Links to Literacy—

it's about service . . .

Alabama Betas Suzie Jamison and Betsy Byrd read books to children at the Capstone High Risk Clinic at Capstone Medical Center.

You may not remember the first word you ever read, but maybe you do remember the first person who made words leap off the page, the one who encouraged you to jump into stories and devour every word written.

Since 1990 thousands across the nation have called this person a Pi Phi, the one who made words an intricate part of their lives. Alumnae clubs and chapters have been helping to identify and fill literacy needs through "Links to Literacy." The volunteers in this program are the true "link" between reading and people in their community, and they have been this link since the Fraternity's original educational mission at Settlement School.

Helping another person learn to read, make better sense of written words or answer local literacy needs in other ways can be a very rewarding experience. Through active involvement in literacy programs, Pi Beta Phi advance the founding purpose of promoting mental advancement and the happiness of humanity.

Today Pi Phi can help the illiterate realize their human potential, and our efforts can happen in many settings—in hospitals, schools, libraries, the workplace, senior citizen centers, women's shelters, at the kitchen table. Through the many local, state and national organizations now dedicated to literacy, where volunteers are vital, members of Pi Beta Phi have an opportunity to truly make a difference.

Members of the Cleveland West Alumnae Club display books with a book patron (sitting front center) and a furry friend at Lakewood Hospital.

The Cleveland West, Ohio Alumnae Club collaborated with Lakewood Hospital and donated more than 600 books to establish a library in the children's unit. The purpose of the library is to create an environment for all ages of children that is non-threatening, fun and creative. Children are typically apprehensive about hospital situations and the library relieves some of the pressure.

“The pediatric library idea just seemed like a unique way to make a real impact with books and reading,” says club member and project organizer Indiana Beta Janice Hill Casey. “Not only are we encouraging children to read, but we’re also helping them cope with the stress of hospitalization.”

The club began the library by collecting books according to a book wish list from children in the hospital. They then inserted into each book a bookplate and a pocket with a card. This card corresponds to a card catalog so children can check out books during their stay. The bookplates recognize which books the alumnae club donated.

Club members provide books and videos to the Children's Reading Corner at the Katy Medical Center. The Reading Corner which began with a single bookcase now has expanded and includes several bookcases, videos, a television and a VCR.

Alumnae club members spend time stocking books, organizing shelves and decorating the room. “It has become a cozy place for patients to spend some time,” says Alumnae Club President Indiana Delta Jacquelynn Siebert Green.

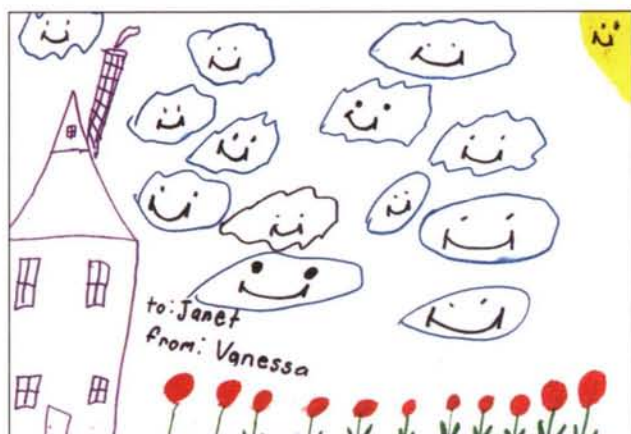

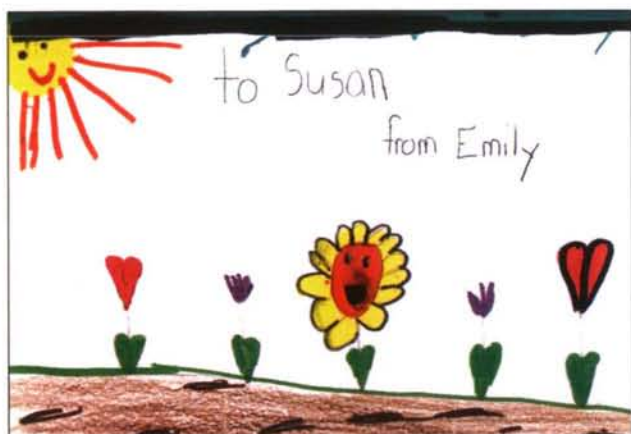

The club continues to promote literacy with a passion and feels it is a worthwhile project in their community.

Alumnae Club members serve as pen pals to inner-city students. Club members write monthly letters to their pen pal and receive a letter in response. Each child in the class has a pen pal. For their birthday and Christmas each child is given a book. In some cases these books are the first he or she has ever owned. A club member visits the class each month, talks with the children, reads to them and gives them assistance with their reading.

"It provides a link between a suburb and the inner city that is equally positive and satisfying to both participants," says West Virginia Gamma Roberta Boyd Bragan.

Most of us couldn't imagine what a day would be like if we couldn't read. However, the Boca Raton Alumnae Club encouraged students to "think about what it would be like if you did not know how to read for one day."

The club posed this question to Calusa Elementary School's fourth graders for the club's first writing contest. Between January and February, the fourth graders let their imaginations develop a day without reading. The club teamed with the Palm Beach County Literacy Coalition to sponsor the contest for the students.

Club members then held an awards ceremony at Borders Books, where the first, second and third place winners received a trophy and read their stories to parents and store visitors. All the children who entered a story received an award.

Through this program, children learned how valuable reading is in their daily lives. However, the children were not the only benefactors through the program, teachers, parents, bookstore customers and club members also received benefits from pursuing literacy education.

One club member remarks, "The enthusiastic participation of the classroom teachers, the children and their families in this activity, plus the large attendance at our Reading and Awards Ceremony, was proof that our program reached many people."

at home . . .

Alabama Betas at the University of Alabama support the Radio Reading Service for the print impaired; a service utilized by 250 visually impaired individuals with a waiting list of hundreds more. Chapter members read daily newspapers on air in the Pi Beta Phi Broadcast Booth located at the public radio station on campus. The service meets a critical need for the visually impaired population in West Alabama and has become a source of immense pride for collegians and alumnae.

Another program the chapter is involved in is Pi Beta Phi Book Buddies. Members share books with children at the Department of Human Resources WIC waiting room and the Capstone Medical Center's High Risk Clinic waiting room. Children are invited to come sit in the reading area as Pi Phis read pieces of selected children's literature.

Alabama Beta Jean Fargason Gordon, an early childhood educator and award winning teacher, attended a chapter meeting and conducted a training session about reading to young children. During the chapter meetings that followed, each member cut out a bookmark that would accompany a story. Examples include alligator bookmarks for "There's an Alligator Under My Bed," arrow bookmarks for "Please Go Now," eggs for "Green Eggs and Ham," and bunny faces for "Pat the Bunny."

Chapter member Michelle George says, "The greatest challenge of Pi Beta Phi Book Buddies is providing enough available time slots to accommodate the number of Pi Phis who want to read."

Alabama Betas involved in the Radio Reading Service.

More than seventy-five percent of Louisiana Beta Chapter members from Louisiana State University visit Polk Elementary School. Members assist the instructors and spend time with the students. Chapter members also lend a hand during field days and school fairs.

Arizona Beta members spend time with underprivileged children at St. Vincent De Paul's. Members help children with their homework, read to them and listen as the children read aloud. The program goals are to promote literacy to children of low-income families, heighten their interest in reading and encourage them to take books home to read to their parents.

Over a four month time period, Wyoming Alphas volunteered 140 hours in a third grade classroom at Linford Elementary School. Members listen as children read aloud to improve their literacy skills. The chapter also held two reading parties during the spring, one at the school and one at the chapter house.

Shawnee Mission, Kansas Alumnae Club members participate in the Laubach Literacy Corporate Spelling Bee. Club members form a spelling team and compete against other corporate teams. The Laubach Literacy Council of Kansas City is a not-for-profit organization, believing that the quality of life is greatly enhanced by the ability to read and write. Their mission is to enable adults to acquire the literacy skills necessary to take full advantage of their choices and opportunities. They also provide students with trained volunteer tutors and serve as an advocacy group for literacy.

Long Beach, California

Alumnae Club members volunteer more than 75 hours each year to read to children at Cedar House (a family center serving the families and victims of child abuse), while their parents are taking parent education classes. The children range in age from one to 12 years. The youngest children like to retell the stories read to them using their own words, while the older children practice their reading with volunteers. In addition to reading to children at Cedar House, the club collected 83 new or gently-used books that were then donated to Cedar House and to Children's Hospital of Los Angeles.

A bookplate specifically designed for this literacy service project has been created and each member can apply a bookplate to the book(s) she donates.

"There is a wonderful sense of being linked to our international fraternity along with being linked with our local community," says one club member.

Pi Phi Links

- Pi Beta Phi literacy projects are coordinated under the Links to Literacy Committee comprised of alumnae and collegians.
- The Pi Beta Phi Foundation funded and provided to each chapter and club a manual entitled Links to Literacy: A Pi Beta Phi Programming Guide.
- Links to Literacy Week is scheduled annually.

Georgia Alpha

Georgia Alphas have much to be thankful for this holiday season. After a successful but tumultuous fall, we can say proudly that our sisterhood is even stronger.

Saturday, August 22, 1998, was the last day of rush and the anticipated preferential party. The early morning found everyone tying up loose ends and getting everything into place. One hour before the party, everyone gathered in the dining room. The anthems were practiced, the arrow cake ready and the sisters of Georgia Alpha stood on the stairs of the beautiful Pi Phi house with candles about to be lit, waiting for the hopeful rushees to enter.

As the rushees entered the house, the sound of popping balloons filled the air, startling everyone. Almost simultaneously, the entrance over the dining room crashed down, signaling to everyone that something had gone dreadfully wrong. Someone yelled, "Fire!" and in what seemed like an eternity, everyone fought for a way out of the rapidly burning house. The rushees scurried out, the Georgia Alphas on the bottom half of the stairs went through the front door, and those members upstairs, in a panic, ran from one end of the house to the other looking for a way to escape.

Members of Pi Beta Phi ran out of every corner of the house, hugging, crying and rejoicing that everyone got out unharmed. In the moments preceding the arrival of the fire engines, our secretary called the roll of all 130 sisters by heart. There, standing on the lawn across the street, we watched as the downstairs of our beautiful sorority house burned, dark black smoke pouring from every window.

The firemen came right away and saved the house from extensive damage to the upstairs and bedrooms. Exhausted, we gathered together and walked across the street to the neighboring fraternity house where our rush party was waiting. Through teary eyes and smoke-stained dresses, the Pi Phis held the best preferential round of rush we'd ever given. The anthems were sung with the sincerest meaning, the speakers spoke with amazing poise and emotion, and the true sisterhood of Pi Beta Phi shown through to all of Athens.

Even with our house in shambles, the sisters of the Georgia Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi had the absolute best group of rushees show up on their lawn for Bid Day.

Nobody could have taken better care of us in our time of need. Everything from meals to housing was provided by the other NPC groups on campus. Through this experience, we have become an even stronger chapter and realized how lucky we are to be part of the University of Georgia's Greek community.

The burning of the house was certainly a scary and startling experience. However, nobody was hurt and nearly all of our personal belongings were spared. New improvements are under way in the building and repairing of the chapter house. Although it was burned and black inside, the house will be even better and more beautiful than it was before, for it is this amazing group of Pi Beta Phis that would make a house anywhere a very special place to live.

Fall ARROW

I was disgusted by The ARROW cover and also the seven pages devoted to the perils of smoking. We have heard this blasting of tobacco in the news media for 30–40 years and I feel that's just about enough.

My husband and I have never bought a pack of cigarettes so Joe Camel has certainly not profited from us. But I do feel every person has a right to choose their own way of life. We still hopefully live in a democracy.

WANDA ZIMMERMAN HUTTER
ILLINOIS ZETA
QUINCY, ILLINOIS

The Fall 1998 issue of your request for readers' thoughts on smoking literally prompted me to take pen in hand to send a personal message. My mother was diagnosed with lung cancer in early 1988 after 63 years of smoking—an addictive habit which she tried numerous times to overcome, but never with any long-lasting success. Smoking was the "in" thing to do at age 13 when she started, and no one touted the health hazards we see today. If I can relay but one message to anyone who contemplates smoking for whatever reason, it is this: Think about those you love and those who love you. Lung cancer, emphysema and other respiratory illnesses directly linked to smoking causes suffering and heart-break for not only the victim, but for families, friends and caregivers.

Whenever I see so many young people who think they are winning the popularity contest by succumbing to that nasty habit, I want to show them, first-hand, what they can expect in the future. It is not a pretty picture.

Thanks for your focus. To paraphrase a cliché, if all this results in preventing just one person from ever taking up the habit, it will be worth the effort!

I was very disappointed in the cover of the Fall 1998 ARROW. Although I felt that the accompanying article which addressed the issue of smoking was very informative and necessary, I believe that the cover chosen discredited the character and significance of Pi Beta Phi. Hopefully, future covers will reflect a more positive image for our Fraternity.

LAURA CRAIG MAXWELL

I want to thank you for publishing the article in the Fall ARROW on the hazards of smoking. I can only hope that my mother, whom I love and cherish, will see this letter. She began smoking as a Kansas Beta more than 40 years ago, and although I do not blame Pi Beta Phi for her addiction, I understand the power that societal influences carried in that day and age on young women who began this lethal habit. As a physician, I see firsthand the death, morbidity and sorrow engendered by smoking every day of my practice. I fear for my father and the effects of second-hand smoke on his health. Unfortunately, for my mother it may be too late—she is 68 and has a family history of lung and laryngeal cancer. Every day I worry that she will become a victim of cancer, heart disease, stroke, lung disease, or any of the other multiple conditions that are caused by or much more likely to occur in smokers. But in many ways it is not too late for her. She is currently as healthy as is possible.

I would like her to know how powerful a gift it would be to me and my family, her son and his family, her husband and to herself to stop smoking. I know she fears she hasn't the strength to quit. But she is one of the strongest people I have ever known. I know she can do this thing if she only decides.

Thank you for helping me try to communicate with her. She values her heritage in Pi Beta Phi and the lifelong friends she has made and bonds she has forged, as do I. I want her around to enjoy life for many more years and so do all her friends in Pi Phi. I add my plea to yours and hope she sees this: Mom, I love you. Quit smoking today. Please.

Thank you for your well written and timely editorial and the feature article on smoking. I'm grateful that Grand Council decided to address this topic in the Fall issue of The ARROW.

Having lost my dad, an uncle and cousin to cancer caused by smoking, I not only choose not to smoke, I want to be an encourager of those who are making an effort to warn people of its effect on their families as well as themselves.

Collegiate NEWS

NEW YORK EPSILONS were involved in many different aspects of panhellenic life at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Diane Zehrhuus, Sarah Eldridge and Keri Fusco served as panhellenic delegate, president and secretary of their campus' Panhellenic Council respectively. Vanessa Dudack was chairman of the Greek neighborhood relations committee, which organizes dinners between campus fraternities and sororities. The chapter hosted a dinner for Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Phi.

PENNSYLVANIA GAMMAS at Dickinson College coordinated with Panhellenic Council to include a philanthropic activity during rush parties. At the end of each party, members and rushees added to a mural, which the chapter donated to the local hospital's children's floor. After rush, each sorority presented to the other chapters a skit about their experiences throughout rush.

Simpson College's Panhellenic Council began a new program this year called "Raise the Challenge." Through this project all chapters, including IOWA BETA, will raise their cumulative grade point average a tenth of a point.

TENNESSEE BETAS are involved in a variety of panhellenic activities at Vanderbilt University. Through GAMMA, five representatives attend open forum meetings with the university's administration, Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils and other campus groups to discuss alcohol-related topics and concerns. During Greek Week, members, along with other fraternity and sorority members, volunteered for Habitat for Humanity.

MISSOURI BETAS sponsored a campus-wide philanthropic mixer with other panhellenic groups at Washington University. Students brought canned goods or monetary donations to a local food drive. Members also worked with other chapters to raise campus awareness about women's issues through programs addressing health, safety and career choices.

INDIANA GAMMAS at Butler University participated in Greek Week activities ranging from sports competitions to volunteering in a local soup kitchen. During this year's Homecoming, members will compete with other panhellenic groups in a parade, a banner and lawn decoration contest, and a volleyball tournament. Members also participated in the annual panhellenic scholarship dinner as well as Alpha Phi's and Kappa Kappa Gamma's philanthropies.

To prepare for rush, INDIANA DELTAS at Purdue University invited the Sigma Kappas for dinner and a rush workshop. Chapter members are also looking forward to their annual formal friendship dinner. For this dinner each member invites a friend from another campus sorority to enjoy dining, interacting and furthering friendships.

VIRGINIA ETAS participated in the University of Richmond's annual Greek Week events which included a blood drive, preparing dinner for the homeless and a canned-food drive. The chapter also raised money for the May L. Keller Fund through their annual lip-sync show.

ONTARIO BETAS recently participated in the University of Western Ontario's panhellenic rush information sessions. At these sessions, presidents from all the campus panhellenic groups gave speeches on a variety of topics ranging from campus involvement to philanthropic events.

MISSOURI ALPHAS participated in the Greek/Independent Women's Dinner Exchange. Chapter member Nicole Wells organized the event which the University of Missouri's Panhellenic Council sponsors. The function promotes unity between Greek and unaffiliated women.

During rush, INDIANA EPSILON and eight other panhellenic groups at DePauw University participated in a philanthropic project to benefit the Riley Children's Hospital in Indianapolis, Indiana. Women from each chapter, as well as rushees, were grouped together at several stations on campus decorating cups and making small presents for the hospital's patients. Indiana Epsilon Jessica Donnellon is DePauw's panhellenic vice president of programming, and was largely responsible for the event.

Each quarter, MINNESOTA ALPHAS pair with other campus sororities for charity walks, study exchanges and ice cream socials. Members of Alpha Omicron Pi, Pi Kappa Alpha and Beta Theta Pi are invited to Minnesota Alpha's Pi Society dinner, where they honor individuals who achieve a grade point average at or higher than 3.14. Chapter members also joined Delta Delta Delta members for a mock rush exercise this year.

To help potential rushees acquaint themselves with chapters, each sorority at Stetson University sponsors a theme open house before rush. FLORIDA ALPHAS' theme was "Hurricane Relief." Rushees and chapter members decorated and assembled care packages to donate water and nonperishable goods to the Red Cross. The chapter also sponsored an annual panhellenic picnic where Florida Alpha members invited other sorority women to join them on their front lawn for dinner.

Each year, WYOMING ALPHAS help the University of Wyoming's Panhellenic Council promote breast cancer awareness. Chapter members assist Teach for the Cure, a national group that promotes breast cancer awareness in high schools. They also take part in Christmas Tours for Breast Cancer, a program organized by the university's Panhellenic Council where each chapter gives house tours and the proceeds benefit breast cancer research.

KANSAS BETAS participated in many of Kansas State University's panhellenic activities. Members recently took part in a Greek-wide service project called "Paint it Purple." For this project, panhellenic groups painted buildings, cleaned city parks, baby-sat and raked leaves. Members also attended Greek 101, where guests spoke about new member education, college activities and Greek life. The university's all-Greek philanthropy is "Fright Night," a trick-or-treat carnival for community children. Brooke Evans and Jennifer Scarpa serve on the Panhellenic Executive Council. Brooke is the risk management educator and Jennifer is the rush coordinator.

To prepare for rush, Hillsdale College's Panhellenic Council plans mixers for freshman women with the intent to help them meet Greek women, such as the MICHIGAN ALPHAS. During one mixer, the freshmen received "passports" with three questions about the Greek system. Participants then asked these three questions at each chapter, enabling them to meet at least twelve Greek women. The university's Panhellenic Council also sponsored an ice cream social mixer and a mixer where sorority women and freshmen make smores.

MICHIGAN EPSILONS participated in several philanthropic events sponsored by Western Michigan University's Panhellenic Council including the Halloween Riverwalk, the Greek Street Trick-or-Treat and the annual Into the Streets project. At the first home football game, chapter members participated in the university's Panhellenic cosponsored Ultimate Tailgate, winning first place in the best nonalcoholic drink competition.

Several NEBRASKA GAMMAS are involved with Creighton University's Panhellenic Council. Dawn Imada, president of the Panhellenic Council, and Sarah Fredd organized the university's Homecoming semiformal. Missy Schultz is a Panhellenic Scholarship Committee member and is currently designing a campus-wide study break during midterms. Missy also helped establish an annual book scholarship awarded to a junior with outstanding participation in the Greek community.

ABOVE CENTER: The Florida Delta Chapter has been active in the University of Florida's Panhellenic. Megan Fredrick, Jessica Jones and Kelly Foy were Rho Chis this year. New members participated in a campus panhellenic new member forum.

ABOVE: Texas Betas at Southern Methodist University participated in several philanthropic events with other campus organizations. The chapter and Pi Kappa Alphas held their annual Shrimpfest before the first home football game. The event raised more than $1,500 for the Leukemia Society of America. Texas Betas also held Spikes for Tikes with Kappa Sigmas. The all-school volleyball tournament raised more than $5,000 for the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children.

The University of Maine's Panhellenic Council introduced a new rush element to campus chapters. Throughout the week, MAINE ALPHA participated in an informational tent that educated rushees about Greek life. Christine Fecteau, Kristi Curtis, Heather Good and Jennifer Nelson served as Rho Chis.

TENNESSEE GAMMAS at the University of Tennessee participate in Greek Week and Race for the Cure.

Collegiate NWS

COLORADO DELTAS at Colorado School of Mines sponsored a speaker who addressed women's issues. The chapter invited the entire campus and community to attend.

ILLINOIS ETAS Tricia Bechman, Nicole Tester and Sarah Lowell serve on Millikin University's Panhellenic Executive Council. Tricia is responsible for rush week, Nicole is treasurer and Sarah is secretary. Meagan Krapausky is the chapter's panhellenic delegate. Kristin Trpezanovich, Courtney Sutherland, Jane Dunker, Randi Johnson, Tracy Thatcher and Missy Eich all served as Rho Chis this year. Chapter members also enjoy various panhellenic events such as scholarship banquets and community service projects.

KENTUCKY GAMMAS Jodi Schmidt and Tracy Winstel serve on Eastern Kentucky University's Panhellenic Council as Greek activities chairman and risk management chairman respectively. Through their positions they planned the university's first Women's Walk. For this event high school and university students walked to raise awareness about women's health issues. Proceeds from this fund raiser benefited a local breast cancer survivor and Greeks for United Way.

ALBERTA ALPHAS at the University of Alberta participate with other panhellenic groups on campus, including Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Gamma through rotating dinners, philanthropies and an all-panhellenic picnic.

IOWA ZETAS participate in the University of Iowa's panhellenic programs including Greeks Against Rape, Peer Education, which teaches interpersonal and leadership skills to Greek community members.

OKLAHOMA ALPHAS enjoyed the National Panhellenic Conference's risk management seminar "Something of Value" presented at the University of Oklahoma. The seminar addressed real-life problems Greek women face today such as under-age drinking, drug abuse, unprotected sex, academic misconduct and hazing.

FLORIDA BETAS are busy with Florida State University's panhellenic activities. Through a community service project, "Make a Difference Day," campus sororities designate one day to volunteer in activities such as cleaning up a neighborhood park or helping at a homeless shelter. The university's Panhellenic also sponsored a program that educated students about AIDS prevention called, "Friendship in the Age of Aids." The chapter is involved in several philanthropic activities with other campus chapters including Chi Omega, Delta Gamma and Alpha Gamma Delta. Jennifer Crosswhite helped develop Florida State's new panhellenic newsletter called the Greek Grapevine.

MONTANA ALPHAS at Montana State University co-sponsored Go Greek Philanthropy Night during rush. Each chapter on campus sponsored a different philanthropy. Throughout the year, the chapter also sponsors dinner swaps and participates in philanthropies with different chapters in the university's Greek system.

WISCONSIN ALPHA Jamie Smith is the University of Wisconsin's Panhellenic Council's philanthropic chairman. She organized Trick-or-Treat with the Greeks, a program in which inner-city children trick-or-treat at several chapter houses. Kristin Regal is the council's treasurer and Jaime Turnquist is on the panhellenic public relations committee. Melissa McGarry is the University of Wisconsin's panhellenic president. Jennifer Healy, Amber Fritch and Laura Lynam all served as Rho Chis during this year's rush.

Each semester the University of Arkansas' Panhellenic Council pairs sororities to enjoy activities and chapter programming together. ARKANSAS ALPHAS recently participated in a Greek-wide canned-food drive collecting 670 cans of food. Chapter members and members of six other sororities volunteered during an American Red Cross and Community Blood Center of the Ozarks blood drive. They also volunteer every week in the Bates Elementary School Project, where they take children on a variety of activities from swimming to local museum trips.

Sweet Heart Sing, a blood drive, Greek Week and Night Eyes, a Halloween event where children can trick-or-treat safely, are a few of Drake University's panhellenic activities involving IOWA ETAS. Chapter members also participated in a candlelighting ceremony to commemorate the campus panhellenic changing from a one weekend rush to a two weekend rush. Iowa Etas participated in the university's panhellenic sponsored rape awareness program.

NORTH CAROLINA GAMMA is busy supporting breast cancer research by participating in Wake Forest University's panhellenic fashion show. Stacey LaVallee, the inter-Greek committee co-chairman, is planning and overseeing all of the Brian Piccolo Cancer Fund fund-raising campaigns. Wake Forest's panhellenic president is senior Kathleen Hershey.

GEORGIA ALPHAS are giving a helping hand in public relations, internal relations, food services, facilities, finance, marketing, recruitment and morale during the University of Georgia's annual Dance Marathon. This is the university panhellenic's largest fund-raiser of the year.

ILLINOIS ZETAS at the University of Illinois kicked off their rush week with a panhellenic pride barbecue. They then began Greek Week and Homecoming where chapter members served on several committees.

Rush and an Arizona State University panhellenic picnic are just a few of the panhellenic activities in which ARIZONA BETAS are involved. Chapter members are also participating in a sober chauffeur program where two chapter members escort friends safely home.

ARKANSAS BETA Cynthia Walters is the University of Arkansas' Panhellenic president. The university's Rush Information Party, the first panhellenic gathering of the semester, was a great time for prospective rushees and chapter members to meet and mingle.

VIRGINIA ZETAS are busy with Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University's Panhellenic through having representation on the panhellenic council, participating in other group's philanthropies, having a sister sorority each semester and bringing notable speakers to campus.

PENNSYLVANIA IOTAS at the University of Pennsylvania participated in Greek Week and panhellenic intramurals. Member Janelle Brodsky, the Panhellenic Council's president, wrote a book entitled "Things We Wish We Knew—Empowering College Women about Their Bodies and Food," for which the university president, Judith Rodin, wrote the forward.

NEW YORK ALPHAS at Syracuse University have been involved in several campus panhellenic events throughout the year. They sponsored a sorority alcohol awareness seminar and participated in Sigma Gamma Rho's food drive. Members of the chapter's executive board attended a Greek leadership conference where groups discussed philanthropies, new member education and rush. Erin-Rose Schneider and Brianne Moss were elected to attend the Delta Experience, a two-day retreat to help break down barriers between various campus chapters as well as train emerging leaders.

CALIFORNIA EPSILONS at San Diego State University participate with other panhellenic groups through Rho Lambda, GAMMA, the Rho Chi program, their sister sorority program and various community service activities. Carrie Lounsbury is the panhellenic president.

ABOVE CENTER: Coca-Cola recently sponsored an all-Greek dance at the University of Nebraska. Nebraska Betas participated in the dance at P.O. Pears, Lincoln, Nebraska's favorite burger place. Individuals paid a $12 entrance fee, received a free T-shirt and enjoyed a night full of live music, sand volleyball and all-you-can-eat burgers and fries. All proceeds benefitted Lincoln's Children's Museum. Chapter members also participated in the Juvenile Diabetes Walk with other Greek groups.

ABOVE: Texas Epsilons joined Alpha Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta for the University of North Texas' Greek Week. The group won first place in the spirit contest and second place overall. The chapter also raises funds every semester through a campus panhellenic fund-raiser at a local restaurant.

This semester OHIO THETAS at Bowling Green State University will gain a better understanding of Greek Life at BGSU's Plus Program. The program encompasses a variety of topics ranging from building better relationships within your chapter to making membership matter and recognizing hazing. The Gavel, BGSU's Greek newspaper, voted Ohio Theta's philanthropic project as the best fall philanthropy. They raised more than $1,000 for Arrowmont.

Collegiate NEWS

CALIFORNIA ZETAS at the University of California, Santa Barbara participate in study programs with other campus fraternity and sorority groups.

Homecoming, a new member barbecue and welcome festival, intramurals, Greek Week, canned-food drives and monthly "round table" meetings are just a few of the activities

COLORADO GAMMAS participate in with their Panhellenic Council at Colorado State University. Chapter members also participated in the all-Greek community service day and the Adopt-A-School program.

More than 100 TEXAS GAMMAS at Texas Tech University teamed up with a campus fraternity to participate in Race for the Cure.

VIRGINIA THETAS at Washington and Lee University participate with their Panhellenic Council in risk management education programs such as "On Campus Talking About Alcohol" and a campus-wide sober chauffeur program. Chapter members also participate in a Panhellenic Council and Minority Student Association sponsored service project.

PENNSYLVANIA KAPPAS welcomed freshmen during Greek orientation at Lehigh University. Chapter members helped freshmen move in, invited the women to a campus panhellenic Bagel Brunch and ended the orientation week with Greekfest. The university's Panhellenic Council has planned several risk management seminars for the chapters as well.

Sorority buddies and a progressive dinner are just two panhellenic activities in which TEXAS ALPHAS at the University of Texas participate. They also take part in the "Panhellenic Pals" program, which allows each sorority member to send notes to their friends in other chapters.

ONTARIO GAMMAS at the University of Guelph are beginning to implement a Greek Society Council where the campus Greek organizations educate each other about their chapters.

TEXAS DELTAS began their semester by participating in an all-Greek workshop covering risk management topics. The chapter is paired with Pi Kappa Phi for Homecoming activities and participated in Lambda Chi Alpha's philanthropy.

Greek Week and Homecoming are not the only times chapters interact at the University of Utah. UTAH ALPHAS, along with other chapters, volunteer at Neighborhood House, a day care center for children of low-income families.

WASHINGTON GAMMAS are involved in the University of Puget Sound's Panhellenic Council activities such as progressive dinners, Greek Week, risk management programs and social gatherings. The university also has a Greek Unity Committee whose purpose is to positively unite Greek members.

CALIFORNIA MUS participated in Pepperdine University's panhellenic risk management forum. Members also took part in a Sigma Chi sponsored run-walk that benefited cancer research. Chapter members teamed up with Beta Theta Pi for Pepperdine's Step Forward Day.

IDAHO ALPHAS tidied up the University of Idaho's campus for Homecoming through a campus and community clean-up.

TENNESSEE DELTAS at the University of Memphis participated in Delta Gamma's and Alpha Gamma Delta's philanthropies as well as the university's campus-wide volleyball social. Chapter members are preparing for Up 'til Dawn, a campus-wide philanthropy for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

MISSISSIPPI ALPHAS at the University of Southern Mississippi participated in a panhellenic blood drive as well as Alpha Delta Pi's and Kappa Sigma's philanthropies. Sherry Walker and Barat Schexnaildre represented the chapter on an extension team to add a new Panhellenic group on campus. The team invited Kappa Alpha Theta to become part of Southern Mississippi's Greek community.

SOUTH DAKOTA ALPHAS serve in several officer positions on the University of South Dakota's Panhellenic Council. Mary Jo Almquist is the rush chairman and Libby Shannon is the public relations chairman. The Panhellenic Council sponsors a variety of programs including, GAMMA, SART (Sexual Assault Response Team), UIFI (Undergraduate Interfraternity Institute), the Children's Miracle Network Dance Marathon and The Banquet, which provides food and companionship for people in need. The university's Panhellenic Council meets in one chapter house per month and invites the chapter members to take part in its meeting.

Collegiate

OHIO ALPHAS join other panhellenic groups at Ohio University to participate in risk management workshops and the All-Greek Trick-or-Treat, which encourages community children to trick-or-treat from chapter to chapter. Recently, the Greek community joined to make a web site for the university. Ohio Alpha's housemother, Dotty Carey, won the Women's panhellenic Associations Housemother of the Year Award for the second time.

CONNECTICUT ALPHA Jennifer Rogers is the University of Connecticut's panhellenic vice president of communications. Chapter members participated in philanthropies such as Delta Zeta's See-Saw Marathon, as well as joining other Greek groups to distribute popcorn and Greek Life information to students attending a movie on campus. The chapter also participated in Homecoming with Chi Phi.

ALABAMA BETAS attended several University of Alabama panhellenic activities including a sorority cookout for breast cancer awareness and prevention that raised $3,000 for mammograms in local hospitals. Other activities included safety seminars, the Meals on Wheels program, dinner swaps and a safe sex in the '90s program. The Junior Panhellenic Council, which is for new sorority members, sponsored a faculty/staff Easter egg hunt and an annual safe trick-or-treat program for local children.

ILLINOIS THETAS at Bradley University held a successful rush and the first Arrow Days, a week-long philanthropy. The chapter raised $3,500 for Arrowmont.

CALIFORNIA THETAS at the University of California, Davis participate in risk management programs and the Panhellenic Council's Halloween Carnival held for community children. Chapter members also paired with Alpha Chi Omegas to provide babysitting for campus professors and faculty for Faculty Night Out. Amber Southern is vice president of U.C. Davis' Panhellenic Council.

The CALIFORNIA BETA chapter at the University of California, Berkeley started their year with the annual Greek Gala, a U.C. Berkeley panhellenic sponsored dinner and dance. All proceeds from the event benefit Berkeley Homes, which donates food and clothing to the homeless. The Panhellenic Council also sponsors a tutoring program for underprivileged children as well as a safe Halloween program for community children. The newest panhellenic sponsored program is a public-health class focusing on responsible drinking. Lindsey Mercer is the program's coordinator and chairman.

ARIZONA ALPHAS at the University of Arizona helped their Panhellenic Council plan their first Greek Week. The university's panhellenic is also working to obtain a standard grade point average for all Greek members. Chapter members enjoy participating in the campus Adopt-A-School program.

Annually, MISSOURI GAMMAS at Drury College team up with Kappa Deltas to sponsor a motivational speaker on campus. All the Greek organizations at Drury participate in Greek Week and Greek 101 and 102 seminars where students can address important Greek issues.

NEW MEXICO ALPHAS at the University of New Mexico participated in Greek Week, dinner exchanges and programming with other campus Greek groups. During rush, the campus panhellenic designated a day where all chapter members wore the same shirt stressing the importance of unity to rushees.

ILLINOIS ESPSILONS at Northwestern University participated in Fall Fest and a community service day with other campus panhellenic, interfraternity and pan-hellenic groups. Chapter presidents along with campus panhellenic, interfraternity and pan-hellenic executive councils attended a retreat last spring where they developed a plan for an all-Greek Olympics at Northwestern. Also last spring the university's Panhellenic Council sponsored the Council of 100, a group of Northwestern women alumnae nominated to come to campus and inform students about various professional fields. Illinois Epsilon members raised their grade point average by .082 of a point because of Academic Challenge, a program designed to encourage campus chapters to raise their GPA by .1 of a point on a 4.0 scale.

Making the Grade:

- Introduce yourself to your professors—putting a name with a face will help when the time comes for graduate school and employment recommendations.
- Introduce yourself to others in the class. Develop a network of people with whom to compare notes, to clarify main points and to review for tests.
- Study productively. What are good and bad times for you to study? What is the ideal location?

Artists Explore the Business Side of Crafts

Approximately 175 artisans and craftspeople from across the country converged upon Arrowmont September 23–26 for the conference “Making It in the New Millennium: A Craft Survival Guide.” Cosponsored by Arrowmont and the Southeast Regional Assembly of the American Craft Council, the conference focused on marketing aspects of the craft field. According to Arrowmont director Sandy Blain, the weekend was a success not only in the attendance, but in the overall content of the conference. “Most schools offer hands-on sessions, which, of course, is very important, but rarely do artists have the chance to explore the business and marketing side of the craft field,” Sandy said. “This conference explored many issues that are vital to the survival of craft artists today.”

Conference presenters included more than 40 professionals who discussed topics such as web site construction, getting published, photographing your work, exhibition opportunities and overcoming creative blocks. The exhibition, Spotlight '98, was shown in The Main Gallery in conjunction with the conference, and included works from artists within the ACC's Southeast Region.

Tennessee Gamma members from the University of Tennessee stayed at Arrowmont August 18-21, 1998 for their pre-rush meeting before the Fall semester began.

Officers' Leadership Workshop 1998

Leadership ... Team 2000

September 16–21, Pi Phi officers converged on Arrowmont for Officers' Leadership Workshop (OLW). "Leadership ... Team 2000" was this year's theme.

New Alumnae and Collegiate Province Presidents arrived a day before veteran officers for an additional day of officer training. During a portion of the weekend, Grand Council, Directors, continuing APPS, CPPs and Central Office staff participated on task forces that included Fraternity Education and Chapter Development.

APPs and CPPs met in separate breakout sessions as well as joint sessions. Arrowmont Board of Governors Chairman Dawn Sheeler Ford led seminars and exercises on team building and leadership.

Other events throughout the weekend included a picnic, a slide presentation and tour of Arrowmont and a special Cookie Shine.

This year's OLW was cosponsored with Arrowmont.

Remember the Pi Phi Arrow

Probably the most treasured symbol we have is our badge. The badge was decided upon May 5, 1867 and worn nine days later, for the first time, to chapel by eleven of the Founders. The pin was about 1 3/4 inches long and bore the letters "I.C." in black enamel on its wings. In early days the pin was worn in no special place, sometimes in the hair, on high neck collars or on either side of the bodice.

Twenty-one years later, in 1888, the Greek letters, Pi Beta Phi, replaced the I.C. on the wings. The pins were then about 1 1/2 inches long, the feathers enameled in white with gold letters placed diagonally. The pin could be jeweled or plain. The first jeweled pin was presented to the Grand President, (Worthy G.I.R.) Rainie Adamson Small. Later pins were also made with the feathers in gold.

In 1906, a fixed place was designated for wearing of the arrow, the left side near the heart. It was also decided at this time that the giving of Pi Phi jewelry to any man was prohibited. In the early 1900s, around 1918, the small one-inch pin most of us are familiar with came into being. In 1934 it was voted to have just 12 links in the chain, one for each founder.

In 1901, convention adopted a uniform pledge pin, an I.C. monogram, but this was changed in 1906 to the pledge pin we are familiar with today, an arrowhead of gold with "B" in burnished gold mounted on it.

The recognition pin was authorized in 1912. It is a duplicate of the badge, but smaller. By 1923, there were mothers and patronesses pins and later brothers and fathers monogram pins. The Order of the Golden Arrow insignia was adopted in 1952.

In 1942, the Fraternity approved the following two ways for disposition of a badge upon death of its owner:

1. It may be buried with the member.
2. It may be bequeathed to a member of the Fraternity or an active chapter or to an alumnae club to be used as an honor pin.

OHIO ALPHA ROBIN SMITH was one of five women honored June 18 at the annual Women of Vision Awards Gala sponsored by Women in Film and Video (WIFV) in Washington, D.C. Robin was an Ohio University student when her father, Lt. Col. Robert Norman Smith, was reported missing in action in Vietnam. After receiving her bachelor of fine arts degree, she earned a master's degree from Boston University where she produced a documentary film about her father, "He's Only Missing."

Robin began her career as a network news producer in New York with "CBS News Sunday Morning with Charles Kuralt." In 1990 she founded Video/Action Fund, a not-for-profit production company that produces educational television and multimedia programs on critical issues affecting women and families. In 1995, Robin and her husband, CBS White House correspondent Bill Plante, along with a film crew and CBS commentator Bob Simon, visited the crash site of her father's jet. From this trip Robin produced the July 6, 1995 CBS "Eye to Eye" documentary "Letting Go."

In addition to a Capital Region Emmy for "Shooting Back: Photography by Homeless Children" (broadcast nationally on PBS), Robin's Video/Action Fund productions have been featured in many film festivals and have received numerous CINE Golden Eagles, CINDY Awards, Telly Awards and the prestigious CPB Gold Award for Excellence in Documentary Television Programming.

This year's WIFV honorees also included Academy Award-winning actress Mary Steenburgen; noted journalist and children programs producer Linda Ellerbee; Hollywood agent Susan Smith, who represents Kathy Bates, Sally Field, Glenn Close and Lauren Bacall; and Sandy Cannon-Brown, president and owner of VideoTakes, Inc.

Taco Cabana, Inc. recently chose TEXAS ALPHA GAY WARREN GADDIS' advertising, marketing and public relations firm, T3, to be its agency of record. The restaurant chain, which operates 110 restaurants in five states, chose T3 for its innovative, powerful solutions to traditional advertising.

The LA CANADA VALLEY, CALIFORNIA ALUMNAE CLUB displayed antique carousel animals and memorabilia to raise money for the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles. With the proceeds, the club donated books for patients to read. The carousel memorabilia belongs to former club President California Eta Catherine Birch Daniel and her husband John.

Montana Alphas from Montana State University 1959-62, had always wanted to visit Arrowmont. After planning a trip during their chapter's 75th anniversary in October 1996, their wish came true when they set foot in Gatlinburg this past August.

NEW YORK GAMMA SUSAN KNAUERHASE RILEY is the New York state chapter president of the International Association of Personnel in Employment Services (IAPES), the Department of Labor's professional organization of employees. She was inducted at the New York State Educational Conference in Saratoga Springs, New York and attended the 85th International Education Conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

TEXAS ALPHA JOAN RAGSDALE BASKIN received the Jefferson Award, which is given for outstanding public service. Texas Alpha, Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison presented Joan with the honor at a reception held in the U.S. Senate. Joan won the award based on her fund raising to establish a child-care program for working parents as part of the Midland Introspective Child-care Task Force.

A benefit for MISSOURI ALPHA'S Centennial house decoration raised $1,000. A group of undergraduate and alumnae members gathered in St. Louis at the home of Kimberly Helms for the June 13th luncheon. The decoration was completed in August.

CALIFORNIA ZETA MARION

SWANSON OSTER was recently voted a California Releaf Tree Hero at an Arbor Day event in Atherton, California. She was given a plaque, pruning shears and an orange vest for her work toward preserving Atherton's heritage trees.

ILLINOIS EPSILON PHYLLIS ELLIOTT OAKLEY was recently featured in Northwestern University's alumnae magazine, Northwestern Perspective. Phyllis is Secretary of State Madeleine Albright's top intelligence advisor. As assistant secretary of state for intelligence and research, she runs the largest State Department bureau in Washington. Phyllis has held a variety of prestigious jobs including being the State Department's first woman deputy spokesman.

The NORTHERN VIRGINIA ALUMNAE CLUB had a busy fall. The club gave their time to various volunteer programs such as reading to children who live in homeless shelters and making and serving sandwiches at a community center located in an at-risk neighborhood in Washington, D.C. Club members stay up-to-date on their club's interest groups' social activities, fundraisers and volunteer opportunities through their newsletter, Arrow Gram.

ABOVE LEFT: At the Tulsa, Oklahoma Alumnae Club's first meeting, club members recognized the 1998 graduates who had just become club members. All the women are Oklahoma Alphas from the University of Oklahoma. The group included Paula Akers, Lee Harper, Amy Hutchison, Jennifer Langdon, Skylar Shotts, Ann Houchin and Shannon Bryant, who is also the club's new publicity chairman.

ABOVE CENTER: A few years ago Massachusetts Alpha Phyllis Fazzari Speer wrote letters to her collegiate Alumnae Advisory Committee members to thank them for their hard work while she was in college. One member, Massachusetts Alpha Dorothy I. Warner, wrote back, and Dorothy and Phyllis began corresponding. While vacationing on Cape Cod Phyllis had the opportunity to visit Dorothy.

ABOVE: The Kansas City, Missouri-Shawnee Mission, Kansas Alumnae Club sponsored and participated in the Laubach spelling bee to support Links to Literacy. Last August, The Independent, Kansas City's Weekly Journal of Society, featured the alumnae club and highlighted their philanthropic efforts.

Wesleyan College, the first college chartered to grant degrees to women, recently hired its first female president, VIRGINIA ALPHA NORA KIZER BELL. Nora is a Phi Beta Kappa and magna cum laude graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College. She holds a M.A. in philosophy from the University of South Carolina and a Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of North Carolina. Her husband, David, is Macon State College's current president. Nora and David are currently the only married couple in the nation to serve concurrently as college presidents. For her inauguration, Miller Williams, the poet for President Clinton's inauguration, honored Nora with an address and a poetry reading.

Alumnae

Six Iowa Gammas celebrated the 40th anniversary of their college graduation with a reunion in Scotland, Ireland and England. Sally Johnson Smith who lives in Cockburnspath, Scotland and Sammy McCleery Wilson who lives in Belfast, Northern Ireland were hostesses for the memorable 12 day event. The six travelers were (back row) Barbara Anderson Gates, Lu Ann Cooper Schell and Gail Anderson Brookhart; (front row) Sammy, Sally and Gayle Lyman Stock.

WISCONSIN ALPHA ELEANOR

VERDUIN MILLONZI gave $250,000 to the University of Buffalo in Buffalo, New York to help attract top art and music students to the university. The funds will endow the Robert I. and Eleanor V. Millonzi Distinguished Honors Scholarship named for Eleanor and her late husband. To qualify for the scholarship, a student must meet the university's Honors Program's admission standards for creative arts students.

CALIFORNIA DELTA KATHARINE

BOURNE GATES received the 1998 Spirit of Voluntarism Award at the Junior League of Los Angeles' 1998 Spring Gala. Kay was given this award based on her outstanding contributions to the community through volunteering. She has volunteered for 20 years at Hollygrove, a home for abused and abandoned children where she has chaired every committee and has served as president for two years. Kay is president of the Marlborough School Alumnae Association and has served on the board for the Daughters of the American Revolution. She volunteered at the 1984 Olympics and was the Volunteer Coordinator for soccer's World Cup USA. Kay has been a Junior League of Los Angeles member for 41 years and has served on its board and as a committee chairman.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS ALUMNAE

CLUB hosted an event at the Biedlemen Environmental Center for collegians to meet local alumnae and become better acquainted with Pi Phi members from other colleges and universities. The six collegiate chapters represented were: Colorado Gamma, Colorado State University; Colorado Delta, Colorado School of Mines; Washington Gamma, University of Puget Sound; Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska; Texas Delta, Texas Christian University; and Michigan Beta, University of Michigan. Alumnae explained to the collegians their involvement with the center, which is conducting a monthly inventory of outreach kits for area school children. Alumnae and collegians are planning to meet again during the Christmas holidays.

TENNESSEE GAMMA celebrated its 50th anniversary on April 28 in Knoxville, Tennessee. The festivities began with a luncheon at the Cherokee Country Club for alumnae and collegians. In the evening alumnae joined collegians at the chapter's formal, which was held in the Southern Ballroom. The weekend ended with a tea the following day at the Tennessee Gamma suite where everyone shared memories and browsed through scrapbooks. Seven charter members were Golden Arrow recipients: Joan Edington Wallace, Katharine Everett Bruner, Lois Boop Armstrong, Polly Murray, Alice McReynolds Dunagan, Mary Benson Nordstrom and Mary Anderson Human. Indiana Epsilon Margaret Ward Daniel also attended the celebration. She was Tennessee Gamma's graduate consultant from 1947 to 1949.

ABOVE LEFT: Four Chicago Windy City, Illinois Alumnae Club members, Wyoming Alpha Claudia Fidler Lyday, Iowa Eta Cheryl Bassett, Illinois Theta Mary Rosenthal and Wyoming Alpha Cosette Fidler participated in Step Up for Kids, a step marathon benefiting the Children's Memorial Hospital. They climbed 45 flights of steps in a downtown Chicago office building and raised more than $1,200 for the hospital.

ABOVE CENTER: Washington Alpha Carolyn Ladd recently returned from Korogwe, Tanzania in East Africa where she worked for two weeks with a Habitat for Humanity International team. Habitat for Humanity's mission is to build decent housing for people in need, such as the people in Tanzania, one of the world's poorest countries with an annual per capita income of $150. Carolyn is a lawyer in Seattle, Washington for one of the nation's 100 largest law firms.

ABOVE: Almost 50 years after their college graduation, six California Betas traveled to South Carolina. The group, which included Ann Fitzsimons Sacre, Shirley Gibson Biggerstaff, Carroll Winstead Innes, Geraldine Mathews Paul and Martha Walrond Sears Corbett, stayed in California Beta Katherine McKay Belk's home.

Southern Methodist University's Alumni Association presented TEXAS BETA LINDA HARRIS GIBBONS with SMU's Distinguished Alumni Award. This award, which is the highest honor SMU and its alumni association grants, is given to individuals who have distinguished themselves in their professional careers or in service to other disciplines or causes. Linda is involved in numerous organizations such as the Junior League of Dallas, the Dallas Historical Society, the March of Dimes Auxiliary and the Girls Club of Dallas. She has also served as president of SMU's Alumnae Association. She is the chairman of the board for TACA, Inc., which is recognized as one of the most prestigious arts support organizations in the United States, and she is a trustee for the Children's Medical Center. Past award recipients include former U.S. Senator John G. Tower, former Texas Governor William P. Clements Jr., former ambassador to Argentina Richard Rubottom and three-time All American and winner of the Heisman Trophy Doak Walker.

The Troy, Ohio Area Chamber of Commerce gave OHIO DELTA DORIS BAKER BLACKMORE the 1997 Distinguished Citizen Award. Individuals who receive the award have made outstanding community contributions. Doris was a member of the first board of governors for the Troy-Hayner Cultural Center, and she has played a key role for 35 years in the Troy Antiques Show, which provides seed money for new county projects and sustains established programs. Doris has volunteered in other organizations including the Bukner Nature Center, the Hospice of Miami County and the Girl Scouts of America.

Eleven OREGON BETAS, all 1946 graduates from Oregon State University, attended a three-day reunion in Sun River, Oregon.

TENNESSEE ALPHA MARY CATHERINE CROSS recently published "Quilts and Women of the Mormon Migrations." The book tells the story of women's experiences along the Mormon trail as well as background information on their world-wide migration as they joined the Church of the Latter Day Saints. Although not Mormon herself, Mary was able to share her knowledge and access to previously unshared quilts, histories and reminiscences.

OHIO DELTA KRISTINE O'CONNELL GEORGE'S newest children's book, "Old Elm Speaks, Tree Poems," celebrates trees and the way we interact with our environment. Kristine has also written "The Great Frog Race and Other Poems."

ARKANSAS ALPHA MARGARET GERIG MARTIN has published two books of poetry based on the experiences of her granddaughter, Robin Martin. The books are entitled "Robin's Rhymes" and "Robin's World." One of Margaret's other granddaughters recently pledged Pi Beta Phi, making her a fourth generation Pi Phi.

BELLEVUE-EASTSIDE, WASHINGTON ALUMNAE CLUB members have been busy this year. They have begun to plan the next Founders' Day for their club in conjunction with the Seattle Alumnae Club. Members also enjoyed an early October meeting to review the calendar, sign up for various events and philanthropies, enjoy good food and socialize. Rush was a large part of the club's activity as they helped Washington Alphas during rush.

INDIANA ALPHA KIM LINKEL is working at Northern Kentucky University's Recreation Department as the Facility Coordinator.

More than sixty local CALIFORNIA GAMMAS from the University of Southern California attended an Alumnae Tea last April. Alumnae enjoyed tea, updates from House Corporation Chairman Patricia Caughlan Santley and a warm welcome from Alumnae Advisory Committee Chairman Linda Bowen Anderson. The tea's chairman, Heather Putnam, led a time of sharing Pi Phi memories, and Susan Arico Hawley led the group in Pi Phi songs. California Gamma hopes to make the tea a semi-annual event.

Twelve Indiana Deltas met in Idaho. Several of the 1960 pledge sisters had not seen one another for more than 25 years. Pledge class members have been searching for lost pledge sisters and have found all but two of the original class.

The LAKE OSWEGO, DUNTHORPE ALUMNAE CLUB held its fall gathering at The University of Oregon's football season opener in Eugene, Oregon. Professional golfer Peter Jacobsen and his wife, Oregon Alpha Jan Davis Jacobsen, hosted the event in their skybox.

Internet

www.pibetaphi.org

The official Pi Beta Phi web site, launched last fall, is an important tool for spreading information about the Fraternity and its programs to members and non-members. The site allows Pi Phi alumnae and collegians to locate alumnae clubs in their area, to sign up for Directions, to order club or chapter supplies via e-mail, to change their address on-line and to stay in touch with the Fraternity.

The e-mail directory has arrived!

Pi Beta Phi's e-mail directory is up and running. In order to be listed in the directory, you must post your own e-mail address. Encourage your Pi Phi friends to list their e-mail addresses in the directory as well.

If you are one of the thousands who has already become familiar with www.pibetaphi.org, please continue to check for new additions to the site. If you have not yet visited the site, we encourage you to check out Pi Phi on-line.

Fraternity Women Celebrate More Than 100 Years of Service

Place it over your heart with pride!

National Panhellenic Badge Day
March 1, 1999

In conjunction with National Women's History month, the National Panhellenic Conference, an umbrella organization for 26 international women's fraternities, will celebrate National Badge Day March 1, 1999.

"Over three million collegiate and alumnae women belong to fraternal organizations," said Lissa Bradford, Chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference. "National Badge Day gives sorority women of all ages and in all locations a chance to show their Greek pride." Women across the nation and abroad will wear their fraternity badge or letters in honor of the occasion, and many will participate in volunteer activities to commemorate more than 100 years of community service.

During the last year, fraternity women contributed thousands of community service hours and gave more than $2 million to various efforts like breast cancer research, literacy, the arts and scholarships to women. "Our long history of working to better our communities dates back to 1853," said Lissa. "The essence of many sororities is philanthropic service."

On March 1, 1999 alumnae and collegiate members of Pi Beta Phi and the 25 other NPC groups will gather at volunteer activities and celebrations to commemorate National Panhellenic Badge Day and more than 100 years of community service and sisterhood.

Applications for Graduate Consultants Available

A Graduate Consultant is an official representative of Grand Council and the international Fraternity. She has the opportunity to strengthen interpersonal skills, assume responsibilities, work independently, yet as part of a team, and make lasting friendships. The valuable experience as a Pi Phi consultant provides an excellent background for professional careers. Being a consultant means having pride in the work done and in knowing that the lives of many people have been influenced.

Any graduating senior who has held a chapter or campus office position, who has leadership and communication skills and who has a strong desire to serve the Fraternity is encouraged to apply.

See your chapter president for an application.

Chapter Anniversaries

The MISSOURI ALPHA Chapter at the University of Missouri will celebrate its Centennial April 23 and 24, 1999. For additional information contact Margaret Pemberton McKinney, 2826 Melody Lane, Columbia, MO, 65203, (573) 874-1327.

The CALIFORNIA ETA Chapter at the University of California, Irvine will celebrate its 25th anniversary. The celebration is being held Memorial Day weekend, 1999. For more information contact Toni Martinovich, 1623 Sunnyside Terrace, San Pedro, CA, 90732.

The MARYLAND BETA Chapter at the University of Maryland will celebrate the 55th anniversary of its founding with a reunion on Saturday, October 2, 1999. A luncheon will feature speaker Dawn Sheeler Ford, a former chapter president. For additional information, please contact Betty Schaaf DeGraff at 9309 Wild Bees Lane, Columbia, MD 21045 or e-mail betty.and.hart@erols.com.

Anyone interested in receiving a copy of Pi Beta Phi's Information Bulletin for 1997-98, please call Central Office at (314) 727-7338. The four-page bulletin is an overview of the activities of the Fraternity and the Pi Beta Phi Foundation for the past year.

Hazing Hotline

Pi Beta Phi has developed a Hazing Hotline. Concerned collegians, alumnae, parents or administrators can call to report any hazing activities. The Hotline is (800) 320-1867.

Alabama Beta Makes a Move

The Alabama Beta Chapter at the University of Alabama recently moved into a new home. The new Pi Beta Phi house is located on Magnolia Drive between the Chi Omega and Kappa Delta houses. The house opened in August and sleeps 42 women. Chapter members are proud of their new home from the majestic staircase to the state-of-the-art study hall.

The chapter's previous house was demolished to accommodate the expansion of Bryant-Denny Stadium.

Convention 1999

"The Stars at Night are Big and Bright," deep in the heart of Houston, Texas where members of Pi Beta Phi will gather for the Fraternity's 62nd Biennial Convention June 25-29, 1999. Our convention hotels, the Westin Galleria and the Westin Oaks, are conveniently located in the Galleria shopping mall, a retail shopping center of more than 300 stores.

Convention 1999 promises opportunities to renew old friendships, make new friends and have fun while perfecting leadership skills and enjoying outstanding speakers. Alumnae and collegians will be brought together as they share time conducting business, electing officers, voting on legislation, attending award presentations and participating in meaningful ceremonies. Convention is truly what Pi Phi is about ... friendship.

Help create the future direction of the Fraternity. Come to Houston, June 25-29 where the stars at night are big and bright.

—Grand Council of Pi Beta Phi

Convention Registration

Convention visitors may request a Convention Registration Packet by using the form provided on page 47. Registration forms will be sent in a mailing in early 1999 to chapter and club presidents, Alumnae Advisory Committee and Chapter House Corporation chairmen, fraternity officers and other official personnel.

Full-time Visitor Package

- Convention registration fee of $110
- Four hotel nights
- Hotel room, double occupancy (Friday through Monday) special Pi Phi rate $640 plus $110 convention registration fee
- Hotel room, single occupancy (Friday through Monday) special Pi Phi rate $900 plus $110 convention registration fee
- Room rates are Full American Plan which includes room, room tax, meals and gratuity.
- Meals begin with dinner on Friday and end with breakfast on Tuesday.

Part-time Weekend Visitor Package

- Hotel room, single occupancy (Friday through Saturday) special Pi Phi rate $450 plus $65 convention registration fee
- Room rates are Full American Plan which includes room, room tax, meals and gratuity.
- Meals begin with dinner on Friday and end with lunch on Sunday.

Attendees with Alternate Accommodations

Daily registration fee for Pi Phi attending any general sessions and/or workshops without Westin Galleria or Westin Oaks hotel accommodations is $40.

➔ Convention attendees will have the opportunity to receive convention rates at the Westin Galleria and Westin Oaks hotels three days before and three days after the official meeting dates.

Alumnae Advisory Committee or Chapter House Corporation

Information and special registration forms for Alumnae Advisory Committee and Chapter House Corporation events will be mailed directly to each AAC and CHC chairman. You must be an official member of an AAC or CHC to register.

Houston, Texas

Individual Meals

Pi Phis who do not have hotel accommodations through Pi Beta Phi may purchase individual meals. If a member would like to attend meals, she may request meal reservation information by filling out the form below. Meal reservations must be made through Central Office, with reservation form and payment due June 1, 1999.

➔ Make meal reservations early as space is limited and reservations may close before June 1.

About Houston

Houston represents all that is typically Texas, and much, much more. Since its founding in 1836, this fourth largest U.S. city has grown to house 1.7 million people who speak more than 90 languages, creating an exciting, diverse environment.

The city is home to 500 cultural, visual and performing arts organizations and offers many shopping venues, including the 1999 Convention site, The Galleria. It is a collection of hotels, restaurants and shops centered around an indoor ice-skating rink.

Before you leave convention you may want to capture the city's outstanding skyline from the historic Sabine Street Bridge or the waterfall fountain at Sesquicentennial Park.

Tuesday Post-Convention Tour

A post-convention tour of Houston will be available for attendees. Look for details in the Spring 1999 ARROW.

Getting to Houston

Pi Beta Phi will have special fares available with Continental Airlines for the 1999 Convention. To obtain the lowest available airfare, call Claire or Lynn at (800) 633-1545. If Continental does not service your city, Claire or Lynn will confirm the best possible route and fare to Houston. Please make your calls weekdays between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Central Standard Time.

Request for Convention Visitor Information

I will be a full-time or part-time registrant. Please send me visitor registration materials for a full-time or part-time package which includes information for convention and hotel registration.

I will not need accommodations at the Westin Galleria or Westin Oaks. Please send me visitor registration materials including individual meal reservation forms for convention activities. I understand that because I will not be a Westin hotel guest, I must pay the $40 daily registration fee if I wish to attend general sessions or workshops.

Only visitors need to send for registration packets. All official personnel will receive forms directly through chapter, alumnae club and individual mailings.

Convention materials will be available February 1, 1999.

Requests for registration materials cannot be honored after Friday, April 16, 1999.

it's about service.

- During a session a nine-year-old boy, who sadly reported he was held back in school, sat and listened to Pi Phi readers. He then asked if he could be the one to read to the younger children. He even had his mother bring him back to read again after his appointment was finished.

- This new library is truly a benefit to all kids who receive medical care at our hospital.
- Thank you for the book you gave me called "Christmas Book." I loved it, so did my mom.
- A little boy who had been there reading from the beginning of the session leaned over to a new child and said, "If you stay long enough, you'll get an alligator to go with that egg!"
