnesota Alpha Melissa Poncin is a "health architect" for the university's health clinic. In this position, she teaches health awareness and nutrition to all campus groups. For National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter sponsored a police officer who discussed the effects and consequences of alcohol abuse.

The IOWA GAMMA Chapter at Iowa State University hosted a police officer to discuss new alcohol laws, self defense and date rape. The officer informed members about the hazards of the new "date rape" drug. The chapter learned more about date rape during a speech given by a date rape victim who was attacked while attending college. In support of date rape awareness, chapter members marched in the "Take Back the Night" walk on campus. The chapter also sponsored a speaker on the hazards of eating disorders.

In support of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the WISCONSIN ALPHA Chapter at the University of Wisconsin sold pink ribbons for $5 each to benefit breast cancer research. The chapter also sponsored an AIDS awareness program with help from two medical students. The students educated members about sexually transmitted diseases, contraceptive use, pregnancy and AIDS. A local self-defense team visited the chapter to educate and motivate Pi Phis about how to protect themselves against an attack.

The KANSAS ALPHA Chapter at the University of Kansas attended "Friendship in the Age of AIDS," a personal discussion of HIV and AIDS presented by two fraternity men. For National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter attended events sponsored by GAMMA and participated in several alcohol-free social exchanges.

The KANSAS BETA Chapter at Kansas State University hosted a speaker from a local women's rights group to discuss rape and self-defense. In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, chapter members took the "alcohol challenge," a pledge to abstain from drinking alcohol during finals week. The chapter won first prize among Greek groups for having the greatest number of members who promised not to drink.

The TEXAS BETA Chapter at Southern Methodist University invited the father of a chapter member to speak about the dangers of smoking. A medical doctor, this Pi Phi "Pop" had a lasting and powerful effect on the chapter. The chapter also encourages healthy eating through a wide selection of "lite" dining choices available at the house.

The CALIFORNIA IOTA Chapter at California State University-Chico sponsored a health and fitness day during which members engaged in healthy activities. Chapter members also cleaned up the Chico community.

Collegiate News

The NEBRASKA GAMMA Chapter at Creighton University hosted a presentation about eating disorders and smoking. Members also attended a CPR class and meetings about alcohol awareness, nutrition and date rape.

The IOWA BETA Chapter at Simpson College hosted an eating disorders program. Members watched a video and discussed the effects of anorexia and bulimia. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter invited a speaker to tell her story of losing her children and husband in a drunk driving accident.

The IOWA ZETA Chapter at the University of Iowa sponsored speakers about eating disorders and self defense. These speakers discussed not only dangers, but also precautions for avoiding threatening situations. In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter sponsored a speaker who discussed the dangers of alcohol abuse.

The ARKANSAS ALPHA Chapter at the University of Arkansas promotes alcohol awareness through substance-free policies. Several members participated in the Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure run/walk benefiting breast cancer. Others volunteer at a local rape crisis hot-line.

At the CALIFORNIA BETA Chapter at the University of California at Berkeley, information about topics such as avoiding stress, time management, healthy diets and staying fit are posted around the house to keep members informed. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, chapter members attended a two-hour alcohol abuse and binge drinking seminar hosted by the campus panhellenic council.

The OKLAHOMA ALPHA Chapter at the University of Oklahoma established Pi Phi Safe Rides this year. The chapter also invites speakers to discuss health-related information. This semester's speakers included a psychologist who discussed eating disorders and an AIDS specialist who spoke about the epidemic. To promote fitness, the chapter added an exercise room to the house.

The OKLAHOMA BETA Chapter at Oklahoma State University sponsored an alcohol awareness program that outlined the effects of alcohol on young women. The chapter also sponsored a self-defense program that taught several techniques for escaping an attack. Chapter members attended a panel discussion by women who have suffered from eating disorders. This first-hand look at the disease taught members about the effects of anorexia and bulimia on the body and the mind. For National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter sponsored a speaker who discussed how alcohol abuse can break up friendships and families.

The TEXAS GAMMA Chapter sponsored an oncology nurse to discuss the dangers of breast cancer. The speaker shared a video and self examination cards with chapter members. The chapter also hosted an eating disorders program and a speaker on the importance of feminine hygiene.

The TEXAS EPSILON Chapter at the University of North Texas sponsored speakers on self defense and nutrition and fitness. The chapter donated money to the annual AIDS Lifewalk, which benefits AIDS research and service providers.

The TEXAS ALPHA Chapter hosted a speaker about self defense and a program about healthy eating. Members attended a presentation by the University of Texas Health Center about the effects of diet drugs.

The TEXAS ZETA Chapter incorporated women's issues into National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week. The chapter sponsored a speaker from Baylor University's Health and Education Department to offer insight about the detrimental effects of alcohol and smoking on the female body.

The CALIFORNIA ETA Chapter at the University of California-Irvine hosted several workshops about women's health, including "The Effects of Smoking and Drinking on Women," "You and Your Body Image" and "Cooking and Eating Healthy." During Health Awareness Week, the chapter supported a rape awareness and prevention play titled "Drawing the Shades."

The TEXAS ETA Chapter at Texas A & M University sponsored an eating disorders speaker who discussed the importance of healthy eating and good nutrition. In recognition of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter also hosted a speaker about alcohol awareness and the effects of alcohol on women. To raise awareness of regular care required for their cars, the chapter hosted mechanics from a local gas station to teach members about routine maintenance such as changing a tire, checking the oil and using jumper cables. Emergency repairs were also discussed.

ABOVE: In September, the Missouri Gamma Chapter at Drury College raised money for an AIDS Walk, which benefits AIDS research and education. The chapter also hosted a speaker from the nutrition center at St. John's Hospital to discuss eating disorders. During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter participated in the Students Against Drunk Driving Boxcar Derby. The chapter sponsored speakers about smoking, mental health and personal safety.

The MISSOURI BETA CHAPTER at Washington University conducted a self-defense workshop to teach members to protect themselves against an attacker.

The COLORADO GAMMA Chapter attending "Body Loathing, Body Love," a program about eating disorders sponsored by Colorado State University Panhellenic Council. Members learned about the emotional causes of eating disorders. The chapter also hosted a self-defense workshop in which members learned simple moves to employ if ever attacked. The chapter also developed a "Guardian Angel" program to provide safe rides on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

The NEW MEXICO ALPHA Chapter at the University of New Mexico schedules several speakers each semester to discuss time management, relaxation techniques, cultural awareness, eating disorders, date rape and nutrition. In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the chapter engaged in a Mothers Against Drunk Driving campaign during which they distributed red ribbons to all Greeks.

The COLORADO DELTA Chapter at the Colorado School of Mines participated in the American Cancer Society fund-raiser at Lookout Mountain. The fund-raiser involves a 4.6 mile climb to the mountain's summit. The proceeds benefit cancer research.

The WYOMING ALPHA Chapter at the University of Wyoming sponsored speakers about smoking and date rape this year. Members learned how to protect themselves from the growing trend of the "date rape" drug. In support of National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, members attended a presentation about drunk driving. The chapter also sponsored many non-alcoholic activities.

During Breast Cancer Awareness Week at Northern Arizona University, members of the ARIZONA GAMMA Chapter volunteered to cut the pink ribbons worn during the week. The chapter also participated in a symposium on breast cancer.

The MONTANA ALPHA Chapter at Montana State University sponsored an alcohol awareness speaker to inspire all Greeks to make healthy choices. The chapter is a team member of the National Interfraternity program "Our Chapter, Our Choice." In order to be a team member, Pi Phi underwent peer facilitation training.

The WASHINGTON BETA Chapter at Washington State University sponsored a professional counselor to discuss the warning signs and dangers of eating disorders. The chapter also participates in unexpected fire drills, alcohol-free exchanges with other Greek groups, and a buddy system for walking around campus.

The WASHINGTON GAMMA Chapter at the University of Puget Sound attended a seminar about alcohol awareness in September. The speaker, a psychological counselor who treats alcohol and drug problems, discussed the long-term effects of alcoholism and binge drinking. The chapter also sponsored a eating disorders speaker.

The NEVADA ALPHA Chapter at the University of Nevada strives to promote a healthy environment through fitness, good nutrition and alcohol awareness. At each social event, three members serve as "sober sisters," and provide rides home. A representative from the campus Women's Health Initiative visited the chapter to discuss sexual assault.

During National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week, the CALIFORNIA ALPHA Chapter at Stanford University invited speakers to share their experiences with alcohol abuse. The chapter also set up a booth to inform students about drinking responsibly and realizing the consequences of alcohol abuse. The chapter sponsored a series of discussions with nutritionists and other experts in the area of eating disorders, fitness and self-esteem.

The CALIFORNIA MU Chapter at Pepperdine University sponsored an eating disorders speaker. Members also participated in "white-face day" during National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week. During this campus-wide event, students painted their faces white and remained silent for the day to represent those killed by drunk drivers each day.

Honor Societies for Greeks

Gamma Sigma Alpha, an academic honor society for Greeks, was founded at the University of Southern California in November 1989 to recognize high academic achievements in the Greek community. Today there are more than 117 chapters of Gamma Sigma Alpha across the country.

In order to be eligible for membership in this honor society, fraternity men and women must be in good chapter standing and must have a 3.5 cumulative grade point average on a 4.0 scale in any semester as a junior or senior.

Pi Phis on campuses where there is a chapter of Gamma Sigma Alpha are encouraged to apply for membership. Pi Phis on campuses without a Gamma Sigma Alpha chapter can join with other fraternities and sororities in petitioning to establish a new chapter.

The Order of Omega is another Greek-affiliated honor society. It was founded at the University of Miami in the fall of 1959 by a group of outstanding fraternity men who felt that individuals in the Greek community should be recognized for their fraternity and university service. In 1977, the Order of Omega became a co-educational organization. Eligibility requirements are a grade point average above the all-Greek average and significant leadership within the Greek and/or campus community. Membership is limited to 3 percent of the total Greek population on campus.

Year of the Scholar

During 1997, the National Panhellenic Council sponsored the Year of the Scholar. Due to the widespread support and implementation of this academic program, NPC has extended it indefinitely.

In this spirit, Pi Beta Phi collegiate chapters will continue to create positive cultural changes in the academic performance of their members.

By working to ever increase the academic excellence of its members, chapters help promote academic enrichment programs in all Greek groups and increase interest in Greek membership among scholars.

As is obvious from the long list of collegiate chapters whose composite grade point averages is above a 3.0, Pi Beta Phi chapters have been successful in attracting top students. The following list, adapted from the National Panhellenic Council, offers some suggestions on how to keep up the good work:

Top 10 Ways to Celebrate Academic Excellence

1. Read literacy classics or contemporary novels for fun.
2. Attend a play or concert.
3. Visit a museum or art gallery.
4. Brush up on politics and foreign affairs.
5. Tour a local historical site.
6. Learn a new vocabulary word each day.
7. Encourage friends to achieve their academic potential.
8. Attend a professional conference or a lecture series.
9. Share your love of reading and learning with a child.
10. Celebrate the power of your mind and your potential.

Pi Beta Phi Foundation
1996–97 Update
Honor Roll of Donors

President's Message

As the Pi Beta Phi Foundation enters its eighth year the Trustees' commitment to fulfill the Foundation's mission remains strong and evident. And we realize that the accomplishments of the past year were possible because of the support from so many among the Pi Phi membership. For this we are most grateful.

During the 1996-97 fiscal year, nearly 10,000 Pi Phis contributed a record $465,774 in response to our annual appeal for the Friendship Fund. Donations to this fund are unrestricted which allow the Trustees to use these gifts where the need is greatest, including scholarships and fellowships, Emma Harper Turner Fund stipends, support of Arrowmont and Fraternity programming.

The year also saw an increase in restricted funds through the establishment of new endowments. Five undergraduate scholarships and an Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarship were fully endowed. A Chapter Leadership Education Endowment was fully funded and a previous gift to the Emma Harper Turner Fund allowed the Foundation to increase the monthly stipends as well.

This year the Foundation continued its support for Arrowmont with a $60,000 grant to the school for capital improvements. Through a bequest, the Foundation was able to grant funds to Holt House for much needed repairs to the house and for landscaping.

On behalf of the Trustees, I wish to thank the members of the various scholarship and fellowship committees and the Emma Harper Turner Fund Committee for their caring and diligent work. I also want to express great appreciation for our dedicated staff: Lynn Raney who is in her seventh year as Director; Julie Jones, Assistant Director, who joined us last fall when Mary Koronkowski resigned to move to the Atlanta area with her family; and Nancy White, Bookkeeper, who has been with us for four years.

My terms as trustee and president are completed, and I am very pleased Betty Lofton, former Grand Vice President of Philanthropies, has been elected to serve as the next Foundation President. Her wisdom and her six years experience as a trustee will assure continued success for the Foundation.

Those who received the Friendship Fund annual appeal last year were asked to complete the sentence "Pi Phis are" From the vantage point of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation my own response has to be "Pi Phis are generous." That generosity is making a significant difference to many other Pi Phis through scholarships, stipends to help sisters in severe financial need, educational programs and leadership training, and through support for Pi Phi's philanthropy at Arrowmont. We thank all of you who have given so generously to support the Foundation's mission.

Mission Statement

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation is committed to fund programs which promote the intellectual, ethical and leadership development of members of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity and, through its philanthropic efforts, to benefit the larger society.

Emma Harper Turner Fund

Established in 1946, the Emma Harper Turner Fund is a special part of Pi Phi's heritage. During the 1996-97 fiscal year, the fund provided monthly stipends, or "gifts of love," to 14 Pi Phi alumnae experiencing severe financial crises. Sponsored by Pi Phi friends, these alumnae received confidential assistance as authorized by the Emma Harper Turner Fund Committee.

Scholarships

More than $68,000 in scholarships and fellowships was awarded to Pi Phi collegians and alumnae during the 1996-97 academic year. Increasing the number of permanently endowed scholarships remains a top priority for the Foundation. Five undergraduate scholarships were endowed during the fiscal year including the Melissa Gail Aptman (established by the St. Louis, Missouri Alumnae Club & Sign of the Arrow), Betty Blades Lofton, Adele Collins Mason, Sarah Ruth Mullis, and the Dallas Alumnae Club (in honor of Ann Dudgeon Phy) Undergraduate Scholarships. One alumnae scholarship was endowed last year. The Adele Collins Mason Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarship as well as the Undergraduate Scholarship were created through a generous gift made by Jack Mason in memory of his wife.

Chapter Leadership Education Endowments

Chapter Leadership Education Endowments provide Pi Phi collegians the opportunity to acquire leadership skills valuable in their college experiences, future careers and in being productive, contributing members of society.

Developing the leadership potential of these young women will not only contribute to their individual growth but will also strengthen our collegiate chapters and improve Pi Beta Phi Fraternity as a whole.

Chapter Leadership Education Endowments fund qualifying portions of convention and leadership seminar attendance for chapter presidents and additional chapter members if the funds are available. Any additional funds may pay for speakers on qualifying subjects for the chapter or the campus. California Alpha, Iowa Zeta, Texas Alpha and Texas Beta currently have such endowments established for their benefit.

Cumulative Giving

"These 'gifts of love' are not loans. They are gifts to show that Pi Phi cares, to help lift the individual over the rough spots and to let them know they are not alone in their ordeal. They show that Pi Beta Phi is forever, not just for college years, but for a lifetime!"

Ways of Giving

Donors support the Pi Beta Phi Foundation through a variety of vehicles. For many, gifts of outright cash are easiest. Other donors have chosen to make gifts of appreciated stock or to provide for the Foundation through estate planning methods such as bequests in wills and gifts of insurance. If you wish to explore different giving opportunities, please contact the Foundation for information.

Special Funds

Many donors choose to support a specific area within the Foundation. Gifts made during the 1996-97 fiscal year to these special funds are listed below. Alumnae clubs made Fraternity-required gifts to the Undergraduate Scholarship Fund totaling more than $10,800 and to the Emma Harper Turner Fund totaling more than $15,100—a significant increase from the previous year. These required gifts are not listed individually. Alumnae clubs listed here made additional non-required gifts.

Peg Houston Memorial Speakers Fund

Through the Peg Houston Memorial Speakers Fund, the Foundation is able to sponsor reputable educational speakers at biennial Pi Beta Phi conventions. The fund was established in 1994 to honor the memory of Colorado Alpha Margaret "Peg" George Houston, who was known for her leadership abilities and caring manner. The Peg Houston Memorial Speakers Fund made possible the appearance of nationally recognized speaker Kathleen Passanisi at the 1997 Convention.

Chapter Leadership Education Endowments provide Pi Phi collegians the opportunity to acquire leadership skills valuable in their college experiences, future careers and in being productive, contributing members of society.

Developing the leadership potential of these young women will not only contribute to their individual growth but will also strengthen our collegiate chapters and improve Pi Beta Phi Fraternity as a whole.

Chapter Leadership Education Endowments fund qualifying portions of convention and leadership seminar attendance for chapter presidents and additional chapter members if the funds are available. Any additional funds may pay for speakers on qualifying subjects for the chapter or the campus.

California Alpha, Iowa Zeta, Texas Alpha and Texas Beta currently have such endowments established for their benefit.

Cumulative Giving

"These 'gifts of love' are not loans. They are gifts to show that Pi Phi cares, to help lift the individual over the rough spots and to let them know they are not alone in their ordeal. They show that Pi Beta Phi is forever, not just for college years, but for a lifetime!"

Ways of Giving

Donors support the Pi Beta Phi Foundation through a variety of vehicles. For many, gifts of outright cash are easiest. Other donors have chosen to make gifts of appreciated stock or to provide for the Foundation through estate planning methods such as bequests in wills and gifts of insurance. If you wish to explore different giving opportunities, please contact the Foundation for information.

"WOW! I wish our entire chapter could hear Kathy. She put a whole new perspective on leadership." 1997 Convention Collegiate Delegate on Foundation Speaker Kathleen Passanisi

Arrowmont

Supporting Arrowmont, Pi Beta Phi's major philanthropy, is a priority for the Foundation. During the 1996-97 fiscal year, the Foundation awarded a $60,000 grant to Arrowmont for capital expenditures. This listing represents contributions made to the Foundation which were designated to Arrowmont, including gifts made to the Campaign for Arrowmont over and beyond those recognized in the final Campaign report published in 1995.

1996-97 Friendship Fund "Pi Phis Are Like That!"

Pi Phi responded to the 1996-97 Friendship Fund in record numbers—nearly 10,000 Pi Phis supported the annual fund this fiscal year. Their Friendship Fund gifts provided more than half of scholarships and fellowships awarded, helped to underwrite Fraternity programming and partially funded the Emma Harper Turner Fund stipends.

The phrase "Pi Phi are like that!" served as the theme of the 1996-97 Friendship Fund. Pi Phi who responded to the Friendship Fund were asked to complete the phrase "Pi Phi are" The phrases received were interesting, humorous, heartfelt and touching—clearly our Pi Phi friends are very special to each of us. Selected phrases are included throughout this report.

United Way Contributions

The Foundation currently receives contributions from individuals through their employers' donor-choice United Way campaigns.

Employees of participating companies may make gifts to the nonprofit organizations of their choice, such as the Pi Beta Phi Foundation, through an automated system. If this is of interest to you, ask your employer if your company participates in this program.

Your gift may be credited to the Friendship Fund or another area within the Foundation as you request.

Betty Lofton Named Foundation President

Betty Blades Lofton was named the new President of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation. For six years, Betty served as an ex-officio Foundation Trustee by virtue of her position as the Fraternity's Grand Vice President of Philanthropies. In this capacity, she oversaw the selection process for Foundation scholarships, fellowships and Emma Harper Turner Fund grants.

While experience alone will make Betty an effective president, she is known for her commitment to the Foundation's mission and admired for her leadership style. "Betty gives unselfishly of her time, of her resources and of herself," remarked Grand Vice President of Collegians Sarah Ruth Mullis in a tribute to Betty. "She quietly, efficiently, effectively just gets the job done."

Some of Betty's goals for the Foundation include increasing the funding for scholarships, increasing the number of members in the Marianne Reid Wild Society, the Foundation's planned giving program, and building the endowment for chapter leadership.

When asked why the Foundation is important to members of Pi Phi, Betty responded, "The Foundation is an outgrowth of what the Fraternity Founders, in 1867, identified as one principal reason to establish I.C. Sorosis, to 'promote the happiness of humanity.'

"The Foundation is expanding the good works that are provided to the membership and also to the greater society."

Scholarship Applications

Pi Beta Phi Foundation alumnae and collegiate scholarship applications are now available for the 1998-99 academic year. Completed applications and supporting documents must be postmarked by January 15, 1998 to be considered.

For more information on an undergraduate scholarship, alumnae scholarship or graduate fellowship, please contact: Scholarship Program, Pi Beta Phi Foundation, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105 (314) 727-7338.

In addition, the Foundation offers scholarships for Arrowmont classes. The Arrowmont scholarship application deadlines are January 10, 1998, for spring session, and March 15, 1998, for summer session. Preference is given to members of Pi Beta Phi.

Calling All Artists!

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation is seeking an artist's interpretation of "Angel with a Heart," the theme used for the Foundation's tribute program at convention, commonly known as the Giving Tree.

All Pi Phis in good standing are eligible to enter an "Angel with a Heart" drawing, painting, collage or mixed media wall piece.

Mounted slides will be required from all entrants. Each entry should be simply framed and suitable for hanging and displaying at convention with dimensions no larger than 2 feet by 2 feet.

The winning entry will be used during Convention 1999 where it will be prominently displayed with the Foundation's Giving Trees. The work will be owned by the Foundation and will be displayed in Central Office after convention. The artist will receive recognition in both The ARROW and the Foundation newsletter, News.

The deadline for entry in the "Angel with a Heart" art contest is May 31, 1998. For entry forms and further details, please contact the Foundation Office.

This listing includes recognition and memorial gifts to the Pi Beta Phi Foundation from April 1, 1997 through August 31, 1997. Recognition and memorial gifts are listed in the Winter and Summer issues of The ARROW.

Directions Update

The Directions Committee is currently updating its listing of Directions participants. Directions is an international network of alumnae who are willing to help other Pi Phis with information, contacts and referrals in community-based or career-related fields.

All current participants will receive a letter giving them the opportunity to update name, address, e-mail, and fax number and area of interest. The Directions Committee conducts this update every five years to ensure that members receive current and reliable information and the help they need.

The ARROW is seeking career stories and testimonials. If you wish to share your story send information to The ARROW of Pi Beta Phi, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105, and you will be contacted by a member of the Directions Committee.

Alumnae News

INDIANA ZETA CHRISTINE

DOBBYN won the Radio and Television News Directors' Association Award, which recognizes promising, young journalists. Christine served as a traveling graduate consultant and a resident graduate consultant for Michigan Epsilon during the 1995-1996 academic year. She now works as a television reporter for an NBC-affiliate station in Evansville, Indiana.

After recovering from breast cancer, CALIFORNIA ZETA GWEN S. RODGERS began a personal project of photographing women who are in the midst of or finished with chemotherapy and radiation treatment. She hopes to publish the photographs in a book, which will also include the stories of these women. The photographs are not shocking or explicit, but meant to show that through all of the treatments and surgeries, breast cancer survivors continue to lead happy lives.

Members of the KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI-SHAWNEE MISSION, KANSAS ALUMNAE CLUB attended opening day of Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts' 50th Anniversary Traveling Collection at Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg.

KENTUCKY BETA ANN BRAND

HANEY received an Alumni Service Award from the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky. The award recognizes individuals who have shown uncommon dedication to the Alumni Association. Ann is the director of the Pulaski County, Kentucky Literacy Council. She is also active in the local Performing Arts Association and Chamber of Commerce.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA TIFFANY

GILDRED is the project director for Break the Cycle, a nonprofit organization that addresses the epidemic of domestic violence by intervening in the youth community. The project provides prevention, education, legal services and support for girls ages 12 to 19. Studies reveal that as many as one-third of all teenage girls experience physical violence in dating relationships. Emotional abuse, sexual abuse, stalking and date rape often accompany physical violence. Break the Cycle, which is based in Santa Monica, California, provides a safe haven for adolescent girls in violent relationships.

TEXAS DELTA BEVERLY JAMISON

BARRON was appointed by Texas Governor George Bush as Commissioner to the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

COLORADO BETA ELMIRA J. ELLIOTT was honored by the Arthritis Foundation of Denver, Colorado, for 40 years of service to the organization.

WASHINGTON GAMMA MARY LOU

HILL FLYNN was appointed as Communications Director for Washington Governor Gary Locke.

IOWA GAMMA MARY AMOS SMITH

celebrated her 100th birthday on June 10, 1997. After graduating from Iowa State College in 1922 with a degree in home economics, Mary taught physically handicapped children at Los Angeles Children's Hospital. Mary and her husband, Roy, loved all of nature, especially domestic and wild animals. They donated 132 acres of land for a wildlife habitat and rehabilitation center for the School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Georgia.

ALABAMA BETA JANE BRYANT

QUINN, a contributing editor to Newsweek magazine, won the Gerald Loeb Lifetime Achievement Award. This is one of the highest honors a business journalist can receive.

LOUISIANA BETA HELEN COOK

LAUGHLIN and OKLAHOMA ALPHA MARILYN VAVRA PAPE were surprised to find themselves on the same American Museum of Natural History tour to Madagascar.

The CALIFORNIA DELTA pledge class of 1951 reunited for four days in Yosemite Valley this spring. The group included, back row: Beverly Degele

The PI BETA PHI REHABILITATION INSTITUTE at the Bill Wilkerson Center in Nashville, Tennessee sponsored a brown bag lunch to raise money for awareness and prevention of brain injury. The theme for the event was "Keep Kids Head Smart" and proceeds will be used for awareness activities and to teach elementary children about safety, conflict resolution and the brain.

INDIANA BETA DIANA HARRER COULIS is the manager of Batesville, Ohio, banking center. The bank is affiliated with the People's Trust Company.

On Founders' Day, the VANCOUVER, CANADA ALUMNAE CLUB had two reasons to celebrate. In addition to honoring Pi Beta Phi's Founders, the club celebrated its 50th Anniversary. Manitoba Beta Ruby White Traill, the club's first president, attended the celebration, as did 13 of the club's original members and 30 other past and present club members. The attendees reminisced about the club's early days and sang plenty of Pi Phi songs.

TEXAS DELTA JULIE PETERSON works for the Texas Historical Commission on the La Salle Shipwreck project. The ship was captained by French explorer La Salle and is now on display in College Station, Texas. More than 700,000 artifacts have been uncovered since the ship's discovery.

MICHIGAN BETA MARTHA MACGREGOR CONWAY is the co-owner of Hokol Kin Guest House in Corozal Town, Belize. After retiring from teaching, Martha joined the Peace Corps as a teacher trainer working in rural education in Belize. She developed a love for the country and decided to stay and open the guest house which emphasizes Mayan Culture.

The BELLEVUE-EASTSIDE, WASHINGTON ALUMNAE CLUB hosted two events in September. The first was a wine and cheese kick-off party for all alumnae. The club also hosted a family picnic in downtown Bellevue Park.

ABOVE LEFT: The FORT COLLINS, COLORADO ALUMNAE CLUB honored their Golden Arrows at a Victorian Tea at a historical home. The club is celebrating the "Year of Art," which will culminate in April with an art auction honoring Golden Arrow Evalyn Prouty Hickman. A scholarship in Evie's honor will be available for art students at Colorado State University where Evie is a well-known artist and professor emeritus.

ABOVE CENTER: TEXAS BETAS MARY JEAN JOHNSON MANNING and BETTY SMITH MORGAN traveled to Florence, Italy during a summer art history study tour taught by Florida Beta Dianne Diez Goode. Alumnae News

LOUISIANA BETA GENEVIEVE MUNSON TRIMBLE is the unofficial "first lady of gardening" in New Orleans. She was the driving force behind the rejuvenation of the New Orleans Botanical Garden. She and her husband, Morrell, own Afton Villa in St. Francisville, a Gothic revival mansion that the couple restored and turned into a visitor's center.

KANSAS ALPHA MARILYN SWEET NEWTON retired as Director of Public Relations for the Studio Theatre in Washington, D.C. Since 1984, Marilyn has publicized more than 100 productions, which helped the theatre grow from a small-time operation to one of the leaders on the Washington scene.

The TULSA, OKLAHOMA ALUMNAE CLUB sponsored the second annual Pepsi All Sport Classic, a 5k run/walk and 1k fun run. Pi Phi alumnae volunteered at the event and helped raise money for the Little Lighthouse, which benefits developmentally disabled children.

During the "Nifty '50s Reunion" at the University of Denver in July, COLORADO BETAS who attended the university during the 1950s gathered for their first reunion. The party attracted 18 Pi Phis who looked through old photographs and annuals. Although the chapter no longer exists, the history of Colorado Beta is filled with accomplishments of which the members feel they can always be proud.

The INDIANA GAMMA Chapter celebrated its 100th Anniversary on September 27. Alumnae, special guests and chapter members attended the Centennial Banquet at the Crystal Yacht Club.

The OREGON BETA pledge classes of 1983, 1984 and 1985 reunited in Portland, Oregon, in June. The group gathered at a local pizza parlor to rekindle old friendships and catch up on happenings since college. Almost 30 Pi Phis from Oregon, California and Washington attended with spouses and children.

Members of WEST VIRGINIA ALPHA pledge classes from the 1970s reunited at the chapter house for a four-day retreat. Alumnae sang songs, looked at old pictures, traveled to campus hot spots and reminisced. The event was organized by Alumnae Advisory Committee Chairman Amy Smith.

The COLORADO ROCKY MOUNTAIN ALUMNAE CLUB hosted a Breast Cancer Awareness Luncheon in

ABOVE: NEW MEXICO ALPHA ELAINE JACKSON DICKSON and her husband, Harry, operate the Captain Ezra Nye House, a historical bed and breakfast inn in Sandwich, Massachusetts. The inn was voted best bed and breakfast in upper Cape Cod in 1993, 1994, 1996 and 1997 by Cape Cod Life Magazine.

In July, INDIANA ZETAS who pledged in the 1950s gathered in Indianapolis, Indiana for a reunion. Festivities included a cocktail party, a gala dinner at Crooked Stick Golf Club and shopping.

This summer, 16 MINNESOTA ALPHAS reunited for a luncheon at the Women's Club of Minneapolis. The group, who all attended the University of Minnesota in the late 1940s to early 1950s, have been getting together occasionally for years.

At Founders' Day, seven Golden Arrow members of the DENVER, COLORADO ALUMNAE CLUB gathered to celebrate their years in Pi Beta Phi. The Golden Arrows are, back row: Nebraska Beta Julie Buchfinck Hartman, Colorado Beta Phyllis Daniel, Texas Beta Colleen

Angels to Arrowmont

The Angels to Arrowmont post-convention tour was a great success. On the morning after convention, 15 Pi Phis clambered onto a bus and headed north from Atlanta to Gatlinburg, Tennessee. Upon arrival at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts, the group was met by Tennessee Gamma Barbara Huff Beville, a native of the area. Barbara's grandparents had been an integral part of developing Arrowmont, so the brief history she gave of the school's founding had a special impact. Director of Arrowmont Sandy Blain led the group on a tour through the school's facilities, including the new wood-turning studio and the art gallery. The group was able to watch resident artists at work and students learning crafts.

The group of Pi Phis enjoyed their experience at Arrowmont and encourage others to visit. "I wish it were mandatory for all undergraduates and alumnae to visit Arrowmont. I am leaving with a true appreciation for all the efforts that have been made to make the school what it is today," says Texas Gamma Karen Clifton Northcutt. "The history of and surroundings of the school create an atmosphere of creativity. One cannot help but feel that after a few days of classes, you could walk away as an artist."

From Pi Phi Pens...

ILLINOIS BETA-DELTA BEV BUSH SMITH'S new novel "Evidence of Things Unseen," is the second in her new fiction series titled "The Zoe Journals." The new novel portrays a mother's struggle when her daughter is kidnapped. Torn between continuing to trust God or tapping into witchcraft, the main character, Andrea Lang, desperately seeks for her 3-year-old daughter. Bev's novel tackles the tough issue of kidnapping and marital struggles without sugar-coating the realities of these hardships. The novel was published by the Nelson Word Publishing Group.

In addition to writing, Bev leads women's Bible studies, is a mentor to a mothers of preschoolers group, speaks to women's groups and enjoys downhill skiing, swimming and the arts.

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA SALLY SEARCY KLEBERG, a financial educator and family office manager, has written a personalized and practical, beginner- or intermediate-level reference guide and primer about wealth planning. The book, titled "The Stewardship of Private Wealth: Managing Personal and Family Financial Assets," was published by Irwin/McGraw-Hill Publishing.

Sally is the manager of Kleberg Asset Stewardship Education, a customized advisory service for family businesses and offices. A former senior vice president of Bankers Trust New York Owner Managed Business Advisory Services, Sally also manages a family office in San Antonio, Texas.

In their book "South Carolina, A Day at a Time," SOUTH CAROLINA ALPHAS CAROLINE WHITMIRE TODD and SIDNEY SMITH WAIT present a series of day trips touring the state. The book, which is the culmination of years of gathering material from all over the state, includes a brief history of each location. Both popular and obscure spots important to the history and culture of South Carolina are presented in the book.

ILLINOIS EPSILON NANCY POFFENBERGER'S 13th book titled "Instant Piano Fun with Nursery Rhymes," was written for anyone who owns a keyboard, piano or organ and is a care-giver to young children. The book features color-coded stickers, which when placed on the keys allow children to match ABC music in the book with the stickers. Deemed the "Poffenberger Method," this practice of matching letters of the alphabet with musical notes allows children to create music almost instantly.

The book, along with Nancy's 12 other "Instant Piano Fun" books, is published by Fun Publishing and is available at music stores, toy stores and selected bookstores. For more information call (513) 533-3636.

Chapter Anniversaries

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA will celebrate its 75th Anniversary January 16-18 at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. The weekend will feature an open house reception, tours of the chapter house and campus, a semi-formal dinner following the University of North Carolina basketball game and an "appreciation brunch" at the chapter house.

For more information about the celebration, please call Megan Henderson at (919) 933-8211, ext. 24.

KANSAS ALPHA will celebrate its 125th Anniversary April 4, 1998 at the Holiday hotel in Lawrence, Kansas. Festivities will include a dinner and a Cookie Shine. For more information call Holly Milledge at (913) 722-0902.

Harris Directories are On Their Way

The Pi Beta Phi Fraternity Alumnae Directory project is nearing completion. Soon the directories will be shipped.

This comprehensive new volume is a compilation of the most current data available about more than 114,500 Pi Phi alumnae. The information was gathered from questionnaire mailings, telephone verifications and alumnae records. Now that the editing, proofreading and printing are almost finished, the distribution will begin.

The directories are scheduled to be released on December 15. All alumnae who reserved a copy of the directory during the verification phase of the project will receive their copies within two to three weeks of December 15. If you have a question about your order, or if you wish to place an order, please contact our publisher directly at the following address:

Customer Service Department
Bernard C. Harris Publishing Co., Inc.
16 Kroger Center, Suite 103
Norfolk, VA 23502
(800) 877-6654

The new directory is an excellent way to relive college days and get reacquainted with former Pi Phi friends. Many thanks to all who returned their questionnaire and to those who ordered a copy of the directory.

Extra, Extra! Read All About Pi Phi

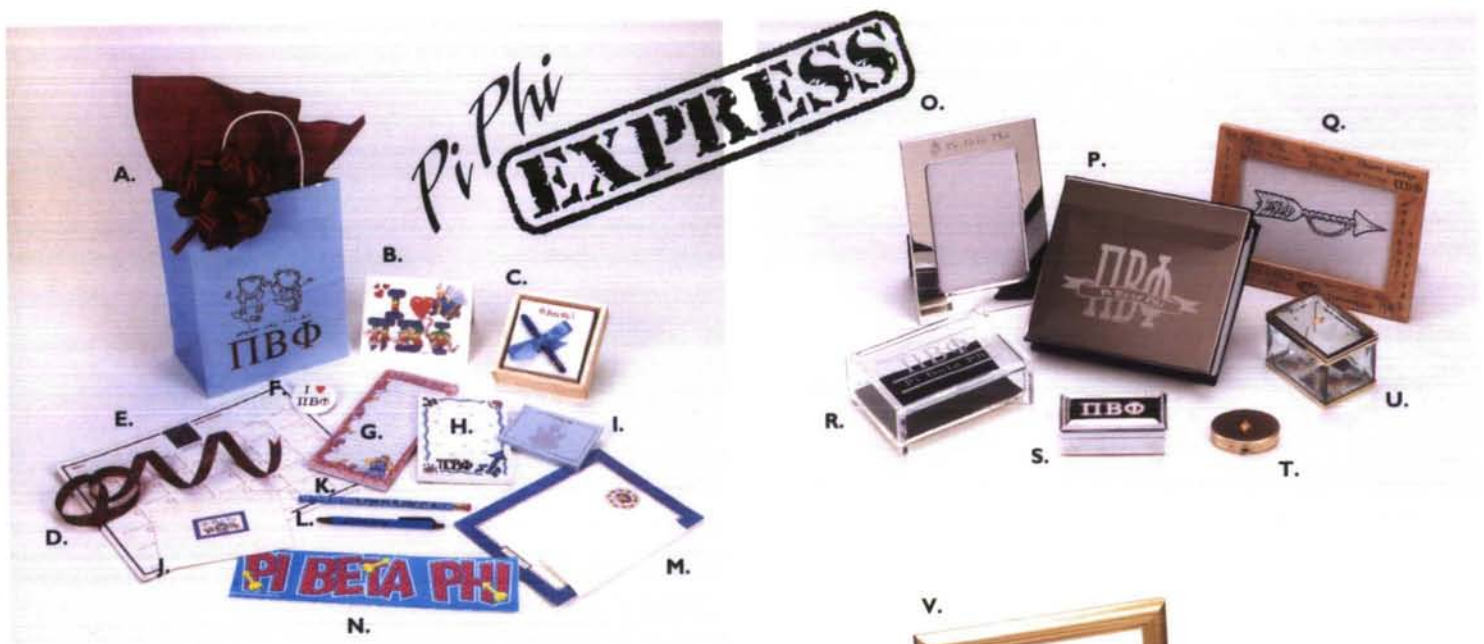

Anyone interested in receiving a copy of Pi Beta Phi's Information Bulletin for 1996-97, please call Central Office at (314) 727-7338. The four-page bulletin is an overview of the activities of the Fraternity and the Pi Beta Phi Foundation for the past year.
